PREFACE TO THE FOURTH EDITION.

I am really thankful to the members of the Bench and the Bar, for the ready reception they have given to the last edition of this book. The book was engaged within twelve months of its publication. But as I was engaged in other works I could not publish it in the beginning of this year. In this edition, I have made certain important additions. The Civil Procedure Code, with exhaustive annotations, Civil Courts Acts, Letters Patent of different High Courts, the Reserve Bank Act of 1934 and also some other Acts have been inserted. By these additions nearly 40 p.c. new matters have been inserted.
The price of book has been changed from Double Crown 16s. to Royal 8s. 6d.
Although the cost of the production has become nearly double, I have increased the price of the book only by 8 as with the expectation that it may reach every lawyer, rich or poor, senior or junior. All the amendments up to 1st September 1934, have been incorporated in the texts of the Acts.
SUPPLEMENT TO BASU'S ANNOTATED
Indian Civil Court Hand Book Vol I.

   (XXI of 1936.)

2. Indian Companies (Amendment) Act
   (XXII of 1936.)
THE CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE (AMENDMENT) ACT.

ACT NO XXI OF 1936.

RECEIVED THE ASSENT OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL ON THE 27TH OCTOBER, 1936.

An Act further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for certain Purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908,* for the purposes hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1936.

Notes.—(1) This Act is the outcome of the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Labour in India, to the effect that in the case of industrial workers in respect of wages less than Rs 100 a month arrest and imprisonment for debt should be abolished except where the debtor has been proved to be both able and unwilling to pay. This Act seeks to amend the Civil Procedure Code 1908, so as to protect honest debtors of all classes, and not the industrial worker class only, from detention in civil prison and to confine such detention to debtors proved to be recalcitrant or fraudulent. It also provides inter alia that no order for execution by detention in prison shall be issued unless the debtor has been given an opportunity of showing cause why he should not be committed to prison, and the Court is satisfied for reasons recorded in writing that (i) the debtor is likely to abscond or leave the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or has after the institution of the suit fraudulently disposed of his property, and (ii) that he is able to pay the amount of the decree otherwise than from the protected assets.

(2) This Act applies to all judgment-debtors.—Statement of Objects and Reasons.

Addition of proviso to section 51, Act V of 1908.

2. To section 51 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (hereinafter referred to as the said Code), the following proviso shall be added, namely:

"Provided that where the decree is for the payment of money execution by detention in prison shall not be ordered unless, after giving the judgment-debtor an opportunity of showing cause why he should not be committed to prison, the Court, for reasons recorded in writing, is satisfied—

(a) that the judgment-debtor, with the object or effect of obstructing or delaying the execution of the decree,—

(i) is likely to abscond or leave the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, or

(ii) has, after the institution of the suit in which the decree was passed, dishonestly transferred, concealed, or removed any part of his property, or committed any other act of bad faith in relation to his property, or

(b) that the judgment-debtor has, or has had since the date of the decree, the means to pay the amount of the decree or some substantial part used or neglected to pay the same, or for which the judgment-debtor was Explanation.—In the calculation of the means of the judgment-debtor for the purposes of clause (b), there shall be left out of account any property which, by or under any law or custom having the force of law for the time being in force, is exempt from attachment in execution of the decree."

* V of 1908.
3. In sub-rule (1) of rule 37 of Order XXI in the First Schedule to the said Code, for the word "may" the word "shall" shall be substituted, and to the sub-rule the following proviso shall be added, namely:

"Provided that such notice shall not be necessary if the Court is satisfied, by affidavit, or otherwise, that, with the object or effect of delaying the execution of the decree, the judgment-debtor is likely to abscond or leave the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court."

Repeal of rule 40, Order XXI in the First Schedule, Act V of 1908, and insertion of new rule in place thereof.

4. For rule 40 of Order XXI in the First Schedule to the said Code together with any alterations therein or additions thereto made under section 122 of the said Code the following rule shall be substituted, namely:

40. (1) When a judgment debtor appears before the Court in obedience to a notice issued under rule 37, or is brought before the Court after being arrested in execution of a decree for the payment of money, the Court shall proceed to hear the decree-holder and take all such evidence as may be produced by him in support of his application for execution, and shall then give the judgment-debtor an opportunity of showing cause why he should not be committed to the civil prison.

(2) Pending the conclusion of the inquiry under sub-rule (1) the Court may, in its discretion, order the judgment-debtor to be detained in the custody of an officer of the Court or release him on his furnishing security to the satisfaction of the Court for his appearance when required.

(3) Upon the conclusion of the inquiry under sub-rule (1) the Court may, subject to the provisions of section 51 and to the other provisions of this Code, make an order for the detention of the judgment-debtor in the civil prison and shall in that event cause him to be arrested if he is not already under arrest;

Provided that in order to give the judgment-debtor an opportunity of satisfying the decree, the Court may, before making the order of detention, leave the judgment-debtor in the custody of an officer of the Court for a specified period not exceeding fifteen days or release him on his furnishing security to the satisfaction of the Court for his appearance at the expiration of the specified period if the decree be not sooner satisfied.

4. A judgment-debtor released under this rule may be re-arrested.

(5) When the Court does not make an order of detention under sub-rule (3), it shall disallow the application and, if the judgment-debtor is under arrest, direct his release."

THE INDIAN COMPANIES ACT.

ACT NO.- XXII OF 1936.

(Received the assent of the Governor General on the 27th October 1936).

An Act further to amend the Indian Companies Act 1913, for certain purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1913,* for the purposes hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:

Section 1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936.

* VII of 1913.
(2) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint in this behalf.

2. (1) Section 2 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), shall be re-numbered as sub-section (1) of that section and in that section as so re-numbered—

(a) for clause (b) the following clauses shall be substituted, namely:—

(b) "manager" means a person who, subject to the control and direction of the directors has the management of the whole affairs of a company, and includes a director or any other person occupying the position of a manager by whatever name called and whether under a contract of service or not:

(94) "managing agent" means a person, firm or company entitled to the management of the whole affairs of a company by virtue of an agreement with the company, and under the control and direction of the directors except to the extent, if any, otherwise provided for in the agreement, and includes any person, firm or company occupying such position by whatever name called;"

Explanation.—If a person occupying the position of a managing agent calls himself a manager he shall nevertheless be regarded as managing agent and not as manager for the purposes of this Act.

Notes.—The existence of many special provisions applying to managing agents renders it advisable that the terms should be separately defined. Report of the Select Committee

(b) in clause (2), after the word "director" the words "managing agent" shall be inserted.

(c) for clause (v) the following clause shall be added:

1.7 (13) "private company;"

(c) restricts the right;

(2) limits the number of persons;"

is who are in the employment of the company; and

(c) prohibits any invitation to the public to subscribe for the shares, if any, or debentures of the company:

Provided that where two or more persons hold one or more shares in a company jointly they shall for the purposes of this definition be treated as a single member.

Notes.—The English Companies Act of S. 26 of the English Companies Act of clause shall be inserted, namely:—

company incorporated under this Act or under the Indian Companies Act, 1862, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or under any Act repealed thereby, which is not a private company;"

and

(c) to clause (v) the following words shall be added, namely:—

"but shall not include any trade advertisement which shows on the face of it that a formal prospectus has been prepared and filed."

(2) To section 2 as so re-numbered the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

1.7 (2) Where the of the shares so held is at the time when the accounts of the holding company are made up or the shares are allotted, per cent. of the issued share capital of the company, or

(b) the company has power (not being power vested in it by virtue only of the provisions of a debenture trust deed or by virtue of shares issued to it for the purpose in pursuance of those provisions) directly or indirectly to appoint the majority of the directors of that other company, that other company shall be deemed to be a subsidiary company within the meaning of this Act, and the expression 'subsidiary company' in this Act means a company in the case of which the conditions of this sub-section are satisfied and includes a subsidiary company of such company:

Provided that where a company the ordinary business of which includes the lending of money holds shares in another company as security only, no account shall, for the purpose of determining under this section whether that other company, is a subsidiary company, be taken of the shares so held."

Notes:—In this sub-section the definition of subsidiary companies is given, which is taken with slight alteration from § 127 of the English Companies Act.

Amendment of section 4, Act VII of 1913.

3. To section 4 of the said Act the following sub-sections shall be added, namely:—

"(3) This section shall not apply to a joint family carrying on joint family trade or business and where two or more such joint families form a partnership, in computing the number of persons for the purposes of this section, minor members of such families shall be excluded.

(4) Every member of a company, association or partnership carrying on business in contravention of this section shall be personally liable for all liabilities incurred in such business.

(5) Any person who is a member of a company, association or partnership formed in contravention of this section shall be punishable with fine not exceeding one thousand rupees."

Notes—Subsections 4 and 5 provide the sanction for enforcing observance of the provision of the section. Vide Notes on Clauses.

Substitution of new section for section 9, Act VII of 1913

4. For section 9 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"9. The memorandum shall—

(a) be printed,

(b) be divided into paragraphs numbered consecutively, and

(c) be signed by each subscriber (who shall add his address and description) in the presence of at least one witness who shall attest the signature."

Notes.—Section 4 of this Amending Act applies to a memorandum the requirements laid down in section 9 of the English Act.

Amendment of section 10, Act VI of 1913.

5. To section 10 of the said Act, the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that any provision in the memorandum relating to the appointment of a manager or managing agent and other matters of a like nature incidental or subsidiary to the main objects of the company, shall not be deemed to be such condition."

6. For sub-section (3) of section 11 of the Act VII of 1913, the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely:—

"(3) Except with the previous consent in writing of the Governor General in Council, no company shall be registered by a name which—

(a) contains any of the following words, namely, 'Crown' 'Emperor' 'Empire' 'Empress' 'Federal', 'Imperial', 'King', 'Queen', 'Royal', 'State', 'Reserve Bank', 'Bank of Bengal', 'Bank of Madras', 'Bank of Bombay', or any word which suggests or is calculated to suggest the patronage of His Majesty or of any member of the Royal Family or any connection with His Majesty's Government or any department thereof; or

(b) contains the word 'Municipal' or 'Chartered' or any word which suggests or is calculated to suggest connection with any municipality or other local authority or with any society or body incorporated by Royal Charter:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to companies registered before the commencement of this Act."

Amendment of section 12, Act VII of 1913.

7. In sub-section (1) of section 12 of the said Act, after clause (e) the following word and clauses shall be added, namely:—

"or

(f) to sell or dispose of the whole or any part of the undertaking of the company; or

(g) to amalgamate with any other company or body of persons."

Notes:—These clauses were introduced for the first time in the English Companies Act of 1939 and they are now incorporated in the Indian Companies Act.

Amendment of section 17, Act VII of 1913.

8. To subsection (2) of section 17 of the said Act the following shall be added, namely:—

"and shall in any event be deemed to contain regulations identical with or to the same effect as regulation 56, regulation 66, regulation 71, regulations 78, 79, 80, 81 and 82, regulation 93, regulation 97, regulation 105, regulation 107 and regulations 112, 113, 114, 115 and 116 contained in that Table:

Provided that regulation 78 shall not be deemed to be included in the articles of any private company except a private company which is the subsidiary company of a public company:

Provided further that regulation 107 shall be deemed to require that a statement of the reasons why of the whole amount of any item of expenditure which may in fairness be distributed over several years, only a portion thereof is charged against the income of the year, shall be shown in the profit and loss account unless the company in general meeting shall determine otherwise."

Notes:—This clause makes the adoption of model regulation on this subject (as to polls, absence of restrictions on form of proxies, retirement of directors by rotation, inspection of accounts, details shown in profit and loss accounts and the giving of notice to members) contained in Table A compulsory—Vide Notes on Clauses.

Amendment of section 19, Act VII of 1913.

9. In clause (c) of section 19 of the said Act, after the word "memorandum" the brackets and words "(who shall add his address and description)" shall be inserted.
10. After section 20 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:

"20A. Notwithstanding anything in the memorandum or articles of a company, no member of the company shall be bound by an alteration made in the memorandum or articles after the date on which he became a member if and so far as the alteration requires him to take or subscribe for more shares than the number held by him at the date on which the alteration is made, or in any way increases his liability as at that date to contribute to the share capital of, or otherwise to pay money to, the company:

Provided that this section shall not apply in any case where the member agrees in writing either before or after the alteration is made to be bound thereby."

Notes—The amendment limits, on the lines of section 22 of the English Act, the liability of a member of a company under alterations made in the memorandum after he has become a member of the company—Notes on Clauses.

Amendment of section 25, Act VII of 1913

11. In subsection (f) of section 25 of the said Act, for the words "at his request, and" the words "at his request and within fourteen days thereof" shall be substituted.

12. After section 25 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:

"25A. (f) Where an alteration is made in the memorandum or articles of a company, every copy of the memorandum or articles issued after the date of the alteration shall be in accordance with the alteration.

(2) If, where any such alteration has been made, the company at any time after the date of the alteration issues any copies of the memorandum or articles which are not in accordance with the alteration, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for each copy so issued and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable to the like penalty."

Notes.—Section 25 A follows section 24 of the English Act in providing that the memorandum should show all changes made therein—Notes on Clauses.

Amendment of section 26, Act VII of 1913.

13. In sub section (3) of section 26 of the said Act, for the words "and of filing lists of members and directors and managers with the registrar" the words "and of sending lists of members to the registrar" shall be substituted.

14. After section 31 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:

"31A. (f) Every company having more than fifty members shall, unless the register of members is in such a form as to constitute in itself an index, keep an index of the names of the members of the company and shall within fourteen days after the date on which any alteration is made in the register of members make any necessary alteration in the index.

(2) The index, which may be in the form of a card index, shall in respect of each member contain a sufficient indication to enable the account of that member in the register to be readily found.

C. C. H.—Vol. I—Supp. 2
3. If default is made in complying with this section, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and willfully in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

Notes—It follows s. 96 of the English Act.

Amendment of section 32, Act VII of 1913.

15. In section 32 of the said Act,—

(a) in subsection (4), after the word "shall" the words "within eighteen months from its incorporation and thereafter" shall be inserted;

(b) in subsection (2),—

(i) in clause (f), for the words "in respect of any debentures" the words "in respect of any shares or debentures" shall be substituted, and to that clause the words "or so much thereof as has not been written off at the date of the return" shall be added; and

(ii) in clause (f), for the words "the managers of the company" the following words shall be substituted, namely:—

"the managers or managing agents of the company, and the changes in the personnel of the directors, managers and managing agents since the last return together with the dates on which they took place";

(c) in sub-section (3) for the words "seven days" the words "twenty-one days" shall be substituted; and

(d) sub-section (4) shall be re-numbered as sub-section (5) and the following sub-section shall be inserted as sub-section (4), namely:—

"(4) A private company shall send with the annual return required by sub-section (3) a certificate signed by a director or other officer of the company that the company has not, since the date of the last return or, in the case of a first return, since the date of the incorporation of the company, issued any invitation to the public to subscribe for any shares or debentures of the company, and where the annual return discloses the fact that the number of members of the company exceeds fifty, also a certificate so signed that the excess consists wholly of persons who under sub-clause (b) of clause 13 of sub-section (f) of section 2 are not to be included in reckoning the number of fifty.".

16. For section 34 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"34. (1) An application for the registration of the transfer of shares in a company may be made either by the transferee or the transferor, provided that where such application is made by the transferor no registration shall in the case of partly paid shares be effected unless the company gives notice of the application to the transferee and subject to the provisions of sub-section (4) the company shall, unless objection is made by the transferee within two weeks from the date of receipt of the notice, enter in its register of members the name of the transferee in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as if the application for registration was made by the transferee.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) notice to the transferee shall be deemed to have been duly given if despatched by prepaid post to the transferee at the address given in the instrument of transfer and shall be deemed to have been delivered in the ordinary course of post.

(3) It shall be lawful for the company to register a transfer of shares in or debentures of the company unless the proper instrument of transfer duly stamped and executed by the transferor and the transferee has been delivered to the company along with the scrip."
Provided that, where it is proved to the satisfaction of the directors of the company that an instrument of transfer signed by the transferor and transferee has been lost, the company may, if the directors think fit, on an application in writing made by the transferee and bearing the stamp, required by an instrument of transfer, register the transfer on such terms as to indemnity as the directors may think fit.

(4) If a company refuses to register the transfer of any shares or debentures, the company shall, within two months from the date on which the instrument of transfer was lodged with the company, send to the transferee and the transferor notice of the refusal.

(5) If default is made in complying with sub-section (4) of this section, the company and every director, manager, secretary or other officer of the company who is knowingly a party to the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(6) Nothing in sub-section (3) shall prejudice any power of the company to register as share-holder or debenture holder any person to whom the right to any shares in or debentures of the company has been transmitted by operation of law.

(7) Nothing in this section shall prejudice any power of the company under its articles to refuse to register the transfer of any shares.

Object of the section:—The Act does not lay down the procedure for the transfer of shares and this is generally provided for in the articles of the company. Undue restrictions upon transfers and undue delay in registering transfers are not uncommon. The section now introduced while leaving a discretion with directors to refuse transfer requires for a transfer application either by the transferor or by transferee, notice by the transferee in the case of an application by the transferor, the use of the proper instrument of transfer required by the company in the case of an application by the transferee, and notice within a limited time to a proposed transferee. It also prescribes the time limit within which an objection by a transferee may be made or a refusal to register a transfer must be communicated—Notes on Clauses.

17. In section 36 of the said Act,—

(a) (i) in sub-section (1), after the word "company" where it first occurs the words "and the index of members" shall be inserted;

(ii) to sub-section (1) the words "Any such member or other person may make extracts therefrom" shall be added at the end;

(b) to sub-section (2) the following words shall be added, namely:—

"and the company shall cause any copy so required by any person to be sent to that person within a period of ten days, exclusive of non-working days and days on which the transfer books of the company are closed, commencing on the day next after the day on which the requirement is received by the company"; and

(c) for sub-section (3) the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely:—

"(3) If any inspection required under this section is refused or if any copy required under this section is not sent within the proper period the company and every officer of the company who is in default shall be liable in respect of each offence to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees and to a further fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the refusal or default continues and the Court may by an order compel an immediate inspection of the register and index or direct that copies required shall be sent to the persons requiring them."

Notes:—Refusal means distinct refusal. Vide Rex v. Wells, 3 Ad. & El. 447.
18. In section 37 of the said Act,—
(a) after the word "giving" the words "seven days' previous" shall be added;
(b) for the word "thirty" the word "forty-five" shall be substituted;
and
(c) the words "but not exceeding thirty days at a time" shall be added at the end.

19. To section 39 of the said Act the following words shall be added, namely:—

"within a fortnight from the date of the completion of the order."

20. Section 43 of the said Act shall be re-numbered as sub-section (1) of that section and to the section as so re-numbered the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

"(2) Nothing in this section shall apply to a private company."

21. In section 50 of the said Act,—

(a) in sub-section (2), the words "with respect to sub-division of shares" shall be omitted, and for the words "by special resolution" the words "by the company in general meeting" shall be substituted;

Notes.—This clause brings the law into accord with section 50 of the English Act—Notes on Clauses.

(b) sub-sections (3) and (4) shall be omitted and sub-section (5) shall be re-numbered as sub-section (3); and Notes.—We have omitted sub-sections (3) and (4) in view of the new section 25 A—Report of the Select Committee.

(c) after sub-section (5) as so re-numbered the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

"(6) The company shall file with the registrar notice of the exercise of any power referred to in clause (d) or clause (e) of sub-section (1) within fifteen days from the exercise thereof."

22. In section 53 of the said Act,—

(a) in sub-section (1) the words "or in the case of a special resolution the confirmation" shall be omitted;

(b) sub-section (2) shall be re-numbered as sub-section (3) and the following sub-section shall be inserted as sub-section (2), namely:—

"(2) The notice to be given as aforesaid shall include particulars of the classes of shares affected and the conditions (if any) subject to which the new shares are to be issued."

23. In the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 54 of the said Act, the words "and confirmed at a meeting of shareholders of that class in the same manner as a special resolution of the company is required to be confirmed" shall be omitted.

24. After the heading "Reduction of Share Capital" and before section 55 the following section shall be inserted, namely:—
Restrictions on purchase by company or loans by company for purchase of its own shares.

54A. (4) No company limited by shares shall have power to buy its own shares or the shares of a public company of which it is a subsidiary company unless the consequent reduction of capital is effected and sanctioned in the manner provided by sections 55 to 66.

(2) No company limited by shares other than a private company, not being a subsidiary company of a public company, shall give, whether directly or indirectly, and whether by means of a loan, guaranteed, the provision of security or otherwise, any financial assistance for the purpose of or in connection with a purchase made or to be made by any person of any shares in the company:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be taken to prohibit where the lending of money is part of the ordinary business of a company, the lending of money by the company in the ordinary course of its business.

(3) If a company acts in contravention of this section, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

(4) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of a company to redeem any shares issued under section 105B.

Notes—It follows section 45 of the English Act in forbidding this subterfuge.

Amendment of section 55, Act VII of 1913.

25. In section 55 of the said Act,

(a) sub-section (2) shall be omitted; and

(b) sub-section (2) and (3) shall be re-numbered as sub-sections (1) and (2) respectively.

Notes.—Original subsection (1) has been incorporated in s. 54A and hence the necessity of this amendment.

Amendment of section 56, Act VII of 1913.

26. In section 56 of the said Act, the words “and confirmed” shall be omitted.

Amendment of section 57, Act VII of 1913.

27. Insertion 57 of the said Act, for the word “confirmation” where it first occurs, the word “passing” shall be substituted and for the words “the presentation of the petition for confirming the reduction” the words “the making of the order confirming the reduction” shall be substituted.

Insertion of new heading and section 66A in Act VII of 1913.

28. After section 66 of the said Act the following heading and section shall be inserted, namely:

"Variation of Shareholders’ Rights.

66A. (1) If in the case of a company, the share capital of which is divided into different classes of shares, provision is made by the memorandum or articles for authorising the variation of the rights attached to any class of shares in the company, subject to the consent of any specified proportion of the holders of the issued shares of that class or the sanction of a resolution passed at a separate meeting of the holders of those shares, and in pursuance of the said provision the rights attached to any such class of shares are at any time varied, the holder of cent. of the issued shares of that class shall have the right to vote in favour of the resolution for the variation, may apply to the Court t have the variation cancelled, and where any such application is made the variation shall not have effect unless and until it is confirmed by the Court.

(2) An application under this section must be made within fourteen days after the date on which the consent was given or the resolution was passed, as the case may be, and may be made on behalf of the shareholders entitled to make the application by such one or more of their number as they may appoint in writing for the purpose.

The Court, after hearing the applicant and any to be heard and appear to the Court to be, if it is satisfied having regard to all the circumstances of the case that the variation would unfairly prejudice the shareholders of the class represented by the applicant, disallow the variation and shall if not so satisfied, confirm the variation.

(4) The decision of the Court on any such application shall be final.

(5) The company shall within fifteen days after the service of any order made on any such application forward a copy of the order to the registrar and, if default is made in complying with this provision, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

(6) The expression 'variation' in this section includes 'abrogation' and the expression 'varied' shall be construed accordingly."

Amendment of section 71. 29. In section 71 of the said Act,—

(a) in sub-section (2) for the word "confirmation" the word "passing" shall be substituted and all the words after the word "memorandum" shall be omitted, and

(b) sub-section (3) shall be omitted.

Substitution of new section for section 72, Act VII of 1913.

72. (1) A company shall as from the day on which it begins to carry on business, or as from the twenty-eighth day after the date of its incorporation, whichever is the earlier, have a registered office to which all communications and notices may be addressed.

(2) Notice of the situation of the registered office and of any change therein shall be given within twenty-eight days after the date of the incorporation of the company or of the change, as the case may be, to the registrar who shall record the same.

(3) The inclusion in the annual return of a company of the statement as to the address of its registered office shall not be taken to satisfy the obligation imposed by this section.

(4) If a company carries on business without complying with the requirements of this section it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which it so carries on business.

Notes:—The existing section does not lay down any time within which the registered office is to be set up or notice of its situation or any change of its situation is to be given The section adopts s. 92 of the English Act.—Notes on Clauses.

Substitution of new section for section 76, Act VII of 1913.

31. For section 76 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:—
76. (1) A general meeting of every company shall be held within eighteen months from the date of its incorporation and thereafter once at least in every calendar year and not more than fifteen months after the holding of the last preceding general meeting.

(2) If default is made in holding a meeting in accordance with the provisions of this section, the company and every director or manager of the company who is knowingly and wilfully a party to the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

(3) If default is made as aforesaid, the Court may, on the application of any member of the company, call or direct the calling of a general meeting of the company.

77. (1) Every company limited by shares and every company limited by guarantee and having a share capital shall, within a period of not less than one month nor more than six months from the date at which the company is entitled to commence business, hold a general meeting of the members of the company, which shall be called the statutory meeting.

(2) The directors shall, at least twenty-one days before the day on which the meeting is held, forward a report (in this Act referred to as the statutory report) certified as required by this section to every member of the company.

(3) The statutory report shall be certified by not less than two directors of the company or by the chairman of the directors if authorised in this behalf by the directors and shall state—

(a) the total number of shares allotted, distinguishing shares allotted as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash, and stating in the case of shares partly paid up the extent to which they are so paid up, and in either case the consideration for which they have been allotted;

(b) the total amount of cash received by the company in respect of all the shares allotted, distinguished as aforesaid;

(c) an abstract of the receipts of the Company and of the payments made thereout up to a date within seven days of the date of the report, exhibiting under distinctive headings the receipts of the company from shares and debentures and other sources, the payments made thereout, and particulars concerning the balance remaining in hand, and an account or estimate of the preliminary expenses of the company showing separately any commission or discount paid on the issue or sale of shares;

(d) the names, addresses and descriptions of the directors, auditors, managing agents and managers, if any, and secretary of the company and the changes, if any which have occurred since the date of the incorporation;

(e) the particulars of any contract, the modification of which is to be submitted to the meeting for its approval, together with the particulars of the modification or proposed modification;

(f) the extent to which underwriting contracts, if any, have been carried out;

(g) the arrears, if any, due on calls from directors, managing agents and managers;

(h) the particulars of any commission or brokerage paid or to be paid in connection with the issue or sale of shares to any director, managing agent or manager or a partner of the managing agent if the managing agent is a firm or if the managing agent is a private company a director thereof.

(4) The statutory report shall, so far as it relates to the shares allotted by the company, and to the cash received in respect of such shares and to the receipts and payments of the company, be certif as correct by the auditors of the company.

(5) The directors shall cause a copy of the statutory report certif as required by this section, to be delivered to the registrar for forthwith after the sending thereof to the members of the company.

(6) The directors shall cause a list showing the names, descriptions and addresses of the members of the company, and the number of shares held by them respectively, to be produced at the commencement of the meeting, and to remain open and accessible to any member of the company during the continuance of the meeting.

(7) The members of the company present at the meeting shall be at liberty to discuss any matter relating to the formation of the company or arising out of the statutory report, whether previous notice has been given or not, but no resolution of which notice has not been given in ac accordance with the articles may be passed.

(8) The meeting may adjourn from time to time, and at any adjourned meeting any resolution of which notice has been given in ac accordance with the articles, either before or subsequently to the former meeting, may be passed, and the adjourned meeting shall have the same powers as an original meeting.

(9) If a petition is presented to the Court in manner provided by the Part V for winding up the company on the ground of default in filing the statutory report or in holding the statutory meeting, the Court may, in the direction that the company be wound up, give directions for the statutory report to be filed or a meeting to be held, or make such other order as may be just.

(10) In the event of any default in complying with the provisions of this section every director of the company who is guilty of or who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

(11) This section shall not apply to a private company.

Notes—It follows generally the lines of section 113 of the English Act.
It extends the obligation to hold a statutory general meeting to all companies having a share capital. More extended period of time have been extended in the first two sub-sections. Further requirements have been added by clauses
(1) and (4) of sub-section (3). Provision has also been introduced authorising certificates of the report by the chairman of the board of directors—Notes on Clauses.

33. Sub-section (4) of section 73 of the said Act shall be omitted, sub-section (5) shall be renumbered as subsection (4) and after sub-section (5) as so re numbered the following sub-section shall be added, namely:

"(5) Any reasonable expenses incurred by the requisitionists on reason of the failure of the directors duly to convene a meeting shall be repaid to the requisitionists by the company, and any sum so repaid shall be retained by the company out of any sums due or to become due from the company by way of fees or other remuneration for their services to such of the directors as were in default."

Substitution of new section 24. For section 79 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:

for section 79, Act VII of 1913.
79. (1) The following provisions shall have effect with respect to meetings of a company other than a private company not being a subsidiary of a public company and the procedure thereat, notwithstanding any provision made in the articles of the company in this behalf:

(a) a meeting of a company other than a meeting for the passing of a special resolution may be called by not less than fourteen days' notice in writing; but with the consent of all the members entitled to receive notice of some particular meeting that meeting may be convened by such shorter notice and in such manner as those members may think fit;

(b) notice of the meeting of a company with a statement of the business to be transacted at the meeting shall be served on every member in the manner in which notices are required to be served by Table A and for the purpose of this clause the expression 'Table A' means that table as for the time being in force; but the accidental omission to give notice to, or the non-receipt of notice by, any member shall not invalidate the proceedings at any meeting;

(c) five members present in person or by proxy, or the chairman of the meeting, or any member or members holding not less than one-tenth of the issued capital which carries voting rights shall be entitled to demand a poll; provided that in the case of a private company if not more than seven members are personally present, one member, and if more that seven members are personally present, two members shall be entitled to demand a poll;

(d) an instrument appointing a proxy, if in the form set out in regulation 67 of Table A, shall not be questioned on the ground that it fails to comply with any special requirements specified for such instruments by the articles; and

(e) any shareholder whose name is entered in the register of shareholders of the company shall enjoy the same rights and be subject to the same liabilities as all other shareholders of the same class.

(2) The following provisions shall have effect in so far as the articles of the company do not make other provision in that behalf:

(a) two or more members holding not less than one-tenth of the total share capital paid up or, if the company has not a share capital, not less than five per cent. in number of the members of the company may call a meeting;

(b) in the case of a private company two members and in the case of any other company five members personally present shall be a quorum;

(c) any member elected by the members present at a meeting may be chairman thereof;

(d) in the case of a company originally having a share capital, every member shall have one vote in respect of each share or each hundred rupees of stock held by him, and in any other case every member shall have one vote;

(e) on a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy;

(f) the instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointor or of his attorney duly authorised in writing, or if the appointor is a corporation, either under seal or under the hand of an officer or an attorney duly authorised; and

(g) a proxy must be a member of the company.

(3) If for any reason it is impracticable to call a meeting of a company in any manner in which meetings of that company may be called or to conduct the meeting of the company in manner prescribed by the articles or this Act, the Court may, either of its own motion or on the application of any director of the company or of any member of the company who would be entitled to vote at the meeting, order a meeting of the company to be called, held and conducted in such manner as the Court thinks fit, and where any such is given may give such ancillary or consequential directions as it thinks expedient, and any meeting called, held and conducted in accordance with any such order shall for all purposes be deemed to be a meeting of the company duly called, held and conducted."

Notes:—The new section is based on s. 115 of the English Act, but whereas that section allows of its provisions being overridden by the provisions made in the articles of the company, the section here makes certain provisions such as those regarding the manner of service of the form of proxy.

Amendment of section 81, Act VII of 1913.

35. In section 81 of the said Act,—

(a) for sub-section (2) the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely:—

"(2) A resolution shall be a special resolution when it has been passed by such a majority as is required for the passing of an extra-ordinary resolution and at a general meeting of which not less than twenty one days’ notice specifying the intention to propose the resolution as a special resolution has been duly given:

Provided that, if all the members entitled to attend and vote at any such meeting so agree, a resolution may be proposed and passed as a special resolution at a meeting at which not less than twenty one days’ notice has been given.";

(b) in sub-section (3), the words following the words "or a special resolution is submitted to be passed" shall be substituted;

(c) in sub-section (4), the words following the words "a poll may be demanded" shall be omitted; and

(d) at the end of sub-section (6) and sub-section (7) the words "or under this Act" shall be added.

Notes:—Section 81 has been amended on the lines of s 117 of the English Act, that is to say, it abolishes the necessity for the confirmation of a special resolution by a second general meeting but requires 21 days’ notice to be given of the meeting at which the special resolution is passed.—Notes on Clauses.

36. In sub-section (1) of section 82 of the said Act, for the words "the confirmation of the special resolution or the passing of the extraordinary resolution, as the case may be," the words "the passing thereof" shall be substituted, and after the word "typewritten" the words "and duly certified under the signature of an officer of the company" shall be inserted.

37. To section 83 of the said Act the following sub-sections shall be added, namely:—

"(4) The books containing the minutes of proceedings of any general meeting of a company held after the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act 1936, shall be kept at the registered office of the company and shall during business hours (subject to such reasonable restrictions as the company may by its articles or in general meeting impose so that no less than two hours in each day be allowed for inspection), be open to the inspection of any member without charge.

(5) Any member shall at any time after seven days from the meeting be entitled to be furnished within seven days after he has made a request in that behalf to the company with a copy of any minutes referred to in sub-section (4) at a charge not exceeding six annas for every hundred words."
(6) If any inspection required under sub-section (4) of this section is refused or if any copy required under sub-section (5) of this section is not furnished within the time specified in sub-section (5) the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable in respect of each offence to a fine not exceeding twenty five rupees and to a further fine to twenty five rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(7) In the case of any such refusal or default, the Court may by order compel an immediate inspection of the books in respect of all proceedings of general meetings or direct that the copies required shall be sent to the persons requiring them."

Notes.—Sub-sections 4 to 7 follow S. 121 of the English Act of 1929.

Amendment of section 82A, 38. In section 83A of the said Act,— Act VII of 1913.

(a) for sub-section (1) the following shall be substituted, namely :

"(1) Every company shall have at least three directors."; and

(b) to sub-section (2) the words "except a private company being a subsidiary company of a public company" shall be added.

Notes.—This amendment increases the minimum member of directors of a company.

Amendment of section 83 B, 39. Section 83B of the said Act shall be re-numbered as sub-section (1) of that section and to the section as so re-numbered the following sub-section shall be added, namely :

"(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in the articles of a company other than a private company not less than two thirds of the whole number of directors shall be persons whose period of office is liable to determination at any time by retirement of directors in rotation:

Provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to a company incorporated before the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act 1936, where by virtue of the articles of the company the number of directors, whose period of office is liable to determination at any time by retirement of directors in rotation falls below the two thirds proportion mentioned in this section."

Notes.—This amendment is intended to secure greater independence to the directors by limiting the number of nominated or ex-officio directors.—Notes on Clauses.

Act VII of 1913.

(a) in clause (ii) of sub-section (1), for the words "a company limited by guarantee and" the word "companies" shall be substituted ; after the brackets and words "(if any)" where they first occur, the words "or taken from the company and paid or agreed to pay for his qualification shares" shall be inserted, and after the brackets and words "(if any)" where they occur for the second time, the following words shall be added, namely :

"or made and filed with the registrar an affidavit to the effect that a number of shares not less than his qualification (if any) are registered in his name";

(b) in subsection (2), after the word "articles" the words "; if any," shall be inserted ; and

(c) in sub-section (3), after the words "private company" the words "or a company which was a private company before becoming a public company" shall be inserted.
41. Sub-section (2) of section 85 of the said Act shall be omitted, and sub-section (3) of that section shall be re-numbered as sub-section (2).

Insertion of new sections 86A to 86I in Act VII of 1913.

42. After section 86 of the said Act, the following sections shall be inserted, namely:

"86A. (1) If any person being an undischarged insolvent acts as director or managing agent or manager of any company, he shall be liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees or to both.

(2) In this section the expression 'company' includes a company incorporated outside British India which has an established place of business within British India.

Notes.—It reproduces s. 142 of the English Act; _vide_ Dawson _v._ African Consolidation, (1863) 1 Ch. 6.

86B. If in the case of any company provision is made by the articles or by any agreement entered into between any person, and the company for empowering a director or manager of the company to assign his office as such to another person, any assignment of office made in pursuance of the said provision shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the said provision, be of no effect unless and until it is approved by a special resolution of the company:

Provided that the exercise by a director of a power to appoint an alternate or substitute director to act for him during an absence of not less than three months from the district in which meetings of the directors are ordinarily held if done with the approval of the board of directors shall not be deemed to be an assignment of office within the meaning of this section:

Provided always that any such alternate or substitute director shall _ipso facto_ vacate office if and when the appointor returns to the district in which meetings of the directors are ordinarily held.

Explanation.—For the purposes of the provisions to this section, the presidency-towns of Calcutta and Madras shall be deemed to be part of the 24-Parganas and Chingleput districts, respectively, and the presidency-town of Bombay shall be deemed to be part of the Bombay Suburban and the Thana districts.

Notes.—It follows s. 151 of the English Act in controlling the practice of director assigning their responsibilities—_Notes on Clauses._

86C. Save as provided in this section, any provision, whether contained in the articles of a company or in any contract relieving any person as auditor of his liability which by virtue of any rule of law would otherwise attach to him in respect of any negligence, default, breach of duty or breach of trust of which he may be guilty in relation to the company shall be void:

Provided that—

(a) in relation to any such provision which is in force at the date of the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, this section shall have effect only on the expiration of a period of six months from that date, and
(b) nothing in this section shall operate to deprive any person of any exemption or right to be indemnified in respect of anything done or omitted to be done by him while any such provision was in force, and

(c) notwithstanding anything in this section, a company may, in pursuance of any such provision as aforesaid, indemnify any such director, manager, officer or auditor against any liability incurred by him in defending any proceedings, whether civil or criminal, in which judgment is given in his favour or in which he is acquitted, or in connection with any application under section 281 of this Act in which relief is granted to him by the Court.

86D. (1) No company shall make any loan or guarantee any loan made to a director of the company or to a firm of which such director is a partner or to a private company of which such director is a director.

(2) In the event of any contravention of subsection (1) any director of the company who is a party to such contravention shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and if default is made in repayment of the loan or in discharging the guarantee shall be liable jointly and severally for the amount unpaid.

(3) This section shall not apply to a private company (except a private company which is the subsidiary company of a public company) or to a banking company.

Notes.—It prohibits the making of loans to directors absolutely.

86E. No director or firm of which such director is a partner or private company of which such director is a director shall without the consent of the company in general meeting hold any office of profit under the company except that of a managing director or manager or a legal or technical adviser or a banker:

Provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to a director elected or appointed before the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, in respect of any office of profit under the company held by him at the commencement of the said Act.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section the office of managing agent shall not be deemed to be an office of profit under the company.

86F. Except with the consent of the directors a director of the company, or the firm of which he is a partner or any partner of such firm, or the private company of which he is a member or director, shall not enter into any contracts for the sale, purchase or supply of goods and materials with the company, provided that nothing herein contained shall affect any such contract or agreement for such sale, purchase or supply entered into before the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936.

86G. (1) The company may by extraordinary resolution remove any director, whose period of office is liable to determination at any time by retirement of directors in rotation, before the expiration of his period of office and may by ordinary resoappointed be appointed shall be a director on the day on which the director in whose place he is appointed was last elected director. A director so removed shall not be re-appointed a director by the board of directors.

(2) This section shall not apply to directors elected or appointed before the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936.

Restrictions on powers of directors

861. (1) The office of a director shall be vacated if—

(a) he fails to obtain within the time specified in sub-section (1) of section 84, or at any time thereafter ceases to hold the share qualification, if any, necessary for his appointment, or

(b) he is found to be of unsound mind by a Court of competent jurisdiction, or

(c) he is adjudged an insolvent, or

(d) he fails to pay calls made on him in respect of shares held by him within six months from the date of such calls being made, or

(e) he or any firm of which he is a partner or any private company of which he is a director without the sanction of the company in general meeting accepts or holds any office of profit under the company other than that of a technical adviser or a banker, or on consecutive meetings of the directors continuous period of three months whichever is the longer without leave of absence from the board of directors, or

(f) he or any firm of which he is a partner or any private company of which he is a director accepts a loan or guarantee from the company in contravention of section 86D, or

(2) Nothing contained in this section shall be deemed to preclude a company from providing by its articles that the office of director shall be vacated on grounds additional to those specified in this section.”

Notes—This section includes in the Act provision for vacation of office by directors instead of leaving this matter to be provided for in the articles.

43. For section 87 of the said Act, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

37. (1) Every company shall keep at its registered office a register of its directors, managers and managing agents containing with respect to each of them the following particulars, that is to say:—

(a) in the case of an individual, his present name in full, any former name or surname in full, his usual residential address, his nationality and, if that nationality is not the nationality of origin, his nationality of origin and his business occupation, if any and if he holds any other directorship or directorships the particulars of;

(b) in the case of principal office; and the name and registered or nationality of each of its
(c) in the case of a firm, the full name, address and nationality of each partner, and the date on which each became a partner.

(2) The company shall within the periods respectively mentioned in this sub-section send to the Registrar a return in the prescribed form containing the particulars specified in the said register and a notification in the prescribed form of any change among its directors, managers or managing agents or in any of the particulars contained in the register.

The period within which the said return is to be sent shall be a period of fourteen days from the appointment of the first directors of the company and the period within which the said notification of a change is to be sent shall be fourteen days from the happening thereof.

(3) The register to be kept under this section shall during business hours (subject to such reasonable restrictions as the company may by its articles or in general meeting impose, so that not less than two hours in each day be allowed for inspection) be open to the inspection of any member of the company without charge and of any other person on payment of one rupee or such less sum as the company may impose for each inspection.

(4) If any inspection required under this section is refused or if default is made in complying with sub section (1) or sub section (2) of this section, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable to a fine of fifty rupees.

(5) In the case of any such refusal, the Court on application made by the person to whom inspection has been refused and upon notice to the company may by order direct an immediate inspection of the register."

Notes.—The substituted section 87 follows s. 144 of the English Act. It provides that the register of directors and managers shall be kept correct and shall be open to inspection.—Notes on Clauses.

Insertion of new heading and sections 87A to 87I in Act VII of 1913.

44. After section 87 of the said Act the following heading and sections shall be inserted, namely:—

"Managing Agents."

87 A. (1) No managing agent shall, after the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, be appointed to hold office for a term of more than twenty years at a time.

(2) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the articles of a company or in any agreement with the company a managing agent of a company appointed before the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, shall not continue to hold office after the expiry of twenty years from the commencement of the said Act unless then reappointed thereto or unless he has been reappointed thereto before the expiry of the said twenty years.

(3) A managing agent whose office is terminated by virtue of the provisions of sub-section (2) shall upon such termination be entitled to a charge upon the assets of the company by way of indemnity for all liabilities or obligations properly incurred by the managing agent on behalf of the company subject to existing charges and encumbrances, if any.

(4) The termination of the office of a managing agent by virtue of the provisions of sub-section (2) shall not take effect until all moneys payable to the managing agent for loans made to or remuneration due up to the date of such termination from the company are paid.

(5) Nothing in this section shall apply to a private company which is not the subsidiary company of a public company.
Notes—It limits the period for which managing agents may be appointed and may continue to act without re-appointment—Notes on Clauses.

Conditions applicable to managing agents.

(a) a company may, by resolution passed at a general meeting of which notice has been given to the managing agent in the same manner as to members of the company, remove a managing agent if he is convicted of an offence in relation to the affairs of the company punishable under the Indian Penal Code* and being under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898† non-bailable; and the purposes of this clause, were the managing agent is a firm or company an offence committed by a member of such firm or a director of or an officer holding a general power of attorney from such company shall be deemed to be an offence committed by such firm or company:

Provided that a managing agent shall not be liable to be removed under the provisions hereof if the offending member, director or officer as aforesaid is expelled or dismissed by the managing agent within thirty days from the date of his conviction or if his conviction is set aside on appeal;

(b) the office of a managing agent shall be vacated if he is adjudged insolvent;

(c) a transfer of his office by a managing agent shall be void unless approved by the company in general meeting;

Provided that in the case of a managing agent's firm a change in the partners thereof shall not be deemed to operate as a transfer of the office of managing agent, so long as one of the original partners shall continue to be a partner of the managing agent's firm. For the purpose of this proviso 'original partners' shall mean in the case of managing agents appointed before the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, partners who were the partners at the date of the commencement of the said Act, and in the case of managing agents appointed after the commencement of the said Act, partners who were partners at the date of the appointment;

(d) a charge or assignment of his remuneration or any part thereof effected by a managing agent shall be void as against the company;

(e) if a company is wound up either by the Court or voluntarily, any contract of management made with a managing agent shall be thereupon determined without prejudice however, to the right of the managing agent to recover any moneys recoverable by the managing agent from the company:

Provided that where the Court finds that the winding up is due to the negligence or default of the managing agent himself the managing agent shall not be entitled to receive any compensation for the premature termination of his contract of management; and

(f) the appointment of a managing agent, the removal of a managing agent and any variation of a managing agent's contract of management made after the commencement of the said Act shall not be subject to the approval of a meeting.

Provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to the appointment of company's first managing agent made prior to the issue of the prospectus or statement in lieu of prospectus where the terms of the appointment of such managing agent are therein set forth.

†V of 1868.
87 C. (1) Where any company appoints a managing agent after the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1926, the remuneration of the managing agent shall be a sum based on fixed percentage of the net annual profits of the company, with provision for a minimum payment in the case of absence of or inadequacy of profits, together with an office allowance to be defined in the agreement of management.

(2) Any stipulation for remuneration additional to or in any other form than the remuneration specified in sub-section (1) shall not be binding on the company unless sanctioned by a special resolution of the company.

(3) For the purposes of this section 'net profits' means the profits of the company calculated after allowing for all the usual working charges, interest on loans and advances, repairs and outgoings, depreciation, bounties or subsidies received from Government or from a public body, profits by way of premium on shares sold, profits on sale proceed of forfeited shares, or profits from the sale of the whole or part of the undertaking of the company but without any deduction in respect of income-tax or super-tax, or any other tax or duty on income or revenue or for expenditure by way of interest on debentures or otherwise on capital account or on account of any sum which may be set aside in each year out of the profits for reserve or any other special fund.

(4) This section shall not apply to a private company except a private company which is the subsidiary company of a public company or to any company whose principal business is the business of insurance.

Notes—It lays down the method by which the remuneration of managing agent shall be fixed in companies other than insurance companies.—Notes on Clauses.

87D. (1) No company shall make to a managing agent of the company or to any partner of the firm, if the managing agent is a firm, or to any director of the private company, if the managing agent is a private company, any loan out of moneys of the company or guarantee any loans made to a managing agent.

(2) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to any credit held by a managing agent in a current account maintained subject to limits previously approved by the board of directors by the company with the managing agent for the purposes of the company's business.

(3) In the event of any contravention of sub-section (1) any director of the company who is a party to the making of the loan or giving of the guarantee shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and if default is made in repayment of the loan or discharging the guarantee shall be liable jointly and severally for the amount unpaid.

(4) Nothing in this section shall apply to a private company except a private company which is the subsidiary company of a public company.

(5) Except with the consent of three-fourths of the directors present and entitled to vote the resolution, a managing agent of the company, or the firm of which he is a partner, or any partner of such firm, or, if the managing agent is a private company, a member or director thereof, shall not enter into any contract for the sale, purchase or supply of goods and materials with the company provided that nothing herein contained shall affect any such contracts for such sale, purchase or supply entered into before the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1926.

Notes:—It makes provision in respect of managing agents, just as it made by s. 86D in respect of directors for controlling loans by the managing agents.—Notes on Clauses.
87E. (1) No company incorporated under this Act after the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, which is under the management of a managing agent shall make any loan to or guarantee any loan made to any company under management by the same managing agent, and no company shall after the expiry of six months from the commencement of the said Act except by way of renewal of an existing loan or guarantee given make any loan to or guarantee any loan made to any such company:

Provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to loans made or guarantees given by a company to or on behalf of a company under its own management or loans made by or to a company to or by a subsidiary company thereof or to guarantees given by a company on behalf of a subsidiary company thereof.

(2) In the event of any contravention of the provisions of this section, any director or officer of the company making the loan or giving the guarantee who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees and shall be jointly and severally liable for any loss incurred by the company in respect of such loan or guarantee.

Notes—The alteration made in sub section (1) provides for excepting renewals of old loans or guarantees whose continuance may be essential to the survival of the Company from the purview of the sub section. Sub-section (2) has been expanded to include a civil liability in addition to the penalty, which has been reduced in amount, and to apply the penalty directly to director or officer at fault—Notes on Clauses

Purchase by company of shares of company under same managing agent

87E. A company other than an investment company, that is to say, a company whose principal business is the acquisition and holding of shares, stocks, debentures or other securities, shall not purchase shares or debentures of any company under management by the same managing agent unless the purchase has been previously approved by an unanimous decision of the board of directors of the purchasing company.

87G. A managing agent shall not exercise in respect of any company of which he is a managing agent a power to issue debentures or, except with the authority of the directors and within the limits, fixed by them, a power to invest the funds of the company, and any delegation of any such power by a company to a managing agent shall be void.

57. To section 104 of the said Act the following sub-section shall be added, namely:

(4) Nothing in this section shall apply to the issue and allotment by a company of shares which under the provisions of its articles were forfeited for non-payment of calls.

Amendment of section 105, Act VII of 1913.

58. In sub-section (2) of section 105 of the said Act, after the words “as aforesaid” the words “and save as provided in section 105A” shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 105A and 105B in Act VII of 1913.

59. After section 105 of the said Act, the following sections shall be inserted, namely:

*II of 1934
105A. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section it shall be lawful for a company to issue at a discount shares in the company of a class already issued:

Provided that—
(a) the issue of the shares at a discount must be authorised by resolution passed in general meeting of the company and must be sanctioned by the Court;
(b) the resolution must specify the maximum rate of discount (not exceeding ten per cent. in any case) at which shares are to be issued;
(c) not less than one year must at the date of issue have elapsed since the date on which the company was entitled to commence business;
(d) the shares to be issued at a discount must be issued within six months after the date on which the issue is sanctioned by the Court or within such extended time as the Court may allow.

(2) Every prospectus relating to the issue of the shares and every balance-sheet issued by the company of the shares or of so of the issue of the document in question.

(3) If default is made in complying with sub-section (2), the company and every officer of the company who is in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

Notes.—It follows s 47 of the English Act of 1929.

Issue of redeemable preference shares.

105B. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, a company limited by shares may, if so authorised by its articles, issue preference shares which are, or at the option of the company are to be, liable to be redeemed:

Provided that—
(a) no such shares shall be redeemed except out of profits of the company which would otherwise be available for dividend or out of the proceeds of a fresh issue of shares made for the purposes of the redemption or out of sale proceeds of any property of the company;
(b) no such shares shall be redeemed unless they are fully paid;
(c) where any such shares are redeemed otherwise than out of the proceeds of a fresh issue, there shall out of profits which would otherwise have been available for dividend be transferred to a reserve fund, to be called "the capital redemption reserve fund" a sum equal to the amount applied in redeeming the shares, and the provisions of this Act relating to the reduction of the shares or the capital of the company shall except as provided in this section, apply as if the capital redemption reserve fund were paid-up share capital of the company;
(d) where any such shares are redeemed out of the proceeds of a fresh issue, the premium, if any, payable on redemption must have been provided for out of the profits of the company before the shares are redeemed.

(2) There shall be included in every balance sheet of a company which has issued redeemable preference shares a statement specifying what part of the issued capital of the company consists of such shares and the date on or before which those shares are, or are to be, liable to be redeemed or, where no definite date is fixed for redemption, the period of notice to be given for redemption.

If a company fails to comply with the provisions of this sub-section, the company and every officer of the company who is in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

(3) Subject to the provisions of this section, the redemption of preference shares hereunder may be effected on such terms and in such manner as may be provided by the articles of the company.
(4) Where in pursuance of the section a company has redeemed or is about to redeem any preference shares, it shall have power to issue shares up to the nominal amount of the shares redeemed to be redeemed as if those shares had never been issued, and accordingly the share capital of the company shall not for the purpose of calculating the fees payable under section 249 be deemed to be increased by the issue of shares in pursuance of this sub-section:

Provided that, where new shares are issued before the redemption of the old shares, the new shares shall not, so far as relates to stamp duty, be deemed to have been issued in pursuance of this sub-section unless the old shares are redeemed within one month after the issue of the new shares.

(5) Where new shares have been issued in pursuance of the last foregoing sub-section, the capital redemption reserve fund may, notwithstanding anything in this section, be applied by the company, up to an amount equal to the nominal amount of the shares so issued, in paying up unissued shares of the company to be issued to members of the company as fully paid bonus shares.

105C. Where the directors decide to increase the capital of the company by the issue of further shares such shares shall be offered to the members in proportion to the existing shares held by each member (irrespective of class) and such offer shall be made in writing specifying the number of shares to which the member is entitled, if such notice is not accepted, will be given in writing to the company at some time, or on receipt of an intimation from the member to whom such notice is given that he declines to accept the shares offered, the directors may dispose of the same in such manner as they think most beneficial to the company.

60. Section 109 of the said Act shall be re-numbered as sub-section (1) of that section, and

(a) in the section as so renumbered, clause (e) shall be re-lettered as clause (d) and the following shall be inserted as clause (e), namely:

"(e) a mortgage or a charge, not being a pledge on any movable property of the company except stock-in-trade; or";

and

(b) to the section as so re-numbered the following sub-section shall be added, namely:

"(2) Where any mortgage or charge on any property of a company required to be registered under this section has been so registered, any person acquiring such property or any part thereof, or any share or interest therein, shall be deemed to have notice of the said mortgage or charge as from the date of such registration."

Notes—Under the existing provisions of the Act a charge or mortgage created over movable property of the company other than debts or uncalled share capital need not be registered. The first amendment requires such charges or mortgages to be registered with certain disqualifications. The second amendment is designed to affect transferees with notice as from the date of registration.—Notes on Clauses.

61. After section 109 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:

"109A. (1) Where after the commencement of the Indian Companies Act, 1936, a company registered in British India acquires any property which is subject to a charge of any such kind as would, if it had been created by the company after the acquisition of the property, have been required to be registered under this Part, the company shall cause the prescribed particulars of the charge, together with a copy (certified in the prescribed manner to be a correct copy) of the instrument, if any, by which the charge was created or is evidenced, to be delivered to the registrar for registration in manner required by this Act within twenty-one days after the date on which the acquisition is completed:

Provided that, if the property is situate and the charge was created outside British India, twenty-one days after the date on which the copy of the instrument could in due course of post, and if despatched with due diligence, have been received in British India shall be substituted for twenty-one days after the completion of the acquisition as the time within which the particulars and the copy of the instrument are to be delivered to the registrar.

(2) If default is made in complying with this section, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully in default shall be liable to a fine of five hundred rupees.

Notes.—This amendment inserts the provisions of s. 81 of the English Act, of 1929.

Amendment of section 116.

62. To section 116 of the said Act the following sub-section shall be added, namely:

"(3) Whenever the terms or conditions or extent or operation of any mortgage or charge registered under this section are modified, it shall be the duty of the company to send to the registrar the particulars of such modification and the provisions of this section as to registration of mortgage or a charge shall apply to such modification of the mortgage or charge as aforesaid."

Amendment of section 119.

63. For sub-section (2) of section 119 of the said Act the following sub-sections shall be substituted, namely:

"(2) Where a receiver of the property of a company has been appointed, every invoice, order for goods, or business letter issued by or on behalf of the company, or the receiver of the company being a document on or in which the name of the company appears, shall contain a statement that a receiver has been appointed.

(3) If default is made in complying with the provision of the Act the company and every director, manager, officer of the company and every receiver who assists or permits the default, shall be liable to rupees.

Amendment of section 120.

64. Section 120 of the said Act shall be re-numbered as sub-section (1) of that section, and—

(a) in that section as so re-numbered, after the words "mortgage or charge" where they occur for the second time, the following words shall be inserted, namely:

"or the omission to give intimation to the registrar of the payment or satisfaction of a debt for which a charge or mortgage was created"

and

(b) to that section as so re-numbered the following sub-section shall be added, namely:

"(2) Where the Court extends the time for the registration of a mortgage or charge, the order shall not prejudice any rights acquired in respect of the property concerned prior to the time when the mortgage or charge is actually registered."
Substitution of new section for section 121, Act VII of 1913.

65. For section 121 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:

"121. (1) It shall be the duty of the company to give intimation to the registrar of the payment or satisfaction of any charge or mortgage created by the company and requiring registration under section 109 within twenty-one days from the date of the payment or satisfaction thereof.

(2) The registrar shall on receipt of such intimation cause a notice to be sent to the mortgagee calling upon him to show cause, within a time (not exceeding fourteen days) to be fixed by such notice, why the payment or satisfaction of the charge or mortgage should not be recorded.

(3) The registrar shall, if no cause is shown, order that a memorandum of satisfaction be entered on the register and shall if required furnish the company with a copy thereof.

(4) Where cause is shown, the registrar shall record a note to that effect in the register, and shall inform the company that he has done so."

Notes.—Section 121 of the Act as it stands empowers the Registrar on proof of satisfaction of a mortgage or charge to record the satisfaction in the register. It is not however, obligatory on a company or the mortgagee to have such satisfaction recorded, and the records of the registrar may accordingly remain incomplete—Notes on Clauses.—

Amendment of section 122, Act VII of 1913.

66. In sub-section (1) of section 122 of the said Act, clause (b) shall be re-lettered as clause (c) and the following clause shall be inserted as

"(b) of the payment or satisfaction of a debt in respect of which a mortgage or charge has been registered under section 109 or section 109A; or"

67. In sub-section (2) of section 123 of the said Act, the word "limited" shall be omitted and after the words "property of the company" the words "and all floating charges on the undertaking or on any property of the company" shall be inserted.

Notes.—It has been doubted whether the provisions of s. 123 apply to floating charges in view of the fact that such charges do not affect property until charges are crystallized. The amendment makes the intention of this section clear—Notes on Clauses.

Substitution of new section for section 130, Act VII of 1913.

68. For section 130 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:

"130. (1) Every company shall cause to be kept proper books of account with respect to—

(a) all sums of money received and expended by the company and the matters in respect of which the receipt and expenditure takes place;

(b) all sales and purchases of goods by the company;

(c) the assets and liabilities of the company.

(2) The books of account shall be kept at the registered office of the company or at such other place as the directors think fit, and shall be open to inspection by the directors during business hours.

(3) In the case of a company managed by a managing agent the agent, or where the managing agent is a firm or company, the partner or director of such firm or company and in any other case the directors who have knowingly by their act or omission been the cause of any default by the company in complying with the requirements of this section, shall in respect of such offence be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees."

Notes—This section is taken from s. 122 of the English Act for the existing section.

Amendment of section 131, Act VII of 1913.

69. In section 131 of the said Act,—

(a) for sub-section (1) the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely:

"(1) The directors of every company shall at some date not later than eighteen months after the incorporation of the company and subsequently once at least in every calendar year have before the company in general meeting a balance-sheet and profit and loss account or in the case of a company not trading for profit an income and expenditure account for the period, in the case of the first account since the incorporation of the company and in any other case since the preceding account, made up to a date not earlier than the date of the meeting by more than nine months or in the case of a company carrying on business or having interests outside British India by more than twelve months:

Provided that the registrar may for any special reason extend the period by a period not exceeding three months";

(b) in sub-section (2), after the words "the balance-sheet" the words "and the profit and loss account or income and expenditure account" shall be inserted;

(c) in sub-section (3) for the words "such balance-sheet so audited" the words "such balance-sheet and profit and loss account or income and expenditure account so audited together with a copy of the auditors' report" shall be substituted and for the words "seven days" wherever they occur the words "forty days" shall be substituted; and

(d) sub-section (4) shall be omitted.

Notes—This amendment introduces the substance of sub-section (1) of section 123 of the English Act and makes the section applicable to all companies—Notes on Clauses.

70. After section 131 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:

"131A. (1) The directors shall make out and attach to every balance-sheet a report with respect to the state of the company's affairs the amount, if any, which they recommend should be paid by way of dividend and the amount, if any, which they propose to carry to the Reserve Fund, General Reserve or Reserve Account shown specifically on the balance-sheet or to a Reserve Fund, General Reserve or Reserve Account to be shown specifically in a subsequent balance-sheet.

(2) The report referred to in sub-section (1) may be signed by the chairman of the directors on behalf of the directors if authorised in that behalf by the directors.

(3) The provisions of sub-section (3) of section 130 shall apply to any person being a director who is knowingly and wilfully guilty of a default in complying with this section."

Notes.—This amendment inserts the provisions contained in sub-section (2) of section 123 of the English Act regarding the report by the directors—Notes on Clauses.

71. To section 132 of the said Act the following sub-section shall be added, namely:

"(3) The profit and loss account shall include particulars showing the total of the amount paid whether as fees, percentages or otherwise to the managing agent, if any, and the directors respectively as remuneration for their services and, where a special resolution passed by the members of the company so requires, to the manager, and the total of the amount written off for depreciation. If any director of the company is by virtue of the nomination, whether direct or indirect, of the company, a director of any other company, any remuneration or other emoluments received by him for his own use, whether as a director of, or otherwise in connection with the management of, that other company, shall be shown in a note at the foot of the account or in a statement attached thereto."

Notes.—It introduces a provision requiring disclosure in the profit and loss account, now made compulsory by new sub-section (1) of s. 131 of certain information of importance to shareholders—Notes on Clauses.

Insertion of new section 72. After section 132 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely:

132A. (1) Where a company, in this Act referred to as the holding company, holds shares, either directly or through a nominee, in a subsidiary company or in two or more subsidiary companies, there shall be annexed to the balance-sheet of the holding company the last audited balance-sheet, profit and loss account and auditors' report of the subsidiary company or companies, and a statement signed by the persons by whom, in pursuance of section 139, the balance sheet of the holding company is signed stating how the profits and losses of the subsidiary company, or, where there are two or more subsidiary companies, the aggregate profits and losses of those companies, have been dealt with in or for the purposes of the accounts of the holding company, and in particular how and to what extent—

(a) provision has been made for the losses of a subsidiary company either in the holding company or of both, and they have been taken into account by the directors arriving at the profits and losses of the company.

Provided that it shall not be necessary to specify in any such statement the actual amount of the profits or losses of any subsidiary company or the actual amount of any part of any such profits or losses which has been dealt with in any particular manner.

Provided further that for the purposes of this section an investment company, that is to say, a company whose principal business is the acquisition and holding of shares, stocks, debentures or other securities, shall not be deemed to be a holding company by reason only that part of its assets consists in 51 per cent. or more of the shares of another company.

(2) If, in the case of a subsidiary company, the auditors' report on the balance-sheet of the company does not state without qualification that the auditors have obtained all the information and explanations they have required and that the balance sheet is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the company's affairs according to the best of their knowledge and belief, the books of account shall be treated in the manner in which the accounts are shown.

(3) For the purposes of this section the profits or losses of a subsidiary company mean the profits or losses shown in any accounts of the subsid} company made up to a date within the period to which the accounts of the holding company relate, or, if there are no such accounts of the subsidiary company available at the time when the accounts of the holding company are made up, the profits or losses shown in the last previous accounts of the subsidiary company which became available within that period.

(4) If for any reason the directors of the holding company are unable to obtain such information as is necessary for the preparation of the statement of the balance-sheet, the directors who sign the balance-sheet shall so report in writing and their report shall be annexed to the balance-sheet in lieu of the statement.

(5) The holding company may by a resolution authorise representatives named in the resolution to inspect the books of account kept in accordance with section 130 by any subsidiary company, and on such resolution being passed those books of account shall be open to inspection by those representatives at any time during business hours.

(6) The rights conferred by section 138 upon members of a company may be exercised in respect of any subsidiary company by members of the holding company as if they were members of that subsidiary company."

Notes.—It adopts the provisions of s. 126 of the English Act.

73. In section 133 of the said Act,—

(a) after the word "balance-sheet" wherever it occurs the words "and profit and loss account or income and expenditure account" shall be inserted;

(b) after the word "manager" wherever it occurs the words "or managing agent" shall be inserted; and

(c) for sub-section (3) the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely :

"(3) If any default is made in laying before the company or in issuing a balance-sheet and profit and loss account or income and expenditure account as required by section 131 or if any balance-sheet and profit and loss account or income and expenditure account is issued, circulated or published which does not comply with the requirements laid down by and under section 131, section 132, section 132A and this section, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully a party to the default shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees."

74. In sub-section (1) of section 134 of the said Act, for the words "after the balance-sheet has" the words "after the balance-sheet and profit and loss account have" shall be substituted, and for the word "balance-sheet" shall be substituted.

75. In section 135 of the said Act, after the words "the balance-sheet" the words "and the profit and loss account or the income and expenditure account" shall be added.

76. In sub-section (2) of section 136 of the said Act, after the words "A copy of the statement" the words "together with a copy of the last audited balance-sheet laid before the members of the company shall be inserted.

77. In section 137 of the said Act,—

(a) to sub-section (3) the following words shall be added, namely :

ments as in its opinion may reasonably be required by the registrar for his investigation and allow the registrar inspection thereof on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit;

(b) after sub-section (5) the following sub-sections shall be added, namely:—

"(6) If it is represented to the registrar in materials placed before him by any contributory or creditor that the business of a company is carried on in fraud of its creditors or in fraud of persons dealing with the company or for a fraudulent purpose, he may after giving the company an opportunity of being heard by written order call on the company for information or explanation on matters specified in the order within such time as he may specify in the order and the provisions of sub-sections (2), (3) and (5) of this section shall apply to such order. If upon investigation the registrar is satisfied that any representation on which he has taken action under this sub-section is frivolous or vexatious, he shall disclose the identity of the informant to the company.

(7) The provisions of this section shall apply mutatis mutandis to documents which a liquidator is required to file under this Act."

Notes—We have amended the provisions to be inserted in s. 137 by providing that action by the registrar shall be taken only after the company has been given an opportunity of explanation, as a check on frivolous charges that the registrar shall disclose the identity of his informant if he finds the allegations made to be frivolous or vexatious—Report of the Select Committee.

Act VII of 1913.

(a) in sub-section (1), after the words "by the Local Government" the word "the Local Government" shall be inserted; proviso shall be added, namely:—

"incidental to an investigation held in pursuance of clause (iv) of section 138 shall be paid out of the assets of the company and shall be recoverable as an arrear of land-revenue"; and

(b) after sub-section (3) the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

"(4) The registrar shall keep the copy of the report sent to him with the records of the company in his custody."

Notes—This amendment provides inter alia for charging the expenses of an investigation undertaken in consequence of a report by the registrar to the company itself—Notes on Clauses.

Insertion of new section 141A. 79. After section 141 of the said Act in Act VII of 1913.

the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"141A. (1) If from any report made under section 138 it appears to the Local Government that any person has been guilty of any offence in relation to the company for which he is criminally liable, the Local Government shall refer the matter to the Advocate General or the Public Prosecutor.

(2) If the officer to whom the matter is referred considers that the case is one in which a prosecution ought to be instituted, he shall cause proceedings to be instituted, and it shall be the duty of all officers and agents of the company, past and present (other than the accused in the proceedings), to give to him all assistance in connection with the prosecution which they are reasonably able to give.
company made up to a date within the period to which the accounts of the holding company relate, or, if there are no such accounts of the subsidiary company available at the time when the accounts of the holding company are made up, the profits or losses shown in the last previous accounts of the subsidiary company which became available within that period.

(4) If for any reason the directors of the holding company are unable to obtain such information as is necessary for the preparation of the statement referred to, the directors who sign the balance-sheet shall so report in writing and their report shall be annexed to the balance-sheet in lieu of the statement.

(5) The holding company may by a resolution authorise representatives named in the resolution to inspect the books of account kept in accordance with section 130 by any subsidiary company, and on such resolution being passed those books of account shall be open to inspection by those representatives at any time during business hours.

(6) The rights conferred by section 138 upon members of a company may be exercised in respect of any subsidiary company by members of the holding company as if they were members of that subsidiary company."

Notes.—It adapts the provisions of s. 126 of the English Act.

Amendment of section 133.
78. In section 133 of the said Act,—

(a) after the word "balance-sheet" wherever it occurs the words "and profit and loss account or income and expenditure account" shall be inserted;

(b) after the word "manager" wherever it occurs the words "or managing agent" shall be inserted;

(c) for sub-section (3) the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely:—

"(3) If any default is made in laying before the company or in issuing a balance-sheet and profit and loss account or income and expenditure account as required by section 131 or if any balance-sheet and profit and loss account or income and expenditure account is issued, circulated or published which does not comply with the requirements laid down by and under section 131, section 132, section 132A and this section, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully a party to the default shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees."

74. In sub-section (1) of section 134 of the said Act, for the words "after the balance-sheet has" the words "after the balance-sheet and profit and loss account have" shall be substituted, and for the word "of the balance-sheet" shall be substituted.

75. In section 135 of the said Act, after the words "the balance-sheet" the words "and the profit and loss account or the income and expenditure account" shall be added.

76. In sub-section (2) of section 136 of the said Act, after the words "A copy of the statement" the words "together with a copy of the last audited balance-sheet laid before the members of the company" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 137.
77. In section 137 of the said Act,—

(a) to sub-section (3) the following words shall be added, namely:—

"and the Court may on the application of the registrar and upon notice to the company make an order on the company for production of such documents as in its opinion may reasonably be required by the registrar for his investigation and allow the registrar inspection thereof on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit’’;
and
(b) after sub-section (5) the following sub-sections shall be added, namely:—

“(6) If it is represented to the registrar in materials placed before him by any contributory or creditor that the business of a company is carried on in fraud of its creditors or in fraud of persons dealing with the company or for a fraudulent purpose, he may after giving the company an opportunity of being heard by written order call on the company for information or explanation on matters specified in the order within such time as he may specify in the order and the provisions of sub-sections (2), (3) and (5) of this section shall apply to such order. If upon investigation the registrar is satisfied that any representation on which he has taken action under this sub-section is frivolous or vexatious, he shall disclose the identity of the informant to the company.

(7) The provisions of this section shall apply mutatis mutandis to documents which a liquidator is required to file under this Act.’’

Notes.—We have amended the provisions to be inserted in s. 137 by providing that action by the registrar shall be taken only after the company has been given an opportunity of explanation, as a check on frivolous charges that the registrar shall disclose the identity of his informant if he finds the allegations made to be frivolous or vexatious—Report of the Select Committee.

Amendment of section 141, 78. In section 141 of the said Act,—
Act VII of 1913.

(a) in sub-section (1), after the words “by the Local Government” the words “to the registrar and another copy” shall be inserted;
(b) to sub-section (3) the following proviso shall be added, namely:— “Provided that the expenses of and incidental to an investigation held in pursuance of clause (iv) of section 138 shall be paid out of the assets of the company and shall be recoverable as an arrear of land-revenue;” and (c) after sub-section (3) the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

“(4) The registrar shall keep the copy of the report sent to him with the records of the company in his custody.’’

Notes.—This amendment provides inter alia for charging the expenses of an investigation undertaken in consequence of a report by the registrar to the company itself—Notes on Clauses.

Insertion of new section 141A 79. After section 141 of the said Act in Act VII of 1913, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

“141A. (1) If from any report made under section 138 it appears to the Institution of prosecutions, Local Government that any person has been guilty of any offence in relation to the company for which he is criminally liable, the Local Government shall refer the matter to the Advocate General or the Public Prosecutor.
(2) If the officer to whom the matter is referred considers that the case is one in which a prosecution ought to be instituted, he shall cause proceedings to be instituted, and it shall be the duty of all officers and agents of the company, past and present (other than the accused in the proceedings), to give to him all assistance in connection with the prosecution which they are reasonably able to give."
(3) For the purpose of sub-section (2), the expression "agents" in relation to a company shall be deemed to include the bankers and legal advisers of the company and any persons employed by the company as auditors, whether those persons are or are not officers of the company.

(4) Any director, manager or other officer of the company convicted as the result of a prosecution initiated under this section shall not without the leave of the Court be a director of or in any way whether directly or indirectly be concerned in or take part in the management of a company for a period of five years from the date of such conviction.

Notes — It is based on ss. 140 of the English Act.

'(7) An appeal shall lie from any order made by the Court exercising original jurisdiction under this section to the authority authorised to hear appeals from the decisions of the Court."

Notes.—We have incorporated in s. 153 the provisions of sub-sections (3) and 4 of s 153 of the English Act—Report of the Select Committee

"153A. (1) Where an application is made to the Court under section 153 for the sanctioning of a compromise or arrangement proposed between a company and any such persons as are mentioned in that section, and it is shown to the Court that the compromise or arrangement has been proposed for the purposes of or in connection with a scheme for the reconstruction of C. C. H. Vol. I—Supp.—6 any company or companies or the amalgamation of any two or more companies, and that under the scheme the whole or any part of the undertaking or the property of any company concerned in the scheme (in this section referred to as a 'transferor company') is to be transferred to another company (in this section referred to as 'the transferee company'), the Court may, either by the order sanctioning the compromise or arrangement or by any subsequent order, make provision for all or any of the following matters:—

(a) the transfer to the transferee company of the whole or any part of the undertaking and of the property or liabilities of any transferor company;

(b) the allotting or appropriation by the transferee company of any shares, debentures, policies, or other like interests in that company which under the compromise or arrangement are to be allotted or appropriated by that company to or for any person;

(c) the continuation by or against the transferee company of any legal proceedings pending by or against any transferor company;

(d) the dissolution, without winding up, of any transferor company;

(e) the provision to be made for any person who, within such time and in such manner as the Court directs, dissent from the compromise or arrangement;

(f) such incidental, consequential and supplemental matters as are necessary to secure that the reconstruction or amalgamation shall be fully and effectively carried out.

(2) Where an order under this section provides for the transfer of property or liabilities, that property shall, by virtue of the order, be transferred to and vest in, and those liabilities shall, by virtue of the order, be transferred to and become the liabilities of, the transferee company, and in the case of any property, if the order so directs, freed from any charge which is by virtue of the compromise or arrangement to cease to have effect.

(3) Where an order is made under this section, every company in relation to which the order is made shall cause a certified copy thereof to be delivered to the registrar for registration within fourteen days after the completion of the order and if diesel the company is knowingly and willfully in default rupees.

(4) In this section the expression 'property' includes property, rights and powers of every description, and the expression 'liabilities' includes duties.

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 153, the expression 'company' in this section does not include any company, other than a company within the meaning of this Act.

Power to acquire shares of shareholders dissenting from schemes or contract approved by majority.

153B. (1) Where a scheme or contract involving the transfer of shares or any class of shares in a company (in this section referred to as 'the transferor company') to another company, whether a company within the meaning of this Act or not (in this section referred to as 'the transferee company'), has within four months after the making of the offer in that behalf by the transferee company been approved by the holders of not less than three-fourths in value of the shares affected, the transferee company may, at any time within two months after the expiration of the said four months, give notice in the prescribed manner to any dissenting shareholder that it desires to acquire his shares, and where such a notice is given the transferee company shall, unless on an application made by the dissenting shareholder within one month from the date on which the notice was given the Court thinks fit to order otherwise, be entitled and bound to acquire those shares on the terms on which under the scheme or contract the shares of the approving shareholders are to be transferred to the transferee company:

Provided that, where any such scheme or contract has been so approved at any time before the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1935, the Court may by order, on an application made to it by the transferee company within two months after the commencement of that Act, authorise notice to be given under this section at any time within fourteen days after the making of the order, and this section shall apply accordingly, except that the terms on which the shares of the dissenting shareholder are to be acquired shall be such terms as the Court may by the order direct instead of the terms provided by the scheme or contract.

(2) Where a notice has been given by the transferee company under this section and the Court has not, on an application made by the dissenting shareholder, ordered to the contrary, the transferee company shall, on the expiration of one month from the date on which the notice has been given, or, if an application to the Court by the dissenting shareholder is then pending, after that application has been disposed of, transmit a copy of the notice to the transferor company and pay or transfer to the transferor company the amount or other consideration representing the price payable by the transferee company for the shares which by virtue of this section that company is entitled to acquire, and the transferor company shall thereupon register the transferee company as the holder of those shares.

(3) Any sums received by the transferor company under this section shall be paid into a separate bank account, and any such sums and any other consideration so received shall be held by that company on trust for the several persons entitled to the shares in respect of which the said sums or other consideration were respectively received.

(4) In this section the expression 'dissenting shareholder' includes a shareholder who has not assented to the scheme or contract and any shareholder who has failed or refused to transfer his shares to the transferee company in accordance with the scheme or contract.'

85. For section 154 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"154. (1) If a company, being a private company, alters its articles in such manner that they no longer include the provisions which, under the provisions of clause (13) of sub-section (1) of section 2, are required to be included in the articles of a company in order to constitute it a private company, the company shall, as on the date of the alteration, cease to be a private company and shall, within a period of fourteen days after the said date, file with the registrar a prospectus or a statement in lieu of prospectus in the form and containing the particulars set out in the form marked II in the Second Schedule.

(2) If default is made in complying with sub-section (1) of this section the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly and willfully in default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

(3) Where the articles of a company include the provisions aforesaid but default is made in complying with any of those provisions, the company shall cease to be entitled to the privileges and exemptions conferred on private companies under the provisions contained in this Act, and thereupon the provisions of this Act shall apply to the company as if it were not a private company:

Provided that the Court, on being satisfied that the failure to comply with the conditions was accidental or due to inadvertence or to some other sufficient cause, or that on other grounds it is just and equitable to grant relief, may, on the application of the company or any other person interested and on such terms and conditions as seem to the Court just and expedient, order that the company be relieved from such consequences as aforesaid”.

Notes.—This amendment substitutes a section in terms of s. 27 of the English Act for the existing section.—Notes on Clauses.

Amendment of section 159, Act VII of 1893.

86. For sub-section (1) of section 159 of the said Act the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely:—

“(1) The liability of a contributory shall create a debt payable at the time specified in the calls made on him by the liquidator.”

Amendment of section 160, Act VII of 1913

87. To section 160 of the said Act, the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

“(2) For the purposes of this section the surviving coparceners of a contributory who is a member of a Hindu joint family governed by the Mitakshara School of Hindu Law shall be deemed to be his legal representatives and heirs.”

Amendment of section 163, Act VII of 1913.

88. Section 163 of the said Act shall be re-numbered as sub-section (r) of that section, and in the section as so re-numbered, —

(a) in clause (r), for the words “by leaving the same” the words “by causing the same to be delivered by registered post or otherwise” shall be substituted; and

(b) the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

“(2) The demand referred to in clause (r) of sub-section (r), shall be deemed to have been duly given under the hand of the creditor if it is signed by an agent or legal adviser duly authorised on his behalf, or in the case of a firm if it is signed by such agent or by a legal adviser or anyone member of the firm on behalf of the firm.”

89. In section 166 of the said Act,—

(a) after the words “together or separately”; the words, “or by the registrar” shall be inserted, and

(b) after clause (a) of the proviso the following clause shall be inserted, namely:—

“(aa) the registrar shall not be entitled to present a petition for winding up a company—

(i) except on the ground that from the financial condition of the company as disclosed in its balance-sheet or from the report of an inspector appointed under section 138 it appears that the company is unable to pay its debts; and

(ii) unless the previous sanction of the Local Government has been obtained to the presentation of the petition:

Provided that no such sanction shall be given unless the company has first been afforded an opportunity of being heard.”

Amendment of section 170, Act VII of 1913.

90. To section 170 of the said Act the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

“(3) Where the Court makes an order for the winding up of a company, it shall, except where a liquidator is appointed simultaneously, forthwith cause intimation thereof to be sent to the official receiver.”
Amendment of section 171, Act VII of 1913.

91. In section 171 of the said Act, after the words "has been made" the words "or a provisional liquidator has been appointed" shall be inserted.

Insertion of new section 171A in Act VII of 1913.

"171A. (1) For the purposes of this Act, so far as it relates to the winding up of companies by the Court, the term 'official receiver' means the official receiver attached to the Court, or, if there is no such official receiver, then such person as the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, appoint for the purpose.

(2) On the making of a winding up order, the official receiver shall become the official liquidator of the company and shall continue to act as such until his further continuance is terminated by an order of the Court.

(3) The official receiver shall as such official liquidator forthwith take into his custody and control all the books, documents and the assets of the company.

(4) The official receiver shall be entitled to such remuneration as the Court shall fix."

Notes.—This clause is designed to secure that a public official shall automatically become the liquidator until some other person is appointed by the Court and can undertake the work.—Notes on Clauses

93. For subsection (1) of section 172 of the said Act the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely :

"(1) On the making of a winding up order it shall be the duty of the petitioner in the winding up proceedings and of the company to file with the registrar a copy of the order within a month from the date of the making of the order."

Amendment of section 175, Act VII of 1913.

94. In section 175 of the said Act,—

(a) in sub-section (1), after the words "a person or persons" the words "other than the official receiver" shall be inserted; and Notes.—The amendment is consequential on amendment made in s 171.

(b) to sub-section (2), the following words shall be added, namely :

"but shall before making any such appointment give notice to the company, unless for reasons to be recorded it thinks fit to dispense with notice."

Amendment of section 176, Act VII of 1913.

95 To sub-section (2) of section 176 of the said Act the following words shall be added namely :

"and until the vacancy is so filled up the official receiver shall be and act as the official liquidator."

Insertion of new sections 177A and 177B in Act VII of 1913.

"177A. (1) Where the Court has made a winding up order or appointed an official liquidator provisionally, there shall, unless the Court thinks fit to order otherwise and so orders, be made out and submitted to the official liquidator a statement as to the affairs of the company verified by an affidavit and containing the following particulars, namely :—
(a) the assets of the company, stating separately the cash balance in hand and at the bank, if any;
(b) the debts and liabilities;
(c) the names, residences and occupations of the creditors stating separately the amount of secured debts and unsecured debts, and in the case of secured debts particulars of the securities, their value and the dates when they were given;
(d) the debts due to the company and the names, residences and occupations of the persons from whom they are due and the amount likely to be realised therefrom.

(2) The statement shall be submitted and verified by one or more of the persons who are at the relevant date the directors and by the person who is at that date the secretary, manager or other chief officer of the company, or by such of the persons heretofore mentioned as the officials may require to submit and
(a) who
(b) who have taken part in the formation of the company at any time within one year before the relevant date;
(c) who are in the employment of the company, or have been in the employment of the company, or have been in the service of the company, or have been in the service of any other company, within twenty-one days from the relevant date.

The official liquidator or the Court may for special reasons appoint.

(4) Any person making or concurring in making the statement and affidavit required by this section shall be allowed, and shall be paid by the official liquidator or provisional liquidator, as the case may be, out of the assets of the company, such costs and expenses incurred in and about the preparation and making of the statement and affidavit as the official liquidator may consider reasonable, subject to an appeal to the Court.

(5) If any person, without reasonable excuse, knowingly and wilfully makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(6) Any person stating himself in writing to be a creditor or contributory of the company shall be entitled by himself or by his agent at all reasonable times, on payment of the prescribed fee, to inspect the statement submitted in pursuance of this section, and to a copy thereof or extract therefrom.

(7) Any person untruthfully so stating himself to be a creditor or contributory shall be guilty of an offence under section 182 of the Indian Penal Code and shall, on the application of the liquidator or of the official receiver, be punishable accordingly.

(8) In this section the expression “the relevant date” means, in a case where a provisional liquidator is appointed, the date of his appointment, and, in a case where no such appointment is made, the date of the winding up order.

Statement by liquidator. 177B. (1) In a case where a winding up order is made, the official liquidator shall, as soon as practicable after receipt of the statement to be submitted under section 177A, and not later than four, or with the leave of the Court, six months from the date of the order, or in a case where the Court orders that no statement shall be submitted, as soon as practicable after the date of the order, submit a preliminary report to the Court—

(a) as to the amount of capital issued, subscribed, and paid up, and the estimated amount of assets and liabilities, giving separately under the heading of assets particulars of—

(i) cash and negotiable securities;

(ii) debts due from contributories;

(iii) debts due to and securities, if any, available to the company,

(iv) movable and immovable properties belonging to the company;

(v) unpaid calls; and

(b) if the company has failed, as to the causes of the failure; and

(c) whether in his opinion further inquiry is desirable as to any matter relating to the promotion, formation, or failure of the company, or the conduct of the business thereof.

(2) The official liquidator may also, if he thinks fit, make a further report, or further reports, stating the manner in which the company was formed and whether in his opinion any fraud has been committed by any person in its promotion or formation, or by any director or other officer of the company in relation to the company since the formation thereof, and any other matters which in his opinion it is desirable to bring to the notice of the Court.”

Notes—It corresponds with section 182 of the English Act.

Amendment of section 178, Act VII of 1913.

97. In section 178 of the said Act,—

(a) in sub-section (1), after the word “liquidator” the words “whether appointed provisionally or not” shall be inserted; and

(b) for sub-section (2) the following sub-section shall be instituted, namely:

“(2) All the property and effects of the company shall be deemed to be in the custody of the Court as from the date of the order for the winding up of the company.”

98. After section 178 of the said Act, the following section shall be inserted, namely:

“178A. (1) The official liquidator shall within a month from the date of the order for the winding up of a company convene a meeting of the creditors of the company (as ascertained from the books and documents of the company) for the purpose of determining whether or not a committee of inspection shall be appointed to act with the liquidator and who are to be members of the committee, if appointed.

(2) The official liquidator shall within a week from the date of the creditor’s meeting convene a meeting of the contributories to consider the decision of the creditors and to accept the same with or without modifications.

(3) If the contributories do not accept the decision of the creditors in its entirety, it shall be the duty of the official liquidator to apply to the Court for directions as to whether there shall be a committee of inspection and, if so, what shall be the composition of the committee, and who shall be members thereof,”
(4) A committee of inspection appointed under this section shall consist of not more than twelve members being creditors and contributories of the company or persons holding general or special powers of attorney from creditors or contributories in such proportions as may be agreed on by the meetings of creditors and contributories, or as, in case of difference, may be determined by the Court.

(5) The committee of inspection shall have the right to inspect the accounts of official liquidator at all reasonable times.

(6) The committee shall meet at such times as they may from time to time appoint, and, failing such appointment, at least once a month, and the liquidator or any member of the committee may also call a meeting of the committee as and when he thinks necessary.

(7) The committee may act by a majority of their members present at a meeting, but shall not act unless a majority of the committee are present.

(8) A member of the committee may resign by notice in writing signed by him and delivered to the liquidator.

(9) If a member of the committee becomes bankrupt, or compounds or arranges with his creditors or is absent from five consecutive meetings of the committee without the leave of those members who together with himself represent the creditors or contributories, as the case may be, his office shall thereupon become vacant.

(10) A member of the committee may be removed by an ordinary resolution at a meeting of creditors if he represents creditors, or of contributories if he represents contributories, of which seven days’ notice has been given, stating the object of the meeting.

(11) On a vacancy occurring in the committee the liquidator shall forthwith summon a meeting of creditors or of contributories, as the case may require, to fill the vacancy, and the meeting may, by resolution, re-appoint the same or appoint another creditor or contributory to fill the vacancy.

(12) The continuing members of the committee, if not less than two, may act notwithstanding any vacancy in the committee.”

Notes.—This section is based on sections 108 and 109 of the English Act.

Amendment of section 182, Act VII of 1913.

(1) Section 182 of the said Act shall be re-numbered as sub-section (1) of that section and to the section as so re-numbered the following sub-sections shall be added, namely:

(2) Every official liquidator shall, at such times as may be prescribed but not less than twice in each year during his tenure of office, present to the Court an account of his receipts and payments as such liquidator.

(3) The account shall be in such form as the Court may require, and the Court may at any time require the production of and inspect any books or accounts kept by the liquidator.

(5) When the account has been audited, one copy thereof shall be filed and kept by the Court, and the other copy shall be delivered to the registrar for filing, and each copy shall be open to the inspection of any creditor, or of any person interested.”

To sub-section (1) of section 183 of the said Act, the words “or by the committee of inspection, and any directions given by the creditors or contributories at any general meeting shall in case of conflict be deemed to override any directions given by the committee of inspection” shall be added at the end.
101. In section 183 of the said Act, the words "the Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Madras or the Bank of Bombay, as the case may be, or any branch thereof respectively to" shall be omitted and after the words "official liquidator" where they first occur the words "in any scheduled bank as defined in clause (e) of section 2 of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934," shall be inserted.

102. In section 189 of the said Act, for the words "the Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Madras or the Bank of Bombay or any branch thereof respectively" the words "the Bank where the liquidator of the Company may have his account" shall be substituted.

103. To section 203 of the said Act after clause (3) the following words shall be added, namely:—

"and the expression 'resolution for voluntarily winding up' when used hereafter in this Part means a resolution passed under clause (r), clause (2) or clause (5) of this section".

104. In section 204 of the said Act, for the words "authorising the winding up" the words "for voluntarily winding up" shall be substituted.

105. For sections 207 to 219 of the said Act, both included, the following sections and headings shall be substituted, namely:—

"207. (1) Where it is proposed to wind up a company voluntarily, the directors of the company or, in the case of a company having more than two directors, the majority of the directors may, at a meeting of the directors held before the date on which the notices of the meeting at which the resolution for the winding up of the company is to be proposed are sent out, to make a declaration verified by an affidavit to the effect that they have made a full inquiry into the affairs of the company, and that, having so done, they have formed the opinion that the company will be able to pay its debts in full within a period, not exceeding three years, from the commencement of the winding up.

(2) Such declaration shall be supported by a report of the company's auditors on the company's affairs and shall have no effect for the purposes of this Act unless it is delivered to the registrar for registration before the date mentioned in sub-section (1) of this section.

(3) A winding up in the case of which a declaration has been made and delivered in accordance with this section is in this Act referred to as a 'members' voluntary winding up', and a winding up in the case of which a declaration has not been made and delivered as aforesaid is in this Act referred to as 'a creditors' voluntary winding up'.

Notes—This is section 230 of the English Act of 1929.

Members' voluntary winding up.

Provisions applicable to a members' voluntary winding up.

208. The provisions contained in sections 208A to 208E both inclusive, shall apply in relation to a member's voluntary winding up.

Notes.—This is section 231 of the English Act.

* 11 of 1934.
208A. (1) The company in general meeting shall appoint one or more liquidators for the purpose of winding up the affairs and distributing the assets of the company, and may fix the remuneration to be paid to him or them.

(2) On the appointment of a liquidator all the powers of the directors shall cease, except so far as the company in general meeting, or the liquidator, sanctions the continuance thereof.

Notes.—This is section 232 of the English Act.

208B. (1) If a vacancy occurs by death, resignation or otherwise in the office of liquidator appointed by the company, the company in general meeting may, subject to any arrangement with its creditors, fill the vacancy.

(2) For that purpose a general meeting may be convened by any contributory or, if there were more liquidators than one, by the continuing liquidators.

(3) The meeting shall be held in manner provided by this Act or by the articles, or in such manner as may, on application by any contributory or by the continuing liquidators, be determined by the Court.

Notes.—This is section 233 of the English Act Vide Hunter v. Damudar Das, 181 Ind. Cas. 508 = 46 A. 759 = 22 A. L. J. 719.

208C. (1) Where a company is proposed to be, or is in course of being, wound up altogether voluntarily, and the whole or part of its business or property is proposed to be transferred or sold to another company, whether a company within the meaning of this Act or not (in this section called 'the transferer company'), the liquidator of the first-mentioned company (in this section called 'the trustee company') may, with the sanction of a special resolution of that company conferring either a general authority on the liquidator or an authority in respect of any particular arrangement, receive, in compensation or part compensation for the transfer or sale, shares, policies or other like interests in the transferor company, for distribution among the members of the trustee company, or may enter into any other arrangement whereby the members of the trustee company may, in lieu of receiving cash, shares, policies, or other like interests or to receive any other benefit from this section shall be binding on any who did not vote in favour of the special resolution expresses his dissent therefrom in writing addressed to the liquidator and left at the registered office of the company within seven days after the passing of the special resolution, he may require the liquidator either to abstain from carrying the resolution into effect or to purchase his interest at a price to be determined by agreement or by arbitration in manner hereafter provided.

(4) If the liquidator elects to purchase the member's interest, the purchase money must be paid before the company is dissolved, and be raised by the liquidator in such manner as may be determined by special resolution.

(5) A special resolution shall not be invalid for the purposes of this section by reason that it is passed before or concurrently with a resolution for voluntary winding up within a Court.
(6) The provision of the Indian Arbitration Act, 1899,* other than those restricting the application of the Act in respect of the subject-matter of the arbitration, shall apply to all arbitrations in pursuance of this section.

Notes.—This is section 234 of the English Act and repealed section 213 of this Act.

208D. (1) In the event of the winding up continuing for more than one year, the liquidators shall summon a general meeting of the company at the end of the first year from the commencement of the winding up and of each succeeding year, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient within ninety days of the close of the year, and shall lay before the meeting an account of his acts and dealings and of the conduct of the winding up during the preceding year and a statement in the prescribed form containing the prescribed particulars with respect to the position of the liquidator.

(2) If the liquidator fails to comply with this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees.

Notes.—This is section 235 of the English Act.

208E. (1) As soon as the affairs of the company are fully wound up, the liquidator shall make up an account of the winding up, showing how the winding up has been conducted and the property of the company has been disposed of, and thereupon shall call a general meeting of the company for the purpose of laying before it the account, and giving any explanation thereof.

(3) Within one week after the meeting, the liquidator shall send to the registrar a copy of the account, and shall make a return to him of the holding of the meeting and of its date, and if the copy is not sent or the return is not made in accordance with this sub-section the liquidator shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

Provided that, if a quorum is not present at the meeting, the liquidator shall, in lieu of the said return, make a return that the meeting was duly summoned and that no quorum was present thereat, and upon such a return being made the provisions of this sub-section as to the making of the return shall be deemed to have been complied with.

(4) The registrar on receiving the account and either of the returns mentioned in sub-section (3) shall forthwith register them and on the expiration of three months from the registration of the return the company shall be deemed to be dissolved:

(a) The liquidator or of any of the liquidators, as the Court thinks fit.

(5) It shall be the duty of the person on whose application an order of the Court under this section is made, within twenty-one days after the making of the order, to deliver to the registrar a certified copy of the order for registration, and if that person fails so to do he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

Notes.—This is section 236 of the English Act.

and a meeting of the creditors for the purpose of laying the account before the meetings and giving any explanation thereof.

(3) Within one week after the date of the meetings, or, if the meetings are not held on the same date, after the date of the later meeting, the liquidator shall send to the registrar a copy of the account, and shall make a return to him of the holding of the meetings and of their dates, and if the copy is not sent or the return is not made in accordance with this sub-section the liquidator shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues:

Provided that, if a quorum (which for the purposes of this section shall be two persons) is not present at either such meeting, the liquidator shall, in lieu of such return, make a return that the meeting was duly summoned and that no quorum was present thereat, and upon such a return being made the provisions of this sub-section as to the making of the return shall, in respect of that meeting be deemed to have been complied with.

(4) The registrar on receiving the account and in respect of each such meeting either of the returns mentioned in sub-section (3) shall forthwith register them, and on the expiration of three months from the registration thereof the company shall be deemed to be dissolved:

Provided that the Court may, on the application of the liquidator or of any other person who appears to the Court to be interested, make an order deferring the date at which the dissolution of the company is to take effect for such time as the Court think fit.

(5) It shall be the duty of the person on whose application an order of the Court under this section is made, within ten days after making of the order, to deliver to the registrar a certified copy of the order for registration, and if that person fails to do so he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

Notes—The is section 245 of the English Act.

Members' or creditors' voluntary winding up.

210. The provisions contained in sections 211 to 218, both inclusive, shall apply to every voluntary winding up whether a members' or a creditors' winding up.

Notes—This is section 246 of the English Act.

211. Subject to the provisions of this Act as to preferential payments, the property of a company shall, on its winding up, be applied in satisfaction of its liabilities pari passu and, subject to such application, shall, unless the articles otherwise provide, be distributed among the members according to their rights and interests in the company.

212. (1) The liquidator may—

Powers and duties of liquidator in voluntary winding up.

(a) in the case of a members' voluntary winding up, with the sanction of an extraordinary resolution of the company, and in the case of a creditors' voluntary winding up, with the sanction of either the Court or the committee of inspection, exercise any of the powers given by clauses (d), (e), (f) and (h) of section 179 to a liquidator in a winding up. The exercise by the liquidator of the powers given by this clause shall be subject to the control of the Court and any creditor or contributory may apply to the Court with respect to any exercise or proposed exercise of any of these powers;

(6) without the sanction referred to in clause (a), exercise any of the other powers by this Act given to the liquidator in a winding up by the Court;

(c) exercise the power of the Court under this Act of settling a list of contributories, and the list of contributories shall be prima facie evidence of the liability of the persons named therein to be contributories;

(d) exercise the power of the Court of making calls;

(e) summon general meetings of the company for the purpose of obtaining the sanction of the company by special or extraordinary resolution or for any other purpose he may think fit.

(2) The liquidator shall pay the debts of the company and shall adjust the rights of the contributories among themselves.

(3) When several liquidators are appointed, any power given by this Act may be exercised by such one or more of them as may be determined at the time of their appointment, or, in default of such determination by any number not less than two.

Notes.—This is section 248 of the English Act.

Power of Court to appoint and remove liquidator in voluntary winding up.

213. (1) If from any cause whatever there is no liquidator acting, the Court may appoint a liquidator.

(2) The Court may, on cause shown, remove a liquidator and appoint another liquidator.

Notes.—This is section 249 of the English Act and clauses (VIII) and (IX) of the old section 207.

Notice by liquidator of his appointment.

214. (1) The liquidator shall, within twenty-one days after his appointment, deliver to the registrar for registration a notice of his appointment in the form prescribed.

(2) If the liquidator fails to comply with the requirements of this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

Notes.—This is section 250 of the English Act and section 208 which has been repealed.

Arrangement when binding on creditors.

215. (1) Any arrangement entered into between a company about to be, or in the course of being, wound up and its creditors shall, subject to the right of appeal under this section, be binding on the company if sanctioned by an extraordinary resolution, and on the creditors if accepted by three-fourths in number and value of the creditors.

(2) Any creditor or contributory may, within three weeks from the completion of the arrangement, appeal to the Court against it, and the Court may thereupon, as it thinks just, amend, vary or confirm the arrangement.

Notes.—This section corresponds to section 251 of the English Act and the old section 213 which has been repealed.

Power to apply to Court to have questions determined of powers exercised.

216. (1) The liquidator or any contributory or creditor may apply to the Court to determine any question arising in the winding up of a company, or to exercise, as respects the enforcing of calls, staying of proceedings or any other matter, all or any of the powers which the Court might exercise if the company were being wound up by the Court.

(2) The liquidator or any creditor or contributory may apply for an order setting aside any attachment, distress or execution put into force against the estate or effects of the company after the commencement of the winding
Such application shall be made—
(a) if the attachment, distress or execution is levied or put into force by a High Court, to such High Court, and
(b) if the attachment, distress and execution is levied or put into force in any other Court, to the Court having jurisdiction to wind up the company.
(3) The Court, if satisfied that the determination of the question or the required exercise of power or the order applied for will be just and beneficial, may exceed wholly or partially to the application on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit, or may make such other order on the application as it thinks just.

Notes.—This is section 252 of the English Act and sub-sections (1) & (3) of this section corresponds to sub-section (1) & (2) of the repeated section 245.

Cost of voluntary winding up
217. All costs, charges and expenses properly incurred in the winding up, including the remuneration of the liquidator, shall, subject to the rights of secured creditors, if any, be payable out of the assets of company in priority to all other claims.

Notes.—This is section 254 of the English Act.

Saving for rights of creditors and contributories
218. The winding up of a company shall not bar the right of any creditor or contributory to have it wound up by the Court, but in the case of an application by a contributory, the Court must be satisfied that the rights of the contributories will be prejudiced by a voluntary winding up.

Amendment of section 230, the said Act—
106. In sub-section (1) of section 230 of Act VII of 1913.
(a) in clause (b) the word "and" shall be omitted; and
(b) after clause (c) the following clauses shall be added, namely:
(1) a company, or anyone under the Workmen's Compensation Act maintained by the company; and
(f) the expenses of any investigation held in pursuance of clause (iv) of section 13S of this Act.

Notes.—It is equitable that the compensation payable under the Workmen's Compensation Act should not be treated as an ordinary debt provable in the winding up but should have priority.—Notes on Clauses.

Insertion of new section 233A, the following section shall be inserted, namely:
233A. (1) Where any part of the property of a company which is being wound up consists of land of any tenure burdened with onerous covenants, of shares or stock in companies, of unprofitable contracts or of any other property that is unsaleable, or not readily salable, by reason of its binding the possessor thereof to the performance of any onerous act, or to the payment of any sum of money, the liquidator of the company, notwithstanding that he had endeavoured to sell or has taken possession of the property, or exercised any act of ownership in the property, has not come to the knowledge of the Court and subject to the provisions by him, at any time within twelve months after the commencement of the winding up, the power under this section of disclaiming the property may be exercised at any time within twelve months after he has become aware thereof or such extended period as may be allowed by the Court.

(2) The disclaimer shall operate to determine, as from the date of disclaimer, the rights, interest and liabilities of the company, and the property of the company, in or in respect of the property disclaimed, but shall not, except so far as is necessary for the purpose of releasing the company and the property of the company from liability, affect the rights or liabilities of any other person.

(3) The Court, before or on granting leave to disclaim, may require such notices to be given to persons interested, and impose such terms as a condition of granting leave, and make such other order in the matter as the Court thinks just.

(4) The liquidator shall not be entitled to disclaim any property under this section in any case where an application in writing has been made to him by any person interested in the property requiring him to decide whether he will or will not disclaim, and the liquidator has not, within a period of twenty-eight days after the receipt of the application or such further period as may be allowed by the Court, given notice to the applicant that he intends to apply to the Court for leave to disclaim, and in the case of a contract, if the liquidator, after such an application as aforesaid, does not within the said period or further period disclaim the contract, the company shall be deemed to have adopted it.

(5) The Court may, on the application of any person who is, as against the liquidator entitled to the benefit or subject to the burden of a contract made with the company, make an order rescinding the contract on such terms as to payment by or to either party of damages for the non-performance of the contract, or otherwise as the Court thinks just, and any damages payable under the order to any such person may be proved by him as a debt in the winding up.

(6) The Court may, on an application by any person who either claims any interest in any disclaimed property or is under any liability not discharged by this Act in respect of any disclaimed property and on hearing any such persons as it thinks fit, make an order for the vesting of the property in or the delivery of the property to any person entitled thereto, or to whom it may seem just that the property should be delivered by way of compensation for such liability as aforesaid, or a trustee for him, and on such terms as the Court thinks just, and on any such vesting order being made, the property comprised therein shall vest accordingly in the person therein named in that behalf without any conveyance or assignment for the purpose:

Provided that, where the property disclaimed is of a leasehold nature, the Court shall not make a vesting order in favour of any person claiming under the company whether as under-lessee or as mortgagee except upon the terms of making that person—

(a) subject to the same liabilities and obligations as those to which the company was subject under the lease in respect of the property at the commencement of the winding up; or

(b) if the Court thinks fit, subject only to the same liabilities and obligations as if the lease had been assigned to that person at the date; and in either event (if the case so requires) as if the lease had comprised only the property comprised in the vesting order, and any mortgagee or under-lessee declining to accept a vesting order upon such terms shall be excluded from all interest in and security upon the property, and, if there is no person claiming under the company who is willing to accept an order upon such terms, the Court shall have power to vest the estate and interest of the company in the property in any person liable, either personally or in a representative character, and either alone or jointly with the company, to perform the lessee's covenants in the lease, freed and discharged from all estates, incumbrances and interests created therein by the company.

(7) Any person injured by the operation of a disclaimer under this section shall be deemed to be a creditor of the company to the amount of the injury, and may accordingly prove the amount as a debt in the winding up.

106. In sub-section (1) of section 232 of the said Act, after the words "estate or effects" the words "or any sale held without leave of the Court of any of the properties" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 232, Act VII of 1913.

109. In section 235 of the said Act,—

(a) in sub-section (1), after the words "of any creditor or contributory" the words "made within three years from the date of the first appointment of a liquidator in the winding up or of the misapplication, retainer, misfeasance or breach of trust, as the case may be, whichever is longer," shall be inserted; and

(b) sub-section (3) shall be omitted.

110. For section 237 of the said Act, the following section shall be substituted, namely:

"237. (1) If it appears to the Court in the course of a winding up by, or subject to the supervision of, the Court that any past or present director, manager or other officer, or any member, of the company has been guilty of any offence in relation to the company for which he is criminally liable, the Court may, either on the application of any person interested in the winding up or of its own motion, direct the liquidator either himself to prosecute the offender or to refer the matter to the registrar.

Prosecution of delinquent directors.

(2) The Court may, if it thinks fit, refer the matter to the Local Government for further inquiry, and the Local Government may, if they think it advisable, conferring on any person designated by them, or with respect to the company concerned all such powers of investigating the affairs of the company as are provided by this Act in the case of a winding up by the Court.

(3) Where any report is made under sub-section (2) to the registrar, he may, if he thinks fit, refer the matter to the Local Government for further inquiry, and the Local Government may, if they think it advisable, conferring on any person designated by them, or with respect to the company concerned all such powers of investigating the affairs of the company as are provided by this Act in the case of a winding up by the Court.

(4) If on any report to the registrar under sub-section (2) it appears to the Court that the company is or may be liable to any person by him, against the offender.

(5) If it appears to the Court in the course of a voluntary winding up that any past or present director, manager or other officer, or any member, of the company has been guilty as aforesaid, and that no report with respect to the matter has been made by the liquidator to the registrar, the Court, may on the application of any person interested in the winding up or of its own motion, direct the liquidator to make such a report, and on a report being made accordingly, the provisions of this section shall have effect as though the report has been made in pursuance of the provisions of sub-section (2).

(5) If, where any matter is reported or referred to the registrar under this section, he considers that the case is one in which a prosecution ought to be instituted, he shall place the papers before the Advocate General or the public prosecutor and if advised to do so institute proceedings, and it shall be the duty of the liquidator and of every officer and agent of the company past and present (other than the defendant in the proceedings) to give him all assistance in connection with the prosecution which he is reasonably able to give:

Provided that no prosecution shall be undertaken without first giving the accused person an opportunity of making a statement in writing to the registrar and of being heard thereon.

For the purposes of this sub-section, the expression 'agent' in relation to a company shall be deemed to include any banker or legal adviser of the company and any person employed by the company as auditor, whether that person is or is not an officer of the company.

(7) If any person fails or neglects to give assistance in manner required by sub-section (6), the Court may, on the application of the registrar, direct that person to comply with the requirements of the said sub-section, and where any such application is made with respect to a liquidator, the Court may, unless it appears that the failure or neglect to comply was due to the liquidator not having in his hands sufficient assets of the company to enable him so to do, direct that the costs of the application shall be borne by the liquidator personally."

Notes—This section substitutes the more adequate provisions of section 277 of the English Act for the old section.

Insertion of new section

After section 238 of the said Act 238A in Act VII of 1913.

the following section shall be inserted,
namely:

(n) within twelve months next before the commencement of the winding up or at any time thereafter, under the false pretence that the company is carrying on its business, obtains on credit, for or on behalf of the company, any property which the company does not subsequently pay for; or

(o) within twelve months next before the commencement of the winding up or at any time thereafter pawn, pledges or disposes of any property of the company which has been obtained on credit and has not been paid for, unless such pawning, pledging or disposing is in the ordinary way of the business of the company; or

(p) is guilty of any false representation or other fraud for the purpose of obtaining the consent of the creditors of the company or any of them to an agreement with reference to the affairs of the company or to the winding up; he shall be punishable, in the case of the offences mentioned respectively in clauses (e) and (f), with imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years; and in the case of any other offence, with imprisonment under any of clauses (g) to (s), if he proves company to defeat

(2) Where any person pawns, pledges or disposes of any property in circumstances which amount to an offence under clause (o) of sub-section (1) every person who takes in pawn or pledge or otherwise receives the property knowing it to be pawned, pledged or disposed of, in such circumstances as aforesaid shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years."

Notes.—"This section follows section 271 of the English Act in providing for the punishment of offences antecedent to or in the course of a winding up."—Notes on Clauses.

Amendment of section 244, Act VII of 1913.

112. In section 244 of the said Act,—

(a) in sub-section (1),—

(iv) for the words "at such intervals as may be prescribed" the words "once in each year and at intervals of not more than twelve months" shall be substituted; and

(ii) for the words "file with the registrar" the words "file in Court or with the registrar, as the case may be" shall be substituted;

(b) after sub-section (8) the following sub-section shall be added, namely :

"(4) When the statement is filed in Court a copy shall simultaneously be filed with the registrar and shall be kept by him along with the other records of the company.

113. After section 244 of the said Act the following section shall be inserted, namely :

"244A. (1) Every liquidator of a company which is being wound up by the Court shall, in such manner and at such times as may be prescribed, pay the money received by him into a scheduled bank as defined in clause (c) of section 2 of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1931 :*

Provided that if the Court is satisfied that for the purpose of carrying on the business of the company or of obtaining advances or for any other reason it is for the advantage of the creditors or contributories that the liquidator should have an account with any other bank, the Court may authorise the liquidator to make his payments into or out of such other bank as the Court may select and thereupon those payments shall be made in the prescribed manner.

(2) If any such liquidator at any time retains for more than ten days a sum exceeding five hundred rupees or such other amount as the Court may in any particular case authorise him to retain, then, unless he explains the retention to the satisfaction of the Court, he shall pay interest on the amount so retained in excess at the rate of twenty per cent. per annum and shall be liable to disallowance of all or such part of his remuneration as the Court may think just and to be removed from his office by the Court and shall be liable to pay any expenses occasioned by reason of his default.

(3) A liquidator of a company which is being wound up shall open a special banking account and pay all sums received by him as liquidator into such account."

Notes.—It inserts a section based on section 194 of the English Act.

114. In sub-section (1) of section 246 of the said Act, after the words "Courts subordinate thereto," the words "and for members and creditors of the company" the following words shall be inserted, namely :

"and generally for all applications to be made to the Court under the provisions of this Act".

* II of 1934.
(iv) an address in British India where the said instrument, enactments or provisions, or copies thereof, and if the same are in a foreign language a translation thereof in the English language certified in the prescribed manner, can be inspected;

(v) the date on which and the country in which the company was incorporated;

(vi) whether the company has established a place of business in British India and, if so, the address of its principal office in British India:

Provided that the provisions of sub-clauses (i), (ii) and (iii) of this clause shall not apply in the case of a prospectus issued more than two years after the date at which the company is entitled to commence business;

(6) subject to the provisions of this section, state the matters specified in sub-section (1A) of section 93 and set out the reports specified in that section:

Provided that—

(7) where any prospectus is published as a newspaper advertisement, it shall be a sufficient compliance with the requirement that the prospectus must specify the objects of the company if the advertisement specifies the primary object with which the company was formed, and

(iii) in section 93 of this Act a reference to the articles of the company shall be deemed to be a reference to the constitution of the company.

(2) Any condition requiring or binding any applicant for shares or debentures to waive compliance with any requirement of this section, or purporting to affect him with notice of any contract, document, or matter not specifically referred to in the prospectus, shall be void.

(3) In the event of non-compliance with or contravention of any of the requirements of this section, a director or other person responsible for the prospectus shall not incur any liability by reason of the non-compliance or contravention, if—

(a) as regards any matter not disclosed, he proves that he was not cognizant thereof, or

(b) he proves that the non-compliance or contravention arose from an honest mistake of fact on his part, or

(c) the non-compliance or contravention was in respect of matters which, in the opinion of the Court dealing with the case, were immaterial or were otherwise such as ought, in the opinion of that Court, having regard to a statement in the prospectus a statement with which, of sub-section (1) of section 93, no director or other person shall incur any liability in respect of the failure unless it be proved that he had knowledge of the matters not disclosed.

(4) Nothing in this section shall limit or diminish any liability which any person may incur under the general law or this Act, apart from this section.

Notes.—It reproduces section 355 of the English Act.

277C. (1) It shall not be lawful for any person to go from house to house offering shares of a company incorporated outside India for subscription or purchase to the public or any member of the public.

(2) In this sub-section the expression "house" shall not include an office used for business purposes.

(3) Any person acting in contravention of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding rupees one hundred.

Notes.—It reproduces a part of section 356 of the English Act.
277D. The provisions of sections 109 to 117, both inclusive, and 120 to 125, both inclusive, shall extend to charges on properties in British India which are created and to charges on property in British India which is acquired after the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, by a company incorporated outside British India which has an established place of business in British India.

Notes—It reproduces section 90 of the English Act.

277E. The provisions of sections 118 and 119 shall mutatis mutandis apply to the case of all companies incorporated outside British India but having an established place of business in British India and the provisions of section 130 shall apply to such companies to the extent of requiring them to keep at their principal place of business in British India the books of account required by that section with respect to money received and expended, sales and purchases made, and assets and liabilities in relation to its business in British India."

119. After Part X of the said Act as amended by this Act the following shall be inserted, namely:—

"PART XA.

Banking Companies.

277F. A 'banking company' means a company which carries on as its principal business the accepting of deposits of money on current account or otherwise, subject to withdrawal by cheque, draft or order, notwithstanding that it engages in addition in any one or more of the following forms of business, namely:

(1) the borrowing, raising or taking up of money; the lending or advancing of money either upon or without security; the drawing, making, accepting, discounting, buying, selling, collecting and dealing in bills of exchange, hoondees, promissory notes, coupons, drafts, bills of lading, railway receipts, warrants, debentures, certificates, scrips and other instruments, and securities whether transferable or negotiable or not; the granting and issuing of letters of credit, travellers' cheques and circular notes; the buying, selling and dealing in bullion and specie; the buying and selling of foreign exchange including foreign bank notes; the acquiring, holding, issuing on commission, underwriting and dealing in stock, funds, shares, debentures, debenture stock, bonds, obligations, securities and investments of all kinds; the purchasing and selling of bonds, scrips or other forms of securities on behalf of constituents or others; the negotiating of loans and advances; the receiving of all kinds of bonds, scrips or valuables on deposit, or for safe custody or otherwise; the collecting and transmitting of money and securities;

(2) acting as agents for Governments or local authorities or for any other person or persons; the carrying on of agency business of any description other than the business of a managing agent, including the power to act as attorneys and to give discharges and receipts,

(3) contracting for public and private loans and negotiating and issuing the same;

(4) the promoting, effecting, insuring, guaranteeing, underwriting, participating in managing and carrying out of any issue, public or private, of State,
Municipal or other loans or of shares, stock, debentures, or debenture stock of any company, corporation or association and the lending of money for the purpose of any such issue;

(5) carrying on and transacting every kind of guarantee and indemnity business;

(6) Promoting or financing or assisting in promoting or financing any dealing or industry, either existing or new, and developing or formulating or syndicates or otherwise;

and any rights or privileges which the company may think necessary or convenient to acquire or the acquisition or which in the opinion of the company is likely to facilitate the realisation of any securities held by the company or to prevent or diminish any apprehended loss or liability;

(8) managing, selling and realising all property movable and immovable which may come into the possession of the company in satisfaction or part satisfaction of any of its claims;

(9) acquiring and holding and generally dealing with any property and any right, title or interest any property movable or immovable which may form part of the security for any loans or advance or which may be connected with any such security;

(10) undertaking and executing trusts;

(11) undertaking the administration of estates as executor, trustee or otherwise;

(12) taking or otherwise acquiring and holding shares in any other company having objects similar to those of the company;

(13) establishing and supporting or aiding in the establishment and support of associations, institutions, funds, trusts and conveniences calculated to benefit employees or ex-employees of the company or the dependents or connections of such persons, granting pensions and allowances and making payments towards insurance; subscribing to or guaranteeing moneys for charitable or benevolent objects or for any exhibition or for any public, general or useful object;

(14) the acquisition, construction, maintenance and alteration of any building or works necessary or convenient for the purposes of the company;

(15) selling, improving, managing, developing, exchanging, leasing, mortgaging, disposing of or turning into account or otherwise dealing with all or any part of the property and rights of the company;

(16) acquiring and undertaking the whole or any part of the business of any person or company, when such business is of a nature enumerated or described in this section;

(17) doing all such other things as are incidental or conducive to the promotion or advancement of the business of the company.

277G. (1) No company formed after the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, for the purpose of carrying on business as a banking company or which uses as part of the name under which it proposes to carry on business the word 'bank', 'banker' or 'banking' shall be registered under this Act, unless the memorandum limits the objects of the company to the carrying on of the business of accepting deposits of money on current account or otherwise subject to withdrawal by cheque, draft or otherwise along with some or all of the forms of business specified in section 277F.

(2) No banking company whether incorporated in or outside British India shall after the expiry of two years from the commencement of the said Act carry on any form of business other than those specified in section 277F.
Provided that the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, specify in addition to the businesses set forth in clauses (1) to (17) of section 277F other forms of business which it may be lawful under this section for a banking company to engage in.

277H. No banking company shall after the expiry of two years from the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, employ or be managed by a managing agent other than a banking company for the management of the company.

277I. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 103, no banking company incorporated under this Act after the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, shall commence business, unless shares have been allotted to an amount sufficient to yield a sum of at least fifty thousand rupees as working capital and unless a declaration duly verified by an affidavit signed by the directors and the manager that such a sum has been received by way of paid-up capital has been filed with the registrar.

Prohibition of charge on unpaid capital.

277J. No banking company shall create any charge upon any unpaid capital of the company, and any such charge shall be invalid.

277K. (1) Every banking company shall, after the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, maintain a reserve fund.

(2) Every banking company shall out of the declared profits of each year and before any dividend is declared transfer a sum equivalent to not less than twenty per cent. of such profits to the reserve fund until the amount of the said fund is equal to the paid up capital.

(3) A banking company shall invest the amount standing to the credit of its reserve fund in Government securities or in securities mentioned or referred to in section 20 of the Indian Trusts Act, or keep deposited in a special account to be opened by the company for the purpose in a scheduled bank as defined in clause (e) of section (2) of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934.

Provided that the provision of the sub-section shall not apply to a banking company incorporated before the commencement of the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1936, till after the expiry of two years from the commencement of the said Act.

277L. (1) Every banking company shall maintain by way of cash reserve in cash a sum equivalent to at least one and a half per cent. of the time liabilities and five per cent. of the demand liabilities of such company and shall file with the registrar before the tenth day of every month a statement of the amount so held on the Friday of each week of the preceding month with particulars of the time and demand liabilities of each such day.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) 'demand liabilities' means liabilities which must be met on demand, and 'time liabilities' means liabilities which are not demand liabilities.

(3) Nothing in this section or in section 277K shall apply to a scheduled bank as defined in clause (e) of section 2 of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934.

quirements of this section as to the maintenance of a cash reserve, every director or other officer of the company who is knowingly and wilfully a party to the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for every day during which the default continues, and if default is made in complying with the requirements of this section as to the filing of the statement referred to in sub-section (1), to a fine not exceeding one hundred rupees for every day during which the default continues.

277N (1) The Court may on the application of a banking company which is temporarily unable to meet its obligations make an order staying the commencement or continuance of all actions and proceedings against the company for a fixed period of time on such terms and conditions as it shall think fit and proper and may from time to time extend the period.

(2) No such application shall be maintainable unless accompanied by a report of the registrar:

Provided, however, the Court may, for sufficient reasons, grant interim relief, even if the application is not accompanied by such report.

(3) The registrar shall for the purposes of his report be entitled at the cost of the company to investigate the financial condition of the company and for such purpose to have the books and documents of the company examined by an accountant holding a certificate issued under section 144."

Substitution of new section 120 For section 281 of the said Act 281 in Act VII of 1913. the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"281. (1) If in any proceeding for negligence, default, breach of duty of trust or breach of trust against a person to whom this section applies, it appears to the Court hearing the case that that person is or may be liable in respect of the negligence, default, breach of duty or breach of trust, but that he has acted honestly and reasonably, and that having regard to all the circumstances of the case, including those connected with his appointment, he ought fairly to be excused for the negligence, default, breach of duty or breach of trust, that Court may relieve him, either wholly or partly, from his liability on such terms as the Court may think fit.

(2) Where any person to whom this section applies has reason to apprehend that any claim will or might be made against him in respect of any negligence, default, breach of duty or breach of trust, he may apply to the Court for relief, and the Court on any such application shall have the same power to relieve him as under this section it would have had if it had been a Court before which proceedings against that person for negligence, default, breach of duty or breach of trust had been brought.

(3) The persons to whom this section applies are the following:—

(a) directors of a company;

(b) managers and managing agents of a company;

(c) officers of a company;
(d) persons employed by a company as auditors, whether they are or are not officers of the company."

121. After section 282 of the said Act the following sections shall be inserted, namely:

"282A. Any director, managing agent, manager or other officer or employee of a company who wrongfully obtains possession of any property of a company, or having any such property in his possession wrongfully withholds it or willfully applies it to purposes other than those expressed or directed in the articles and authorised by this Act, shall, on the complaint of the company or any creditor or contributory thereof, be punished with fine not exceeding one thousand rupees and may be ordered by the Court trying the offence to deliver up or refund within a time to be fixed by the Court any such property improperly obtained or wrongfully withheld or willfully misapplied or in default to suffer imprisonment for a period not exceeding two years.

Penalty for misapplication of securities by employers.

282B. (1) All moneys or securities deposited with a company by its employees in pursuance of their contracts of service with the company shall be kept or deposited by the company in a special account to be opened by the company for the purpose in a scheduled bank as defined in clause (e) of section 2 of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934," and no portion thereof shall be utilised by the company except for the purposes agreed to in the contract of service.

(3) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the rules of any fund to which sub-section (2) applies or in any contract between a company and its employees, no employee shall be entitled to receive in respect of such portion of the amount to his credit in such fund as is invested in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2) interest at a rate exceeding the rate of interest yielded by such investment.

(4) An employee shall be entitled on request made in this behalf to the company to see the bank's receipt for any money or security such as is referred to in sub-section (1) and sub-section (2).

(5) Any director, managing agent, manager or other officer of the company who knowingly contravenes or permits or authorises the contravention of the provisions of this section shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

VOL. I.

THE ACTING JUDGES ACT, 1867.

ACT NO XVI OF 1867.

RECEIVED THE G.-G.'S ASSENT ON THE 1ST MARCH, 1867.

An Act to authorise the making of acting appointments to certain Judicial Offices.

Whereas the Governor-General of India in Council or the Local Government, as the case may be, is empowered by divers enactments to appoint the Judges of certain Courts in British India; and whereas it has been doubted whether he or it is empowered to appoint persons to act temporarily as such Judges, and it is expedient to remove such doubts, it is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. In every case in which the Governor-General of India in Council, or the Local Government, as the case may be, has power under any Act or Regulation to appoint a Judge of any Court in British India, such power shall be taken to include the power to appoint any person capable of being appointed a permanent Judge of such Court to act as Judge of the same Court for such time as the Governor-General of India in Council or the Local Government, as the case may be, shall direct. Every person so appointed to act temporarily as a Judge of any such Court shall have the powers and perform the duties which he would have had and been liable to perform in case he had been duly appointed a permanent Judge of the same Court.

Certain enactments to be construed as if they contained a clause like section 1 of Act.

2. Every such Act and Regulation shall be construed as if it contained a special clause to the purport or effect of the first section of this Act.

THE ADMINISTRATOR-GENERAL'S ACT, 1913.

ACT NO. III OF 1913.

RECEIVED THE G.-G.'S ASSENT ON THE 27TH FEBRUARY, 1913.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the office and duties of Administrator-General.

Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to the office and duties of Administrator-General; it is hereby enacted as follows:—

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Administrator-General's Act, 1913.
(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct.

Notes—"The office of the Administrator-General in this country grew out of the Mercantile and Trading Company in Bengal, whose interests were safeguarded by the charter establishing the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal dated the 26th March, 1774. Its functions have been developed, and regulated on lines which experience has shown to be necessary, and it is an illustration of the adoption, and modification, to suit local circumstances of those principles which underlie the law of trusts, and the law affecting the administration of the estates, of the deceased persons "—Vide Kenny's Administration Practice. By Stat. 39 and 40 Gen. II. c 70, ecclesiastical Registrars were appointed to take charge of deceased's property where the deceased had no next-of-kin. The first Administrator-General was appointed by Act VII of 1849.

Local Extent—Act II of 1874 was in force in Sonibari Parganas, in the Arakan Hill District, in British Baluchistan, in Aungal and in the Khondmalas.

Interpretation clause 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "assets" means all the property, movable and immovable, of a deceased person, which is chargeable with, and applicable to, the payment of his debts and legacies, or available for distribution among his heirs and next-of-kin:

(2) "exempted person" means an Indian Christian, a Hindu, Muhammadan, Parsi or Buddhist, or a person exempted under section 332 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865," from the operation of that Act:

(3) "Government" means the Governor-General in Council, so far as the Act relates to the Presidency of Bengal and the Local Governments of Madras and Bombay respectively, so far as the Act relates to those Presidencies:

(4) "Indian Christian" means a Native of India who is or in good faith claims to be of unmixed Asiatic descent, and who professes any form of the Christian religion:

(5) "Letters of administration" includes any letters of administration, whether general or with a copy of the will annexed, or limited in time or otherwise:

(6) "next-of-kin" includes a widower or widow of a deceased person, or any other person who by law would be entitled to letters of administration in preference to a creditor or legatee of the deceased:

(7) "Official Gazette" means, in the case of the Presidency of Bengal, the Gazette of India, and in the cases of the Presidencies of Madras and Bombay, the Fort St. George and Bombay Government Gazettes, respectively:

(8) "Prescribed" means prescribed by rules under this Act:

(9) (a) "Presidency of Bengal" includes the territories for the time being under the Government of the Governor of Fort William in Bengal in Council, the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, the provinces of the Panjab, Burma, Bihar and Orissa, the Central Provinces, Assam, the North-West Frontier Province, the province of Delhi, Ajmer and Mewara, the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, and such of the territories of Native States aforesaid as the Governor-General in Council may by notification in the Gazette of India, direct:

(b) "Presidency of Bombay" includes the territories for the time being under the government of the Governor of Bombay in Council, the Province of British Baluchistan, and such of the territories of Native States aforesaid as the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct:

(c) "Presidency of Madras" includes the territories for the time being under the government of the Governor of Fort St. George in Council,

* Act 10 of 1865. See now Act 39 of 1925 by which Act 10 of 1865 has been repealed and re-enacted. the province of Coorg, and such of the territories of Native States aforesaid as the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct:

(10) "Presidency" means any of the Presidencies mentioned in clause (9):

(11) "Revenues of the Government" means, in respect of any part of India in which the powers and duties of the government under this Act are exercised and discharged by a Local Government, the revenues allocated to that government under the Government of India Act."*

Assets—The term "assets" means and includes property of a deceased person chargeable with and applicable to the payment of his debts and legacies. It would, therefore, include immovable property. In re Courjjen, 25 C. 65; see also Mancharji v. Narayan, 1 B. H. C. R. 83.

Exempted persons—Section 332 of Act X of 1865 has been repealed. See now section 3 of Act 39 of 1925. The following persons were exempted by section 332 of the Indian Succession Act X of 1865.—(1) All Native Christians in the Province of Coorg, vide notification No. 204, dated the 23rd July, 1868, in the Gazette of India, 1868, p. 1092; (2) the Jews of Aden, vide notification No. 1651, dated the 20th November, 1866, Bombay List of Local Rules and Orders, Ed. 1896, p. 26; (3) the members of the races known as Khasias and Syatungs, see notification No. 1671, dated the 20th October, 1887, Assam List of Local Rules and Orders, Ed. 1891, p. 6; (4) Mundas, Oraons, Ho, Bhutia, Khasias, Ghasi, Gonds, Khonds, Kokawas, Kurmis, Malgals, and Para dwellers in the province of Bihar and Orissa. Vide notification No. 550, Home Department (Judicial) Simla, dated the 2nd May 1913; see also Tuni Oraon v. Leela Oraon, 20 C. W. N. 1082 (1883)-1 Pat L. J. 225-36 Ind. Cas. 269.

Indian Christian.—This definition is taken from the Indian Christian Administration with the omission of that part which relates to special priests and similar usages of inheritance.

Mukherjee v. Gonslares, 2 B. 539; Dayee v. Pasotti, 19 B. 783. But he will be considered as an exempted person under this Act.

But if a Hindu has an admiration for the principles of Christianity and attends church service, he does not thereby cease to be a Hindu nor does his personal law cease to bind him before baptism. Jogendra v. Ram, (1900) P. L. R. 251; Mrs. Edith Susan Mukherjee v. Mrs. George Alfred and ors., 52 P. W. R. 1907; Administrator-General v. Anandchari, 8 M. 466; Ponnamari v. Dorasami, 2 M. 209.

Letters of Administration.—The term includes letters of administration, whether with the will annexed or without it. It also includes letters of administration limited in time or otherwise. Limited grants are dealt with in Chapter II of Part IX of the Succession Act, 39 of 1925.

Brown v. Wood Alyn, 36. In England relations by marriage are not included. Nichols v. Savage, 18 Ves. 53; Garrett v. Camden, 14 Ves. 372; Watt v. Watt, 3 Ves. 244; Baslee v. Ken Wright, 18 Ves. 49. But in India the law is otherwise. It includes both husband and wife. In sections 55 and 56 of the Indian Succession Act, the words "next-of-kin" and "relatives" are synonymous, and are collective names for the persons mentioned in Part I and Part II of Schedule II. Hizriyat v. Burjorji, 22 B. 909

* Added by Act 21 of 1922.
(6) a legatee other than an universal legatee; or
(c) a friend of the deceased.

Scope—By section 7 the Court is required to grant letters of administration to the Administrator-General, if no person appear entitled as next-of-kin and where such grant is made by the High Court at any Presidency-town. So far as other places are concerned the Administrator-General of the Presidency has a preferential right to the letters of administration over a creditor or a legatee other than the person mentioned in this section made to the Adin section it is not. These two Indian Succession Act, § 39 of 1915.

0. If any person, not being an exempted person, has died leaving within any Presidency assets exceeding the value of "two thousand" rupees, and if no person to whom any Court would have jurisdiction to commit administration of such assets has, within one month after his death, applied in such presidency for probate of his will, or for letters of administration of his estate, the Administrator-General of the Presidency in which such assets are shall, subject to any rules made by the Government, within a reasonable time after he has had notice of the death of such person, and of his having left such assets, take such proceedings as may be necessary to obtain from the High Court at the Presidency town letters of administration of the estate of such person.

When Administrator General is to administer estates of persons other than exempted persons.

ficate 1874, in the case of exempted persons, in as much as letters of administration as regards their estates are not necessary to establish representative title. The legal heirs are their representatives even without letters of administration.

10. Whenever any person has died leaving assets within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court at a Presidency-town, the Court, on being satisfied that danger is to be apprehended of misappropriation, deterioration or waste of such assets unless letters of administration of the estate of such person are granted, may, upon the application of the Administrator-General or of any person interested in such assets, order a letter of administration, upon such terms as and other expenses as apply for letters of administration of the estate of such person. Provided that, in the case of an application being made under this section for letters of administration of the estate of an exempted person, the Court may refuse to grant letters of administration, if it is satisfied that such grant is unnecessary for the protection of the assets; and in such case the Court shall make such order as to the costs of the application as it thinks fit.

Act of Limitation

may ultimately become a bar to the recovery of assets is not such danger of misappropriate as warrants the grant of administration to the Administrator-General. In re Girdar Das, 1 M. H. C. R. 234. A debtor to the estate, it seems, cannot apply for an order under this section, Ibid. As to whether the title of the Administrator-General under this section relates back to the death of the deceased vide Lal Chand v. Gumbhir, 8 B. H. C. R. O C 10. See also section 220 of the Indian Succession Act, 1925. Under this section the Administrator-General cannot take possession of the estate without a previous order of the Court. Nrityo Gopal v. Administrator-General, 10 C. W. N. 241.

Power to direct Administrator-General to collect and hold assets until right of succession or administration is determined.

11. (1) Whenever any person has died leaving assets within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of any of the said High Courts, and such Court is satisfied that there is no person immediately available, who is legally entitled to the succession to such assets, or that danger is to be apprehended of misappropriation, deterioration or waste of such assets, before it can be determined who may be legally entitled to the succession thereto, or whether the Administrator-General is entitled to letters of administration of the estate of such deceased person, the Court may, upon the application of the Administrator-General or of any person interested in such assets, or in the due administration thereof, forthwith direct the Administrator-General to collect and take possession of such assets, and to hold, depo-it, realize, sell or invest the same according to the directions of the Court, and in default of any such directions according to the provisions of this Act so far as the same are applicable to such assets.

(2) Any order of the Court made under the provisions of this section shall entitle the Administrator-General,

(a) to maintain any suit or proceeding for the recovery of such assets, and

(b) if he thinks fit, to apply for letters of administration of the estate of such deceased person, and

(c) to retain out of the assets of the estate any fees chargeable under rules made under this Act, and to reimburse himself for all payments made by him in respect of such assets which a private administrator might lawfully have made.

Scope.—The admission by the applicant that there is a valid will does not prevent him from taking recourse to this section. The word “succession” in this section should not be read as intestate succession. Even where the Administrator-General is made executor of a will, he can apply under this section In the goods of Pashupati Mukherjee, 24 C. W. N. 316 = 56 Ind. Cas. 431; see also 5 C. 220. An order under this section whilst in force, is like probate or letters of administration so far as respects the title under it to get in the property of the deceased. Hogg v. Henry, 2 Boul 654 cited in Henderson, p. 422. The position of an Administrator-General is like that of an ordinary administrator. Pending grant of letters of administration, he can only make payments for the benefit of or for preservation of the value of the assets of the estate. In the goods of the Administrator-General dates from the death of the deceased. Bhagat v. A. G., 23 B. 428. Under this section he can only protect the estate and is not to administer property. Henderson, p. 423; see also 26 Ind. Cas. 793.

Grant of probate or letters of administration to person appearing in the course of proceedings taken by Administrator-General under sections 9, 10 and 11.

12. If, in the course of proceedings to obtain letters of administration under the provisions of section 9, section 10 or section 11, any person appears and establishes his claim—
(a) to probate of the will of the deceased;
(b) to letters of administration as next-of-kin of the deceased, and gives such security as may be required of him by law, the Court shall grant probate of the will or letters of administration accordingly, and shall award to the Administrator-General the costs of any proceedings taken by him under those sections to be paid out of the estate as part of the testamentary or intestate expenses thereof.

Notes—"Sections 12 and 13 are explained by Mr Sen as applying only to cases where a person comes forward and unexpectedly propounds a will. I think there is no reason in sections 12 and 13 which requires a condition of unexpectedness at all. Per Rankin J in In the Goods of Pashupati Mukherjee, 24 C. W. N. 326 at
p. 328. See also 26 Ind. Cas. 793.

13. If, in the course of proceedings to obtain letters of administration under the provisions of section 9, section 10 or section 11, no person appears and establishes his claim to probate of a will, or to a grant of letters of administration as next-of-kin of the deceased, within such period as to the Court seems reasonable, or if a person who has established his claim to a grant of letters of administration as next-of-kin of the deceased fails to give such security as may be required of him by law, the Court may grant letters of administration to the Administrator-General.

Notes—Vide notes under s. 12.

14. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to preclude the Administrator-General from applying to the Court for letters of administration in any case within the period of one month from the death of the deceased.

Notes—Under section 9, the Administrator-General is bound to apply for letters of administration after a period of one month if the deceased be in any Presidency-town assets that section does not preclude for a grant within the period of one month.

(b) Estates of Persons subject to the Army Act "or the Air Force Act".

15. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to affect the provisions of the Regimental Debts Act, 1893.

Notes—On the death of a person while subject to military law the prescribed committee of adjustment shall, as soon as may be, in accordance with the prescribed regulations secure and make an inventory of all such of the effects of the deceased as are in camp or quarters and ascertain the amount and provide for the payment of the preferential charges on the property of the deceased. Vide s. 1 of Regimental Debts Act, 1893.

16. It shall not be necessary for the Administrator-General to take out letters of administration of the estate of any deceased person which is being administered by him in accordance with the provisions of the Regimental Debts Act, 1893, if the value of such estate does not on the date when such administration is committed to him exceed rupees one thousand, but he shall have the same power in regard to such estate as he would have had if letters of administration had been granted to him.

* Inserted by Act 10 of 1927.
† 55 & 56 Vict. c. 57.
Regimental Debts Act.—The Administrator-General can apply under the Regimental Debts Act, Vide s 7 (2), s 8 (2), and s 9.

17. If the Administrator-General applies, in accordance with the provisions of the Regimental Debts Act, 1893,* for letters of administration of the estate of any person subject to the Army Act, "or the Air Force Act,"† the Court may grant to him letters of administration limited to the purpose of dealing with such estate in accordance with the provisions of the Regimental Debts Act, 1893.*

Notes — Vide ss. 11 to 24 of the Regimental Debts Act, 1893.

(c) Revocation of Grants.

18. If an executor or next-of-kin of the deceased who has not been personally served with a citation or who has not had notice thereof in time to appear pursuant thereto establishes to the satisfaction of the Court a claim to probate of a will or to letters of administration in preference to the Administrator-General, any letters of administration granted in accordance with the provisions of this Act to the Administrator General may be revoked, and probate or letters of administration may be granted to such executor or next-of-kin as the case may be:

Provided that no letters of administration granted to the Administrator-General shall be revoked for the cause aforesaid, except in cases in which a will of the deceased is proved in the Presidency, unless the application for that purpose is made within six months after the grant to the Administrator-General and the Court is satisfied that there has been no unreasonable delay in making the application, or in transmitting the authority under which the application is made.

Revocation.—A grant may be revoked where it has been granted without citing necessary parties. Trist and Coote, p. 180 (n); Mortimer on Pro. Prac. 431. A person having notice can not apply for revocation. Ratcliffe v. Barnes, 2 S. and T. 486; Wytherley v. Andrews, 2 P and D. 328; Newells v. Weeks, 2 Phill 224. It is necessary for the party who appears for revocation to prove not only that no special citation was served on him but also that he had no knowledge of the proceedings. Premchand v. Surenda, 9 C. W. N. 190 A grant is ordinarily revoked on the ground no citation is served. 2 C. W. N. 100; 2 C. W. N. 607.

19. If any letters of administration granted to the Administrator-General in accordance with the provisions of this Act are revoked, the Court may order the costs of obtaining such letters of administration, and the whole or any part of any fees which would otherwise have been payable under this Act, together with the costs of the Administrator-General in any proceedings taken to obtain such revocation, to be paid to or retained by the Administrator General out of the estate:

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of clause (c) of sub-section 2 of section 11.

Notes.—On revocation the Court may order costs to be paid to the Administrator-General out of assets. The Administrator-General is also allowed commission even if he has taken manual possession of cash, Government promissory notes, etc. In the goods of Simpson, 1 M. H. C. R. 171; see also Nitya Gopal Biswas v. A. G., 10 C. W. N. 241.

20. If any letters of administration granted to the Administrator-General in accordance with the provisions of this Act are revoked, the same shall, so far as regards the Administrator-General and all persons acting under his authority in pursuance thereof, be deemed to have been only voidable, except as to any act done by any such Administrator-General or other person, as aforesaid, after notice of a will or of any other fact which would render such letters void:

Provided that no notice of a will or of any other fact which would render any such letters void shall affect the Administrator-General or any person acting under his authority in pursuance of such letters unless, within the period of one month from the time of giving such notice, proceedings are commenced to prove the will, or to cause the letters to be revoked, and such proceedings are prosecuted without unreasonable delay.

Voidable.—The effect of the revocation of the probate is to revive the original proceedings for the grant of letters of administration, under the section in the Act cited. See also "Ab" v. "Ajia" (1005) I Ch. 613; "Woody" v. "N" (673).

Under the section in the Act cited, a copy of the will, or of any other document proving the death of the deceased, shall be annexed to the petition for the grant of letters of administration, and such a copy shall be filed with the court.

21. If any letters of administration granted to the Administrator-General in accordance with the provisions of this Act are revoked, upon the grant of probate of a will, or upon the grant of letters of administration, a copy of the will or any other document proving the death of the deceased shall be annexed to the petition for the grant of letters of administration, and such a copy shall be filed with the court.

Payments made by Administrator-General prior to revocation. All acts done by an executor in the legal course of administration are valid and binding upon the beneficiaries. See "Berglo" v. "Besse" (11).

W. N. 240

(d) General.

22. Whenever any Administrator-General applies for letters of administration in accordance with the provisions of this Act, it shall be sufficient if the petition required to be presented for the grant of such letters states:

(i) the time and place of the death of the deceased to the best of the knowledge and belief of the petitioner,

(ii) the names and addresses of the surviving next of kin of the deceased if known,

(iii) the particulars and valuation of the assets likely to come into the hands of the petitioner,

(iv) particulars of the liabilities of the estate if known.

Cf. S. 278 of the Succession Act, 1925.

Notes.—The term "assets" means and includes property of a deceased person chargeable with and applicable to the payment of his debts and legacies. It would, therefore, include immovable property. In re Courtenay, 25 C. 65; see also Mancharjee v. Narayan, 1 B. C. R. 83.
Names of Surviving Next-of-Kin.—The applicant is bound to state the names of the family or other relatives of the intestate. Ralph v. Hale, 7 P. R. 1902.

23. (1) All probates or letters of administration granted to any Administrator-General shall be granted to him by that name, and all probates or letters of administration heretofore granted to the Ecclesiastical Registrar, or to the Administrator-General of any Presidency shall authorise the Administrator-General of the same Presidency to act as executor or administrator, as the case may be, of the estate to which such probate or letters relate.

(2) All probates and letters of administration granted to the Ecclesiastical Registrar of any of the late Supreme Courts shall have the same effect in all respects as to any act hereafter done or required to be done under this Act as if they had been granted to the Administrator-General.

To act as executor.—If an Administrator-General takes out letters of administration to the estate, movable and immovable, of a Hindu dying intestate, the whole estate of the deceased vests in the Administrator-General and he can dispose of it without the sanction of the Court in such manner as may appear to him proper. P. Alwar Chetty v. P. Chidambara, 26 Ind. Cas. 232 = 27 M. L. J. 400; see also 33 C. 713. But no such estate vests in him if the deceased was an insolvent. Navee v. A. G., 22 Ind. Cas. 566 = 38 M. 500. After his death all assets vest in his successor in office. A. G. v. Debendra, 33 C. 713.

Presidency.—Vide 4 C. L. R. 42 = 4 C. 770; 1 C. 52 = 24 W. R. 206.

24. Probate or letters of administration granted by the High Court at any Presidency town to the Administrator-General of any Presidency shall have effect over all the assets of the deceased throughout such Presidency, and shall be conclusive as to the representative title against all debtors of the deceased and all persons holding such assets, and shall afford full indemnity to all creditors paying their debts and all persons delivering up such assets to such Administrator-General:

Provided that the High Court may direct, by its grant, that such probate or letters of administration shall have like effect throughout one or more of the other Presidencies.

Whenever a grant is made by a High Court to the Administrator-General with such effect as last aforesaid, the Court shall send to the other High Courts a certificate that such grant has been made, and such certificate shall be filed by the Courts receiving the same.

25. (1) Any private executor or administrator may with the previous consent of the Administrator-General of the Presidency in which any of the assets of the estate, in respect of which such executor or administrator has obtained probate or letters of administration, are situate, by an instrument in writing under his hand notified in the official Gazette, transfer the assets of the estate vested in him by virtue of such probate or letters to the Administrator-General by that name or any other sufficient description.

(2) As from the date of such transfer the transferee shall be exempt from all liability as such executor or administrator, as the case may be, except in respect of acts done before the date of such transfer, and the Administrator-General shall have the rights which he would have had, and be subject to the liabilities to which he would have been subject, if the probate or letters of administration, as the case may be, had been granted to him by that name at the date of such transfer.

It is given in broad and comprehensive terms, to any and every testamentary executor in whom the estates of the deceased testator have been legally vested by virtue of the probate,—provided only, that no transfer shall be made to the Administrator-General without his consent. Section 31 of Act II of 1874, is a re-enactment of s. 30 of Act XXIV of 1867. At the time when the prior Act was passed the executor of a Hindu testator was not a person entitled to transfer under the Act. But by the time when the latter Act was passed, he became a person entitled so to act, by virtue of the provisions of the Hindu Wills Act, 1870. So a Hindu testator now may effect a valid transfer of the estate under this section. A G v Premtal, 22 C. 788 P. C.; see also 22 B. 1.

26. (1) When the Administrator-General has given the prescribed notice for creditors and others to send in to him their claims at the time to be specified in the notice, as he has notice of.

(2) He shall not be liable for the assets so distributed to any person of whose claim he had not notice at the time of such distribution.

(3) No notice of any claim which has been sent in and has been rejected or disallowed in part by the Administrator-General shall affect him unless proceedings to enforce such claim are commenced within one month after notice of the rejection or disallowance of such claim has been given in the prescribed manner and unless such proceedings are prosecuted without unreasonable delay.

(4) Nothing in this section shall prejudice the right of any creditor or other claimant to follow the assets or any part thereof in the hands of the persons who may have received the same respectively.

(5) In computing the period of limitation for any suit, appeal or application under the provisions of any law for the time being in force, the period between the date of submission of the claim of a creditor to the Administrator-General and the date of the final decision of the Administrator-General on such claim of the Succession Act, 1925, notices to creditors and other persons to send in their claims, may at the expiration of the time named in the notices, proceed to distribute the estate without being liable for any claim of which they shall not have had notice at the time of the distribution. Clegg v. Revland, 3 L. R. Eq. 368. But an executor who has notice of a claim against the estate of the testator is not discharged by such a notice. Re Land Credit Company etc., 21 W. R. 135 (Eng.)

27. (1) When the Administrator-General has, so far as may be, discharged all the liabilities of an estate administered by him, he shall notify the fact in the official Gazette, and he may, by an instrument in writing, with the consent of the Official Trustee and subject to any rules made by the Government, appoint the Official Trustee to be the trustee of any assets then remaining in his hands.

(2) Upon such appointment such assets shall vest in the Official Trustee the provisions of the same trusts.
Principle.—This section is based on the broad principle that when an executor, who happens also to be named a trustee of a legacy to be laid out in stock, has fully administered the estate, and assented to the legacy and retains the legacy in his hands, not as assets of the testator, but as trustee of the legacy, then the principles which would apply to another trustee must apply to him. Williams on Executors, 11th Ed., p. 1129 citing Byrchall v. Bradford, 6 Madd. 13; see also In re Simes, (1902) 1 Ch 176 at P. 182.

28. (1) The High Court at the Presidency-town may, on application made to it, give to the Administrator-General of the Presidency any general or special directions as to any estate in his charge or in regard to the administration of any such estate.

(2) Applications under sub-section (1) may be made by the Administrator-General or any person interested in the assets or in the due administration thereof.

29. (1) No Administrator-General shall be required by any Court to enter into any administration bond or to give other security to the Court, on the grant of any letters of administration to him by that name.

(2) No Administrator-General or Deputy Administrator-General shall be required to verify, otherwise than by his signature, any petition presented by him under the provisions of this Act, and, if the facts stated in any such petition are not within the Administrator-General’s own personal knowledge, the petition may be subscribed and verified by any person competent to make the verification.

(3) The entry of the Administrator-General by that name in the books of a Company shall not constitute notice of a trust, and a Company shall not be entitled to object to enter the name of the Administrator-General on its register by reason only that the Administrator General is a corporation and in dealing with assets the fact that the person dealt with is the Administrator General shall not of itself constitute notice of a trust.

Verification.—The Administrator-General as a public officer, is exempted from verifying otherwise than by his signature any petition presented by him under the provision of the Act. In the goods of P. J. Audill, 16 C 404 = 3 C. W. N. 298; In the goods of Mc Comiskey, 20 C 837.

30. The Administrator-General may, whenever he desires, for the purposes of this Act, to satisfy himself regarding any question of fact, examine upon oath (which he is hereby authorised to administer) any person who is willing to be so examined by him regarding such question.

Notes.—This section gives the Administrator-General power to administer oath and examine persons he desires to examine.

(e) Grant of Certificates.

31. Whenever any person has died leaving assets within any Presidency, and the Administrator-General of such presidency is satisfied that such assets excluding any sum of money deposited in a Government Savings Bank, or in any Provident Fund to which the provisions of the Provident Funds Act, 1897,* apply, did not at the date of death exceed in the whole “two thousand” rupees—in value, he may, after the lapse of one month from the death if he thinks fit, or before the lapse of the said month if he is requeste

* 9 of 1897; see now Act 19 of 1915.  † Substituted by Act 32 of 19 so to do by writing under the hand of the executor or the widow or other person entitled to administer the estate of the deceased, grant to any person, claiming otherwise than as a creditor to be interested in such assets, or in the due administration thereof, a certificate under his hand entitling the claimant to receive the assets therein mentioned left by the deceased, within the presidency to a value not exceeding in the whole "two thousand" rupees:

Provided that no certificate shall be granted under this section—

(i) where probate of the deceased's will or letters of administration of his estate has or have been granted, or
(ii) in respect of any sum of money deposited in a Government Savings Bank or in any Provident Fund to which the provisions of the Provident Funds Act, 1897, apply.

Notes—A will made in Bombay is subject to the provisions of the Hindu Wills Act. But where the property comprised in the will is less than Rs. 1000 (now Rs. 2000) in value a claimant under the will is entitled to obtain a certificate of administration under this section and then to sue for possession of the property mentioned therein, without taking out probate. Narayan v. Pandurang, 6 Ind. Cas. 905 = 12 Bom. L. R. 471 = 34 B. 503. Time should not run against claimants, who, in faith of the representation made to them by the Administrator-General, do not take legal remedies against the estate for the recovery of their due.

Thomas Peckie, In re, 22 Ind. Cas. 262.

32. If, in cases falling within section 31, no person claiming to be interested otherwise than as a creditor in such assets or in the due administration thereof obtains, within three months of the death of the deceased a certificate from the Administrator-General under the same section or probate of a will or letters of administration of the estate of the deceased, and such deceased was not an exempted person or was an exempted person who has left assets within the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court, or within any area notified by the Government in this behalf in the official Gazette, the Administrator-General may administer the estate without letters of administration, in the same manner as if such letters had been granted to him; and if he neglects or refuses to administer such estate, he shall, upon the before granting such certificate, reasonable security for the due administration of the estate of the deceased.

Scope—Under section 31 a creditor is entitled to a certificate. This section empowers the Administrator-General to a creditor. He may, if he thinks fit, make a reasonable interest of administration or a certificate under section 31.

33. The Administrator-General shall not be bound to grant any certificate under section 31 or section 32, unless he is satisfied of the title of the claimant and of the value of the assets left by the deceased within the Presidency either by the oath of the claimant, or by such other evidence as he requires.

Scope—Prior to the grant of a certificate, the Administrator-General has the right to be satisfied, by evidence or affidavit, of the value of the property and the title of the claimant.

* Substituted by Act 32 of 1916. + 9 of 1897; see now Act 19 of 1925.
34. The holder of a certificate granted in accordance with the provisions of section 31 or section 32 shall have in respect of the assets specified in such certificate the same powers and duties, and be subject to the same liabilities as he would have had or been subject to if letters of administration had been granted to him:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to require any person holding such certificate,

(a) to file accounts or inventories of the assets of the deceased before any Court or other authority, or

(b) save as provided in section 32 to give any bond for the due administration of the estate.

Scope—The certificate-holder under sections 31 and 32 is in the same position as a grantee of letters of administration and is subject to the same liabilities. But he is not bound to file accounts and inventories of the assets of the deceased, nor is he bound to give a security bond if a certificate is granted under section 31.

35. The Administrator-General may revoke a certificate granted under the provisions of section 31 or section 32 on any of the following grounds, namely:

(i) that the certificate was obtained by fraud or misrepresentation made to him,

(ii) that the certificate was obtained by means of an untrue allegation of a fact essential in law to justify the grant though such allegation was made in ignorance or inadvertently.

Notes—This section is framed on the line of s. 263 of the Succession Act. A grant which is obtained fraudulently is void ab initio. Debendra v. A. G., 33 C. 713 (F. B.); Ellis v. Ellis (1903) 1 Ch. 613. Abram v. Cunnigham, Lev. Rep. 182. The Court has power to annul a certificate where it is obtained fraudulently or on gross and fraudulent misrepresentation of fact Vide Debendra v. A. G., 33 C. 713; Bonall v. Bonall, 27 Ch. 220; Pandit v. Gakuran, 6 C. W. N. 767.

Clause (2)—According to this clause a grant is revoked where it has been obtained on a false suggestion made by the party in ignorance only or per incuriam. Tr. Coote's Pro. Prac., p 189

36. (1) When a certificate is revoked in accordance with the provisions of s. 35, the holder thereof shall, on the requisition of the Administrator General, deliver it up to such Administrator-General, but shall not be entitled to the refund of any fee paid thereon.

(a) If such person wilfully and without reasonable cause omits to deliver up the certificate, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Scope—By this section provision is made for the surrender of a revoked certificate. When the cert General, the certificate.

just reluctance to leave grant in the hand of its grantee, the Court requires it to be produced and delivered to the Registrar at the time of its revocation so that it may be afterwards cancelled in the registry. If the proceeding be compulsory, i.e., by citation of the party, he will bring it into the registry, or suffer the penalty of his contempt. If it be impracticable to compel the production, the Court will revoke it, though it cannot cancel it: Tr. & Coote's Pro. Prac., 194; Baker v. Russell, 167, Scott v. Field, 6 N. C. 182; Richard v. Langley, 2 Rob. 408. In the Carr, 1 S. & T. 11.
Provided that, in the case of any estate, the administration of which has been committed to the Administrator-General before the commencement of this Act, the fees prescribed under this section shall not exceed the fees leviable in respect of such estate under the Administrator-General's Act, 1874,* as subsequently amended:

Provided further that, in respect of the duties of the Administrator-General under the Regimental Debts Act, 1893,† the fees prescribed in this section shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of that Act.

(2) The fees under this section may be at different rates for different estates or classes of estates or for different duties, and shall, so far as may be, be arranged so as to produce an amount sufficient to discharge the salaries and all other expenses incidental to the working of this Act (including such sum as Government may determine to be required to insure the revenues of the Government against loss under this Act).

Right to Commission.—The Administrator-General is entitled to charge only one commission upon his collection. He is entitled to charge commission upon the entire collections of a revenue-paying estate. He is entitled to commission on realisations made and handed over to him by the Receiver; he is not entitled to claim commission on the value of the corpus of such part of his estate as is in the hands of the Receiver. Walsh v Saral Chandar, 31 C. 572. The value of the assets is to be considered at the date of the distribution. 43 M. L. J. 347—741nd. Cas. 182; see also, 4 C 770; 25 C 65; 1 M 148. The term "assets" means and includes property of a deceased person chargeable with and applicable to the payment of debts and legacies. In the goods of Courtenay, 25 C 65

43. (1) Any expenses which might be retained or paid out of any estate in the charge of the Administrator-General, if he were a private Administrator of such estate, shall be so retained or paid and the fees prescribed by this Act shall be retained or paid in like manner and at such time as the Government may prescribe, all fees received by him under this Act, and the same shall be carried to the account and credit of the Government.

Notes.—The Administrator-General has the same right of retainer in satisfaction of his own debt as that which an ordinary executor or administrator has. Richie v Stokes, 2 Macc. 255 cited in Henderson, p. 437.

PART V.

AUDIT OF THE ADMINISTRATOR-GENERAL’S ACCOUNTS.

44. The accounts of every Administrator-General shall be audited at least once annually, and at any other time if the Government so direct, by the prescribed persons in the prescribed manner.

Auditors.—The accounts should be audited annually by the persons prescribed by the Government in the prescribed manner.

45. The auditors shall examine the accounts and forward to the Government a statement thereof in the prescribed form, together with a report thereon and a certificate signed by them showing—

(a) whether they contain a full and true account of everything which ought to be inserted therein,

(b) whether the books which by any rules made under this Act are directed to be kept by the Administrator-General, have been duly and regularly kept, and ‡ Certain words after this repealed by Act 21 of 1922 have been omitted.

§ Certain words after this have been omitted by Act 21 of 1922.
c) whether the assets and securities have been duly kept and invested and deposited in the manner prescribed by this Act, or by any rules made thereunder, or (as the case may be) that such accounts are deficient, or that the Administrator-General has failed to comply with this Act or the rules made thereunder, in such respects as may be specified in such certificate.

Notes.—This section lays down the duties of an auditor.

46. (1) Every auditor shall have the powers of a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, *

(a) to summon any person whose presence he thinks necessary to attend him from time to time; and
(b) to examine any person on oath to be by him administered; and
(c) to issue a commission for the examination on interrogatories or otherwise of any person; and
(d) to summon any person to produce any document or thing the production of which appears to be necessary for the purpose of such audit or examination.

(2) Any person who when summoned refuses, or without reasonable cause, neglects to attend or to produce any document or thing or attends and refuses to be sworn, or to be examined, shall be deemed to have committed an offence within the meaning of, and punishable under, section 188 of the Indian Penal Code, † and the auditor shall report every case of such refusal or neglect to Government.

Notes.—Under this section the auditor is given wide powers. He is invested with the powers of a Civil Court under the Civil Procedure Code to summon and examine witnesses on oath. He can also issue a Commission for the examination of any person and can summon any person to produce any document. Any person who refuses to attend or to be sworn is punishable under section 188 of the Indian Penal Code. Every facility is given to an auditor for successfully auditing the accounts.

47. The costs of and incidental to such audit and examination shall be determined in accordance with rules made by the Government, and shall be defrayed in the prescribed manner.

PART VI.

MISCELLANEOUS.

48. The Administrator-General may, in addition to and not in derogation of, any other powers of expenditure lawfully exercisable by him, incur expenditure—

(a) on such acts as may be necessary for the proper care and management of any property belonging to any estate in his charge; and
(b) with the sanction of the High Court at the Presidency-town on such religious, charitable and other objects, and on such improvements as may be reasonable and proper in the case of such property.

Notes.—Even under the old law although a trustee is allowed nothing for his expenses out of pocket. How v. Godfrey, 9 Hide v. Haywood, 2 Atk. 126; Caffery v. Atk. 578; Trustees of Heriot's Hospital v. Yarcks, 8 Ves. 81, Lord Eldon said: "It is expressed in the instrument or not that charges and expenses incurred in the execution of the trust." 49. Any person interested in the administration of any estate, which is in the charge of the Administrator-General shall, subject to such conditions and restrictions as may be prescribed, be entitled at all reasonable times to inspect the accounts relating to such estate and the reports and certificates of the auditor, and on payment of the prescribed fee, to copies thereof and extracts therefrom.

Notes—Any person interested in the administration of any estate, is entitled at all reasonable time to inspect the accounts relating to such estate and the reports and certificates of the auditor.

50. (1) The Government shall make rules for carrying into effect the objects of this Act and for regulating the proceedings of the Administrator-General

Power to make rules

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for—

(a) the accounts to be kept by the Administrator-General and the audit and inspection thereof;

(b) the safe custody, deposit and investment of assets and securities which come into the hands of the Administrator-General;

(c) the remittance of sums of money in the hands of the Administrator-General, in cases in which such remittances are required,

(d) subject to the provisions of this Act, the fees to be paid under this Act, and the collection and accounting for any such fees,

(e) the statements, schedules and other documents to be submitted to the Government or to any other authority by the Administrator-General, and the publication of such statements, schedules or other documents,

(f) the realization of the cost of preparing any such statements, schedules or other such documents;

(g) the manner in which and the person by whom the costs of and incidental to any audit under the provisions of this Act are to be determined and defrayed,

(h) the manner in which summonses issued under the provisions of section 46 are to be served and the payment of the expenses of any persons summoned or examined under the provisions of this Act and of any expenditure incidental thereto.

the prescribed manner, to the account and credit of the Government:*

Provided that this section shall not authorise the transfer of any such assets as aforesaid, if any suit or proceeding is pending in respect thereof in any court.

Notes.—Under article 123 of the First Schedule of the Limitation Act, a suit for granting a legacy or for a share of an residue bequeathed by a testator, or for a distributive share of the property of an intestate can be brought within twelve years from the time when the legacy or share becomes payable or deliverable.

53. (1) If any claim is hereafter made to any part of the assets transferred to the account and credit of the Government* under the provisions of this Act, or any Act hereby repealed, and if such claim is established to the satisfaction of the prescribed authority, the Government* shall pay to the claimant the amount of the principal so transferred to its account and credit or so much thereof as appears to be due to the claimant.

(2) If the claim is not established to the satisfaction of the prescribed authority, the claimant may, without prejudice to proceedings for the recovery of such assets, apply at the Presidency-town against the Secretary of St such Court, after taking such evidence as it thinks fit, shall make such order in regard to the payment of the whole or any part of the said principal sum as it thinks fit, and such order shall be binding on all parties to the proceeding.

(3) The Court may further direct by whom the whole or any part of the cost of each party shall be paid.

Notes.—If the claim is established to the satisfaction of the prescribed authority, An application by petition under section 13 of the Civil Procedure Code, 1877 and is barred by the disposal of a similar former application in the same matter, though the order passed is capable of being reviewed.

tor-General.

(a) the amount and nature of the assets,
(b) whether or not the deceased left a will and, if so, in whose custody it is,
(c) the names and addresses of the surviving next of kin of the deceased, and, on the lapse of one month from the date of the death,

* Certain words after this repealed by Act 21 of 1922 have been omitted.
(d) whether or not any one has applied for probate of the will of the deceased or letters of administration of his estate.

(2) The District Judge shall retain the assets under his charge, or appoint an officer under the provisions of section 239 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, to take and keep possession of the same until the Administrator-General has obtained letters of administration, or until some other person has obtained probate or such letters or a certificate from the Administrator-General under the provisions of this Act, when the assets shall be delivered over to the holder of such probate, letters of administration or certificate:

Provided that the District Judge may, if he thinks fit, sell any assets which are subject to speedy and natural decay, or which for any other sufficient cause he thinks should be sold, and he shall thereupon credit the proceeds of such sale to the estate.

(3) The District Judge may cause to be paid out of any assets of which he or such officer has charge, or out of the proceeds of such assets or of any part thereof, such sums as may appear to him to be necessary for all or any of the following purposes, namely:

(a) the payment of the expenses of the funeral of the deceased and of obtaining probate of his will or letters of administration of his estate or a certificate under this Act,

(b) the payment of wages due for services rendered to the deceased within three months next preceding his death by any labourer, artisan or domestic servant,

(c) the relief of the immediate necessities of the family of the deceased, and

(d) such acts as may be necessary for the proper care and management of the assets left by the deceased, and nothing in section 279, section 280 or section 281 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, or in any other law for the time being in force with respect to rights of creditors of deceased person shall be held to affect the validity of any payment so caused to be made.

§ 55. (1) Nothing contained in the Indian Succession Act, 1865, or the Indian Companies Act, 1882, shall be taken to supersede or affect the rights, duties and privileges of any Administrator-General.

55. (1) Nothing contained in the Indian Succession Act, 1865, or in this Act for the time being in force, applies to the persons dying intestate within any of the Presidency-towns or in the town of Rangoon, which shall be or has been taken charge of by the police for the purpose of safe custody.

Notes—Section 100 of the Calcutta Police Act (Ben. Act IV of 1865) lays down that the police shall for the purpose of safe custody, take temporary charge of unclaimed movable property found by them Clause (i) of section 101 of the same lays down that if the said property appears to have been left by a person who has died intestate, and not to be under two hundred rupees in value, the Commissioner of Police shall communicate with the Administrator-General with a view to its being dealt with according to the Administrator-General's Act, 1874, or any other law for the time being in force. Then clause 2 to 6 of the same section provide the procedure of dealing with property under two hundred rupees. Similar provisions are also made by Bombay, Madras and Rangoon Police Acts.

56. Any order made under this Act by any Court shall have the same effect as a decree.

Decree—For the definition of a decree, vide Civil Procedure Code, section 2 (2). The term decree is defined in the Code as meaning the formal expression of an adjudication which, so far as regards the Court expressing it, conclusively determines any of the matters in controversy in the suit.

THE BENGAL ALLUVION AND DILUVION
REGULATION, 1825.

REGULATION XI OF 1825.

Passed on the 26th May, 1825.

A Regulation for declaring the rules to be observed in determining claims to lands gained by alluvion, or by dereliction of a river or the sea.

1. In consequence of the frequent changes which take place in the channel of the principal rivers that intersect the Provinces immediately subject to the Presidency of Fort William, and the shifting of the sands which lie in the beds of those rivers, chars or small islands are often thrown up by alluvion in the midst of the stream, or near one of the banks, and large portions of land are carried away by an encroachment of the river on one side whilst accessions of land are at the same time or in subsequent years, gained by dereliction of the water on the opposite side: similar instances of alluvion, encroachment and dereliction also sometime occur on the sea-coast which borders the southern and south-eastern limits of Bengal.

The lands gained from the rivers or sea by the means abovementioned are a frequent source of contention and affray, and, although the law and custom of the country have established rules applicable to such cases, these rules not being generally known, the Courts of Justice have sometimes found it difficult

* Certain words after this repealed by Act IV of 1914 have been omitted † The words within quotation have been inserted by Act IV of 1914 but these words shall be deemed to be omitted in the United Provinces. Vide U. P. Act XII of 1922, Sch. XIX of 1883. to determine the rights of litigant parties claiming chars or other lands, gained in the manner above described.

The Court of Sadar Dewani Adalat, with a view to ascertain the legal provision of the Muhammadan and Hindu laws on this subject, called for reports from their law-officers of each persuasion, and on consideration of the reports furnished by the law-officers in consequence, as well as of the decisions which have been passed by the Court of Sadar Dewani Adalat in cases brought before them in appeal, which involved the rights of claimants to lands gained by alluvion, or by dereliction of rivers or the sea, the Governor-General in Council has deemed it proper to enact the following rules for the general information of individuals as well as for the guidance of the Courts of Judicature; to be in force, as soon as promulgated, throughout the whole of the Provinces subject to the Presidency of Fort William.

Notes.—This regulation is in force throughout the old Bengal Presidency and the old North-Western Provinces except the Scheduled Districts. It is also in force in the Santhal Parganas, in the Punjab, in the Central Provinces, in Oudh and in Assam except the North Lushai Hills.

It is supplemented (in the former Province of Bengal), by Ben. Act 4 of 1864; in Bengal by Ben. Act 5 of 1920.

2. Whenever any clear and definite usage of shaikast paiwast respecting the disjunction and junction of land by the encroachment or recess of a river may have been immemorially established, for determining the rights of the proprietors of two or more contiguous estates divided by a river (such as that the main channel of the river dividing the estates shall be the constant boundary between them, whatever changes may take place in the course of the river, by encroachment on one side and accession on the other), the usage so established shall govern the decision of all claims and disputes relative to alluvial land between the parties whose estates may be liable to such usage.

3. Where there may be no local usage of the nature referred to in the preceding section, the general rules declared in the following section shall be applied to the determination of all claims and disputes relative by dereliction either of a river or the sea.

4. First.—When land may be gained by gradual accession, whether from the recess of a river or of the sea, it shall be considered an increment to the tenure of the person to whose land or estate it is thus annexed, whether such land or estate be held immediately from Government by a Zamindar or other superior landlord, or as a subordinate tenure, by any description of under-tenant whatever:

Provided that the increment of land thus obtained shall not entitle the person in possession of the estate or tenure to which the land may be annexed, to a right of property or permanent interest therein beyond that possessed by him in the estate or tenure to which the land may be annexed, and shall not in any case be understood to exempt the holder of it from the payment to Government of any assessment for the public revenue to which it may be liable under the provisions of Regulation II, 1819,* or of any other Regulation in force.

Nor if annexed to a subordinate tenure held under a superior landlord shall the under-tenant, whether a khudkast raiyat holding a maurusi istimrari tenure at a fixed rate of rent per bigha, or any other description of under-tenant liable by his engagements, or by established usage, to an increase of rent for the land annexed to his tenure by alluvion, be considered exempt from the payment of any increase of rent to which he may be justly liable.*

Second.—The above rule shall not be considered applicable to cases in which a river, by a sudden change of its course, may break through and intersect an estate, without any gradual encroachment, or may by the violence of stream, separate a considerable piece of land from one estate, and join it to another estate without destroying the identity and preventing the recognition of the land so removed.

In such cases the land, on being clearly recognized shall remain the property of its original owner.

Third.—When a char, or island, may be thrown up in a large navigable river (the bed of which is not the property of an individual), or in the sea, and the channel of the river, or sea, between such island and the shore may not be fordable, it shall, according to established usage, be at the disposal of Government.+ But if the channel between such island and the shore be fordable at any season of the year, it shall be considered an accession to the land, tenure, or tenures of the person or persons whose estate or estates may be most contiguous to it, subject to the several provisions specified in the first clause of this section, with respect to increment of land by gradual accession.

Fourth.—In small and shallow rivers the beds of which, with the jalkar right of fishery, may have been heretofore recognized as the property of individuals, any sand bank or char, that may be thrown up, shall, as hitherto, belong to the proprietor of the bed of the river, subject to the provisions stated in the first clause of the present section.

Fifth.—In all other cases, namely, in all cases of claims and disputes respecting land gained by alluvion or by dereliction not provided for by Regulation.

Disputes relative to lands gained by alluvion or by dereliction not provided for by Regulation.

the best evidence they may be able to obtain of established local usage, if there be any applicable to the case, or if not, by general principles of equity and justice.

5. Nothing in this Regulation shall be construed to justify any encroachments by individuals on the bed or channels of navigable rivers, or to prevent Zilla + Magistrates or any other officers of the Government from taking such measures as they may think necessary to prevent obstructions, which appear to int such rivers, or which shall in any respect obstruct the passage of boats by blocking on the banks of such rivers or otherwise.

* This para of s. 4 cl. (1), was repealed in Bengal except Calcutta, Orissa and the Scheduled Territory (ext. s. 1905, 12 of 1858; s. 2. of 1883), s. 2.

Land Acquisition Act, 1894, as if the preservation of a protected monument were a "public purpose" within the meaning of that Act.

(2) The powers of compulsory purchase conferred by sub-section (1) shall not be exercised in the case of—

(a) any monument which or any part of which is periodically used for religious observances, or

(b) any monument which is the subject of a subsisting agreement executed under section 5.

(3) In any case other than the cases referred to in sub-section (2) the said powers of compulsory purchase shall not be exercised unless the owner or other person competent to enter into an agreement under section 5 has failed, within such reasonable period as the Collector may fix in this behalf to enter into an agreement proposed to him under the said section or has terminated or given notice of his intention to terminate such an agreement.

†10A. (1) If the Local Government is of opinion that mining, quarrying, excavating, blasting and other operations of a like nature should be restricted or regulated for the purpose of protecting or preserving any ancient monument, the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, make rules—

(a) fixing the boundaries of the area to which the rules are to apply,

(b) forbidding the carrying on of mining, quarrying, excavating, blasting or any operation of a like nature except in accordance with the rules and with the terms of a licence, and

(c) prescribing the authority by which, and the terms on which, licences may be granted to carry on any of the said operations.

(2) The power to make rules given by this section is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication.

(3) A rule made under this section may provide that any person committing a breach thereof shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

(4) If any owner or occupier of land included in a notification under sub-section (1) proves to the satisfaction of the Local Government that he has sustained loss by reason of such land being so included, the Local Government shall pay compensation in respect of such loss.”

Notes.—“This clause amounts to little more than a transposition of the existing section to Advantage has been taken of the amendment of the Act, however, to make it clear that this section covers mining, quarrying, blasting and other operations which may endanger an ancient monument and to make it clear that these operations are forbidden in any area notified under the section except in accordance with a licence granted for the purpose.”—Notes on Clauses.

* Act I of 1894.

† Inserted by Act 18 of 1932.
11. (1) The Commissioner shall maintain every monument in respect of which the Government has acquired any of the rights mentioned in section 4 or which the Government has acquired under section 10.

(2) When the Commissioner has accepted the guardianship of a monument under section 4, he shall, for the purpose of maintaining such monument, have access to the monument at all reasonable times, by himself and by his agent, subordinates and workmen, for the purpose of inspecting the monument, and for the purpose of bringing such materials and doing such acts as he may consider necessary or desirable for the maintenance thereof.

12. The Commissioner may receive voluntary contributions towards the cost of maintaining a protected monument and may give orders as to the management and application of any funds so received by him:

Provided that no contribution received under this section shall be applied to any purpose other than the purpose for which it was contributed.

Protection of place of worship from misuse, pollution or desecration.

13. (1) A place of worship or shrine maintained by the Government under this Act shall not be used for any purpose inconsistent with its character.

(2) Where the Collector has, under section 4, purchased or taken a lease of any protected monument, or has accepted a gift or bequest, or the Commissioner has, under the same section, accepted the guardianship of such monument, or any part thereof, or observances by any community, the protection of such monument, or such part thereof, from pollution or desecration—

(a) by prohibiting the entry therein, except in accordance with conditions prescribed with the concurrence of the persons in religious charge of the said monument or part thereof, of any person not entitled so to enter by the religious usages of the community by which the monument or part thereof is used, or

(b) by taking such other action as he may think necessary in this behalf.

Relinquishment of Government rights in a monument.

14. With the sanction of the Local Government, the Commissioner may—

(a) where rights have been acquired by Government in respect of any monument under this Act by virtue of any sale, lease, gift or will, relinquish the right so acquired to the person who would for the time being be the owner of the monument if such rights had not been acquired; or

(b) relinquish any guardianship of a monument which he has accepted under this Act.

15. (1) Subject to such rules as may after previous publication be made by the Local Government, the public shall have a right of access to any monument maintained by the Government under this Act.

(2) In making any rule under subsection (1) the Local Government may provide that a breach of it shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty rupees.

16. Any person other than the owner who destroys, removes, injures, alters, defaces or imperils a protected monument, and any owner who destroys, removes, injures, alters, defaces or imperils a monument maintained by Government under this Act or in respect of which an agreement has been executed under section 5, and any owner or occupier who contravenes an order made under section 7, subsection (1), shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five thousand rupees, or with imprisonment which may extend to three months, or with both.

Traffic in Antiquities.

17. (1) If the Governor-General in Council apprehends that antiquities are being sold or removed to the detriment of India or of any neighbouring country he may, by notification in the Gazette of India, prohibit or restrict the bringing or taking by sea or by land of any antiquities or class of antiquities described in the notification into or out of British India or any specified part of British India.

(2) Any person who brings or takes or attempts to bring or take any such antiquities into or out of British India or any part of British India in contravention of a notification issued under sub-section (1) shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

(3) Antiquities in respect of which an offence referred to in sub-section (2) has been committed shall be liable to confiscation.

(4) An officer of Customs, or an officer of Police of a grade not lower than Sub-Inspector, duly empowered by the Local Government in this behalf, may search any vessel, cart or any other means of conveyance and may open any baggage or package of goods if he has reason to believe that goods in respect of which an offence has been committed under sub-section (2) are contained therein.

(5) A person who complains that the power of search mentioned in subsection (4) has been vexatiously or improperly exercised may address his complaint to the Local Government and the Local Government shall pass such order and may award such compensation, if any, as appears to it to be just.

Protection of Sculptures, Carvings, Images, Bas-reliefs, Inscriptions or like objects.

18. If the Local Government considers that any sculptures, carvings, images, bas-reliefs, inscriptions or other like objects ought not to be moved from the place where they are without the sanction of the Government, the Local Government may by notification in the local official Gazette, direct that any such object or any class of such objects shall not be moved unless with the written permission of the Collector.

(2) A person applying for the permission mentioned in sub-section (1) shall specify the object or objects which he proposes to move and shall furnish, in regard to such object or objects, any information which the Collector may require.

(3) If the Collector refuses to grant such permission, the applicant may appeal to the Commissioner whose decision shall be final.

(4) Any person who moves any object in contravention of a notification issued under sub-section (1) shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

(5) If the owner of any property proves to the satisfaction of the Local Government that he has suffered any loss or damage by reason of the inclusion of such property in a notification published under sub-section (1) the Local Government shall either—

(a) exempt such property from the said notification;

(b) purchase such property, if it be movable, at its market-value; or

(c) pay compensation for any loss or damage sustained by the owner of such property, if it be immovable.
19. (1) If the Local Government apprehends that any object mentioned in a notification issued under section 18, subsection (1), is in danger of being destroyed, removed, injured or allowed to fall into decay, the Local Government may pass orders for the compulsory purchase of such object at its market-value, and the Collector shall thereupon give notice to the owner of the object to be purchased.

(2) The power of compulsory purchase given by this section shall not extend to—

(a) any image or symbol actually used for the purpose of any religious observance; or

(b) anything which the owner desires to retain on any reasonable ground personal to himself or to any of his ancestors or to any member of his family.

Archaeological Excavation.

*20. (1) If the Governor-General in Council, after consulting the Local Government, is of opinion that excavation for archaeological purposes in any area should be restricted and regulated in the interests of archaeological research, the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India specifying the boundaries of the area, declare it to be a protected area.

(2) From the date of such notification all such areas declared to be protected area shall be the property of Government, possession of Government until ownership thereof is transferred; but in all other respects the rights of any owner or occupier of land in such area shall not be affected.

Power to enter upon and make excavations in a protected area.

*20A. (1) Any officer of the Archaeological Department or any person holding a licence under section 20B may, with the written permission of the Collector, enter upon and make excavations in any protected area.

(2) Where, in the exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (1) the rights of any person are infringed by the occupation or disturbance of the surface of any land, the Government shall pay to that person compensation for the infringement.

Power of Governor-General in Council to make rules regulating archaeological excavation in protected areas.

*20B. (1) The Governor-General in Council may make rules—

(a) prescribing the authorities by whom licences to excavate for archaeological purposes in a protected area may be granted;

(b) regulating the conditions on which such licences may be granted, the form of such licences, and the taking of security from licensees;

(c) prescribing the manner in which antiquities found by a licensee shall be divided between Government and the licensee; and

(d) generally to carry out the purposes of section 20.

(2) The power to make rules given by this section is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication.

(3) Such rules may be general for all protected areas for the time being, or may be special for any particular protected area or areas.

THE APPRENTICES ACT

ACT NO. XIX OF 1850.*

PASSED ON THE 11TH APRIL, 1850.

Concerning the binding of Apprentices.

For better enabling children, and especially orphans and poor children brought up by public charity, to learn trades, crafts, and employments, by which, when they come to full age, they may gain a livelihood; it is enacted as follows:—

1. Any child, above the age of ten, and under the age of eighteen years, may be bound apprentice by his or her father or guardian to learn any fit trade, craft, or employment, for such term as is set forth in the contract of apprenticeship, not exceeding seven years, so that it be not prolonged beyond the time when such child shall be of the full age of twenty-one years, or, in the case of a female, beyond the time of her marriage.

2. The age set forth in the contracts shall be evidence of the age of the child, in all questions which arise as to the right of the master to the continuance of the service.

3. Any Magistrate or Justice of the Peace may act with all the powers of a guardian under the Act, on behalf of any orphan, or poor child abandoned by its parents or of any child convicted before him, or any other Magistrate, of vagrancy, or the commission of any petty offence.

4. Any orphan or poor child, brought up by any public charity, may be bound apprentice by the governors, directors, or managers thereof, as his or her guardians for this purpose.

5. [Apprenticing of such boy in sea-service].—Repealed by Act XXI of 1923.

6. [Apprenticing of such boy in ship of the East India Company].—Repealed by the Repealing Act XIV of 1870.

7. [Who to be agent of master of apprentice serving in ship].—Repealed by Act XXI of 1923.

* Act XIX. of 1850 has been declared to be in force in the whole of British India, except the Scheduled Districts, by the Laws LocalExtent Act (XV of 1874), s. 3.
8. Every contract of apprenticeship shall be in writing, according to the form given in the Schedule A annexed to this Act, or to the like effect, which shall set forth the conditions agreed upon, particularly specifying the age of the apprentice, the term for which he is bound, and what he is to be taught.

9. Every such contract shall be signed by the person to whom the apprentice is bound, and by the person by whom he is bound and by the apprentice, when he is of the age of fourteen years or more at the time of binding; but, when the apprentice is bound by the governors, directors, or managers of a public charity, the signature of two of them, or of their secretary or officer, shall be sufficient on behalf of the persons binding the apprentice.

10. No such contract shall be valid unless it be executed in the manner aforesaid, nor until it has been deposited in the office of the Chief Magistrate of the place or district where it has been executed, and the person in whose office any such contract is deposited shall give to each of the parties a copy thereof, certified under his hand, which certified copies shall be received as evidence of the contract, without formal proof of the handwriting of the Magistrate.*

11. The terms of service may be changed at any time during the apprenticeship, or the contract may be determined, with the consent of both parties to the contract or their personal representatives, and with the consent of the apprentice if he is above the age of fourteen years: provided that the changes agreed to or the termination of the contract shall be expressed in writing on the original contract, with the signature of the proper parties according to section 9† of this Act; and the Magistrate* shall thereupon make under his hand corresponding endorsements on the office copies, which shall be brought to him at the same time for that purpose.

by his master, or by the agent under whom he shall have been placed by his master, the Magistrate may summon the master or his agent, as the case may be, if he shall be within his jurisdiction, to appear before him at a reasonable time, to be stated in the summons, to answer the complaint; and at such time, whether the master or his agent be present or not (service of the summons being proved), may examine into the matter of the complaint; and, upon proof, thereof may cancel the contract of apprenticeship, and assess upon the offender, whether he shall be the master or his agent, a reasonable sum for behalf of the apprentice not exceeding four times the amount of the premium paid upon the binding, or if no premium, or a less premium than fifty rupees was paid, not exceeding two hundred rupees;

and, if the offender shall not pay the sum so assessed, may levy the same by distress and sale of his goods and chattels, and, if the offender shall not be the master but his agent, by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the master also.

14. No contract of apprenticeship shall be cancelled, nor shall any master or his agent be liable to any criminal proceeding, on account of such moderate chastisement for misbehaviour given to any apprentice by his master or the agent of his master, as may lawfully be given by a father to his child; and the provision for enabling the contract of apprenticeship to be cancelled shall not bar any criminal proceeding against any master or his agent for an assault or other offence committed against his apprentice, for which he would be liable to be punished had it been against his child, whether or not any proceedings be taken for cancelling the contract of apprenticeship.

15. Upon complaint made to any Magistrate, by or on behalf of the master of any apprentice bound to him under this Act, of any ill-behaviour of such apprentice, or if such apprentice shall have absconded, the Magistrate may issue his warrant for apprehending such apprentice, and may hear and determine the complaint, and punish the offender by an order for keeping the offender, if a boy, in confinement in any debtor’s prison or other suitable place, not being a criminal gaol, for any time not exceeding one month, of which one week may be in solitary confinement, during which time such allowance shall be made for his subsistence by the master or his agent as the Magistrate shall order; and, if the offender be a boy of not more than fourteen years of age, may order him to be privately whipped; or, if the offender be a girl, or in the case of any boy, the Magistrate deem any such punishment unfit, he may pass an order empowering the master of the apprentice or his agent to keep the offender in close confinement in his own house or on board the vessel to which he belongs, upon bread and water or such other plain food as may be given without injury to the health of the apprentice, for a period not exceeding one month.

16. Upon complaint of wilful and repeated ill-behaviour on the part of the apprentice, and on the demand of the master, the Magistrate may order the contract of apprenticeship to be cancelled, whether or not the charge is proved; but only with the consent of the apprentice and of his father or guardian, if the charge is not proved; and such cancelling shall be with or without refund of the whole or part of any premium that may have been paid to the master on binding such apprentice, as to the Magistrate seems fit on consideration of the case; and all sums so refunded shall be applied under the direction of the Magistrate for behoof of the apprentice.
17. The Magistrate may order any sum recovered for behalf of the apprentice on cancelling the contract to be either laid out in binding him to another master, or otherwise for his benefit, or to be paid to the person by whom any premium was paid when he was bound apprentice.

18. No Magistrate shall entertain a complaint on the part of a master against an apprentice under this Act, unless it be brought within one month after the cause of complaint arose, or, if the cause of complaint arose on board-ship during a voyage, within one month after the arrival thereof at a port or place in the said territories; and no Magistrate shall entertain a complaint on the part of an apprentice against his master or the agent of his master under this Act, unless it be brought within three months after the cause of complaint arose, or, if the board-ship during a voyage, within three months after the arrival thereof at a port or place in the said territories.

19. if any premium was paid on binding him as an apprentice, he or a person by whom he was bound shall be entitled to claim the amount thereof as a debt against the estate of the bankrupt or insolvent.

23. For the purposes of this Act all British subjects, wherever or of whatever parents born, as well as other persons in the territories under the Government of India, without the towns of Calcutta and Madras and the town and island of Bombay, shall be amenable to the jurisdiction of the Courts and Magistrates of India.

24. An appeal shall lie from any order passed by any Magistrate without the said towns and island to the Court of Session to which such Magistrate is subordinate, provided the appeal is made within one month from the date of the order.

25. In this Act the words "master," "owner," "person," and the pronoun "he" shall be understood to include several persons as well as one person, and males as well as females, and bodies corporate as well as individuals, unless there is something in the context repugnant to such construction.

THE INDIAN ARBITRATION ACT, 1899.

ACT NO. IX OF 1899.

Passed by the Governor-General of India in Council.

Received the G. G.'s Assent on the 3rd March, 1899.

An Act to amend the Law relating to Arbitration.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to arbitration by agreement without the intervention of a Court of Justice; it is hereby enacted as follows:

Notes — The Act may be called the Indian Arbitration Act, 1899.

1. (i) This Act may be called the Indian Arbitration Act, 1899.

2. It extends to the whole of British India; and

3. It shall come into force on the first day of July, 1899.

Notes — The Indian Arbitration Act, 1899 is based on the English Arbitration Act, 1889 (52 & 53 Vict. Cap. 49). Many sections are taken verbatim from that Act. As regards the application of the Act, vide s. 2. Before the passing of the Arbitration Act a contract to refer matters to arbitration was governed by the Indian Contract Act, the Civil Procedure Code and the Specific Relief Act, (1 of 1877). So far as the provisions contained in the Indian Contract Act and the Specific Relief Act are concerned, no contract to refer (present or future differences) to arbitration could be specifically enforced. But the party who refuses to perform is debarred from bringing a suit on the same subject. The Civil Procedure Code of 1832, required that the arbitrators should be named. This Act is an independent Act. 76 Ind. Cas. 525; 50 Ind. Cas. 411. The strict rule of evidence need not be observed in an arbitration proceeding. 49 Ind. Cas. 135. The parties may by common consent increase the number of arbitrators. 62 Ind. Cas. 426=43 A. 456.
The Arbitration Act is an Act to amend the law relating to arbitration. It does not deal with the whole law of arbitration and it must be construed strictly in that it confers special powers of interference not otherwise inherent in the Court. Gopalji
v. Morariji, 50 Ind. Cas. 411=21 Bom. L. R. 308=43 B 809. This Act deals with arbitration initiated by agreement between parties not in litigation. This Act applies even when parties to suit engage in arbitration without an order of the court. A. I.

ministration of an estate, the remedy is administration suit or originating summons.

becomes enforceable as a decree _ibid_. The Act does not apply to arbitration in the course of litigation. 49 C. 658=69 Ind. Cas. 808. When the Act is not applicable reference under the Act is not legal. 132 Ind. Cas. 399=32 P. L. R. 444= A. I. R. 1931 Lah. 555. Courts in Ferozepore can not proceed with reference under the Act. _Ibid_ This Act has been made applicable to Lahore but it is subject to the provision of the Punjab Arbitration Amendment Act of 1911 A. I. R. 1934
Lah. 652=35 P. L. R. 482=152 Ind. Cas. 135.

2. Subject to the provisions of section 23, this Act shall apply only in cases where, if the subject-matter submitted to arbitration were the subject of a suit, the suit could, whether with leave or otherwise, be instituted in a Presidency-town: Provided that the Local Government, may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare this Act applicable in any other local area as if it were a Presidency-town.

Notes—In the first instance this Act applies only to cases where, the subject-matter submitted to arbitration were the subject of a suit, which could be instituted in a presidency-town. 15 Ind. Cas. 402; 27 Ind. Cas. 129; 7 Ind. Cas. 593; 7 Ind.

also is situated in that town, award relating to such property can be filed in presidency-town. 114 Ind. Cas. 818; see also A. I. R. 1934 Bom. 79. This section does not affect arbitration under the Companies Act, s. 152 (3). A. I. R. 1933 Lah. 44=14 Lah.

is made at Karachi, court at Amritsar has jurisdiction to act under the Act 130 Ind.

3. The last thirty-seven words of section 21 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877+, and sections 523 to 526 of the Code of Civil Procedure‡ shall not apply to any submission or arbitration to which the provisions of the Act for the time being apply:

Provided that nothing in this Act shall affect any arbitration pending in a Presidency-town at the commencement of this Act or in any local area at the date of the application thereto of this Act, as aforesaid, but shall apply to every arbitration commenced after the commencement of this Act or the date of the application thereof, as the case may be, under any agreement or order previously made.§

Notes—Section 22 of Schedule II of the Civil Procedure Code contains a similar provision. _Vide Abdulla v. Sofiulla_, 69 Ind. Cas. 204.

Where agreement to refer to arbitration made with company, Court has no jurisdiction to file it under Sch. II, para. 17 A. I. R. 1929 Lah. 246=118 Ind. Cas. 533.

Definitions.

(a) "the Court" means, in the Presidency-towns, the High Court, and, elsewhere, the Court of the District Judge; and

(b) "submission" means a written agreement to submit present or future differences to arbitration, whether an arbitrator is named therein or not: *

Clause (a).—"Elsewhere" in this clause means in all other places than the presidency towns. 52 Ind. Cas. 130=13 S. L. R. 23 An award under this Act can only be enforced by the District Judge and can not be transferred by him to any other except that of a District Judge A. I. R. 1934 Pesh. 107.

Clause (b).—Written agreement means one in which the terms on both sides are reduced into writing Caerleon Tin Plate Co v. Hughes, 60 L. J. Q. B. 610; but see 19 Ind. Cas. 625. This section does not require in all cases that the written agreement must be signed by both parties Baker v. Yorkshire Insurance Co (1822), 1 Q. B. 147, see also 19 Ind. Cas. 925, 49 Ind. Cas. 135; but see 63 C. 65=95 Ind. Cas. 21; 61 C. 702=38 C. V. N. 737=A. I. R. 1934 Cal. 796. The intention of the submission clause must be ascertained by the Court proceeding on the assumptions that it is in writing. 36 B. 360=36 Bom. L. R. 47=A. I. R. 1934 Bom. 79. The term "submission" is construed very broadly. 36 Bom. L. R. 1005=A. I. R. 1934 Bom. 476 An agreement may be collected from a series of documents, even though connected by parol evidence, and the signature of any document forming part of the agreement is sufficient to bind the party signing to the submission contained in the agreement Sukhamal v. Acceptance of the written agreement might be in the form of a signed document by both parties containing all the terms, or a signed document by one party containing the terms and a plain acceptance either signed or orally accepted by the other party, or, in the third case, an unsigned document containing the terms of the submission, or oral acceptance by both parties. I. R. 1932 Mad. 745.

Submission to be irrevocable except by leave of Court.

5. A submission, unless a different intention is expressed therein, shall be irrevocable, except by leave of the Court.

Scope—The word "a submission shall be irrevocable" is ambiguous; it is applicable, not to the agreement to refer, but to the authority of the arbitrator. Per Bowen L.J. in In re Smith and Service (1890) 25 Q. B. D. at p. 547. This section relates merely to the right to revoke a submission. Doleman v. Ossel Corporation, (1912) 3 K. B. 306, it is irrevocable except by the leave of the Court. 44 Ind. Cas. 700.

Grounds for revocation—The grounds for revocation are: (1) Pecuniary or bias (1894) 10 T. LR 393; (1900) W N. 153; (1921) 85 L. T. 46; 44 Ind. Cas. 360; (3) Misconduct.

6. A submission, unless a different intention is expressed therein, shall be deemed to include the provisions set forth in the first schedule, as far as they are applicable to the reference under submission.

Notes—In matters of interpretation the Court is to be guided by the intention of the parties; and by what law an arbitration contract is to be interpreted is to be determined by the intention of the parties. Hamlyn v. Talisker, (1894) 71 L. T. at p. 2; see also Spurrier v. La Cloche, (1902) A C 446; Pena v. Rio, (1911) 105 L. T. 846.

Reference to arbitrator to be appointed by third person.

7. The parties to a submission may agree that the reference shall be to an arbitrator or arbitrators to be appointed by a person designated therein.

Such person may be designated either by name or as the holder for the time being of any office or appointment.

Illustration.

The parties to a submission may agree that any dispute arising between them in respect of the subject-matter of the submission shall be referred to an arbitrator to be appointed by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, or, as the case may be, to an arbitrator to be appointed by the President for the time being of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce.

Notes—This section has been expressly enacted to empower Bengal Chamber of Commerce to appoint arbitrators.

Power for the Court in certain cases to appoint an arbitrator, umpire or third arbitrator.

8. (1) In any of the following cases—

(a) where a submission provides that the reference shall be to a single arbitrator, and all the parties do not, after differences have arisen, concur in the appointment of an arbitrator;

(b) if an appointed arbitrator neglects or refuses to act, or is incapable of acting, or dies, or is removed, and the submission does not show that it was intended that the vacancy should not be supplied, and the parties do not supply the vacancy;

(c) (d) if an appointed arbitrator neglects or refuses to act, or is incapable of acting, or dies, or is removed, and the submission does not show that it was intended that the vacancy should not be supplied, and the parties or arbitrators do not supply the vacancy;
any party may serve the other parties or the arbitrators, as the case may be, with a written notice to concur in appointing an arbitrator, umpire or third arbitrator.

(2) If the appointment is not made within seven clear days after the service of the notice, the Court may, on application by the party who gave the notice, and after giving the other party an opportunity of being heard, appoint an arbitrator, umpire or third arbitrator, who shall have the like power to act in the reference and make an award as if he had been appointed by consent of all parties.

Scope.—The true meaning of clauses (a) and (b) is that, where the parties will not appoint an appointed arbitrator refuses to act, or is incapable of discharge of the duties of his appointment, an arbitrator, umpire or third arbitrator, who shall have the like power to act in the reference and make an award as if he had been appointed by the parties, in terms of a single vacancy to be supplied by the parties. The section no where makes the provision as contemplated by section 9. Section 8 (1) (b) only applies where plus the original appointor as contemplated by section 9. Smith was a mutual agreement to refer to two arbitrators one of whom refused to act. Held, S 8 (1) (b) applies as the expression "an appointed arbitrator" can mean one of two appointed arbitrators. A. I. R. 1929 Cal. 177 = 56 Cal. 848 = 53 C. W. N. 418. Where a sole arbitrator is appointed by one party under s. 9, the other party having refused to appoint another to act, no action is required to be taken the procedure to be followed is only when appointment is subject to 26. Court has no power to appoint proceed in a case submitted to them, two. 21 Bom. L. R. 308 = 50 Ind.

Clause (a).—Where reference is to be made to an "arbitrator or umpire" it means a reference to a single arbitrator. (1892) 1 Q. B. at p. 141 A. C.

Clause (b).—An arbitrator who hesitates to act without the order of the Judge can not be said to refuse to act. (1892) 1 Q. B. D. 81. Person named in contract refusing to act is arbitrator is no ground for refusing to enforce arbitration. 140 Ind. Cas. 626 A. I. R. 1933 Srd 73. Reference does not become infructuous on death of parties to reference. A. I. R. 1933 Srd 115 = 114 Ind. Cas. 42 = A. I. R. 1933 Srd 167.

Clause (c).—Where an umpire has been appointed, the award must be made by all of them (1895) 1 Q. B. 567 and (1914) A. C. 651 P. C. Where the arbitrators have failed to comply with a notice requiring them to appoint an umpire, the Court has power to bring the arbitrators before it for the purpose of ascertaining their views before making the appointment. Taylor v. Denby, (1923) A. C. 666 cited in the Yearly Practice of the Supreme Court, 1921.

Clause (d).—Page 63 L. J. Q. B. 171.

Written notice to appoint.—The words "to appoint" mean to concur in the appointment. (1891) 1 Q. B. 141.

Court may appoint.—When all the requirements of the section are fulfilled, the Court must appoint. In re Eyrre (1891) 1 Q. B. 141; see also A. I. R. 1935.
Oudh 26. The Court can not ask the party to appoint. In re Smith, 25 Q. B. D. 545; see also 76 Ind. Cas. 251.

Sub-section (2).—Vide 71 Ind. Cas. 817=A. I. R. 1924 Lah. 435.

9. Where a submission provides that the reference shall be to two arbitrators, one to be appointed by each party, then, unless a different intention is expressed therein—

(a) if either of the appointed arbitrators refuses to act, or is incapable of acting, or dies, or is removed, the party who appointed him may appoint a new arbitrator in his place;

(b) if, on such a reference, one party fails to appoint an arbitrator, either originally or by way of substitution as aforesaid, for seven clear days after the other party, having appointed his arbitrator, has served the party making default with a written notice to make the appointment, the party who has appointed an arbitrator may appoint that arbitrator to act as sole arbitrator in the reference, and his award shall be binding on both parties as if he had been appointed by consent.

Provided that the Court may set aside any appointment made in pursuance of clause (b) of this section.

S. 9. The section has no application where the reference is to three arbitrators; see also 14 Eq. 555. This section is not expressed in the 30 also clause (b) has no application to a case where the parties by their contract have provided that a different course should be adopted in the event of one of the parties failing to nominate one arbitrator. 44 M. 406=82 Ind. Cas. 245. This section has no application also where the agreement stipulates that in case of non-appointment by any of the parties the Chairman of the Trade Union was to appoint one on behalf of the defaulting party. Soson v. Ranidutt, 49 I. A. 366=27 C. W. N. 660=70 Ind. Cas. 777. The appointment was validly made under clause (b) in Jessop v. Huddersfield Society, 80 L. T. 509; S. S. Den of Ashtoke Co. v. Mitsui & Co Ltd. (1911) 106 L. T. 451. But where one of the parties died the other party cannot apply to the Court to have an arbitrator appointed on the refusal of the executors of the deceased to appoint an arbitrator. In re Percival and Ors. (1885) 2 T. L. R. 150. The arbitrators duly appointed and an agreement in writing James Eldon v. Gurdayal, 76 Ind. Cas. 660, notifies to the other side. B. 775. The Court will not the arbitration will be merely futile and productive of no injury to the party complaining. Farrar v. Cooper, 59 L. J. Ch. 506=49 Ch. D. 323. One party may refuse to appoint an arbitrator, until he is informed by the other party of the nature of the dispute. Ibid. See also May v. Mills, 30 T. L. R. 287. It is not proper to import s. 9 into the contract entered into by the parties themselves to refer disputes to arbitration. A. I. R. 1930 All. 581=126 Ind. Cas. 19=1930 A. L. 244. A dispute between two companies referred to two arbitrators, one by each party appointment and therefore, the other.

Clause (c).—After the arbitrators become functus officio, they have no power to rectify mistake. In re Stringer, (1901) 1 K. B. 105; Morrice v. Palmer, L. R.
11. (r) When the arbitrators or umpire have made their award, they shall Award to be signed and filed. sign it, and shall give notice to the parties of the making and signing thereof, and of the amount of the fees and charges payable to the arbitrators or umpire in respect of the arbitration and award.

(2) The arbitrators or umpire shall, at the request of any party to the submission or any person claiming under him, and upon payment of the fees and charges due in respect of the arbitration and award, and of the costs and charges of filing the award, cause the award, or a signed copy of it, to be filed in the Court, and notice of the filing shall be given to the parties by the arbitrators or umpire.

(3) Where the arbitrators or umpire state a special case under section 10, clause (b), the Court shall deliver its opinion thereon; and such opinion shall be added to, and shall form part of, the award.

Sign—An award under this section must be in writing and signed. Laljee v. Tewari, 82 Ind. Cas. 802; Cotha v. Thatha, 5 Ind. Cas. 374=7 M. L. T. 355. A decision contrary to law or fact does not vitiate an award. (1891) A. C. 39.
15. (1) An award on a submission, on being filed in the Court in accordance with the foregoing provisions, shall (unless the Court remits it to the reconsideration of the arbitrators or umpire, or sets it aside) be enforceable as if it were a decree of the Court.

(2) An award may be conditional or in the alternative.

Illustration.

A dispute concerning the ownership of a diamond ring is referred to arbitration. The award may direct that the party in possession shall pay the other party Rs. 1,000, the said sum to be reduced to Rs. 5 if the ring is returned within fourteen days.

Scope—The necessity of obtaining a judgment is removed by this section. Selby v. Whitebread, (1917) 1 K. B. 736. The award is not a decree of the Court, it is enforceable as a decree on S. 110 of the Code of Civil Procedure (P. C.) for putting it on the file, that is, the day on which it is received in the Court for that purpose 27 S. L. R. 109= 142 Ind. Cas. 489=A. I. R. 1933 Sind. 78. 16. Where an arbitrator or umpire has misconducted himself, the Court may remove him.

Notes—Cases which justify the revocation of a submission under section 5 or the setting aside of an award under section 14, would justify the removal of an arbitrator under this section.

17. Any order made by the Court under this Act may be made on such terms as to costs or otherwise as the Courts thinks fit.

Notes—Ordinarily the Court should provide for costs. Burness v. Youngs (1898) 1 Ch. 414. But the Court may also leave the question of costs to the arbitrator under certain circumstances. Airid v. Bristol Corporation, 28 T. L. R. 278. As regards the order for costs vide. Taylor v. Denny, (1912) W. N. 186 (H. L.); In re Holliday, (1885) 20 Q. B. D. 609; Gregson v. Armstrong, (1894) 10 L. 18. The forms set forth in the second schedule, or forms similar thereto, with such variations as the circumstances of each case may require, may be used for the respective purposes there mentioned, and, if used, shall not be called in question.

19. Where any party to a submission to which this Act applies, or any person claiming under him, commences any legal proceedings against any other party to the submission, or any person claiming under him, in respect of any matter may, at any time taking any other st should not be referred in accordance with the submission and that the applicant was, at the time when the proceedings were commenced, and still remains, ready and willing to do all things necessary to the proper conduct of the arbitration, may make an order staying the proceedings.

Scope—Where the object of the suit was to impeach the validity of the arbitration clause in the contract, and the suit was not in respect of any matter agreed to be referred to arbitration, the provisions of this section do not apply.

(See Section 6)

Provisions to be implied in Submissions

I. If no other mode of reference is provided, the reference shall be to a single arbitrator.

II. If the reference is to two arbitrators, the two arbitrators may appoint an umpire at any time within the period during which they have power to make an award.

III. The arbitrators shall make their award in writing within three months after entering on the reference, or after having been called on to act by notice in writing from any party to the submission, or on or before any later day to which the arbitrators, by any writing signed by them, may, from time to time, enlarge the time for making the award.

IV. If the arbitrators have allowed their time or extended time to expire without making an award, or have delivered to any party to the submission or to the umpire, a notice in writing stating that they cannot agree, the umpire may forthwith enter on the reference in lieu of the arbitrators.

V. The umpire shall make his award within one month after the original or extended time appointed for making the award of the arbitrators has expired, or on or before any later day to which the same, by him, may, through them being in force, in relation to the arbitrators within their possession or power respectively which may be required or called for, and do all other things which, during the proceedings on the reference, the arbitrators or umpire may require.

* I of 1877.
† Section 23 has been substituted by Act 6 of 1900, s. 47.
‡ The words within the quotations have been substituted by Act 11 of 1923.
VII. The witnesses on the reference shall, if the arbitrators or umpire think fit, be examined on oath.

VIII. The award to be made by the arbitrators or umpire shall be final and binding on the parties and the persons claiming under them respectively.

IX. The costs of the reference and award shall be in the discretion of the arbitrators or umpire, who may direct to and by whom, and in what manner, those costs or any part thereof shall be paid, and may tax or settle the amount of costs to be so paid or any part thereof, and may award costs to be paid as between solicitor and client.

THE BANKERS’ BOOKS EVIDENCE ACT, 1891.

ACT NO. XVIII OF 1891.

Received the G. G.’s Assent on the 1st October, 1891.

An Act to amend the Law of Evidence with respect to Bankers’ Books.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Law of Evidence with respect to Bankers’ Books; It is hereby enacted as follows:

Title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called The Bankers’ Books Evidence Act, 1891.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India†;

Notes.—This Act is based on English Bankers’ Books Evidence Act, 1879 (42 Vict. c. 11). The reason of its enactment is thus stated: “It is sometime since the Imperial Parliament recognised the great inconvenience which is caused to bankers from being required to produce their books in Courts of Justice. In the first place, these books are usually of great size and weight and in the second place, they are required for entering the daily transactions of the bank. Facilities were provided for proving the contents of the bankers' books by means of certified copies, and in the year 1891 an Act was passed for British India upon the same lines.—Statement of Objects and Reasons of Act XII of 1900.

* Here specify the Court.
† Certain words after this repealed by Act X of 1914 have been omitted.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context—

[(1) * "Company" means a company registered under any of the enactments relating to companies for the time being in force in the United Kingdom or in any of the Colonies or dependencies thereof or in British India or incorporated by an Act of Parliament or of the Governor-General in Council, or by Royal Charter or Letters Patent ;]

(a) "Bank" and "banker" mean—

(b) any partnership or individual to whom the books of the provisions of this Act shall have been extended as hereinafter provided,

[(c) any Post Office Savings Bank or Money-order office ;]

(3) "bankers' books" include ledgers, day-books, cash-books, account-books and all other books used in the ordinary business of a bank :

(4) "legal proceeding" means any proceeding or inquiry in which evidence is or may be given, and includes an arbitration :

(5) "the Court" means the person or persons before whom a legal proceeding is held or taken :

(6) "Judge" means a Judge of a High Court :

(7) "trial" means any hearing before the Court at which evidence is taken :

and

(8) "certified copy" means a copy of any entry in the books of a bank, together with a certificate written at the foot of such copy that it is a true copy of such entry, that such entry is contained in one of the ordinary books of the bank and was made in the usual and ordinary course of business, and that such book is still in the custody of the bank, such certificate being dated and subscribed by the principal accountant or manager of the bank with his name and official title.

Company.—This definition was added by Act XII of 1900. The original definition of Company was too narrow. It failed to provide for banking companies carrying on business in the country but registered or incorporated in the United Kingdom, and in the case of Empress v. Patrick McGuire, 4 C W N. 433 (F. B.) it was discovered that the entries in the books of Delhi and London Bank could not be proved by copies. This definition does not include foreign banks unless they are included by notification issued under section 3.—Vide Statement of Objects and Reasons of Act XII of 1900.

Bank and Banker.—In the English Act the definitions of Bank and Banker are thus given:—"In this Act the expressions 'bank' and 'banker' mean any person, persons, partnership or company carrying on the business of bankers and having only made a return to the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, and also Savings Banks" certified under the Act relating to Savings Banks, and also Post Office Savings Bank. As regards whether the Loan Register of a Public Debt office is a banker's book vide Chand v. Boistab, 31 C. 284 = 8 C. W. N. 125.

Bankers' Books.—The definition is taken from the English Act.

Court.—A Magistrate before whom criminal proceedings are pending is a Court. R. v. Kinghorn, (1908) 2 K. B. 949 Vide s. 9 of that Act. See also the definition of legal proceedings—vide s. 10.

Certified copy—Vide Chand v. Boistab, 31 C 284 = 8 C W. N. 125

* The definition of "Company" has been substituted for the original one by the Bankers' Books Evidence Act (XII of 1900), s. 2.

To sub-s (2) of s. 2, cl (c) has been added by s 2 of the Bankers' Books Evidence Act (1 of 1893).
3. The Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, extend the provisions of the Act to the books of any partnership or individual carrying on the business of bankers within the territories under its administration, and keeping a set of not less than three ordinary account books, namely, a cash-book, a day-book or journal, and a ledger, and may in like manner rescind any such notification.

Notes.—The Local Government may include all foreign banks under the Act by virtue of the power of notification given under this section.

4. Subject to the provisions of this Act, a certified copy of any entry in a bankers' book shall in all legal proceedings be received as prima facie evidence of the existence of such entry, and shall be admitted as evidence of the matters, transactions and accounts therein recorded in every case where, and to the same extent as, the original entry itself is now by law admissible, but not further or otherwise.

Notes.—This section corresponds to section 3, 4 and 5 of the English Act. Before certified copy of any bank is admissible in evidence, it must be proved that the bank is one to which the provisions of the Bankers' Books Evidence Act apply. Unless that is proved, certified copies of entries in their books ought not to be admitted in evidence. Empress v. Patrick McGuire, 4 C. W. N. 433 (F. D.). This section lays down that a certified copy of any entry in a bankers' book shall be received as prima facie evidence of the existence of any such entry. The term "certified copy" is defined in clause (8) of section 2. According to that definition the required statement should be subscribed by the ou a d

5. No officer of a bank shall in any legal proceeding, in which officer of bank is not a party, be compellable to produce any banker's book the contents of which can be proved under this Act, or to appear as a witness to prove the matters, transactions and accounts therein recorded, unless by order of the Court or a Judge made for special cause.

Notes.—A banker is only exonerated by this section from personal attendance in Court when he complies with the provision of section 4. Emnott v. Star Newspaper Co., 62 L. J. Q. B. 77. Except when the bank is a party, this section exempts the banker from being compelled to produce any book that can be proved by a copy or to appear as a witness unless specially ordered to do so.

6. (1) On the application of any party to a legal proceeding, the Court or Judge may order that such party to inspect and take copies of a banker's book for any of the proceeding, or may order the bank to prepare and produce a further certificate that no other entries are to be found in bank relevant to the matters in issue in such proceeding; certificate shall be dated and subscribed in manner here reference to certified copies.
(2) An order under this or the preceding section may be made either with or without summoning the bank, and shall be served on the bank three clear days (exclusive of bank holidays) before the same is to be obeyed, unless the Court or Judge shall otherwise direct.

(3) The bank may at any time before the time limited for obedience to any such order as aforesaid either offer to produce their books at the trial or give notice of their intention to show cause against such order, and thereupon the same shall not be enforced without further order.

Application—An application may be made ex parte. Arnott v. Hayes, 36 Ch. D. 731. But a notice should be issued. Davy v. White, 53 L. J. Q. B. 275; A. I. R. 1932 Bom. 428 = 34 Bom. L. R. 743 = 141 Ind. Cas. 870. So where a party desires an order, under this section on his own behalf, the Court ought to grant it ex parte; but where he applies against the other party the Court ought not to make the order without notice to the other party. Tricunlal v. Lakhmiadas, 5 Bom. L. R. 865. The power under this section is discretionary (Emmott v. Star Newspaper, 62 L. J. Q. B. 77) and should be exercised with great caution (Arnott v. Hayes, 36 Ch. D. 731; South Staffordshire Tramways Co v. Ebb smith, 2 Q. B. 669) and on sufficient grounds only. [Perry v. Phosphor Bronze Co, (1894) 71 L. T. 854]—Yearly Practice, 1921, p. 469. But where the Court is not satisfied that the application is not for the purpose of obtaining inspection beyond what is allowed under the ordinary procedure, the Court ought to refuse the application under the section. Tricunlal v. Lakhmiadas, 5 Bom. L. R. 865. This section applies to all books, even though not in daily use. Asylum for Idiots v. Handsides, 22 T. L. R. 573. Accounts of persons not parties to the litigation can also be inspected. Harvard v. Beal, 23 Q. B. D. 1. But such inspection should be allowed with great caution. Pollock v. Earle, (1898) 1 Ch. 1. An order under this section is not open to revision, P. L. R. (1909) 237. Order under this section should not be passed ex parte. Notice to other party should be given. 141 Ind. Cas. 870 = 34 Bom. L. R. 743 = A. I. R. 1932 Bom. 428.

7. (1) The costs of any application to the Court or a Judge under or for the purposes of this Act and the costs of anything done or to be done under an order of the Court or a Judge made under or for the purposes of this Act shall be in the discretion of the Court or Judge, who may further order such costs or any part thereof to be paid to any party by the bank if they have been incurred in consequence of any fault or improper delay on the part of the bank.

(2) Any order made under this section for the payment of costs to or by a bank may be enforced as if the bank were a party to the proceeding.

(3) Any order under this section awarding costs may, on application to any Court of Civil Jurisdiction designated in the order, be executed by such Court as if the order were a decree for money passed by itself:

Notes—This section corresponds to section 8 of the English Act.

THE INDIAN BAR COUNCILS ACT, 1926.

ACT NO. XXXVIII OF 1926.

(PASSED BY THE INDIAN LEGISLATURE.)

Received the assent of the Governor General on the 9th September, 1926.

An Act to provide for the constitution of Bar Councils in British India and for other purposes.

Whereas it is expedient to provide for the constitution and incorporation of Bar Councils for certain Courts in British India, to confer powers and impose duties on such Bar Councils, and to consolidate and amend the law relating to legal practitioners entitled to practise in such Courts; It is hereby enacted as follows:

Bar Councils.—This Act contemplates different Bar Councils. The reason of this is thus stated by the Bar Committee: "From a practical point of view nothing is to be gained by setting up a central body which shall prescribe different qualifications for admission to the profession in the different provinces. A central body would necessarily have inadequate knowledge of local conditions and, there are not wanting indications that a provincial Bar would not readily submit to being governed by a body, which would necessarily contain a majority of members insufficiently acquainted with its special needs and difficulties."

Courts.—The word "Courts" is not defined in this Act. It means, however, the highest Courts.

Preliminary.

Short title, extent, application and commencement

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, and shall apply to the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, and at Madras, Bombay, Allahabad, Patna and Rangoon and to such other High Courts within the meaning of Clause (24) of section 3 of the General Clauses Act, 1897 as the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare to be High Courts to which this Act applies.

(3) This section and sections 2, 17, 18 and 19 shall come into force at once; and the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct that the other provisions of this Act, or any provision thereof specified in the notification, shall come into force in respect of any High Court to which this Act applies on such date as he may by the notification appoint.

Commencement of the Act.—So far as the six High Courts mentioned in para. (2) are concerned sections 18 and 19 shall be published by the Government of India in the Gazette for the time being of the part of British India in which the Court operates. The Lahore High Council for the Punjab already Interpretation.

2. In this Act unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "Advocate" means the roll of advocates of a High Court

(b) "Prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act.

Notes.—These definitions are for the purposes of the Act. Unless there be any repugnancy in the subject or context these meanings are to be applied.

Advocate.—According to clause (4) of section 3 of the General Clauses Act, a barrister means a barrister of England or Ireland, or a member of the Faculty of Advocates in Scotland. But an Advocate under this section means an advocate in the roll of advocates of a High Court under the provision of this Act.

Advocate-General.—This definition is for the purpose of this Act and it should not be extended to other Acts. Advocate-General includes acting Advocate-General 34 Bom. L. R. 71 (F. B.).

Constitution of Bar Councils.

3. (1) For every High Court a Bar Council shall be constituted in the manner hereinafter provided.

(2) Every Bar Council so constituted shall be a body corporate having perpetual succession and a common seal with power to acquire and hold property, both movable and immovable, and to contract, and shall by the name of the Bar Council of the High Court for which it has been constituted sue and be sued.

Every High Court.—A Council can be constituted for every High Court and not for every province.

Body Corporate.—It is a corporation aggregate like a trade union and is created by this Act. Perpetual succession, a common seal and right to acquire and hold property are incidental to all corporations. "A corporation aggregate" says Lord Coke, is only an abstraction and rests only in intendment and consideration of law. It is invisible and immortal; it has no soul, neither is it subject to the imbecilities of the body."

Composition of Bar Councils.

4. (1) Every Bar Council shall consist of fifteen members, of whom—

(a) one shall be the Advocate-General;

(b) four shall be persons nominated by the High Court, of whom not more than two may be Judges of that Court; and

(c) ten shall be elected by the advocates of the High Court from amongst their number.

(2) Of the elected members of every Bar Council not less than five shall be persons who have for not less than ten years been entitled as of right to practise in the High Court for which the Bar Council has been constituted.

(3) Of the elected members of the Bar Council to be constituted for the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and at Bombay such proportion as the High Court may direct in each case shall be persons who have, for such minimum period as the High Court may determine, been entitled to practise in the High Court in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, and such number as may be fixed by the High Court out of the said proportion shall be barristers of England or Ireland or members of the Faculty of Advocates in Scotland.

(4) There shall be a Chairman and Vice-Chairman of each Bar Council elected by the Council in such manner as may be prescribed:

Provided that the Advocates General of Bengal, Madras and Bombay shall be Chairman ex-officio, respectively, of the Bar Councils constituted for the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, at Madras and at Bombay.

Sub-Clause (b).—"We think it desirable to indicate clearly that Judges of the High Court may be represented on the Bar Council, and have provided that two out of the four persons nominated by the Court may be Judges."—Report of the Select Committee.

Composition of Bar Councils.—The Council should consist of 15 members, four of whom should be nominated by the High Court, including, where possible, the Advocate-General or the Government Advocate and the Government Pleader. The remaining eleven, of whom six should be advocates of at least standing, should be elected by advocates of the High Court, provided in Calcutta and Bombay the High Courts should determine how many should be advocates entitled to practise on the original side. The nominated members should ordinarily be advocates, but it should be left to the High Courts to nominate Judges past and present—Statement of Objects and Reasons, Advocates-General—"We think it is essential, in view of the status of the Advocates General in the Presidency-towns, that they should be made ex-officio Chairman of the Bar Councils to which they respectively belong."—Report the Select Committee.

5. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in clause (c) of sub-section (1) of section 4, the elected members of the first Bar Council constituted under this Act for any High Court shall be elected by and from amongst the advocates, vakils and pleaders who are on the date of the election entitled as of right to practise in the High Court.

(2) The terms of office of the nominated and elected members of any such first Bar Council shall be three years from the date of the first meeting of the Council.

 Advocates, vakils and pleaders, etc.—The attorneys are excluded from the operation of this Act as the majority supported the view that the attorneys should have a complete separate organisation Vide Bar Committee's Report.

Tenure of Office.—The life of the first Bar Council is three years from the date of the first meeting of the council and not from the date of election

Power to make rules regarding constitution and procedure of Bar Councils. 6. (1) Rules, consistent with this Act, may be made to provide for the following matters, namely:

(a) the manner in which elections of members of the Bar Council shall be held; the method of determining, in accordance with the provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 4, the candidates who shall be declared to have been elected; the manner in which the result of elections shall be published; and the manner in which and the authority by which doubts and disputes as to the validity of an election shall be finally decided;
(b) the terms of office of nominated and elected members of the Council;
(c) the filling of casual vacancies in the Council;
(d) the convening of meetings of the Council, and the quorum necessary for the transaction of business thereat;
(e) the manner of election and the respective terms of office of the Chairman, in cases where the Chairman is to be elected, and of the Vice-Chairman; and
(f) any matter incidental or ancillary to any of the foregoing matters.

(2) The first rules under this section shall be made by the High Court, but the Bar Council may thereafter, with the previous sanction of the High Court, add to, amend or rescind any rules so made.

(3) No election of a member or members to the Council shall be called in question on the ground that due notice thereof has not been given to any person entitled to vote thereat, if notice of the date fixed for the election has, not less than thirty days before that date, been published in the local official Gazette of the province, or of each province, as the case may be, in which the High Court exercises jurisdiction.

(4) Rules made under clause (b) of sub-section (1) may provide for the retirement of members from office by rotation and for the manner in which the order of such retirement shall be determined.

Under this section provision is made that the first rules shall be made by the High Court, thereafter changes can be made, with the previous sanction of the High Court, in the way of amendment or addition by the Bar Councils themselves.—Vide Proceedings in Council; see also A. I. R. 1935 All. 295

Power of Bar Councils to make bye-laws

7. The Bar Council may make bye-laws consistent with this Act and any rules made thereunder to provide for any of the following matters, namely:

(a) the appointment of such ministerial officers and servants as the Bar Council may deem necessary, and the pay and allowances and other conditions of service of such officers and servants; and

(b) the appointment and constitution of Committees of the Council, the procedure of such Committees, and the determination of the powers or duties of the Council which may be delegated to such Committees.

Notes.—This section authorises the Bar Council which owes its origin to a Statute to make bye-laws consistent with this Act and consistent with the rules made under this Act. These bye-laws may deal with the appointment of ministerial officers and servants of the Bar Council as well as the appointment and constitution of committees. "A bye-law must relate to subjects within the scope of the corporate powers. It must not be ultra vires. In other words, it must be confined to the limits of the subject-matter handed over by the Legislature and dealt with by the subordinate authority and must not impose any restrictions not authorised by the language of the Statute." Aiyangar's Municipal Corporation Vol. III, p. 411. A bye-law must not be repugnant to the general provisions of the Act. If it violates any of the terms of the sections of the Act it is ultra vires. Narain v. Corporation of Calcutta, 57 C 545 = 14 C W N. 614; see also London's (Chamberlain) Case, 5 Co. Rep. 622, 63 (a); Corporation of Calcutta v. Jadub, 20 C. 605; Ganga Narain v. Municipal Board of Cawnpore, 19 A 513; Mahesh v. Basanta, 10 C. W. N. 667; Surat City Municipality v. Tyabji, 32 B. 488; Bens v. Mota, 21 C 837; Tribhuvan v. Ahmedabad Municipality, 27 B. 221.

Admission and enrolment of advocates.

8. (1) No person shall be entitled as of right to practise in any High Court, unless his name is entered in the roll of the advocates of the High Court maintained under this Act:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to any attorney of the High Court.

(2) The High Court shall prepare and maintain a roll of advocates of the High Court in which shall be entered the names of—

(a) all persons who were, as advocates, vakils or pleaders, entitled as of right to practise in the High Court immediately before the date on which this section comes into force in respect thereof; and in respect of enrolment the stamp-duty, Act, 1899* and a fee, payable to the case of the person referred to in clause (a), and in other cases such amount as may be prescribed.

(b) all other persons who have been admitted to be advocates of the High Court under this Act:

(3) Entries in the roll shall be made in the order of seniority, and such seniority shall be determined as follows, namely:

(a) all such persons as are referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (2) shall be entered first in the order in which they were respectively entitled to seniority immediately before the date on which this section comes into force in respect of the High Court; and

(b) the seniority of any other person admitted to be an advocate of the High Court under this Act after that date shall be determined by the date of his admission or, if he is a barrister, by the date of his admission or the date on which he was called to the Bar, whichever date is earlier:

Provided that, for the purposes of clause (b) the seniority of a person who before his admission to be an advocate was entitled as of right to practise in another High Court shall be determined by the date on which he became so entitled.

(4) the respective rights of pre-audience of advocates of the High Court shall be determined by seniority:

Provided that the Advocate-General shall have pre-audience over all other advocates, and King's Council shall have pre-audience over all advocates except the Advocate-General.

*(s) The High Court shall issue a certificate of enrolment to every person enrolled under this section.

*(b) The High Court shall send to the Bar Council a copy of the roll as prepared under this section, and shall thereafter communicate to the Bar Council all alterations in, and additions to, the roll as soon as the name have been made.

*(7) The Bar Council shall enter in the copy of the roll all alterations and additions so communicated to it.

Practice.—A person appearing, pleading or acting on his own behalf or by his recognised agent cannot be said to practise.

Clause (2) In accordance with the opinion expressed by several High Courts, the preparation and maintenance of the roll of advocates is entrusted to the High Court instead of to the Bar Council. Provision has also been made for the maintenance of the roll by the High Court and for the maintenance of a copy of it by the Bar Council, principally in order that the election roll of persons entitled to elect members to the Bar Council may be kept up to date. In order to enable this to be done the duty of furnishing a copy of the roll to the Bar Council and of communicating to it all alterations and additions as they are made is imposed upon the High Court—Report of the Select Committee.

Qualification and admission of advocates.

previous sanction of the High Court, make rules to regulate the admission of persons to be advocates of the High Court:

Provided that such rules shall not limit or in any way affect the power of the of the foregoing:

(a) the qualifications to be possessed by persons applying for admission as advocates;

(b) the form and manner in which applications shall be made to the High Court for admission;

(c) the giving of notice by the High Court to the Bar Council of all such applications;

(d) the hearing by the High Court of any objection preferred on behalf of the Bar Council to the admission of any applicant; and

(e) the charging of fees payable to the Bar Council in respect of enrolment.

Rules made under this section shall provide that no woman shall be disqualified for admission to be an advocate by reason only of her sex.

Nothing in this section or in any other provision of this Act shall be deemed to limit or in any way affect the powers of the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and at Bombay to prescribe the qualifications to be possessed by persons applying to practise in those High Courts respectively.

* Renumbered by Act 13 of 1927.
in the exercise of their original jurisdiction or the powers of those High Courts to grant or refuse, as they think fit, any such application "or to prescribe the conditions under which such persons shall be entitled to practise or plead".*

Clause (1).—Power is given to the Bar Councils to make rules for admission of persons as advocates of the High Court. But previous sanction must be obtained of the High Court before making such rules. Bar Council should treat applications for admission as on its merits. Bar Council must be convinced that certain member of the profession does not deserve to be enrolled as advocate before refusing admission. 124 Ind. Cas. 654 = A. I. R. 1930 Oudh 121. Diploma or certificate for having taken degree should be attached with application. A. I. R. 1935 Sind 105. Before application is made receipt of payment of fees is necessary. A. I. R. 1935 Sind 150 (F. B.).

Proviso.—But the High Court has the power to refuse admission to any person otherwise qualified if it considers that he would be on other grounds an undesirable addition to the Bar.—Report of the Select Committee.

Clause (2).—This clause lays down the matters, respecting which rules may be made.

Clause (3).—In the case of Miss Regina Guha, 21 C. W. N. 74 (F. B.) = 24. C. L. J. 352, a Full Bench of the Calcutta High Court held that a woman was not entitled to practise as a pleader. This disability was, however, taken away by Act 23 of 1923. This clause lays down the law as stated in Act 23 of 1923.

Clause (4).—"We have added a new sub-clause (4) to this clause to meet a criticism advanced by the High Court of Judicature at Bombay that under the Bill as introduced, the powers of the High Court in respect of admissions to the Original Side were not sufficiently defined. The new sub-clause is intended to make it clear that the powers of the High Courts at Calcutta and Bombay to regulate absolutely the qualifications for admission to practice on the original side will remain unpurged."—Report of the Select Committee.

Rule 10 of the Appellate Side Rules of the Bombay High Court is not ultra vires. Advocates on the Appellate Side did not come within the definition of pleader as defined in s 4 of the Cr. Pro. Code. 58 B 455 = 36 Bom. L. R. 1 = A. I. R. 1934 Bom. 70 (F. B.).

Miscellaneous.

Punishment of advocate for misconduct.

10. (1) The High Court may, in the manner hereinafter provided, reprimand, suspend or remove from practice any advocate of the High Court whom it finds guilty of professional or other misconduct.

(2) Upon receipt of a complaint made to it by any Court or by the Bar Council or by any other person that any such advocate has been guilty of misconduct, the High Court shall, if it does not summarily reject the complaint, refer the case for inquiry either to the Bar Council or, after consultation with the Bar Council, to the Court of a District Judge (hereinafter referred to as a District Court) and may, of its own motion so refer any case in which it has otherwise reason to believe that any such advocate has been so guilty.

Professional or other misconduct.—"It has been pointed out that the expression 'unprofessional' conduct does not cover all the cases in which it may be necessary to take disciplinary action against advocates, and we have made some drafting alterations in this clause to meet this point".—Report of the Select Committee.

Clause (2)—"Some misunderstanding appears to have arisen as to the object of providing for a reference of cases of misconduct to subordinate courts. Such a section as one in a Tribunal of the Bar Council will not in all cases be in a ters which have occurred in the mofussil, between Subordinate Courts and Bar Council Court, but we have provided that the High Council in any case before referring it to such a Court; and we have further provided that Courts to which reference may be made shall be the Courts of District Judges,"—Report of the Select Committee. As regards when Court is entitled to dismiss petition summarily, vide 34 Bom. L R. 443 = A I R. 1932 Bom. 199 = 138 Ind Cas. 593. As regards correct procedure under this section, vide A I R. 1931 Oudh. 161 (F. B) = 8 O W N. 267 = 32 Cr. L J. 625; A I R. 1931 All. 580 (S. B) = 1931, A I J. 628. High Court generally accepts finding of Bar Council but it is not bound to do so. A I R. 1935 All. 425 (S. B).

11. (1) Where any case is referred for inquiry to the Bar Council under section 10, the case shall be inquired into by a Committee of the Bar Council (hereinafter referred to as the Tribunal).

(2) The Tribunal shall consist of not less than three and not more than five members of the Bar Council appointed for the purpose of the inquiry by the Chief Justice or Chief Judge of the High Court, and one of the members so appointed shall be appointed to be the president of the Tribunal.

Tribunal.—By this section the Chief Justice of the High Court or the Chief Judge of the High Court is empowered to appoint members of the Tribunal from amongst the members of the Bar Council. Such Tribunal must not consist of more than 5 members and less than 3 members. All enquiries to be made under section 10 are to be referred to such Tribunals. The President of the Tribunal shall also be appointed by the Bar Council. Under section 12, sub section (3) the Advocate-General shall be given an opportunity of being heard before orders are passed by the High Court against an advocate. So it is submitted that the Advocate-General should not be appointed a member of the Tribunal by the Court, although he is the ex-officio President of the Bar Council.

Powers of English Bar Councils—The Inns of Courts are voluntary Societies, and the decisions of the benchers with regard to the disbanding and disbar their members are final and conclusive, subject only to an appeal to the Lord Chancellor and the Judges as Visitors. Manisty v. Kenely, 24 W. R. 918; see also Neate v. Dennan, 43 L J. Ch. 409.

12. (1) The High Court shall make rules to prescribe the procedure to be followed by Tribunals and by District Courts, respectively, in the conduct of inquiries referred under section 10.

(2) The finding of a Tribunal on an inquiry referred to the Bar Council under section 10 shall be forwarded to the High Court through the Bar Council, and the finding of a District Court on such an inquiry shall be forwarded direct to the High Court which shall cause a copy thereof to be sent to the Bar Council.

On receipt of the finding, the High Court shall fix a date for the hearing so fixed to be given to the advocate Advocate-General, and shall afford the advocate concerned and the Bar Council and the Advocate-General an opportunity of being heard before orders are passed in the case.
(4) The High Court may thereafter either pass such final orders in the case as it thinks fit, or refer it back for further inquiry to the Tribunal through the Bar Council or to the District Court, as the case may be, and, upon receipt of the finding after such further inquiry, deal with the case in the manner provided in sub-section (3) and pass final orders thereon.

(5) In passing final orders the High Court may pass such order as regards the payment of the costs of the inquiry and of the hearing in the High Court as it thinks fit.

(6) The High Court may, of its own motion or on application made to it in this behalf, review any order passed under sub-section (4) or sub-section (5) and maintain, vary or rescind the same, as it thinks fit.

(7) When any advocate is reprimanded or suspended under this Act, a record of the punishment shall be entered against his name in the roll of advocates of the High Court, and when an advocate is removed from practice his name shall forthwith be struck off the roll; and the certificate of any advocate so suspended or removed shall be recalled.

Notes.—"The alterations which we have made in this clause provide, firstly that the Advocate-General shall have notice of, and shall be entitled to appear at the hearing of, every case before the High Court whether the inquiry has been made by a Tribunal of the Bar Council or by a District Court, and, secondly, that the High Court shall have the power to review its orders. This power will enable it to accept a belated apology, if it thinks fit, and remit or reduce the punishment."—Report of the Select Committee. 13. (1) For the purposes of any such inquiry as aforesaid, a Tribunal or a District Court shall have the same powers as are vested in a Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908* in respect of the following matters, namely:

(a) enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him upon oath,
(b) compelling the production of documents, and
(c) issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses:

Provided that the Tribunal shall not have power to require the attendance of the presiding officer of any Court save with the previous sanction of the High Court or, in the case of an officer of a Criminal or Revenue Court, of the Local Government.

(2) Every such inquiry shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of sections 193 and 228 of the Indian Penal Code; *and a Tribunal shall be deemed to be a Civil Court for the purposes of sections 480, 482 and 485 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.†

(3) For the purpose of enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him upon oath or of compelling the production of documents or of issuing commissions—any Civil Court having jurisdiction in the any summons or other process for the attendance of a witness or the production of a document required by the Tribunal, or any commission which it desires to issue, and the Civil Court shall serve the person with such commission, as the case may be, and may enforce any attendance or production before itself.

or a District Court in any such inquiry as for the purposes of section 132 of the be provisions of that section shall apply accordingly.

Clauso (1)—By this clause the Tribunal is invested with the powers of Civil Court so far as enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him upon oath, compelling the production of documents and issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses are concerned. The English Inns of Court which are voluntary societies do not possess these powers. They can disbar a member and exist. Hudson v. This provision should be applied to the High Court or of the Government or the area may be before any officer summoned to the presiding practitioners Act now 225

Miscellaneous.

14 (1) An advocate shall be entitled as of right to practise—

(a) subject to the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 9, in the High Court of which he is an advocate, and

(b) save as otherwise provided by sub-section (2) or by or under any other law for the time being in force in any other Court in British India and before any other Tribunal or person legally authorised to take evidence, and

(c) before any other authority or person before whom such advocate is by or under the law for the time being in force entitled to practise

(2) Where rules have been made by any High Court within the meaning of Act, 1897, or in the case of a Court constituted under this Act, the conditions subject to which to practise in the High Court, such advocates shall not be entitled to practise therein otherwise than subject to such conditions.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to limit or in any way affect the power of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal or of the High Court of Judicature at Bombay to make rules determining the persons who shall be entitled respectively to plead and to act in the High Court in the exercise of its original jurisdiction.

Any other Court in British India — “We think the provisions of the Bill as introduced were somewhat too stringent in refusing to allow an advocate of one High Court to appear before another unless rules had been made by the latter Court or by the Bar Council, where such exists, regulating the conditions of such appearances. We think it reasonable to give advocates the right of appearing in other High Courts unconditionally unless conditions are imposed by such rules, and we have redrafted the clause accordingly” — Report of the Select Committee.

Sub-clause (e) — “We have also made an addition to sub-clause (i) to provide for certain cases which have been brought to our notice in which legal practitioners are at present entitled to appear before certain public officers or bodies not legally authorised to take evidence.” — Report of the Select Committee

15. A Bar Council may, with the previous sanction of the High Court for which it is constituted, make rules consistent with this Act to provide for and regulate any of the following matters, namely:

(a) the rights and duties of the advocates of the High Court and their discipline and professional conduct;
(b) the conditions subject to which advocates of other High Courts may be permitted to practise in the High Court;
(c) the giving of facilities for legal education and training and the holding and conduct of examinations by the Bar Council;
(d) the charging of fees payable to the Bar Council in respect of the enjoyment of educational facilities provided, or of the right to appear at examinations held, by the Bar Council;
(e) the investment and management of the funds of the Bar Council;

and

(f) any other matter in respect of which the High Court may require rules to be made under this section.

Scope — This section makes provision for the rights and duties of the advocates of the High Court and their discipline and professional conduct the conditions subject to which advocates of other High Courts may be permitted to practise in the High Court as well as the giving of facilities for legal education and training and the holding and conduct of examinations by the Bar Council. The Bar Council may also charge fees for the educational facilities provided for the students as well as fees for appearing at the examination held by the Bar Council. Effect has also been given in clause (e) to a suggestion that provision should be made for rules to regulate the investment and general management of the funds of the Bar Council. Clause (f) has been added so that rules may be made in respect of other matters which experience may reveal as requiring regulation. Vide Report of the Select Committee

16. The High Court shall make rules for fixing and regulating by taxation or otherwise the fees payable as costs by any party in respect of the fees of his adversary's advocate upon all proceedings in the High Court or in any Court subordinate thereto.

Notes — Under this section the High Court to make rules for fixing and regulating by taxation or otherwise the fees payable as costs by any party in respect of the fees of his adversary’s advocate. This section makes no mention whether reference to be made to the Bar Council or not.

Payment of Fees to Party’s own legal advisers—Before the passing of the Legal Practitioners (Fees) Act, 1926, an agreement by a client to pay a certain amount to his pleader as fees for professional service can not be enforced by the latter when it has not been embodied in writing signed by the client and filed in the proper Court in the manner provided by section 28 of the Legal Practitioners’ Act, even when the amount agreed to be paid is not in excess of that prescribed under the Rules framed under section 27 of the Act for payment by a party to his opponent in respect of fees of the pleader employed by his adversary Srimati Kamini Devi v Khetre Mohan Ganguli, 15 C. W. N. 45 = 13 Ind. Cas. 43 = 15 C. L. J 660; see also Julián v. Cowasjee, 33 Ind. Cas. 107; Rajah v. D. V. Narasimura, 29 Ind. Cas 763. But now see Act 21 of 1926.

17. No suit or other legal proceeding shall lie against a Bar Council or any Committee, Tribunal or member of a Bar Council for any act in good faith done or intended to be done in pursuance of the provisions of this Act or of any rule made thereunder.

Notes—‘We have inserted this clause in the usual form to provide indemnity for bona fide action taken by Bar Councils and Committees, Tribunals and members of Bar Councils.”—Report of the Select Committee.

Liability of individual members. Convenor, President, Secretary, or any other officer shall answer to at least Wadiam

18. All suits made under this Act shall be published in the local official Gazette of the province, or of each province, as the case may be, in which the High Court by which or with whose sanction the rules are made exercises jurisdiction.

Notes—This section makes provision for the publication of Rules. These rules are to be published in the local official Gazette or Gazettes of the province or the provinces over which the High Court exercises jurisdiction. The rules of the Bar Council of Calcutta under this section are to be published in the Calcutta as well as in the Assam Gazettes. But publication of rules in local official Gazette is not condition precedent of their coming into force. A. I. R. 1935 All. 295.

19. (1) When sections 8 to 16 come into force in respect of any High Court, any enactment mentioned in the first column of the Schedule which is in force in any province in which the High Court exercises jurisdiction shall, for the purpose of its application to that province, be amended to the extent and in the manner specified in the second column of the Schedule.

(2) When sections 8 to 16 come into force in respect of any High Court of Judicature established by Letters Patent, this Act shall have effect in respect of such Court notwithstanding anything contained in such Letters Patent, and such Letters Patent shall, in so far as they are inconsistent with this Act or any rules made thereunder, be deemed to have been repealed.

(3) When sections 8 to 16 come into force in respect of the High Court of Judicature at Bombay, the Bombay Pleaders’ Act, 1926* except section 7 thereof, shall cease to apply to or in respect of any person enrolled as an advocate of the High Court under this Act, and nothing in that Act shall be deemed to authorise the admission or enrolment of any person as a vakil or pleader of the High Court.

(4) When this Act has come into force in respect of any High Court, any provision of any other enactment or any order, scheme, rule, form or bye-law made thereunder, which was before that date applicable to advocates, vakils or pleaders entitled to practise in such High Court shall, unless such a construction is repugnant to the context or to any provision made by or under this Act, be construed as applying to advocates of the High Court enrolled under this Act.

Notes—The amendments mentioned in the Schedule will be effected in any Province when sections 8 to 16 will come into force in that Province.

THE INDIAN BILLS OF LADING ACT, 1856.

ACT NO. IX OF 1856.

Received the G. G.'s assent on the 11th April, 1856.

An Act to amend the Law relating to Bills of Lading.

Whereas by the custom of merchants a bill of lading of goods being transferable by endorsement, the property in the goods may thereby pass to the endorsee, but nevertheless all rights in respect of the contract contained in the bill of lading continue in the original shipper, or owner, and it is expedient that such rights should pass with the property; and whereas it frequently happens that the goods in respect of which bills of lading purport to be signed have not been laden on board, and it is proper that such bills of lading in the hands of a bona-fide holder for value should not be questioned by the master or other person signing the same, on the ground of the goods not having been laden as aforesaid; it is enacted as follows:

Passed to the endorsee—The endorsement and delivery by the consignee of a bill of lading for valuable consideration to a person not proved to have taken it malafide, transfers to the endorsee according to the intention of the transaction the right and property of the consignee in the goods, freed from any right of the consignor, to stop the goods in transitu. Luckbarrow v. Mason, 5 T. R. 683; 6 East 20.

Application—This Act has been declared to be in force throughout British India except as regards the Scheduled Districts.

1. Every consignee of goods named in a bill of lading, and every endorsee of a bill of lading to whom the property in the goods therein mentioned shall pass, upon or by reason of such consignment or endorsement, shall have transferred to and vested in him all rights of suit, and be subject to the same liabilities in respect of such goods as if the contract contained in the bill of lading had been made with himself.

Notes—The bill of lading remains in force, so long as complete delivery of possession of the goods has not been made to some person entitled to claim them under it. Barber v. Meyerstein v. The East and West India Dock Company. A. I. R. 1928 B. 5.

2. Nothing herein contained shall prejudice or affect any right of stoppage in transitu, or any right to claim freight against the original shipper or owner, or any liability of the consignee or endorsee by reason or in consequence of his being such consignee or endorsee, or of his receipt of the goods by reason or in consequence of such consignment or endorsement.

Notes—There were numerous decisions both in England and America, to the effect that when goods are consigned by the vendor to the vendee, under bills of lading, who took charge of the goods of lading, and took possession of the same, which, by reason of the act of the vendee, the vendor was unable to recover.
3. Every bill of lading in the hands of a consignee or endorsee for valuable consideration, representing goods to have been shipped on board a vessel, shall be conclusive evidence of such shipment as against the master or other person signing the same, notwithstanding that such goods or some part thereof may not have been so shipped, unless such holder of the bill of lading shall have had actual notice at the time of receiving the same that the goods had not in fact been laden on board;

Provided that the master or other person so signing may exonerate himself, in respect of such misrepresentation, by showing that it was caused without any default on his part, and wholly by the fraud of the shipper, or of the holder or some person under whom the holder claims.

Notes—This section of the Bills of Lading Act is limited to the master or the persons signing the bills. In the absence of any proof that the bills of lading were drawn under a misrepresentation without any default on the part of the person signing them, and wholly due to the fault of the shipper or the holder of such bills of lading, the particular marks as shown in the respective bills of lading must be held to have been put on the board. Pohunel v. The Karachi Port Trust, 18 S. L. R. 106 = A. I. R. 1925 Sind. 221.

THE BIRTHS, DEATHS, AND MARRIAGES REGISTRATION ACT, 1886.

ACT VI OF 1886.

RECEIVED THE G.-G.'S ASSENT ON THE 8TH MARCH 1886.

An Act to provide for the voluntary Registration of certain Births and Deaths, for the establishment of Central Registry Offices for keeping Registers of certain Births, Deaths and Marriages, and for certain other purposes.

Whereas it is expedient to provide for the voluntary registration of births and deaths among certain classes of persons, for the more effectual registration of those births and deaths and of the marriages registered under Act III of 1872* or the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872* and of certain marriages registered under the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1865† and for the establishment of general registry offices for keeping registers of those births, deaths, and marriages;

And whereas it is also expedient to provide for the authentication and custody of certain existing registers made otherwise than in the performance of a duty specially enjoined by the law of the country in which the registers were kept, and to declare that copies of the entries in those registers shall be admissible in evidence;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration, Act, 1886; and by

* XV of 1872.
† XV of 1865.
2. This Act extends to the whole of British India, and applies also, within the dominions of Princes and States in India in alliance with Her Majesty, to British subjects in those dominions.

Definitions.

3. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,— "sign" includes mark, when the person making the mark is unable to write his name;

"prescribed" means prescribed by a rule made by the Governor-General in Council under this Act; and

"Registrar of Births and Deaths" means a Registrar of Births and Deaths appointed under this Act.

4. Nothing in this Act, or in any rule made under this Act, shall affect any law heretofore or hereafter passed providing for the registration of births and deaths within particular local areas.

Powers exercisable from time to time.

5. All powers conferred by this Act may be exercised from time to time as occasion requires.

CHAPTER II.

GENERAL REGISTRY OFFICES OF BIRTHS, DEATHS AND MARRIAGES.

Establishment of general registry officers and appointment of Registrars-General.

6. (1) Each Local Government—

(a) shall establish a general registry office for keeping such certified copies of registers of births and deaths registered under this Act, or marriages registered under Act III of 1872 (to provide a form of marriage in certain cases) or the Indian Christian Marriages Act, 1872, as may be applicable to births and deaths at Bombay, under the administration of this Act; and

(b) may appoint a Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories under his administration:

(2) Provided that the Governor of Bombay in Council may, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, establish two general registry offices, and appoint two Registrars-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories under his administration; one of such general registry offices, and of such Registrars General, being established and appointed for Sindh, and the other for the other territories under the administration of the Governor of Bombay in Council.

7. Each Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages, shall cause indexes of all the certified copies of the registers of births and deaths at Bombay, under the Indian Marriages Act, 1872*, or the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1872, as amended by this Act, to be made and kept in his office in the prescribed form.

8. Subject to the payment of the prescribed fees, the indexes so made shall be, at all reasonable times open to inspection by any person entitled to inspect them.

* XV of 1872.
† XV of 1865.
9. A copy of an entry given under the last foregoing section shall be certificated by the Registrar-General of Births, Deaths, or Marriages to be admissible in evidence for the purpose of proving the birth, death, or marriage to which the entry relates.

10. Each Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages, shall exercise a general superintendence over the Registrars of Births and Deaths in the territories for which he is appointed.

CHAPTER III.
REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS.

A.—Application of this Chapter.

Persons whose births and deaths are registrable, shall, in the first instance, be registrable under this Chapter, are the following, namely:

(a) in British India, the members of every race, sect, or tribe to which the Indian Succession Act, 1865,* applies, and in respect of which an order under section 332 of that Act is not for the time being in force, and all persons professing the Christian religion;

(b) in the dominions of Princes and States in India in alliance with Her Majesty, British subjects being members of a like race, sect, or tribe or professing the Christian religion:

(2) But the Local Government, by notification in the official Gazette, may extend the operation of this Chapter to any other class of persons either generally or in any local area.

B.—Registration Establishment.

12. The Local Government may appoint, either by name or by virtue of their office, so many persons as it thinks necessary to be Registrars of Births and Deaths for such local areas within the territories under its administration as it may define, and, if it sees fit, for any class of persons within any part of those territories.

13. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint, either by name or by virtue of their office, so many persons as he thinks necessary to be Registrars of Births and Deaths for such local areas within the dominions of any Prince or State in India in alliance with Her Majesty as he may define, and, if he sees fit, for any class of persons within any part of those dominions.

* "Provided that the powers and functions exercisable by the Governor-General in Council under this section shall, in the case of any such dominions which are within the political charge of a Local Government, be exercised by that Local Government by notification in the Local official Gazette."

14. Every Registrar of Births and Deaths shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

15. (1) The Local Government or the Governor General in Council, as the case may be, may suspend, remove or dismiss any Registrar of Births and Deaths.

* X of 1865, now Act XXXIX of 1925.
† This proviso was added to section 13 by Act 38 of 1920.
‡ XLV of 1850
(2) A Registrar of Births and Deaths may resign by notifying in writing to the Local Government or to the Governor-General in Council, as the case may be, his intention to do so, and, on his resignation being accepted by the Local Government or the Governor-General in Council, he shall be deemed to have vacated his office.

16. (1) Every Registrar of Births and Deaths shall have an office in the local area, or within the part of the territories or dominions, for which he is appointed.

(2) Every Registrar of Births and Deaths, to whom the Local Government may direct this sub-section to apply, shall attend at his office for the purpose of the addition of Registrar of Births and Deaths for the local area or class for which he is appointed, and the days and hours of his attendance.

17. (1) When any Registrar of Births and Deaths to whom the Local Government may direct this section to apply, not being a Registrar of Births and Deaths for a local area in the town of Calcutta, Madras or Bombay, is absent, or when his office is temporarily vacant, any person whom the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages appoints in this behalf, or, in default of such appointment, the Judge of the District Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the Registrar’s office is situate, or such other officer as the Local Government appoints in this behalf, shall be the Registrar of Births and Deaths during such absence or until the Local Government fills the vacancy.

(2) When any such Registrar of Births and Deaths for a local area in the town of Calcutta, Madras or Bombay, is absent or when his office is temporarily vacant, the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages shall report to the Local Government all appointments made by him under this section.

18. The Local Government shall supply every Registrar of Births and Deaths with a sufficient number of register-books of birth and of register-books of deaths, and shall make suitable provision for the preservation of the records connected with the registration of births and deaths.

C.—Mode of Registration.

19. Every Registrar of Births and Deaths, on receipt of notice of birth or death, shall enter the class of the notice is given.

Duty of Registrar to register births and deaths of which notice is given.

Provided that—

(a) If he has reason to believe the notice to be in any respect false, he may refuse to register the birth or death until he receives an order from the Judge of the District Court directing him to make the entry and prescribing the manner in which the entry is to be made; and
(d) he shall not enter in the register the name of any person as father of an illegitimate child, unless at the request of the mother and of the person acknowledging himself to be the father of the child.

Persons authorized to give notice of a birth, namely:

20. Any of the following persons may give notice of a birth, namely:

(a) the father or mother of the child;
(b) any person present at the birth;
(c) any person occupying, at the time of the birth, any part of the house wherein the child was born, and having knowledge of the child having been born in the house;
(d) any medical practitioner in attendance after the birth and having personal knowledge of the birth having occurred;
(e) any person having charge of the child.

Persons authorized to give notice of a death, namely:

21. Any of the following persons may give notice of a death, namely:

(a) any relative of the deceased having knowledge of any of the particulars required to be registered concerning the death;
(b) any person present at the death;
(c) any person occupying, at the time of the death, any part of the house wherein the death occurred, and having knowledge of the deceased having died in the house;
(d) any person in attendance during the last illness of the deceased;
(e) any person who has seen the body of the deceased after death.

22. (1) When an entry of a birth or death has been made by the Registrar of Births and Deaths under section 19, the person giving notice of the birth or death must sign the entry in the register in the presence of the Registrar.

Entry of birth or death to be signed by person giving notice.

"Provided that it shall not be necessary for the person giving notice to attend before the Registrar or to sign the entry in the register if he has given such notice in writing, and has furnished to the satisfaction of the Registrar such evidence of his identity as may be required by any rules made by the Local Government in this behalf."

(2) Until the entry has been so signed, "or the conditions specified in the proviso to sub-section (1) have been complied with" the birth or death shall not be deemed to be registered under this Act.

(3) When the birth of an illegitimate child is registered, and the mother and the person acknowledging himself to be the father of the child jointly request that that person may be registered as the father, the mother and that person must both sign the entry in the register in the presence of the Registrar.

23. The Registrar of Births and Deaths shall, on application made at the time of registering any birth or death by the person giving notice of the birth or death, and on payment by him of the prescribed fee, give to the prescribed form, signed by the Registrar, of the applicant a certificate in having registered the birth or death.

24. (1) Every Registrar of Births and Deaths in British India shall send to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories within which the local area or class for which he is appointed is situate or resides, at the prescribed intervals, a true copy certified by him, in the prescribed form, of all the entries of births and deaths in the register-book kept by him since the last of those intervals;

* The words within quotations have been added by Act IX. of 1911.
Provided that in the case of Registrars of Births and Deaths who are clergymen of the Churches of England, Rome and Scotland the Registrar may, if so directed by his ecclesiastical superior, send the certified copies in the first instance to that superior, who shall send them to the proper Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages.

In this subsection "Church of England" and "Church of Scotland" mean the Church of England and the Church of Scotland as by law established respectively; and "Church of Rome" means the Church which regards the Pope of Rome as its spiritual head.

The provisions of this section shall apply to every Registrar of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories under the direct charge of a Local Government, be sent to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories under such Government.

25. (1) Every Registrar of Births and Deaths shall, on payment of the prescribed fees, at all reasonable times, allow searches to be made in the register-books kept by him, and give a copy of any entry in the same.

(2) Every copy of an entry in a register-book given under this section shall be certified by the Registrar of Births and Deaths and shall be admissible in evidence for the purpose of proving the birth or death to which the entry relates.

26. Notwithstanding anything in section 19, the "Local Government" may make rules authorizing Registrars of Births and Deaths, on conditions and in circumstances to be specified in the rules, to register births and deaths occurring outside the local areas or classes for which they are appointed.

D.—Penalty for False Information.

27. If any person wilfully makes, or causes to be made for the purpose of being inserted in any register of births or deaths, any false statement in connection with any notice of a birth or death under this Act, he shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both.

E.—Correction of Errors.

28. (1) If it is proved to the satisfaction of a Registrar of Births and Deaths that any entry of a birth or death in any register kept by him under this Act is erroneous in form or substance he may, subject to such rules as may be made by the Local Government with respect to the conditions and circumstances on and in which errors may be corrected, correct the error by entry in the margin, without any alteration of the original entry, and shall sign the marginal entry and add thereto the date of the correction.

* This proviso has been added by Act 38 of 1920.
† The words within quotations have been substituted by Act 9 of 1911.
(2) If a certified copy of the entry has already been sent to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages, the Registrar of Births and Deaths shall make and send a separate certified copy of the original erroneous entry and of the marginal correction therein made.

CHAPTER IV.
AMENDMENT OF MARRIAGE ACTS.

RULES.

Rules

+36. "(1) The Local Government may make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) fix the fees payable under this Act;

(b) prescribe the forms required for the purposes of this Act;

(c) prescribe the time within which, and the mode in which, persons authorized under this Act to give notice of a birth or death to a Registrar of Births and Deaths must give the notice;

(d) prescribe the evidence of identity to be furnished to a Registrar of Births and Deaths by persons giving notice of a birth or death in cases where personal attendance before such Registrar is dispensed with;

(e) prescribe the registers to be kept and the form and manner in which Registrars of Births and Deaths are to register births and deaths under this Act, and the intervals at which they are to send to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages true copies of the entries of births and deaths in the registers kept by them;

(f) prescribe the conditions and circumstances on and in which Registrars of Births and Deaths may correct entries of births and deaths in registers kept by them;

(g) prescribe the particulars which the descriptive list or lists to be prepared by the Commissioners appointed under Chapter V are to contain, and the manner in which they are to refer to the registers or records, or portions of registers or records, to which they relate; and

(h) prescribe the custody in which those registers or records are to be kept.

(3) Every power to make rules conferred by this Act is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication.

(4) All rules made under this Act shall be published in the local official Gazette and on such publication shall have effect as if enacted in this Act."

Notes—All rules heretofore made under this Act by the C. G. in Council shall after the commencement of Act 9 of 1911 be deemed to have been made by the Local Government—Vide s. 6 of Act 9 of 1911.

THE BRONZE COIN (LEGAL TENDER) ACT, 1918.

ACT NO. XXII OF 1918.

PASSED BY THE INDIAN LEGISLATURE.

RECEIVED THE ASSENT OF THE G O C ON THE 26TH SEPTEMBER 1918.

An Act to provide that certain bronze coins coined outside British India shall be legal tender in British India.

Whereas it is expedient to provide that certain bronze coins coined outside British India shall be legal tender in British India; it is hereby enacted as follows:

1. This Act may be called The Bronze Coin (Legal Tender) Act, 1918.

2. Where bronze coins of any of the denominations specified in section 8 of the Indian Coinage Act, 1908, are coined outside British India, at the request of the Governor General in Council, and the Governor General in Council is satisfied that such coins are in accordance with the requirements of section 9 and of any notification for the time being in force under section 10 of the said Act, he may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct the issue of any such coins and thereafter any such coins shall be legal tender in payment or on account in the same way and to the same extent as if they were coins referred to in section 14 of the said Act, and the provisions of the said Act shall apply accordingly.

2. Every coin which is declared to be legal tender by subsection (1) shall be deemed to be Queen's coin within the meaning of section 230 of the Indian Penal Code.

THE INDIAN CARRIAGE BY AIR ACT, 1934.

ACT NO. XX OF 1935.

An Act to give effect in British India to a Convention for the unification of certain rules relating to international Carriage by air.

Whereas a Convention for the unification of certain rules relating to international carriage by air (hereinafter referred to as the Convention) was, on the 12th day of October, 1929, signed at Warsaw;

And whereas it is expedient that British India should accede to the convention and should make provision for giving effect to the said Convention in British India;

And whereas it is also expedient to make provision for applying the rules contained in the Convention (subject to exceptions, adaptations and modifications) to carriage by air in British India which is not international carriage within the meaning of the Convention; it is hereby enacted as follows:

Notes—"An International Convention for the unification of certain rules relating to international carriage by air was signed at Warsaw and in October, 1929 by certain Governments. The Convention defines the liability of air carriers for injury or damages caused to passengers or goods. The Convention was not signed on behalf of India, but its provisions have been examined by the Government of India, and in their opinion, suitable to Indian conditions. They, therefore, propose to adhere to

* III of 1908.
† XLV of 1860.
1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Carriage by Air Act, 1934.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint.

2. (1) The rules contained in the First Schedule, being the provisions of the Convention relating to the rights and liabilities of carriers, passengers, consignors, consignees and other persons, shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, have the force of law in British India in relation to any carriage by air to which those rules apply, irrespective of the nationality of the aircraft performing the carriage.

(2) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, certify who are the High Contracting Parties to the Convention, in respect of what territories they are parties, and to what extent they have availed themselves of the Additional Protocol to the Convention, and any such notification shall be conclusive evidence of the matters certified therein.

(3) Any reference in the First Schedule to the territory of any High Contracting Party to the Convention shall be construed as a reference to all the territories in respect of which he is a party.

(4) Notwithstanding the foregoing provision, the rules contained apply, determine the liability of a carrier in respect of the death of a passenger, and the rules contained in the Second Schedule shall determine the persons by whom and for whose benefit and the manner in which such liability may be enforced.

(5) Any sum in francs mentioned in rule 22 of the First Schedule shall, for the purpose any section against a carrier, be converted into rupees at the rate of exchange prevailing on the date on which the amount of damages to be paid by the carrier is ascertained by the Court.

3. (1) Every High Contracting Party to the Convention who has not availed himself of the provisions of the Additional Protocol thereto shall, for the purposes of any suit brought in a Court in British India in accordance with the provisions of rule 28 of the First Schedule to enforce a claim in respect of carriage undertaken by him, be deemed to have submitted to the jurisdiction of that Court and to be a person for the purposes of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(2) The High Court may make rules of procedure providing for all matters which may be expedient to enable such suits to be instituted and carried on.

(3) Nothing in this section shall authorise any Court to attach or sell any property of a High Contracting Party to the Convention.

4. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, apply the rules contained in the First Schedule and any provision of section 2 to such carriage by air, not being international carriage by air as defined in the First Schedule, as may be specified in the notification, subject however to such exceptions, adaptations and modifications, if any, as may be so specified.

FIRST SCHEDULE.
(See section 2.)

RULES.

CHAPTER I.

SCOPE—DEFINITIONS.

1. (1) These rules apply to all international carriage of persons, luggage or goods performed by aircraft for reward. They apply also to such carriage when performed gratuitously by an air transport undertaking.

(2) In these rules “High Contracting Party” means a High Contracting Party to the Convention.

(3) For the purposes of these rules the expression “international carriage” means any carriage in which, according to the contract made by the parties, the place of departure and the place of destination, whether or not there be a break in the carriage or a transhipment, are situated either within the territories of two High Contracting Parties, or within the territory of a single High Contracting Party, if there is an agreed stopping place within a territory subject to the sovereignty, suzerainty, mandate or authority of another Power, even though that Power is not a party to the Convention. A carriage without such an agreed stopping place between territories subject to the sovereignty, suzerainty, mandate or authority of the same High Contracting Party is not deemed to be international for the purposes of these rules.

(4) A carriage to be performed by several successive air carriers is deemed, for the purposes of these rules, to be one undivided carriage, if it has been regarded by the parties as a single operation, whether it has been agreed upon under the form of a single contract or of a series of contracts, and it does not lose its international character because the contract or a series of contracts is to be performed or authority gally constit-

CHAPTER II.

DOCUMENTS OF CARRIAGE.

Part I—Passenger ticket.

A person to whom a ticket for the carriage of a person is issued shall on request of the carrier deliver a passenger ticket for the carriage of the person, provided that the ticket has been validated. The content of the ticket shall include:

(a) the name and address of the carrier or carriers;

(b) a statement that the carriage is subject to the rules relating to liability contained in this Schedule.

(2) The absence, irregularity or loss of the passenger ticket does not affect the existence or the validity of the carriage of a person, nor does it affect the lessor of the ticket, whether or not he be a passenger ticket holder, without those provisions of this Part II—Luggage ticket.

For the carriage of luggage, other than small personal objects of which the passenger takes charge himself, the carrier must deliver a luggage ticket.

(2) The luggage ticket shall be made out in duplicate, one part for the passenger and the other part for the carrier.

(3) The luggage ticket shall contain the following particulars:—
THE INDIAN CARRIAGE BY AIR ACT,

(a) the place and date of issue;
(b) the place of departure and of destination;
(c) the name and address of the carrier or carriers;
(d) the number of the passenger ticket;
(e) a statement that delivery of the luggage will be made to the bearer of the luggage ticket;
(f) the number and weight of the packages;
(g) the amount of the value declared in accordance with rule 22 (a);
(h) a statement that the carriage is subject to the rules relating to liability contained in this Schedule.

(4) The absence, irregularity or loss of the luggage ticket does not affect the existence or the validity of the contract of carriage, which shall not be subject to these rules. Nevertheless, if the carrier accepts luggage without a luggage ticket having been delivered, or if the luggage ticket does not contain the particulars set out at (d), (f) and (h) of sub-rule (3), the carrier shall not be entitled to avail himself of those provisions of this Schedule which exclude or limit his liability.

5. (1) Every carrier of goods has the right to require the consignor to make out and hand over to him a document called an "air consignment note" every consignor has the right to require the carrier to accept this document.

(2) The absence, irregularity or loss of this document does not affect the existence or the validity of the contract of carriage, which shall, subject to the provisions of rule 22, be subject to the rules prescribed in this Schedule.

(3) The consignor in three original parts, and shall be signed by the consignor and the consignee; it shall be signed by the consignor and by the carrier and shall accompany the goods. The third part shall be signed by the carrier and handed by him to the consignor after the goods have been accepted.

(4) The carrier shall sign an acceptance of the goods.

(5) The signature of the carrier may be stamped; that of the consignor may be printed or stamped.

(6) If, at the request of the consignor, the carrier makes out the air consignment note, he shall be deemed, subject to proof to the contrary, to have done so on behalf of the consignor.

7. The carrier of goods has the right to require the consignor to make out separate consignment notes when there is more than one package.

The air consignment note shall contain the following particulars:

(a) the place and date of its execution;
(b) the place of departure and of destination;
(c) the agreed stopping places, provided that the carrier may preserve the right to alter the stopping places in case of necessity, and that if he exercises that right the alteration shall not have the effect of depriving the carriage of its international character;
(d) the name and address of the consignor;
(e) the name and address of the first carrier;
(f) the name and address of the consignee, if the case so requires;
(g) the nature of the goods;
(h) the number of the packages, the method of packing and the particular marks or numbers upon them;
(i) the weight, the quantity and the volume or dimensions of the goods;
(j) the apparent condition of the goods and of the packing;
(k) the freight, if it has been agreed upon, the date and place of payment, and the person who is to pay it;
(l) if the goods are sent for payment on delivery, the price of the goods, and if the case so requires, the amount of the expenses incurred;
(m) the amount of the value declared in accordance with the rule 22 (a);
(n) the number of parts of the air consignment note;
(o) the documents handed to the carrier to accompany the air consignment note;
(p) the time fixed for the completion of the carriage and a brief note of the route to be followed, if these matters have been agreed upon;
(9) A statement that the carriage is subject to the rules relating to liability contained in this Schedule having been made out in rule of the provisions of this Schedule which contains or limit the liability.

10. (1) The consignor is responsible for the correctness for the particulars and statements.

11. (1) The air consignment note is prima facie evidence of the conclusion of the contract, of the receipt of the goods and of the conditions of carriage.

(2) The statements in the air consignment note relating to the weight, dimensions and packing of the goods, as well as those relating to the number of packages, are prima facie evidence of the facts stated; those relating to the quantity, volume and condition of the goods do not constitute evidence against the carrier except so far as they both have been, and are stated in the air consignment note to have been, checked by him in the presence of the consignor, or relate to the apparent condition of the goods.

12 (1) Subject to his liability to carry out all his obligations under the contract of carriage, the consignor has the right to dispose of the goods by withdrawing them at the aerodrome of departure or destination, or by stopping them in the course of the journey on any landing, or by calling for them to be delivered at the place of destination or in the course of the journey to a person other than the consignee named in the air consignment note, or by requiring them to be returned to the aerodrome of departure. He must not exercise this right of disposition in such a way as to prejudice the carrier or other consignors and he must repay any expenses occasioned by the exercise of this right.

(2) If it is impossible to carry out the orders of the consignor the carrier must so inform him forthwith.

(3) If the carrier obeys the orders of the consignor for the disposition of the goods without requiring the production of the part of the air consignment note delivered to the latter, he will be liable, without prejudice to his right of recovery from the consignor, for any damage which may be caused thereby to any person who is lawfully in possession of that part of the air consignment note.

(4) The right conferred on the consignor ceases at the moment when that of the consignee begins in accordance with rule 13. Nevertheless, if the consignee declines to accept the consignment note or the goods, or if he cannot be communicated with, the consignor resumes his right of disposition.

13. (1) Except in the circumstances set out in rule 12, the consignee is entitled, on arrival of the goods at the place of destination, to require the carrier to hand over to him the air consignment note and to deliver the goods to him, on payment of the charges due and on complying with the conditions of carriage set out in the air consignment note.

(2) Unless it is otherwise agreed, it is the duty of the carrier to give notice to the consignee as soon as the goods arrive.

(3) If the carrier admits the loss of the goods, or if the goods have not arrived at the expiration of seven days after the date on which they ought to have arrived, the consignee is entitled to put into force against the carrier the rights which flow from the contract of carriage.

14. The consignor and the consignee can respectively enforce all the rights given them by rules 12 and 13, each in his own name, whether he is acting in his own interest or in the interest of another, provided that he carries out the obligations imposed by the contract.

15. (1) Rules 12, 13 and 14 do not affect either the relations of the consignor or the consignee with each other or the mutual relations of third parties whose rights are derived either from the consignor or from the consignee.

(2) The provisions of rules 12, 13 and 14 can only be varied by express provision in the air consignment note.

16. (1) The consignor must furnish such information and attach to the air consignment note such documents as are necessary to meet the formalities of customs, octroi or police before the goods can be delivered to the consignee. The consignor is liable to the carrier for any damage occasioned by the absence, insufficiency or irregularity of any such information or documents unless the damage is due to the fault of the carrier or his agents.

(2) The carrier is under no obligation to enquire into the correctness or sufficiency of such information or documents.

CHAPTER III.

LIABILITY OF THE CARRIER.

17. The carrier is liable for damage sustained in the event of the death or wounding of a passenger or any other bodily injury suffered by a passenger, if the accident which caused the damage so sustained took place on board the aircraft or in the course of any of the operations of embarking or disembarking.

18. (1) The carrier is liable for damage sustained in the event of the destruction or loss of, or of damage to, any registered luggage or any goods, if the occurrence which caused the damage so sustained took place during the carriage by air.

(2) The carriage by air within the meaning of the preceding paragraph comprises the period during which the luggage or goods are in charge of the carrier, whether in an aerodrome or on board an aircraft, or, in the case of a landing outside an aerodrome, in any place whatsoever.

(3) The period of the carriage by air does not extend to any carriage by land, by sea or by river performed outside an aerodrome. If, however, such a carriage takes place in the performance of a contract for carriage by air, for the purpose of loading, delivery or transhipment, any damage is presumed subject to proof to the contrary, to have been the result of an event which took place during the carriage by air.

19. The carrier is liable for damage occasioned by delay in the carriage by air of passengers, luggage or goods.

20. (1) The carrier is not liable if he proves that he and his agents have taken all necessary measures to avoid the damage or that it was impossible for him or them to take such measures.

21. If the carrier proves that the damage was caused by or contributed to by the negligence of the injured person the Court may exonerate the carrier wholly or partly from his liability.

22. (1) In the carriage of passengers the liability of the carrier for each person time when the package was handed over to the carrier, a special declaration of the value at delivery and has paid a supplementary sum if the case so requires. In that case the carrier will be liable to pay a sum not exceeding the declared sum, unless he proves that that sum is greater than the actual value to the consignor at delivery.

(3) As regards objects of which the passenger takes charge himself the liability of the carrier is limited to 5,000 francs per passenger.

(4) The sums mentioned in this rule shall be deemed to refer to the French franc consisting of 65½ milligrams gold of millesimal fineness 900.

23. Any provision tending to relieve the carrier of liability or to fix a lower limit than that which is laid down in these rules shall be null and void, but the nullity of any such provision does not involve the nullity of the whole contract, which shall remain subject to the provisions of this Schedule.

24. (1) In the cases covered by rules 18 and 19 any action for damages, however founded, can only be brought subject to the conditions and limits set out in this Schedule.
(2) In the cases covered by rules 17 the provisions of sub-rule (1) also apply, without prejudice to the questions as to who are the persons who have the right to bring suit and what are their respective rights.

25 (1) The carrier shall not be entitled to avail himself of the provisions of this Schedule which exclude or limit his liability, if the damage is caused by his wilful misconduct or by such default on his part as is in the opinion of the Court equivalent to wilful misconduct.

(2) Similarly the carrier shall not be entitled to avail himself of the said provisions, if the damage is caused as aforesaid by any agent of the carrier acting within the scope of his employment.

20. (1) Receipt by the person entitled to delivery of luggage or goods without complaint is prima facie evidence that the same have been delivered in good condition within the period of four months from the date of receipt in the case of goods. In the case of delay the complaint must be made as aforesaid within fourteen days from the date on which the luggage or goods have been placed at his disposal.

(3) Every complaint must be made in writing upon the document of carriage or by separate notice in writing despatched within the times aforesaid.

(4) Failing complaint within the times aforesaid, no action shall lie against the carrier, save in the case of fraud on his part.

27. In the case of the death of the person liable, an action for damages lies in accordance with these rules against those legally representing his estate.

28. An action for damages must be brought at the option of the plaintiff, either before the Court having jurisdiction where the carrier is ordinarily resident or has his principal place of business, or has an establishment by which the contract has been made or before the Court having jurisdiction at the place of destination.

29. The right of damages shall be extinguished if an action is not brought within two years, reckoned from the date of arrival at the destination, or from the date on which the aircraft ought to have arrived, or from the date on which the carriage stopped.

30. (1) In the case of carriage to be performed by various successive carriers, and falling within the definition set out in sub-rule (4) of rule 1, each carrier who accepts passengers, luggage or goods is subjected to the rules set out in this Schedule, and is deemed to be one of the contracting parties to the contract of carriage in so far as the contract deals with that part of the carriage which is performed under his supervision.

(2) In the case of carriage of this nature, the passenger or his representative can take action only against the carrier who performed the carriage during which the accident or the delay occurred, save in the case where, by express agreement, the first carrier has assumed liability for the whole journey.

31. (1) In the case of combined carriage, each carrier who performs the carriage during which the destruction, loss, damage or delay took place. These carriers will be jointly and severally liable to the passenger or to the consignor or consignee.

PROVISIONS AS TO THE LIABILITY OF CARRIERS IN THE EVENT OF THE DEATH OF A PASSENGER.

1. The liability shall be enforceable for the benefit of such of the members of the passenger's family as sustained damage by reason of his death.

   In this rule the expression "member for the family" means wife or husband, parent, step-parent, grand-parent, brother, sister, half-brother, half-sister, child, step-child, grandchild:

   Provided that, in deducing any such relationship as aforesaid any illegitimate person and any adopted person shall be treated as being, or as having been, the legitimate child of his mother and reputed father or, as the case may be, of his adopters.

2. An action to enforce the liability may be brought by the personal representative of the passenger or by any person for whose benefit the liability is under the last preceding rule enforceable, but only one action shall be brought in British India in respect of the death of any one passenger, and every such action by whomsoever brought shall be for the benefit of all such persons so entitled as aforesaid as either are domiciled in British India, or, not being domiciled there, express a desire to take the benefit of the action.

3. Subject to the provisions of the next succeeding rule the amount recovered in any such action, after deducting any costs not recovered from the defendant, shall be divided between the persons entitled in such proportions as the Court may direct.

4. The Court before which any such action is brought may at any stage of the proceedings make any such order as appears to the Court to be just and equitable in view of the provisions of the First Schedule to this Act limiting the liability of a carrier and of any proceedings which have been, or are likely to be, commenced outside British India in respect of the death of the passenger in question.
(2) In the cases covered by rules 17 the provisions of sub-rule (1) also apply, without prejudice to the questions as to who are the persons who have the right to bring suit and what are their respective rights.

25. (1) The carrier shall not be entitled to avail himself of the provisions of this Schedule which exclude or limit his liability, if the damage is caused by his wilful misconduct or by such default on his part as is in the opinion of the Court equivalent to wilful misconduct.

(2) Similarly the carrier shall not be entitled to avail himself of the said provisions, if the damage is caused as aforesaid by any agent of the carrier acting within the scope of his employment.

26. (1) Receipt by the person entitled to delivery of luggage or goods must complain to the carrier forthwith after the discovery of the damage, and, at the latest, within three days from the date of receipt in the case of luggage and seven days from the date of receipt in the case of goods. In the case of delay the complaint must be made at the latest within fourteen days from the date on which the luggage or goods have been placed at his disposal.

(3) Every complaint must be made in writing upon the document of carriage or by separate notice in writing despatched within the times aforesaid.

(4) Failing complaint within the times aforesaid, no action shall lie against the carrier, save in the case of fraud on his part.

27. In the case of the death of the person liable, an action for damages lies in accordance with these rules against those legally representing his estate.

28. An action for damages must be brought at the option of the plaintiff, either before the Court having jurisdiction where the carrier is ordinarily resident or has his principal place of business, or has an establishment by which the contract has been made or before the Court having jurisdiction at the place of destination.

29. The right of damages shall be extinguished if an action is not brought within two years, reckoned from the date of arrival at the destination, or from the date on which the aircraft ought to have arrived, or from the date on which the carriage stopped.

30. (1) In the case of carriage to be performed by various successive carriers and filling within the definition set out in sub-rule (4) of rule 1, each carrier who accepts passengers, luggage or goods is subjected to the rules set out in this Schedule, and is deemed to be one of the contracting parties to the contract of carriage in so far as the contract deals with that part of the carriage which is performed under his supervision.

(3) As regards luggage or goods, the passenger or consignor will have a right of action against the first carrier, and the passenger or consignee who is entitled to delivery will have a right of action against the last carrier, and further, each may take action against the carrier who performed the carriage during which the destruction, loss, damage or delay took place. These carriers will be jointly and severally liable to the passenger or to the consignor or consignee.

CHAPTER IV.

PROVISIONS RELATING TO COMBINED CARRIAGE.

31. (1) In the case of a carriage partly by land and partly by air, the carrier shall not be liable for damage which would not have occurred if the carriage had been performed by land only.

(2) In the case of combined carriage from inserting in the document of air carriage conditions relating to other modes of carriage, provided that the provisions of this Schedule are observed as regards the carriage by air.
(6) the carriage of goods by sea in ships carrying goods from a port in British India notified in this behalf in the Gazette of India by the Governor-General in Council to a port in Ceylon specified in the said notification, have effect as though the said Article referred to goods of any class instead of to particular goods and as though the proviso to the second paragraph of the said Article were omitted.

6. Where under the custom of any trade the weight of any bulk cargo inserted in the bill of landing is a weight ascertained or accepted by a third party other than the carrier or the shipper and the fact that the weight is so ascertained or accepted is stated in the bill of lading, then, notwithstanding anything in the Rules, the bill of lading shall not be deemed to be prima facie evidence against the carrier of the receipt of goods of the weight so inserted in the bill of lading, and the accuracy thereof at the time of shipment shall not be deemed to have been guaranteed by the shipper.

7. (1) Nothing in this Act shall affect the operation of sections four hundred and forty-six to four hundred and fifty, both inclusive, five hundred and two and five hundred and three of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.* as amended by any subsequent enactment, or the operation of any other enactment for the time being in force limiting the liability of the owners of seagoing vessels.

(2) The Rules shall not by virtue of this Act apply to any contract for the carriage of goods by sea before such day not being earlier than the first day of January, 1926, as the Governor-General in Council may by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint, no title issued, whether before or such contract as aforesaid.

SCHEDULE
RULES RELATING TO BILLS OF LADING

ARTICLE I.
Definitions.

In these Rules the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them respectively, that is to say—
(a) "Carrier" includes the owner or the charterer who enters into a contract of carriage with a shipper;
(b) "Contract of carriage" applies only to contracts of carriage covered by a bill of lading or any similar document of title, in so far as such document relates to the carriage of goods by sea including any bill of lading or any similar document as aforesaid issued under or pursuant to a charter party from the moment at which such bill of lading or similar document of title regulates the relations between a carrier and a holder of the same:
(c) "Goods" includes goods, wares, merchandises, and articles of every kind whatsoever, except live animals and cargo which by the contract of carriage is stated as being carried on deck and is so carried:
(d) "Ship" means any vessel used for the carriage of goods by sea;
(e) "Carriage of goods" covers the period from the time when the goods are loaded on to the time when they are discharged from the ship.

ARTICLE II.
Risks.

Subject to the provisions of Article VI, under every contract of carriage of goods by sea the carrier, in relation to the loading, handling, stowage, carriage, custody, care, and discharge of such goods, shall be subject to the responsibilities and liabilities, and entitled to the rights and immunities hereinafter set forth.

* 57 and 58 Vict. c. 60.
ARTICLE III.

Responsibilities and Liabilities.

1. The carrier shall be bound, before and at the beginning of the voyage, to exercise due diligence to—
   (a) Make the ship seaworthy;
   (b) Properly man, equip, and supply the ship;
   (c) Make the holds, refrigerating and cool chambers, and all other parts of the ship in which goods are carried, fit and safe for their reception, carriage and preservation.

2. Subject to the provisions of Article IV, the carrier shall properly and carefully load, handle, stow, carry, keep, care for and discharge the goods carried.

If such marks are stamned or otherwise shown clearly upon the goods if uncovered, or on the cases or coverings in which such goods are contained, in such a manner as should ordinarily remain legible until the end of the voyage:

(b) Either the number of packages or pieces, or the quantity, or weight, as the case may be, as furnished in writing by the shipper:

8. Any clause, covenant or agreement in a contract of carriage relieving the carrier or the ship from liability for loss or damage to or in connection with goods arising from negligence, fault or failure in the duties and obligations provided in this Article or lessening such liability otherwise than as provided in these Rules, shall be null and void and of no effect.

A benefit of insurance or similar clause shall be deemed to be a clause relieving the carrier from liability.

ARTICLE IV.

Rights and Immunities.

1. Neither the carrier nor the ship shall be liable for loss or damage arising or resulting from unseaworthiness unless caused by want of due diligence on the part of the carrier to make the ship seaworthy, and to secure that the ship is properly manned, equipped and supplied, and to make the holds, refrigerating and cool chambers and all other parts of the ship in which goods are carried fit and safe for their reception, carriage and preservation in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 1 of Article III.

Whenever loss or damage has resulted from unseaworthiness, the burden of proving the exercise of due diligence shall be on the carrier or other person claiming exemption under this section.

2. Neither the carrier nor the ship shall be responsible for loss or damage arising or resulting from—

(a) act, neglect or default of the master, mariner, pilot, or the servants of the carrier in the act of navigation or in the management of the ship;

(b) fire, u

(m) lossage in bulk or weight or any other loss or damage arising from inherent defect, quality, or vice of the goods:

(n) insufficiency of packaging:

(o) insufficiency or inadequacy of marks:

(p) latent defects not discoverable by due diligence:

(q) any other cause arising without the actual fault or privity of the carrier, or without the fault or neglect of the agents or servants of the carrier, but the burden of proof shall be on the person claiming the benefit of this exception to show that neither the actual fault or privity of the carrier nor the fault or neglect of the agents or servants of the carrier contributed to the loss or damage.

3. The shipper shall not be responsible for loss or damage sustained by the carrier or the ship arising or resulting from any cause without the act, fault or neglect of the shipper, his agents or his servants.

4. Any deviation in saving or attempting to save life or property at sea, of any reasonable deviation shall not be deemed to be an infringement or breach or these Rules or of the contract of carriage, and the carrier shall not be liable for any loss or damage resulting therefrom.

5. Neither the carrier nor the ship shall in any event be or become liable for any loss or damage to or in connection with goods in an amount exceeding 100 per package or unit, or the equivalent of that sum in other currency, unless the nature and value of such goods have been declared by the shipper before shipment and inserted in the bill of lading.

This declaration is embodied in the bill of lading shall be _prima facie_ evidence, but shall not be binding or conclusive on the carrier.
By agreement between the carrier, master or agent of the carrier and the shipper another maximum amount than that mentioned in this paragraph may be fixed, any event for loss or ereof has been know-to general average, if any.

ARTICLE V.

Surrender of Rights and Immunities, and Increase of Responsibilities and Liabilities

A carrier shall be at liberty to enter into any agreement in any terms as to the responsibility and liability of the carrier for such goods and as to the terms as to the responsibility and liability of the carrier on loaded goods carried by issued and that the shipment made

ARTICLE VI.

Special Conditions.

Notwithstanding the provisions of the preceding Articles, a carrier, master or agent of the carrier, and a shipper shall in regard to any particular goods be at liberty to enter into any agreement in any terms as to the responsibility and liability of the carrier for such goods and as to the terms as to the responsibility and liability of the carrier on loaded goods carried by issued and that the shipment made

ARTICLE VII.

Limitations on the Application of the Rules.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent a carrier or a shipper from entering into any agreement, stipulation, condition, reservation or exemption as to the responsibility and liability of the carrier of the ship for the loss or damage to or in connection with the custody and care of handling of goods prior to the loading on and subsequent to the discharge from the ship on which the goods are carried by sea.

ARTICLE VIII.

Limitation of liability.

The provisions of these Rules shall not affect the rights and obligations of the carrier under any Statute for the time being in force relating to the limitation of the liability of owners of sea-going vessels.

ARTICLE IX.

The monetary units mentioned in these Rules are to be taken to be gold value.
THE CARRIERS ACT, 1865.

ACT NO. III OF 1865.

Received the G. G.'s assent on the 14th February, 1865.

An Act relating to the rights and liabilities of Common Carriers.

Whereas it is expedient not only to enable common carriers to limit their liability for loss of or damage to property delivered to them to be carried but also to declare their liability for loss or damage to such property occasioned by the negligence or criminal acts of themselves, their servants, or agents; It is enacted as follows:—

Common Carriers—"A common carrier is one who offers to carry goods for any person between certain termini and on a certain route. He is bound to carry for all who tender to him goods or against all loss but that arising on the goods for the price.

rupees; and of the description aforesaid, delivered to such carrier to be carried, when the value and description thereof shall have been declared and payment shall have been required in manner provided for by this Act, the person entitled to recover in respect of such loss or damage shall also be entitled to recover any money actually paid to such carrier in consideration of such risk as aforesaid.

THE CENTRAL BOARD OF REVENUE ACT, 1924.

ACT NO. IV OF 1924.

Received the assent of the G. G. on the 13th March, 1924.

An Act to provide for the constitution of a Central Board of Revenue and to amend certain enactments for the purpose of conferring powers and imposing duties on the said Board.

Whereas it is expedient to provide for the constitution of a Central Board of Revenue and to amend certain enactments for the purpose of conferring powers and imposing duties on the said Board; it is hereby enacted as follows:

1. (1) This Act may be called the Central Board of Revenue Act, 1924.

2. It shall come into force on the first day of April, 1924.

2. As soon as may be after the commencement of this Act, the Governor-General in Council shall constitute a Central Board of Revenue, consisting of one or more persons appointed by him, which shall be subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council in the exercise of such powers and the performance of such duties as may be entrusted to it by the Governor-General in Council or by or under any law.

3. The Governor-General in Council may make rules for the purpose of regulating the transaction of business by the Central Board of Revenue, and every order made or act done in accordance with such rules shall be deemed to be the order or act, as the case may be, of the Central Board of Revenue.

4. The enactments specified in the Schedule are hereby amended to Amendments of enactments, the extent and in the manner mentioned in the fourth column thereof:

Provided that, where the power to make any appointment, or issue any notification, order, scheme or rule, or prescribe any form, is transferred by the operation of this Act from any authority to the Central Board of Revenue or any other authority, any such appointment, notification, order, scheme, rule, or form made, issued or prescribed by the first mentioned authority before the commencement of this Act shall continue in force and be deemed to have been made, issued or prescribed by the Central Board of Revenue or such other authority, as the case may be, unless and until it is superseded by an appointment, notification, order, scheme, rule or form made, issued or prescribed by the said Board or authority.

ACT NO. XIV OF 1920.

Received the assent of the Governor-General on the 20th March 1920.

An Act to provide more effectual control over the administration of charitable and religious trusts.

Whereas it is necessary to determine the administration of charitable trusts in order to enable the Court on certain matters to control expenditure incurred in certain suits against the trustees of such trusts; it is hereby enacted as follows:

Trust Created for public purposes—"A trust" said Lord Romilly in Evans v. Corporation of Avon, 29 Beav. 149, "may be of two characters; it may be of a general character or of a private and individual character. A person might leave a sum of money to a corporation in trust to support the children of A. B. and pay them the principal at twenty-one. That would be a private and particular trust which the children could enforce against the corporation if the corporation applied the property to its own benefit. On the other hand a person might leave money to a corporation in trust for the benefit of the inhabitants of a particular place, or for lighting the town. That would be a public trust for the benefit of all the inhabitants." Provisions for Zadabat—contribution towards marriages and education of Brahmín children—Trust comes within the Act. A. I. R. 1939 Pat. 723 = 124 Ind. Cas. 629. Trust covered by the Act is not to be so wide in its purpose as a Waf under the Muslim Waf Act of 1923. A. I. R. 1929 Oudh. 225 = 4 Luck. 429 = 117 Ind. Cas. 730. But see 134 Ind Cas. 417 = A. I. R. 1931 Pat. 354. This Act has no application where the grant is not for temple but is personal. A. I. R. 1928 Oudh. 241 = 108 Ind. Cas. 98; see also A. I. R. 1930. Oudh. 53 = 119 Ind. Cas. 565. A worshipper at a Gurdwara is one interested in the public trust within the scope of Act XIV of 1920, 36 P.L.R. 162 = A. I. R. 1934 Lah. 949.

Short title and extent. 1. (1) This Act may be called the Charitable and Religious Trusts Act, 1920.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India:

Provided that the Governor-General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct that this Act, or any specified part thereof, shall not extend to any specified province or area, or to any specified trust or class of trusts.

party ceases to be a trustee. Syed Reza v. Saeed Reza, 30 N. B. 335. When not acted upon cannot be regarded by this Act. A. I. R. 1935 Mad. 56.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, "the Court" means the Court of the District Judge, "or any other Court empowered in that behalf by the local Government" and includes the High Court in the exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction.

Notes.—The Courts mentioned in this section have jurisdiction to try a case under this Act. A District Judge's Court is a Court subordinate to the High Court. 121 Ind. Cas. 267 = 51 A. 957 = A. I. R. 1929 All. 581.

3. Save as hereinafter provided in this Act, any person having an interest in any express or constructive trust created or existing for a public purpose of a charitable or religious nature may apply by petition to the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction any substantial part of the subject-matter of the trust is situate to obtain an order embodying all or any of the following directions, namely:

(1) directing the trustee to furnish the petitioner through the Court with particulars as to the nature and objects of the trust, and of the value, condition, management and application of the subject-matter of the trust, and of the income belonging thereto, or as to any of these matters, and

(2) directing that the accounts of the trust shall be examined and audited:

Provided that no person shall apply for any such direction in respect of accounts relating to a period more than three years prior to the date of the petition.

Notes.—This section authorises any person having an interest in a trust of a charitable or religious nature to apply to Court for a direction on the trustee for certain information relating to the trust and for an examination and auditing of the accounts of the trust. But a person who claims adversely to the trust and who is not liable under the section is not a proper party to proceedings under this Act. Syed Reza v. Kari Nurdin, 78 Ind. Cas. 174 = A. I. R. (1925) Cal. 527. In order to determine whether a trust is a trust for public purposes, substance and primary intention of the creator must be seen. A. I. R. 1929 Oudh. 225 = 4 Luck. 429 = 117 Ind. Cas. 739. Benefit of specified person such as kindred dependants and others is not a public purpose. A. I. R. 1929 Oudh. 225 = 117 Ind. Cas. 739. "Interest in trust" depends upon nature of trust. Secretary of Public Institution entitled to stay in Dharmala created by trust is one interested in such trust. A. I. R. 1928 All. 758 = 50 A. 380 = 26 A. L. J. 1379. Trust in s. 3 includes wakf created for public purposes of religious and charitable nature. 134 Ind. Cas. 417 = 10 Pat. 506 = 12 P. L. T. 793 = A. I. R. 1931 Pat. 534. An application under this section is maintainable even where question of title is raised. 58 B. 623.*

*The words within quotations have been inserted by Act 41 of 1923.
4. (1) The petition shall show in what way the petitioner claims to be interested in the trust, and shall specify, as far as may be, the particulars and the audit which he seeks to obtain.

(2) The petition shall be in writing and shall be signed and verified in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for signing and verifying plaints.

Signed.—A petition may be signed by the party by his duly authorised agent. Any defect in signature can be cured any time before judgment. Balseo v. Smith, 22 A. 55; Mohini v. Bugsi, 17 C. 580

Verification.—Verification should state what matters are true to the knowledge of the person making it, and which (if any) are stated on information and belief. A defective verification is cured by the same procedure as cures a defective signature. Raji Ram v. Kalesar, 18 A. 396; Fatehchand v. Mansab, 20 A. 442. The verification must be made by the party himself or one of the parties Vide Order 6, rule 15 of C. P. Code.

5. (1) If the Court on receipt of a petition under section 3, after taking such evidence and making such inquiry, if any, as it may consider necessary, is of opinion that the trust to which the petition relates is a trust to which this Act applies, and that the petitioner has an interest therein, it shall fix a date for the hearing of the petition, and shall cause a copy thereof, together with notice of the date so fixed, to be served on the trustee and upon any other person to whom in its opinion notice of the petition should be given.

(2) On the date fixed for the hearing of the petition, or on any subsequent date to which the hearing may be adjourned, the Court shall proceed to hear the petitioner and the trustee, if he appears, and any other person who has appeared in consequence of the notice, or who it considers ought to be heard, and shall make such further inquiries, if any, as it thinks fit. The trustee may and, if so required by the Court, shall at the time of the first hearing or within such time as the Court may permit present a written statement of his case. If he does present a written statement, the statement shall be signed and verified in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for signing and verifying pleadings.

(3) If any person appears at the hearing of the petition and either denies the existence of the trust or denies that it is a trust to which this Act applies, and undertakes to institute within three months a suit for a declaration to that effect and for any other appropriate relief, the Court shall order a stay of the so instituted, shall continue the stay, until the given, or if after the expiry of the three months no such suit has been instituted, the Court shall itself decide the question.

(5) On completion of the enquiry provided for in sub-section (2), the Court shall either dismiss the petition or pass therein such other order as it thinks fit.

Provided that, where a suit has been instituted in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (3), no order shall be passed by the Court which conflicts with the final decision therein.

(6) Save as provided in this section, the Court shall not try or determine any question of title between the petitioner and any person claiming title section 3 of the Charitable and

6. If a trustee without reasonable excuse fails to comply with an order made under sub section (5) of section 5, such trustee shall, without prejudice to any other penalty or liability which he may incur under any law for the time being in force, be deemed to have commited a breach of trust affording ground for a suit under the provisions of sections 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 * and any such suit may, so far as it is based on such failure, be instituted without the previous consent of the Advocate General.

Notes.—Failure on the part of a trustee to comply with an order passed under section 5 clause (5), will make him liable for breach of trust and a suit against him may be instituted under section 92 of the Civil Procedure Code without the previous consent of the Advocate General. He is also not exonerated from any liability or penalty which he may incur under any law. The consent of the Advocate General is required, because that consent will show that the persons suing are persons who have interest in the trust as well as that the trust is a public trust of the character

8. The costs, charges and expenses of and incidental to any petition, and all proceedings in connection therewith, under the foregoing provisions of this Act shall be in the discretion of the Court, which may direct the whole or any part of any such costs, charges and expenses to be met from the property or income of the trust in respect of which the petition is made, or to be borne and paid in such manner and by such persons as it thinks fit:

Provided that no such order shall be made against any person (other than the petitioner) who has not received notice of the petition and had a reasonable opportunity of being heard thereon.

Notes.—Where there is reasonable ground for the application the trustees would be paid their costs. Vide notes under s. 7.

9. No petition under the foregoing provisions of this Act in relation to any trust shall be entertained in any of the following circumstances, namely:—

(a) if a suit instituted in accordance with the provisions of section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, * is pending in respect of the trust in question;

(b) if the trust property is vested in the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments, the Administrator-General, the Official Trustee, or any Society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860; or

(c) if a scheme for the administration of the trust property has been settled or approved by any Court of competent jurisdiction, or by any other authority acting under the provisions of any enactment.

Notes.—This section lays down that no petition is entertainable by the Court in the circumstances mentioned below. When a suit has already been instituted under section 92 of the Civil Procedure Code, the direction of that Court is binding.

10. (1) In any suit instituted under section 14 of the Religious Endowments Act, 1863* or under section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908,† the Court trying such suit may, if, on application of the plaintiff and, after hearing the defendant and making such inquiry as it thinks fit, it is satisfied that such an order is necessary in the public interest, direct the defendant either to furnish security for any expenditure incurred, or likely to be incurred by the plaintiff in instituting and maintaining such suit, or to deposit from any money in his hands as trustees of the trust to which the suit relates such sum as such Court considers sufficient to meet such expenditure in whole or in part.

(2) When any money has been deposited in accordance with an order made under subsection (1), the Court may make over to the plaintiff the whole or any part of such sum for the conduct of the suit. Before making over any sum to the plaintiff, the Court shall take security from the plaintiff for the refund of the same in the event of such refund being subsequently ordered by the Court.

Notes—This section supplements section 14 of the Religious Endowments Act, provision is made in Under this section deposit costs of the plaintif, in a fit case and for public interest. This section is enacted in order to encourage suits under section 14 of the Religious Endowments Act (XX of 1863) and section 92 of the Civil Procedure Code. The option of furnishing security of making a deposit rests with the defendant. The Court can order that he may do one of these two things but it cannot specify which he is to do. Under this section a defendant can be directed to furnish security or to pay a sum of money out of the money in his hands as trustee. He cannot be required to pay any money out of his own pocket. The security is for expenditure already incurred or likely to be incurred. 69 Ind. Cas. 658.

Provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure to apply

11. (1) The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1938,† relating to—

(a) the proof of facts by affidavit,
(b) the enforcing of the attendance of any person and his examination on oath,
(c) the enforcing of the production of documents, and

Act, and the provisions relating to the service of notices thereunder.

(2) The provisions of the said Code relating to the execution of decrees shall, so far as they are applicable, apply to the execution of orders under this Act.

Scope—This section empowers a Court to prove any fact by affidavit to summon any witness and to administer an oath to him. The Court is also empowered to enforce the production of any documents and to issue commissions to any witnesses. The procedure of serving a summons under C. P. Code is to be adopted in serving a notice under this Act. An order under this Act is to be executed like a decree of the Civil Procedure Code. But an order under this Act is not a decree under the Civil Procedure Code.

Notes—The general principle is that an appeal never lies unless expressly given by Statute. Rex v. Cawdor, 3 D. & R 35. The creation of a right of appeal is an act which requires legislative authority. Neither an inferior nor a superior tribunal, nor both combined, can create such a right, it being essentially

THE CHARITABLE ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1890.

ACT No. VI OF 1890.

RECEIVED THE G G'S ASSENT ON THE 7TH MARCH, 1890.

An Act to provide for the Vesting and Administration of Property held in trust for Charitable Purposes.

Whereas it is expedient to provide for the vesting and administration of property held in trust for charitable purposes; it is hereby enacted as follows:—

Title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Charitable Endowments Act, 1890.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, inclusive of British Baluchistan; and

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of October, 1890.

Notes.—Extent. This Act has been declared in force in Santosh Parganas by Regulation 11 of 1899.

2. In this Act "Charitable purpose" includes relief of the poor, education, medical relief, and the advancement of any other object of general public utility, but does not include a purpose which relates exclusively to religious teaching or worship.

Notes.—Charity has been defined to be a gift for a general public use. Jones v. Williams, Amb. 651; Goodman v. Mayor of Salsete, 7 App. Cas. 633; Reg v. Comm. It includes relief of the aged, impotent and infirm, etc. Re Gosling, 48 W.R. 300. A gift of Universities is included in the term. Att. Gen v. Nash, 2 Br. C. C. 587; Att. Gen v. Earl of Longdale, 1 Sim. 125; see also 124 Ind. Cas. 629=A. I. R. 1939 Pat. 723. An educational institution is not prevented from being a charity by the fact that it imparts instruction in a certain religious belief. Ditworth v. Comm. of Stamps, (1890) A. C. 99; Braidshaw v. Tasker, 2 My & K. 221.

3. (1) The "Local Government" may appoint an officer of the Government and incorporation of Treasurer of several Charitable Endowments for the territories subject to such Local Government.

(2) Such Treasurer shall, for the purposes of taking, holding and transferring movable or immovable property under the authority of this Act, be a corporation sole by the name of the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments for the territories subject to the Local Government, and, as such Treasurer, shall have perpetual succession and a corporate seal, and may sue and be sued by his corporate name.

of an order of the Board is conveyed to or vested in him by any deed or assurance or otherwise. By the 18th section of the Charitable Trusts Act, 1855 and section 4 of the Charitable Trusts Act 1887 (50 & 51 Vict. c. 49), the Official Trustees of Charitable Funds are to have perpetual succession, and are to consist of such officers of the Board as the Board with the approval of the Treasury from time to time appoint.

Lewin on Trust, 12th Ed. p. 1209.

4. (1) Where any property is held or is to be applied in trust for a charitable purpose, the Local Government, if it thinks fit, may, on application made as hereinafter mentioned, and subject to the other provisions of this section, order, by notification in the official Gazette, that the property be vested in the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments on such terms as to the application of the property or the income thereof as may be agreed on between the Local Government and the person or persons making the application, and the property shall thereupon so vest accordingly.

(2) When any property has vested under this section in a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments, he is entitled to all documents of title relating thereto.

(3) A Local Government shall not make an order under sub-section (1) for the vesting in a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments of any securities for money, except the following, namely:

(a) promissory notes, debentures, stock and other securities of the Government of India, or of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland;
(b) bonds, debentures and annuities charged by the Imperial Parliament on the revenues of India;
(c) stock or debentures of, or shares in, Railway or other Companies, the interest whereon has been guaranteed by the Secretary of State for India in Council;
(d) debentures or other securities for money issued by or on behalf of any local authority in exercise of powers conferred by an Act of a legislature established in British India;
(e) a security expressly authorised by any order which the "Local Government" may make in this behalf.

(4) An order under this section vesting property in a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments shall not require or be deemed to require him to administer the property, or impose or be deemed to impose upon him the duty of a trustee with respect to the administration thereof.

Notes—Only securities issued by the Government of India, or by the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland as well as bonds, debentures, and annuities charged by the Imperial Parliament on the revenues of India, etc., can vest in a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments. But such a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments is not saddled with the duties of an ordinary trustee.

5. (1) On application made as hereinafter mentioned, and with the concurrence of the person or persons making the application, the Local Government, if it thinks fit, may settle a scheme for the administration of any property which has been or is to be vested in the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments, and may in such scheme appoint, by name or office, a person or persons, not being or including such Treasurer, to administer the property.

(2) On application made as hereinafter mentioned, and with the concurrence of the person or persons making the application, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, modify any scheme settled under this section or substitute another scheme in its stead.

(3) A scheme settled, modified, or substituted under this section shall, subject to the other provisions of this section, come into operation on a day to be appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, and shall remain in force so long as the property to which it relates continues to be vested in the Treasurer of the Charitable Endowments, or until it has been modified or another such scheme has been substituted in its stead.

(4) Such a scheme, when it comes into operation, shall supersede any decree or direction relating to the subject matter thereof, in so far as such decree or direction is in any way repugnant thereto, and its validity shall not be questioned in any Court, nor shall any Court give in contravention of the provisions of the scheme or in any way contrary to or in addition thereto, a decree or direction regarding the administration of the property to which the scheme relates.

(5) In the settlement of such a scheme effect shall be given to the wishes of the author of the trust so far as they can be ascertained, and, in the opinion of the Local Government, effect can reasonably be given to them.

(6) Where a scheme has been settled under this section for the administration of property not already vested in the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments, it shall not come into operation until the property has become so vested.

Notes—A scheme is to be settled for the administration of the property vested in the Treasurer. Such a scheme is to be suituated with the person making the application or substituted by another scheme on the Board of the Board have power, when the Board has decided to approve provisionally of new schemes of charities, varying from the original endowment, but which are to be submitted annually to Parliament for its ratification.—Law of Trusts, 2nd Ed. p. 1209.

6 (1) The application referred to in the two last foregoing sections must be made,—

(a) if the property is already held in trust for a charitable purpose, then by the person acting in the administration of the trust, or, where there are more persons than one so acting, then by those persons or a majority of them; and

(b) if the property is to be applied in trust for such a purpose, then by the person or persons proposing so to apply it.

(2) For the purposes of this section the executor or administrator of a deceased trustee of property held in trust for a charitable purpose shall be deemed to be a person acting in the administration of the trust.

Notes—An application under ss. 4 and 5 may be made by a trustee or a majority of trustees where there are more trustees than one and where property is vested in trustees. The executors or administrators of a deceased trustee may also make an application under ss. 4 and 5.

Exercise by Governor General in Council of powers of Local Government.

7. (1) The Governor General in Council may exercise any or all of the powers conferred on the Local Government by sections 4 and 5.

(2) When the Governor General in Council has signified to the Local Government his intention of exercising any of those powers with respect to any property, that Government shall not, without his previous sanction, exercise them with respect thereto.

Notes.—The Governor-General can exercise the power of the Local Government in important cases.

8. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments shall not, as such Treasurer, act in the administration of any trust wherein any of the property is for the time being vested in him under this Act.

(2) Such Treasurer shall keep a separate account of each property for the time being so vested in so far as the property consists of securities for money; and shall apply the property or the income thereof in accordance with the provision made in that behalf in the vesting order under section 4 or in the scheme, if any, under section 5, or in both those documents.

(3) In the case of any property so vested other than securities for money, such Treasurer shall, subject to any special order which he may receive from the authority by whose order the property became vested in him, permit the persons acting in the administration of the trust to have the possession, management and control of the property, and the application of the income thereof, as if the property had been vested in them.

Notes.—The Treasurer of Charitable Endowments is bound to carry out the provisions of the scheme prepared under section 5. He is to keep an account of the trust property.

9. A Treasurer of Charitable Endowments shall cause to be published Annually publication of list of properties vested in Treasurer. under this Act and an abstract of all accounts kept by him under sub-section (a) of the last foregoing section.

Notes.—This list is published for the information of the public.

10. (1) A Treasurer of Charitable Endowments shall always be a sole trustee, and shall not, as such Treasurer, take or hold any property otherwise than under the provisions of this Act, or subject to those provisions, transfer any property vested in him except in obedience to a decree divesting him of the property, or in compliance with a direction in that behalf issuing from the authority by whose order the property became vested in him.

(2) Such a direction may require the Treasurer to sell or otherwise dispose of any property vested in him, and, with the sanction of the authority issuing the direction, to invest the proceeds of the sale or other disposal of the property in any such security for money as is mentioned in section 4, sub-section (3), clause (a), (b), (c), (d), or (e), or in the purchase of immovable property.

(3) When a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments is divested, by a direction of the Local Government or the Governor General in Council under this section, of any property, it shall vest in the person or persons acting in the administration thereof and be held by him or them on the same trusts as those on which it was held by such Treasurer.

11. If the office held by an officer of the Government who has been appointed to be a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments is abolished or its name is changed, the "Local Government"* may appoint the same or another office to be such Treasurer, and thereupon the holder of the latter office shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be the successor in office of the holder of the former office.

12. If by reason of an alteration of the limits of the territories subject to Transfer of property from one Treasurer to another.

a Local Government, or for any other reason, it appears to the Governor-General in Council that any property vested in a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments should be vested in another such Treasurer, he may direct that the property shall be so vested, and thereupon it shall vest in that other Treasurer and his successors as fully and effectually for the purposes of this Act as if it had been originally vested in him under this Act.

* The words within quotations have been substituted by Act 38 of 1920.
13. (1) The Governor-General in Council may prescribe forms for any proceedings under this Act and may make rules consistent with this Act for prescribing the Local Government which is to exercise the powers conferred by this Act in the case of property which is, or is situated, in territories subject to two or more Local Governments.

(2) The Local Government may make rules consistent with this Act for—

(a) prescribing the fees to be paid to the Government in respect of any property vested under this Act in a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments;

(b) regulating the cases and the mode in which schemes or any modification thereof are to be published before they are settled or made under section 5;

(c) prescribing the forms in which accounts are to be kept by Treasurers of Charitable Endowments and the mode in which such accounts are to be audited; and

(d) generally, carrying into effect the purposes of this Act.

14. No suit shall be instituted against the Government in respect of anything done or purporting to be done under this Act, or in respect of any alleged neglect or omission by the Government under this Act, or in the exercise of any power conferred by this Act except for divesting him of property on the ground of its not being subject to a trust for a charitable purpose, or for making him chargeable with or accountable for the loss or misapplication of any property vested in him, or the income thereof, where the loss or misapplication has been occasioned by or through his wilful neglect or default.

Notes.—By this section the Government and the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments are exempt from all liabilities save and except where such liability is incurred by his wilful neglect or default. The property of a hospital was vested in the Treasurer of the Charitable Endowments Act. The administration of the trust property vested in the hands of a committee. In a suit against the ex-officio secretary for a claim against the committee, held, that the suit could not be filed against the Secretary alone as representing the committee. Ajodha v. The City Magistrate of Lucknow, 29 O. C. 333. This Act has nothing to do with a case where the claim is made in defiance of the trust and on a tule paramount to the settlers. A. I. 15. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to impair the operation of section 111 of the Statute 53, George III, Chapter 155, or of any other enactment for the time being in force, respecting the authority of an Advocate General at a Presidency to act with respect to the vesting of property, ... respecting the vesting of trustee.

THE CHILD MARRIAGE RESTRAINT ACT, 1929.

ACT NO. XIX OF 1929.

RECEIVED THE ASSENT OF THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL ON THE 1ST OCTOBER, 1929.

An Act to restrain the solemnisation of child marriages.

Whereas it is expedient to restrain the solemnisation of child marriages; it is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Child Marriage Restraint Act, 1929.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Santhal Parganas.

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of April, 1930.

Notes.—The object of the Bill is two-fold. The main object, by declaring invalid the marriages of girls below 14 years of age, is to put a stop to such girls becoming widows. The second object, by laying down the minimum marriageable ages of boys and girls, is to prevent, so far as may be, their physical and moral deterioration by removing a principal obstacle to their physical and mental development. Statement of Objects and Reasons. The Act applies to all classes and communities in British India. Report of the Select Committee.

Definitions.

(1) "child" means a person who, if a male, is under eighteen years of age; and if a female, is under fourteen years of age;

(2) "child marriage" means a marriage to which either of the contracting parties is a child;

(3) "contracting party" to a marriage means either of the parties whose marriage is thereby solemnised; and

(4) "minor" means a person of either sex who is under eighteen years of age.

Notes.—We considered a suggestion that the minimum age to determine whether a female is a child for the purpose of sub-clause (a) should be reduced to 11 and another suggestion that it should be reduced to 12 years. The Committee, however, were emphatically of opinion that any such reduction nullify the whole object of the Bill. Report of the Select Committee.

Punishment for male adult below twenty-one years of age marrying a child.

Notes.—The object of the bill as introduced in the Legislature was to impose restraint upon the broadly speaking, to be invalid. The has elicited a striking and on legal ground performed. In our opinion these objections are at present insurmountable; we have accordingly acted upon a suggestion, which has been widely circulated, that Bill should effect its purpose of restraining child marriages, by imposing punishments upon those who commit them. Report of the Select Committee.

* Substituted by Act VIII of 1930.
4. Whoever, being a male above twenty one years of age, contracts a child marriage shall be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Notes.—Vide notes under section 3. A trial under the Act may be summary, as it is permitted by s. 260 (1) (a) Cr. Pro. Code. The mere provision in s. 18 that the trial is to take place in District Magistrate’s Court does not prevent trial from being summary. 35 Cr. L. J. 677=A. I. R. 1934 All. 331.

5. Whoever performs, conducts or directs any child marriage, shall be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both, unless he proves that he had reason to believe that the marriage was not a child marriage.

Notes.—This section excludes betrothal ceremony which is a necessary preliminary to a marriage but which does not constitute a marriage without further ceremony. This section only penalises the persons who actually officiate in that part of the ceremony which finally renders the marriage tie indissoluble. This section also exempts any person who has officiated at a child marriage but who can prove to the Court that he had taken reasonable precautions to satisfy himself that the contracting parties were over the minimum age. Report of the Select Committee. For the purpose of this section the Court must consider only the marriage ceremony. It is quite immaterial where, when or by whom the nikah ceremony is performed. 35 Cr. L. J. 1175=1934 A. L. J. 681=A. I. R. 1934 All. 289.

6. (1) Where a minor contracts a child marriage, any person having charge of the minor, whether as parent or guardian or in any other capacity, lawful or unlawful, who does any act to promote the marriage or permits it to be solemnised, or negligently fails to prevent it from being solemnised, shall be punishable with simple imprisonment, which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both:

Provided that no woman shall be punishable with imprisonment.

(2) For the purposes of this section, it shall be presumed, unless and until the contrary is proved, that, where a minor has contracted a child marriage, the person having charge of such minor has negligently failed to prevent the marriage from being solemnised.

Notes.—”We have provided that the punishment of imprisonment shall not be inflicted in the case of a female parent or guardian; and we rejected a proposal for the omission of the presumption contained in the second part of this clause, as we consider the presumption to enable the provisions of the clause to be applied in cases where, both of Objects and Reasons. Cases where, both, 28 N. L. R. 302=A. I. R. 1932 Nag. 174. One who settles the match and gives away his daughter is guilty under this section. Ibid The case is not ultra vires in case of the Hindus. A. I. R. 1913 Pat. 471 Father giving minor daughter in marriage is guilty under s. 6 A. I. R. 1932 Nag. 174=28 N. L. R. 302=34 Cr. L. J. 311. This section covers cases even where one party is minor. Ibid.”
7. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 25 of the General Clauses Act, 1897,* or section 64 of the Indian Penal Code, a Court sentencing an offender under section 3 shall not be competent to direct that, in default of payment of the fine imposed, he shall undergo any term of imprisonment.

Notes.—“We have, therefore, provided separately in clause 3 for a fine of Rs. 1,000 for offenders above the age of fifteen years and under twenty-one; and in clause 7 we have made provision that imprisonment shall not be imposed on these offenders under any circumstances. Clause 4 relates to offenders above the age of twenty-one years.”—Report of the Select Committee.

8. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 190 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898,‡ no Court other than that of a Presidency Magistrate or a District Magistrate shall take cognizance of, or try, any offence under this Act.

Notes.—“We have added to them certain provisions of procedure which are designed to avoid risk of frivolous prosecutions and harassment. We consider these provisions to be very important safeguards in a measure of social reform directed against a custom so long established and so widely prevalent as that of child marriage. It may be that in future these provisions may be abrogated and the penal provisions of the Act allowed to operate in the normal way, but, for the immediate future at least, we are strongly of opinion that we must go cautiously. In pursuance of this policy we have provided in clause 8 that only Courts of Presidency Magistrates and District Magistrates shall have jurisdiction in cases concerning child marriages.”—Report of the Select Committee.

9. No Court shall take cognizance of any offence under this Act save upon complaint made within one year of the solemnisation of the marriage in respect of which the offence is alleged to have been committed.

Notes.—In order to avoid the risk of frivolous prosecutions and harassment, provision has been made that cognizance can be taken only upon complaint made within one year of the solemnisation of the marriage—Report of the Select Committee.

10. The Court taking cognizance of an offence under this Act shall, unless it dismisses the complaint under section 203 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898,¶ either itself make an inquiry under section 202 of that Code, or direct a Magistrate of the first class subordinate to it to make such inquiry.

Notes.—“In clause 10 we have laid down that the Court, unless it dismisses the complaint, shall in all cases make a preliminary inquiry under section 202 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898”—Report of the Select Committee. A magistrate must hold preliminary inquiry 31 P. L. R. 495 = 130 Ind. Cas 783 = 12 Lah. 383 = A. I. R. 1931 Lah. 56; but see A. I. R. 1934 Lah. 155 = 15 Lah. 63.

11. (1) At any time after examining the complainant and before issuing process for compelling the attendance of the accused, the Court shall, except for reasons to be recorded in writing, require the complainant to execute a bond, with or without sureties, for a sum not exceeding one hundred rupees, as security for the payment of any compensation which the complainant may be directed to pay under section 250 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898‡; and if such security is not furnished within such reasonable time as the Court may fix, the complaint shall be dismissed.

(a) A bond taken under this section shall be deemed to be a bond taken under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898,‡ and Chapter XLII of that Code shall apply accordingly.

Notes.—In order to avoid the risk of frivolous prosecutions and harassment in this section, the Select Committee have added a provision requiring the complainant to give security for the payment of any compensation that may be awarded against him under section 230 of the Criminal Procedure Code—Report of the Select Committee. Where a complaint is made by a judicial officer, he need not execute a bond under this section 19 of the Act, L. T. 791 = A. I. R. 1933 Pat. 87. Provisions of this section are mandatory. Failure to record reasons for not requiring complainant to execute bond is material irregularity and is not curable by s. 537 Cr. Proc. Code = A. R. 1933 Cal. 433 = 37 C. W. N. 626 = 143 Ind. THE INDIAN CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE ACT, 1872.

ACT NO. XV OF 1872.*

Received the Governor General's Assent on the 18th July, 1872.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the solemnisation in India of the marriages of Christians.

Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to the solemnisation in India of the marriages of persons professing the Christian religion; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preliminary.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called "The Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872."

It extends to the whole of British India, and, so far only as regards Christian subjects of Her Majesty, to the territories of Native Princes and States in alliance with Her Majesty.†

Extent.

2. The enactments specified in the fifth schedule hereto annexed are repealed, but not so as to invalidate any marriage confirmed by, or solemnised under, any such enactment.

And all appointments made, licenses granted, consents given, certificates issued, and other things duly done under any such enactment shall be deemed to be respectively made, granted, given, issued and done under this Act.

For clause xxiv of section 19 of the Court fees Act, 1870,‡ the following shall be substituted:—

"xxiv. Petitions under the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, sections forty-five and forty eight."

Interpretation clause.

3. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

"Church of England" and "Anglican" mean and apply to the Church of England as by law established;

* Act XV of 1872 has been declared, under the Schedule Districts Act (XIV of Pargana Dhalbhum of India, 1881, pt I, p. 504.

It has been declared in force in the Saithal Parganas by Reg. (Ill of 1872), s. 3 Arakan Hill District by Reg 1 of the an States) by Act (XII of 1893), s. 4; s. 3.

* 1974 have been omitted.

† VII of 1870.
"Church of Scotland" means the Church of Scotland as by law established;
"Church of Rome" and "Roman Catholic" mean and apply to the Church which regards the Pope of Rome as its spiritual head;
"Church" includes any chapel or other building generally used for public Christian worship;
"Minor" means a person who has not completed the age of twenty-one years, and who is not a widower or a widow;
"Native State" means the territories of any Native Prince or State in alliance with Her Majesty; the expression "Christians" means persons professing the Christian religion; and the expression "Native Christians" includes the Christian descendants of Natives of India converted to Christianity, as well as such converts;
"Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages" means a Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages appointed under the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886.

Notes.—The mere fact that a person was baptized as an infant or that he is attending a Christian School or he is dressing as a Christian is not sufficient to treat him as "a person professing the Christian religion." One who performs "Devika puja" at the time of his marriage cannot be said to profess the Christian

PART III.

MARRIAGES SOLEMNIZED BY MINISTERS OF RELIGION LICENSED UNDER THIS ACT.

12. Whenever a marriage is intended to be solemnized by a Minister of Religion licensed to solemnize marriages under this Act—one of the persons intending marriage shall give notice in writing, according to the form contained in the first schedule hereto annexed, or to the like effect, to the Minister of Religion whom he or she desires to solemnize the marriage, and shall state therein—

(a) the name and surname, and the profession or condition, of each of the

  each of them,

  each has dwelt there, and

  (a) the church or private dwelling in which the marriage is to be solemnized:

Provided that, if either of such persons has dwelt in the place mentioned in the notice during more than one month, it may be stated therein that he or she has dwelt there one month and upwards.

13. If the persons intending marriage desire it to be solemnized in a particular church, and if the Minister of Religion to whom such notice has been delivered be entitled to officiate therein, he shall cause the notice to be affixed in some conspicuous part of such church.

But if he is not entitled to officiate as a Minister in such church, he shall, at his option, either return the notice to the person who delivered it to him, or deliver it to some other Minister entitled to officiate therein, who shall thereupon cause the notice to be affixed as aforesaid.

14. If it be intended that the marriage shall be solemnized in a private dwelling, the Minister of Religion, on receiving the notice prescribed in section 12, shall forward it to the Marriage Registrar of the District, who shall affix the same to some conspicuous place in his own office.

* In s. 10, cl. (3) has been added by Act II of 1891, s. 2.
† In s. 11 the words quoted have been inserted by Act II of 1891, s. 3.
‡ The word "such" has been inserted by Act II of 1891, s. 3.
15. When one of the persons intending marriage is a minor, every Minister receiving such notice shall, unless within twenty-four hours after its receipt he returns the same under the provisions of sections 13, send by the post or otherwise a copy of such notice to the Marriage Registrar of the district, or, if there be more than one Registrar of such district, to the Senior Marriage Registrar.

16. The Marriage Registrar or Senior Marriage Registrar, as the case may be, on receiving any such notice, shall affix it to some conspicuous place in his own office, and the latter shall further cause a copy of the said notice to be sent to each of the other Marriage Registrars in the same district, who shall likewise publish the same in the manner above directed.

17. Any Minister of Religion consenting or intending to solemnize any such marriage as aforesaid, shall, on being required so to do by or on behalf of the person by whom the notice was given, and upon one of the persons intending marriage making the declaration hereinafter required, issue under his hand a certificate of such notice having been given and of such declaration having been made:

Provided—

Provided—

(1) that no such certificate shall be issued until the expiration of four days after the date of the receipt of the notice by such Minister;
(2) that no lawful impediment be shown to his satisfaction why such certificate should not issue; and
(3) that the issue of such certificate has not been forbidden, in manner hereinafter mentioned, by any person authorized in that behalf.

18. The certificate mentioned in section 17 shall not be issued until one of the persons intending marriage has appeared personally before the Minister and made a solemn declaration—

(a) that he or she believes that there is not any impediment of kindred or affinity or other lawful hindrance to the said marriage, and, when either or both of the parties is or are a minor or minors,
(b) that the consent or consents required by law have or has been obtained thereto, or that there is no person resident in India having authority to give such consent, as the case may be.

19. The father, if living, of any minor, or, if the father be dead, the guardian of the person of such minor, and, in case there be no such guardian, then the mother of such minor, may give consent to the minor's marriage, and such consent is hereby required for the same marriage, unless no person authorized to give such consent be resident in India.

20. Every person whose consent to a marriage is required under section 19 is hereby authorized to prohibit the issue of the certificate by any Minister, at any time before the issue of the same, by notice in writing to such Minister, subscribed by the person so authorized with his or her name and place of abode and position with respect to either of the persons intending marriage, by reason of which he or she is so authorized as aforesaid.

* See Act IX of 1875.
‡ See s. 19.
21. If any such notice be received by such Minister, he shall not issue his certificate and shall not solemnize the said marriage, until he has examined into the matter of the said prohibition, and is satisfied that the person prohibiting the marriage has no lawful authority for such prohibition, or until the said notice is withdrawn by the person who gave it.

22. When either of the persons intending marriage is a minor, and the Minister is not satisfied that the consent of the person whose consent to such marriage is required by section 191, has been obtained, such Minister shall not issue such certificate until the expiration of fourteen days after the receipt by him of the notice of marriage.

23. When any Native Christian about to be married takes a notice of marriage to a Minister of Religion, or applies for a certificate from such Minister under section 17, such Minister shall, before issuing the certificate, ascertain whether such Native Christian is cognizant of the purport and effect of the said notice or certificate, as the case may be, and, if not, shall translate or cause to be translated the same language which he understands.

24. The certificate to be issued by such Minister shall be in the form contained in the second schedule hereto annexed, or to the like effect.

25. After the issue of the certificate by the Minister, marriage may be solemnized between the persons therein described according to such form or ceremony as the Minister thinks fit to adopt:

Provided that the marriage be solemnized in the presence of at least two witnesses besides the Minister.

26. Whenever a marriage is not solemnized within two months after the date of the certificate issued by such Minister as aforesaid, such certificate and all proceedings (if any) thereon shall be void, and no person shall proceed to solemnize the said marriage until new notice has been given and a certificate thereof issued in manner aforesaid.

PART IV.

REGISTRATION OF MARRIAGES SOLEMNIZED BY MINISTERS OF RELIGION.

27. All marriages hereafter solemnized in India between persons one or both of whom professes or profess the Christian religion, except marriages solemnized under Part V or Part VI of this Act, shall be registered in manner hereinafter prescribed.

28. Every Clergyman of the Church of England shall keep a register of marriages and shall register therein, according to the tabular form set forth in the third schedule hereto annexed, every marriage which he solemnizes under this Act.

29. Every Clergyman of the Church of England shall send four times in every year returns in duplicate, authenticated by his signature, of the entries in the register of marriages solemnized at any place where he has any spiritual charge, to the Registrar of the Archdeaconry to which he is subject, or within the limits of which such place is situate.

Such quarterly returns shall contain all the entries of marriages contained in the said register from the first day of January to the thirty-first day of March, from the first day of April to the thirtieth day of June, from the first day of July to the thirtieth day of September, and from the first day of October to the thirty-first day of December, of each year respectively, and shall be sent by such Clergyman within two weeks from the expiration of each of the quarters above specified.

The said Registrar upon receiving the said returns shall send one copy thereof to the "Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages."

30. Every marriage solemnized by a Clergyman of the Church of Rome shall be registered by the person and according to the form directed in that behalf by the Roman Catholic Bishop of the Diocese or Vicariate in which such marriage is solemnized, and such person shall forward quarterly to be "Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages."

Registration and returns of marriages solemnized by Clergymen of Church of Rome.

31. Every Clergyman of the Church of Scotland shall keep a register of marriages, and shall register therein, according to the tabular form set forth in the third schedule hereto annexed, every marriage which he solemnizes under this Act, and shall forward quarterly to the "Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and marriages."

through the Senior Chaplain of the Church of Scotland, returns similar to those prescribed in section 59, of all such marriages.

32. Every marriage solemnized by any person who has received episcopal ordination, but who is not a Clergyman of the Church of England, or of the Church of Rome, or by any Minister of Religion licensed under this Act to solemnize marriages, shall, immediately after the solemnization thereof, be registered in duplicate by the person solemnizing the same; (that is to say) in a marriage register-book to be kept by him for that purpose, according to the form contained in the fourth schedule hereto annexed, and also in a certificate attached to the marriage-register-book as a counterfoil.

33. The entry of such marriage in both the certificate and marriage-register-book shall be signed by the person solemnizing the marriage, and also by the persons married, and shall be attested by two credible witnesses, other than the person solemnizing the marriage, present at its solemnization.

Entries of such marriages to be signed and attested.

Every such entry shall be made in order from the beginning to the end of the book, and the number of the certificate shall correspond with that of the entry in the marriage-register-book.

34. The person solemnizing the marriage shall forthwith separate the certificate from the marriage-register-book and send it, within one month from the time of the solemnization, to the Marriage Registrar of the district in which the marriage was solemnized;

Certificate to be forwarded to marriage Registrar, copied and sent to Registrar General.

or, if there be more Marriage Registrars than one, to the Senior Marriage Registrar, who shall cause such certificate to be copied into a book to be kept by him for that purpose, and shall send all the certificates which he has received during the month, with such number and signature or initials added thereto as are hereinafter required, to the "Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages."

35. Such copies shall be entered in order from the beginning to the end of the said book, and shall bear both the number of the certificate as copied, and also a number to be entered by the Marriage Registrar, indicating the number of the entry of the said copy in the said book, according to the order in which he receives each certificate.

36. The Marriage Registrar shall also add such last-mentioned number of the entry of the copy in the book to the certificate, with his signature or initials, and shall, at the end of every month, send the same to the "Registrar-General of Births, Deaths, and Marriages."

Registrar to add number of entry to certificate, and send to Registrar General.

37. When any marriage between Native Christians is solemnized "by any such person, Clergyman or Minister of Religion as is referred to in clause (1), clause (2) or clause (3) of s 5" the person solemnizing the same shall, instead of proceeding in the manner provided by sections 28 to 36, both inclusive, register the marriage in a separate register-book, and shall keep it safely until it is filled, or, if he leave the district in which he solemnized the marriage before the said book is filled, shall make over the same to the person succeeding to his duties in the said district.

Whoever has the control of the book at the time when it is filled shall send it to the Marriage Registrar of the district, or, if there be more Marriage Registrars than one, to the Senior Marriage Registrar, who shall send it to the "Registrar General of Birth, Deaths and Marriages," to be kept by him with the records of his office.

PART V.

MARRIAGES SOLEMNIZED BY, OR IN THE PRESENCE OF, A MARRIAGE REGISTRAR.

38. When a marriage is intended to be solemnized by, or in the presence of, a Marriage Registrar, one of the parties to such marriage shall give notice in writing, in the form contained in the first schedule hereto annexed, or to the like effect, to any Marriage Registrar of the District within which the parties have dwelt; or, if the parties dwell in different districts, shall give the like notice to a Marriage Registrar of each district, and shall state therein the name and surname, and the profession or condition, of each of the parties intending marriage, the dwelling place of each of them, the time during which each has dwelt therein, and the place at which the marriage is to be solemnized:

*The words quoted were substituted for the words "Secretary to the Local Government" by Act (VI of 1886) s. 30, cl (8).
†Substituted by Act XVIII of 1928.
Provided that, if either party has dwelt in the place stated in the notice for more than one month, it may be stated therein that he or she has dwelt there one month and upwards.

39. Every Marriage Registrar shall, on receiving any such notice, cause a copy thereof to be affixed in some conspicuous place in his office.

When one of the parties intending marriage is a minor, every Marriage Registrar shall, within twenty-four hours after the receipt by him of the notice of such marriage, cause a copy of such notice to each of the same district, who shall likewise affix the copy in his own office.

Notice to be filed and copy entered in Marriage Notice Book.

and shall also forthwith enter a true copy of all such notices in a book to be kept by the Local Government, and to be called the same.

40. The Marriage Registrar shall file all such notices and keep them with the records of his office, and shall also forthwith enter a true copy of all such notices in a book to be kept by the Local Government, and to be called the same.

41. If the party by whom the notice was given requests the Marriage Registrar to issue the certificate next hereinafter mentioned, and if one of the parties intending marriage has made oath as hereinafter required, the Marriage Registrar shall issue under his hand a certificate of such notice having been given, and of such oath having been made:

Proviso.

Provided—

that no lawful impediment be shown to his satisfaction why such certificate should not issue;

that the issue of such certificate has not been forbidden, in manner hereinafter mentioned, by any person authorized in that behalf by this Act;

that four days after the receipt of the notice have expired, and further, that where, by such oath, it appears that one of the parties intending marriage is a minor, fourteen days after the entry of such notice have expired.

42. The certificate mentioned in section 41 shall not be issued by any Marriage Registrar, until one of the parties intending marriage appears personally before such Marriage Registrar, and makes oath—

(a) that he or she believes that there is not any impediment of kindred or affinity, or other lawful hindrance, to the said marriage, and

(b) that both the parties have, or (where they have dwelt in the districts of different Marriage Registrars) that the party making such oath has, had their, his, or her usual place of abode within the district of such Marriage Registrar, and, where either or each of the parties is a minor,

(c) that the consent or consents to such marriage required by law has or have been obtained thereto, or that there is no person resident in India authorized to give such consent, as the case may be.

43. When one of the parties intending marriage is a minor, and both such parties are at the time resident in any of the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, and are desirous of being married in less than fourteen days after the entry of such notice as aforesaid, they may apply by petition to a Judge of the High Court, for an order upon the Marriage Registrar to whom the notice of marriage has been given, directing him to issue his certificate before the expiration of the said fourteen days required by section 41.

And, on sufficient cause being shown, the said Judge may, in his discretion, make an order upon such Marriage Registrar, directing him to issue his certificate at any time to be mentioned in the said order before the expiration of the fourteen days so required.

And the said Marriage Registrar, on receipt of the said order, shall issue his certificate in accordance therewith.

Consent of father or guardian.

and any person whose consent to such marriage would be required thereunder may enter a protest against the issue of the Marriage Registrar's certificate, by writing, at any time before the issue of such certificate, the word "forbidden" opposite to the entry of the notice of such intended marriage in the Marriage Notice Book, and by subscribing thereto his or her name and place of abode, and his or her position with respect to either of the parties, by reason of which he or she is so authorized.

When such protest has been entered, no certificate shall issue until the Marriage Registrar has examined into the matter of the protest, and is satisfied that it ought not to obstruct the issue of the certificate for the said marriage, or until the protest be withdrawn by the person who entered it.

Petition where person whose consent is necessary is insane, or unjustly withholds consent.

or if any such person (other than the father) without just cause withholds his consent to the marriage, the parties intending marriage may apply by petition, where the person whose consent is necessary is resident within any of the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, to a Judge of the High Court within any of the said towns, then to the District Judge.

And the said Judge of the High Court may examine and, if upon examination, such marriage appears proper, such Judge of the High Court or District Judge, as the case may be, shall declare the marriage to be a proper marriage.

Such declaration shall be as effectual as if the person whose consent was needed had consented to the marriage; and if he has forbidden the issue of the Marriage Registrar's certificate, such certificate shall be issued and the like proceedings may be had under this Part in relation to the marriage as if the issue of such certificate had not been forbidden.

40. Whenever a Marriage Registrar refuses to issue a certificate under this Part, either of the parties intending marriage may apply by petition, where the district of such Registrar is within any of the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, to a Judge of the High Court, or if such district is not within any of the said towns, then to the District Judge.

The said Judge of the High Court, or District Judge, as the case may be, may examine the allegations of the petition in a summary way, and shall decide thereon.
The decision of such Judge of the High Court or District Judge, as the case may be, shall be final, and the Marriage Registrar to whom the application for the issue of a certificate was originally made shall proceed in accordance therewith.

47. Whenever a Magistrate Registrar resident in any Native State refuses to issue his certificate, either of the parties intending marriage may apply by petition to the Governor-General in Council, who shall decide thereon.

Such decision shall be final, and the Marriage Registrar to whom the application was originally made shall proceed in accordance therewith.

48. Whenever a Marriage Registrar, acting under the provisions of section 44, is not satisfied that the person forbidding the issue of the certificate is authorised by law to do, the said Marriage Registrar shall apply by petition, where his district is within any of the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, to a Judge of the High Court, or, if such district be not within any of the said towns, then to the District Judge.

The said petition shall state all the circumstances of the case, and pray for the order and direction of the Court concerning the same, and the said Judge of the High Court or District Judge, as the case may be, shall examine into the allegations of the petition and the circumstances of the case;

and if, upon such examination, it appears that the person forbidding the issue of such certificate is not authorized by law to do, such Judge of the High Court or District Judge, as the case may be, shall declare that the person forbidding the issue of such certificate is not authorized as aforesaid, and thereupon such certificate shall be issued, and the like proceedings may be had in relation to such marriage as if the issue had not been forbidden.

Whenever a Marriage Registrar appointed under section 8 to act within any Native State is not satisfied that the person forbidding the issue of the certificate is authorized by law to do, the said Marriage Registrar shall send a statement of all the circumstances of the case, together with all documents relating thereto, to the Governor General in Council.

If it appears to the Governor General in Council that the person forbidding the issue of such certificate is not authorized by law to do, the Governor General in Council shall declare that the person forbidding the issue of such certificate is not authorized as aforesaid, and thereupon such certificate shall be issued, and the like proceedings may be had in relation to such marriage, as if the issue of the certificate had not been forbidden.

49. Every person entering a protest with the Marriage Registrar, under this Part, against the issue of any certificate, on grounds which such Marriage Registrar, under section 44, or a Judge of the High Court or the District Judge, under section 45 or 46, declares to be frivolous and such as ought not to obstruct the issue of the certificate, shall be liable for the cost of all proceedings in relation thereto and for damages, to be recovered by suit by the persons against whose marriage such protest was entered.

50. The certificate to be issued by the Marriage Registrar under the provisions of section 41 shall be in the form contained in the second schedule to this Act.

Form of certificate.

annexed or to the like effect, and the Local Government shall furnish to every Marriage Registrar a sufficient number of forms of certificate.

Solemnization of marriage 51. After the issue of the certificate of after issue of certificate, the Marriage Registrar, or, where notice is required to be given under this Act to the Marriage Registrars for different districts, after the issue of the certificates of the Marriage Registrars for such districts, may, if there be no lawful impediment to the marriage of the parties described in such certificate or certificates, be solemnized between them, according to such form and ceremony as they think fit to adopt.

But every such marriage shall be solemnized in the presence of some Marriage Registrar (to whom shall be delivered such certificate or certificates as aforesaid), and of two or more credible witnesses besides the Marriage Registrar.

And in some part of the ceremony each of the parties shall declare as follows, or to the like effect:—

"I do solemnly declare that I know not of any lawful impediment why I, A. B., may not be joined in matrimony to C. D."

And each of the parties shall say to the other as follows or to the like effect:

"I call upon these persons here present to witness that I, A. B., do take thee, C. D., to be my lawful wedded wife (or husband)."

52. Whenever a marriage is not solemnized within two months after the copy of the notice has been entered by the Marriage Registrar, as required by section 40, the notice and the certificate, if any, issued thereupon, and all other proceedings thereupon, shall be void; and no person shall proceed to solemnize the marriage, nor shall any Marriage Registrar enter the same, until new notice has been given, and entry made, and certificate thereof given, at the time and in the manner aforesaid.

Marriage Registrar may ask for particulars to be registered.

53. A Marriage Registrar before whom any marriage is solemnized under this Part may ask of the persons to be married the several particulars required to be registered touching such marriage.

54. After the solemnization of any marriage under this Part, the Marriage Registrar present at such solemnization shall forthwith register the marriage in duplicate; that is to say, in a marriage-register-book, according to the form of the fourth schedule hereto annexed, and also in a certificate attached to the marriage-register-book as a counterfoil.

The entry of such marriage in both the certificate and the marriage-register-book shall be signed by the person by or before whom the marriage has been solemnized, if there be any such person, and by the Marriage Registrar present at such marriage, whether or not it is solemnized by him, and also by the parties married, and attested by two credible witnesses other than the Marriage Registrar and person solemnizing the marriage.

Every such entry shall be made in order from the beginning to the end of the book, and the number of the certificate shall correspond with that of the entry in the marriage-register-book.

55. The Marriage Registrar shall forthwith separate the certificate from the marriage-register-book and send it, at the end of every month, to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages."

* Substituted by Act VI of 1886.
The Marriage Registrar shall keep safely the said register-book until it is filled, and shall then send it to the "Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages," to be kept by him with the records of his office.

56. The Marriage Registrars in Native States shall send the certificates mentioned in section 54 to such officers as the Governor General in Council from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoints in this behalf.

57. When any Native Christian about to be married gives a notice of marriage, or applies for a certificate from a Marriage Registrar, such Marriage Registrar shall ascertain whether the said Native Christian understands the English language, and, if he does not, the Marriage Registrar shall translate, or cause to be translated, such notice or certificate, or both of them, as the case may be, to such Native Christian into a language which he understands; or the Marriage Registrar shall otherwise ascertain whether the Native Christian is cognizant of the purport and effect of the said notice and certificate.

58. When any Native Christian is married under the provisions of this Part, the person solemnizing the marriage shall ascertain whether such Native Christian understands the English language, and, if he does not, the person solemnizing the marriage shall, at the time of the solemnization, translate, or cause to be translated, to such Native Christian, into a language which he understands, the declarations made at such marriage in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

59. The registration of marriages between Native Christians under this Part shall be made in conformity with the rules laid down in section 37 (so far as they are applicable), and not otherwise.

PART VI.†

MARRIAGE OF NATIVE CHRISTIANS.

60. Every marriage between Native Christians applying for a certificate shall, without the preliminary notice required under Part III, be certified under this Part, if the following conditions are fulfilled, and not otherwise:

(1) the age of the man intending to be married shall exceed sixteen years, and the age of the woman intending to be married shall exceed thirteen years;

(2) neither of the persons intending to be married shall have a wife or

*I call upon these persons here present to witness that I, A. B., in the presence of Almighty God, and in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, do take thee, C. D., to be my lawful wedded wife (or husband)," or words to the like effect:

Provided that no marriage shall be certified under this Part when either of the parties intending to be married has not completed his or her eighteenth year, unless such consent as is mentioned in section 19 has been given to the intended marriage, or unless it appears that there is no person living authorized to give such consent.

61. When, in respect to any marriage solemnized under this Part, the conditions prescribed in section 60 have been fulfilled, the person licensed as aforesaid, in whose presence the said declaration has been made, shall, on the application of either of the parties to such marriage, and on the payment of a fee of four annas, grant a certificate of the marriage.

The certificate shall be signed by such licensed person, and shall be received in any suit touching the validity of such marriage as conclusive proof of its having been performed.

62. (1) Every person licensed under section 9 shall keep in English, or in the vernacular language in ordinary use in the district or State in which the marriage was solemnized, and in such form as the Local Government by which he was licensed may from time to time prescribe, a register-book of all marriages solemnized under this Part in his presence, and shall deposit in the office of the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories under the administration of the said Local Government, in such form and at such intervals as that Government may prescribe, true and duly authenticated extracts from his register-book of all entries made therein since the last of those intervals.

(2) Where the person keeping the register-book was licensed as regards a Native State by the Governor General in Council, references in sub-section (1) to the Local Government therein mentioned shall be read as references to the Local Government to whose Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages certified copies of entries in registers of births and deaths are for the time being required to be sent under section 24, sub-section (2), of the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1896 *

63. Every person licensed under this Act to grant certificates of marriage, and keeping a marriage-register-book under section 62, shall, at all reasonable times, allow search to be made in such book, and shall, on payment of the proper fee, give a copy, certified under his hand, of an entry therein.

64. The provisions of sections 62 and 63 as to the form of the Register book, depositing extracts therefrom, allowing searches thereof, and giving copies of the entries therein, shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to the books kept under section 37 except so much of sections 62 and 63 as are referred to in section 64, shall not apply to marriages between Roman Catholics. But nothing herein contained shall invalidate any marriage celebrated between Roman Catholics under the provisions of this Act, previous to the twenty third day of Feb-

PART VIII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

77. Whenever any marriage has been solemnized in accordance with the provisions of sections 4 and 5, it shall not be void merely on account of any irregularity in respect of any of the following matters, namely:—

(1) Any statement made in regard to the dwelling of the persons married, or to the consent of any person whose consent to such marriage is required by law:

(2) The notice of the marriage:

(3) The certificate or translation thereof:

(4) The time and place at which the marriage has been solemnized:

(5) The registration of the marriage.

78. Every person charged with the duty of registering any marriage, who discovers any error in the form or substance of any such entry, may, within one month next after the discovery of such error, in the presence of the persons married, or, in case of their death or absence, in the presence of two other credible witnesses, correct the error, by entry in the margin, without any alteration of the original entry, and shall sign the marginal entry, and add thereto the date of such correction, and such person shall make the like marginal entry in the certificate thereof.

And every entry made under this section shall be attested by the witnesses in whose presence it was made.

And in case such certificate has been already sent to the "Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages,"* such person shall make and send in like manner a separate certificate of the original erroneous entry, and of the marginal correction therein made.

Searches and copies of entries.

THE INDIAN COFFEE CESS ACT, 1935.

ACT NO. XIV OF 1935.
[Passed by the Indian Legislature]

Received the assent of the Governor-General on the 2nd November, 1935.

An Act to provide for the creation of a fund for the promotion of the cultivation, manufacture and sale of Indian Coffee.

Whereas it is expedient to provide for the creation of a fund to be expended by a Committee specially constituted in this behalf for the promotion of the cultivation, manufacture and sale of Indian coffee; It is hereby enacted as follows:

1. This Act may be called the Indian Coffee Cess Act, 1935.
(2) It extends to the whole of British India except Burma.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "coffee cess" means the customs duty imposed by section 3 and leviable under the Sea Customs Act, 1878,* or under the Land Customs Act, 1924,+ as the case may be;

(2) "Collector" means a Customs-collector as defined in clause (c) of section 3 of the Sea Customs Act 1878,* or a Collector of Land Customs as defined in clause (c) of section 2 of the Land Customs Act, 1924,+ as the case may be; and

(3) "Committee" means the Indian Coffee Cess Committee constituted under section 4.

3. A customs duty shall be levied on all coffee produced in India and imposition of coffee cess taken by sea or by land to any place beyond the limits of British India or to Burma at the rate of one rupee per hundred weight or at such lower rate as the Governor General in Council may, on the recommendation of the Committee, by notification in the Gazette of India provide.

4. (1) The Governor General in Council shall constitute a Committee consisting of Indian Coffee Cess Committee, consisting of the following members to receive and expend the proceeds of the coffee cess, namely:—

(i) five persons representing respectively the agricultural departments of the Local Governments of Madras and Coorg and of the Governments of the States of Mysore, Travancore and Cochin, nominated, respectively, by those Governments;

(ii) eleven persons representing

(a) three persons nominated

(b) two persons nominated

Coorg, respectively;

(c) three persons nominated by the United Planters' Association of Southern India; and

(d) three persons nominated by the Coffee Growers' Association;

(iii) three persons representing trade interests nominated by the Governor General in Council; and

(iv) one person representing the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research nominated by the Governor General in Council.

(2) The Governor General in Council shall publish in the Gazette of India the names of all members of the Committee.

5. (1) If any authority or body fails to make within a reasonable time any nomination which it is entitled to make under section 4, the Governor General in Council may himself nominate a member to fill the vacancy.

(2) Where a member of the Committee dies, resigns, ceases to reside in India or becomes incapable of acting, the Governor General in Council may, on the recommendation of the authority or body which is entitled to make the first nomination under section 4, or, where such recommendation is not made within a reasonable time, then on his own initiative, nominate a person to fill the vacancy.

(3) No act done by the Committee shall be questioned on the ground merely of the existence of any vacancy in, or any defect in, the constitution of the committee.

* VIII of 1878.
+ XIX of 1924.
6. The Committee so constituted shall be a body corporate by the name of the Indian Coffee Cess Committee, having perpetual succession and a common seal, with power to acquire and hold property, both movable and immovable, and to contract and shall by the said name sue and be sued.

7. The Committee shall elect a chairman from amongst its members, and may appoint such sub-committees and executive officers as may be necessary for the efficient performance of the duties imposed upon it by this Act.

8. (1) On the last day of each month, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient, the Collector shall pay to the Committee the proceeds of the coffee cess recovered during that month, after deduction of the expenses, if any, for collection and recovery.

(2) The said proceeds and any other monies received by the Committee in this behalf shall be applied to meeting the expenses of the Committee and the cost of such measures as it may consider advisable to undertake for promoting the sale and increasing the consumption in India and elsewhere of coffee produced in India and also for promoting agricultural and technological research in the interest of the coffee industry in India.

9. The Central Board of Revenue constituted under the Central Board of Revenue Act, 1924,* may make rules providing, on such conditions as may be specified in the rules, for—

(a) the refund of the coffee cess levied where coffee is exported by land and subsequently imported into India; and

(b) the export by land, without payment of the coffee cess, of coffee which is subsequently to be imported into India.

10. (1) The Committee shall keep accounts of all monies received and expended under section 8.

(2) Such accounts shall be examined and audited annually by auditors appointed in this behalf by the Governor General in Council; and such auditors shall have power to disallow any item which has, in their opinion, been expended otherwise than in pursuance of the purposes of this Act.

(3) If any item is disallowed, an appeal shall lie to the Governor General in Council, whose decision shall be final.

11. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare that, with effect from such date as he may determine, the Committee shall be dissolved, and other property vested in the Committee shall be deemed to have been disposed of under the provisions of this Act.

12. (1) The Governor General in Council may, after consulting the Committee, by notification in the Gazette of India, make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(a) the term of office of the members of the Committee and the circumstances in which, and the authority by which, members may be removed;
(b) the conduct of business by the Committee and the number of members which shall form a quorum at meetings;
(c) the maintenance by the Committee of a record of all business transacted and the submission of copies thereof to the Governor General in Council;
(d) the preparation of annual estimates of receipts and expenditure;
and
(e) the form of accounts to be kept and the publication of an abstract of such accounts with the report of the auditor thereon.

13. The Committee may, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, make bye-laws consistent with this Act and with the rules made thereunder to provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—
(a) the procedure to be followed at meetings of the Committee;
(b) members of the Committee;
(c) and dismissal of officers and servants of
(d) abolition of appointments of such officers and servants;
(e) the grant of pay and leave to such officers and servants; and
(f) any other matter in respect of which bye-laws may be made under this Act or rules made thereunder.

THE INDIAN COINAGE ACT, 1906.

ACT NO. III OF 1906.

[PASSED BY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.]

Received the assent of the Governor-General on the 2nd March, 1906.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Coinage and the Mint.

Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to Coinage and the Mint; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preliminary.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Coinage Act, 1906; and
(a) It extends to the whole of British India, inclusive of British Baluchistan, the Sonthal Parganas and the Pargana of Spiti.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "the Mint" includes the Mints now existing and any which may hereafter be established;
(b) "prescribed" includes prescribed by a rule made under this Act;
(c) "remedy" means variation from the standard weight and fineness;
and
(d) "standard weight" means the weight prescribed for any coin.

Power to establish and abo- 3. The Governor General in Council may lish mints.

(a) establish a Mint at any place at which a Mint does not for the time being exist; and
(b) abolish any Mint, whether now existing or hereafter established.

Diminished, Defaced and Counterfeit Coins.

16. Where any silver coin which has been coined and issued under the authority of the Governor General in Council is tendered to any person authorised by the Governor General in Council or by the Local Government to act under this section, and such person has reason to believe that the coin—
(a) has been diminished in weight so as to be more than such percentage below standard weight as may be prescribed as the limit of reasonable wear, or
(b) has been defaced, he shall, by himself or another, cut or break the coin.

Procedure in regard to coin cut under section 16 (a).

17. A person cutting or breaking coin under the provisions of clause (a) of section 16 shall observe the following procedure, namely:—

(a) if the coin has been diminished in weight so as to be more than such percentage below standard weight as may be prescribed as the limit of reasonable wear, but not more than such further percentage as may be prescribed in this behalf he shall either return the pieces to the person tendering the coin, or, if such person so requests, shall receive and pay for the coin at such rates as may be prescribed in this behalf; and

(b) if the coin has been diminished in weight so as to be more than such further percentage below standard weight so prescribed as aforesaid he shall return the pieces to the person tendering the coin, who shall bear the loss caused by such cutting or breaking.

THE INDIAN COMPANIES ACT, 1913.

AGS No. VII of 1913.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Trading Companies and other Associations.

Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to Trading Companies and other Associations; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

The Indian Companies Act—The Indian Companies Act is based upon the English Companies Act, 1862, and many sections of that Act have been taken verbatim from the Act, in substituting the Indian Companies Act, recourse may be had to the English Act where it is based on the corresponding section of the English Act. See the Appendix to Regulation of the Indian Companies Act, Vol. I, page 307. The Companies Act is an Act for the regulation of companies and joint-stock companies. The Act provides for the registration of companies, the regulation of their affairs, and the protection of their interests. It is a comprehensive Act, and its provisions are modelled on the English Companies Act.

Although an individual may practically hold all the shares, the Act provides for the protection of minority shareholders. The Act also provides for the appointment of auditors and the holding of annual general meetings. The Act has proved to be a boon to the Indian business community, and its provisions are widely respected and followed.

The British Government introduced the Act to provide a legal framework for the registration and operation of companies in India. The Act aimed to promote industrial growth and modernize the Indian economy. It also aimed to protect the rights of shareholders and ensure fair competition in the market.

The Act has undergone several amendments over the years to keep pace with the changing business environment. The latest amendment was in 2013, which introduced provisions to enhance corporate governance and strengthen investor protection.

In conclusion, the Indian Companies Act, 1913, is a landmark legislation that has played a pivotal role in the development of the Indian corporate sector. Its provisions have contributed significantly to the growth and prosperity of the Indian economy.
the language of the Statute, and to ask, what is its natural meaning uninfluenced by any considerations derived from the previous state of the law, and not to start with inquiring how the law previously stood, and then assuming that it was probably intended to leave it unaltered to see if the words of the enactment will bear an interpretation in conformity with this view. If a Statute intended to embody a Code a particular branch of the law is to be treated in this fashion it appears to me that its utility will be almost entirely destroyed, and the very object with which it was enacted will be frustrated. The purpose of such a Statute surely was that on any points specifically dealt with by it, the law should be ascertained by interpreting the language used instead of, as before, by roaming over a vast number of authorities in order to discover what the law was—extracting it by a minute critical examination of the prior decisions dependent upon a knowledge of the exact effect even of an obsolete proceeding such as a demurrer to evidence. I am, of course, far from asserting that resort may never be had to the previous state of the law for the purpose of aiding in the construction of the provisions of the Code. If, for example, a provision be of doubtful import such resort would be perfectly legitimate. Or again, if in a Code of the law of negotiable instruments words would be found which had previously acquired a technical meaning, or been used in a sense other than their ordinary one in relation to such instruments the same interpretation might well be put upon them in the Code. I take these as examples merely; they, of course, do not exhaust the category. What, however, I am venturing to insist upon is, that the first step taken should be to interpret the language of the Statute, and that an appeal to earlier decisions can only be justified on some special ground." Bank of England v. Vaglione, (1891) A. C. 144. In Mersey Dock Case, 11 H. L. C. 443, Blackburn J. said: "Where an Act of Parliament has received a judicial construction putting a certain meaning on its words, and the legislature in a subsequent Act in should be so construed, even if the words were such that they might originally have been construed otherwise." See also 5 Ch. 703; (1891) 3 Ch. 115; 14 Ch. D. 571; (1904) 2 K. B. 859.

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(2) It shall come into force on the first day of April, 1914, and

(3) It extends to the whole of British India including British Baluchistan and the Santhal Parganas.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "articles" means the articles of association of a company as originally framed or as altered by special resolution, including, so far as they apply to the company, the regulations contained (as the case may be) in Table B in the Schedule annexed to Act No XIX of 1857 or in the Table A in the First Schedule annexed to the Indian Companies Act, 1882,* or in Table A in the First Schedule annexed to this Act:

(2) "company" means a company formed and registered under this Act or an existing company:

(3) "the Court" means the Court having jurisdiction under this Act:

(4) "debenture" includes debenture stock:

(5) "director" includes any person occupying the position of a director by whatever name called:

(6) "District Court" means the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in a district, but does not include a High Court in the exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction :

* Act VI of 1882.
(7) "existing company" means a company formed and registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1866,* or under any Act or Acts repealed thereby, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1882 †.

(8) "Insurance Company" means a company that carries on the business of insurance either solely or in common with any other business or businesses:

(9) "manager," includes any person occupying the position of a manager by whatever name called and whether under a contract of service or not:

(10) "memorandum" means the memorandum of association of a company as originally framed or as altered in pursuance of the provisions of this Act:

secretary but, save in

... of this Act relating to the winding up of companies, prescribed by rules made by the High Court, and, as respects the other provisions of this Act, prescribed by the Governor General in Council:

(13) "private company" means a company which

(i) by its articles—

(a) restricts the right to transfer its shares; and

(b) limits the number of its members (exclusive of persons who are in the employ of the company) to fifty; and

(c) prohibits any invitation to the public to subscribe for any shares or debentures of the company: and

(ii) continues to observe such restrictions, limitations and prohibitions:

Provided that where two or more persons hold one or more shares in a company jointly they shall, for the purposes of this definition, be considered as a single member:

(14) "prospectus" means any prospectus, notice, circular, advertisement or other invitation, offering to the public for subscription or purchase any shares or debentures of a company:

(15) "the registrar" means a registrar or assistant registrar performing under this Act the duty of registration of companies: and

(16) "share" means share in the share capital of the company, and includes stock except when a distinction between stock and shares is expressed or implied.

3. (1) The Court having jurisdiction under this Act shall be the High Court Jurisdiction of the Courts, having jurisdiction in the place at which the registered office of the company is situate:

Provided that the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette and subject to such restrictions and conditions as it thinks fit, empower any District Court to exercise all or any of the jurisdiction by this Act conferred upon the Court, and in that case such District Court shall, as regards the jurisdiction so conferred, be the Court in respect of all companies having their registered offices in the district.

(2) For the purposes of jurisdiction to wind up companies, the expression "registered office" means the place which has longest been the registered office of the company during the six months immediately preceding the presentation of the petition for winding up.

(3) Nothing in this section shall invalidate a proceeding by reason of its being taken in a wrong Court.

District Court.—S. 284 is wide enough to preserve the existing jurisdiction of District Courts over cases which began before the commencement of this Act. Daniel v. Liquidators, 29 P. CONSTITUTION AND INCORPORATION.

4. (1) No company, association or partnership consisting of more than ten persons shall be formed for the purpose of carrying on the business of banking unless it is registered as a company under this Act, or is formed in pursuance of an Act of Parliament or some other Act of the Governor-General in Council, or of Royal Charter or Letters Patent.

(2) No company, association or partnership consisting of more than twenty persons shall be formed for the purpose of carrying on any other business that has for its object the acquisition of a gain by the company, association or partnership, or by the individual members thereof, unless it is registered as a company under this Act, or is formed in pursuance of an Act of Parliament or some other Act of the Governor General in Council or of Royal Charter or Letters Patent.

Company.—The words "company" and "association" are synonymous. Smith v. Anderson, 15 Ch. D. 247. To constitute an association within the meaning of this section, it is absolutely necessary that there should be between more than twenty persons so associated a legal relation giving rise to joint and mutual rights and obligations. T. P. Naidu v. A. S. Mudaliar, 50 Ind. Cas. 513. An agreement known as a "khisam" under which more than twenty persons contract with the manager of the fund to pay their subscriptions for a fixed period and draw the amount by lots, creates rights as between the manager and the other parties to the agreement but it creates no legal relation between the other parties inter se, and is, therefore, not an association within the meaning of this section. Ibid. An association of several formed with the object of acquiring com-

The word "person" denotes individuals whether corporate or not, since any such extended definition would be repugnant to the subject and context of the section. Ibid. The formation of a company exceeding the requisite number of persons is illegal, without registration. Ram v. Nen, 64 Ind. Cas. 447=19 A. L. J. 835; District Savings Bank, 33 C. G. F. & J. 315; Re Thomas, (1885) 14 Q. B. D. 379.

Business.—The term "business" is wider than the term "trade" and as such includes farming. Harris v. Attew, L. R. 1 C. P. 117; see also Growther v. Thorley, 32 W. R. 330. As regards what are not business, vide Smith v. Anderson, 15 Ch. D. 247; Re Siddal, 20 Ch. D. 1; Wigfield v. Porter, 45 L. T. 612; Reg v. Whitmarsh, 15 Q. B. 609; Moore v. Rawlins, 6 C. B. N. S. 289. A business cannot be carried on by more than 20 trustees where the cuius est trustor do not exceed twenty does not require registration. Smith v. Anderson, 15 Ch. D. 247; Growther v. Thorley, 32 W. R. 330; see also 25 T. L. R. 574. The term "carrying on business" means some continuous control over the business by the association. A. I. R. 1934 Lah. 535=36 P. L. R. 149.

Gain.—The section will be satisfied if the individual members acquire gain. 10 Ch. D. 542; 20 Ch. D. 137. The term "gain" is not confined to pecuniary gain. 10 Ch. D. 542.

Non-registration.—An association which is required to be registered under this section cannot sue and be sued unless registered under the Act. Shaw v. Benson, 11 Q. B. D. 563; Fenning v. Hammond, 9 Q. B. D. 225; Edinburgh Aerated Co. (1904) 4 Fraser, 1159; 9 Ind. Cas. 25; 1 B. 515; 19 M. 209; 20 Ch. D. 137; 12 A. L. J. 836. A Trade Association cannot be said to be unlawful, merely because it has not been registered in conformity with the provisions of the Act. 53 A. 516=A. I. R. 1931 All. 83. When the total number of persons constituting four unregistered firms carrying on business consists of 22 persons, such partnership is illegal. 126 Ind. Cas. 429=A. I. R. 1930 P. C. 394=34 C. W. Exception. — This section contains an exception in favour of companies formed under other Act of the Governor General in Council. Vide Peat v. Fowler, 55 L. J. Q. B. 3. Foreign companies come within this section.

Memorandum of Association.

5. Any seven or more persons (or, where the company to be formed will be a private company, any two or more persons) subscribing their names to a memorandum of association and otherwise complying with the requirements of this Act in respect of registration, form an incorporated company, with or without limited liability (that is to say), either—

(i) a company having the liability of its members limited by the memorandum to the amount, if any, unpaid on the shares respectively held by them (in this Act termed a company limited by shares); or

(ii) a company having the liability of its members limited by the memorandum to such amount as the members may respectively undertake to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up (in this Act termed a company limited by guarantee); or

(iii) a company not having any limit on the liability of its members (in this Act termed an unlimited company).

Notes. — Where the proprietors of a zemindari having grown too numerous formed themselves into a limited liability company and the company was duly formed in Companies Act: Held, that such a company was against public policy. 16 C. W. N. 297.

Memorandum of company limited by shares.

(i) the memorandum shall state—

(i) the name of the company, with “Limited” as the last word in its name;

(ii) the province in which the registered office of the company is to be situate;

(iii) the objects of the company;

(iv) that the liability of the members is limited in the company proposes to be a fixed amount;

(3) each subscriber shall write opposite to his name the number of shares he takes.

Memorandum of Association. — In Ashbury Railway Carriage and Iron Company, Ltd. v. Rich, L. R. 7 H. L. 653, Lord Chancellor Currie observed: "With powers of the governing body as between themselves and the company at large and the manner in which the business of the company is to be carried on, and the manner in which changes in the internal regulations of the company may from time to time be made. With regard, therefore, to the Memorandum of Association, if you find anything which goes beyond that memorandum, or is not warranted by it, the question will arise, whether that which is so done is ultra vires,

"The memorandum is, as it were, the area beyond which the action of the company cannot go; inside that area the shareholders may make such regulation for their own government as they think fit." Per Lord Cairns in Ashbury Rail Barrett v. Sherriff, (1851) 2 Ch. 50; Passey v. Com. Co. (1901) 1 Ch. 353.

A Memorandum of Association like any other document must be read fairly and interpreted reasonably. There is no specially rigid canon of construction. The intention is to be gathered from the language used. Antecedent transactions and surrounding circumstances cannot be looked into. A. R. R. 1834 P. C. 151=154 Ed. Cas. 333 P. C. Powers are not required to be and ought not to be required to in the memorandum. In the case of a trading company, the memorandum should only define the trade and not specify the various acts which it should be within the power of the company to do in carrying on the trade. Ibid.

Name of the Company — "Why this insistence on the part of the legislature as to publication of a company's name? The answer is, that the legislature, whilst allowing the company, desired by this means to make the company itself constructively notice to those who deal or might deal with it the fact that it was limited." — Per "p. 248.

Registered Office — Every company under the Act is bound to have a registered office to which all communications and notices may be addressed. 14 & 15.

Objects of the Company — The third requirement is that the company must state the objects of the proposed company. The objects must not include anything objects stated must not include anything in contravention of the general law. The object clause limits the power of the company. South End Brewery Co. v. De News (1851) 1 Ch. 364. Any act done beyond what is stated in the object clause, unless the consent of every single shareholder is given, will not make it good. Northern & Southern Railway Co. (1872) L. R. 5 P. C. 545; Blackstone v. Noon, Noon (1851) 2 L. S. C. 183; National Telephone
Co. v. St. Peter's Park (1900) A. C. 91; Curtiss-Wright & Radley v. Taran
(1872) 1 Ch. 140.

An alteration in the memorandum can only be made by a special resolution.

Memorandum of company 7 In the case of a company limited by limited by

(1) the memorandum shall state
(2) the name of the company, with "Limited" as the last word in its name;
(3) the province in which the registered office of the company is to be situated;
(4) the objects of the company.
(iv) that the liability of the members is limited;
(v) that each member undertakes to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up while he is a member, or within one year afterwards, for payment of the debts and liabilities of the company contracted before he ceases to be a member, and of the costs, charges and expenses of winding up, and for adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves, such amount as may be required, not exceeding a specified amount:
(a) if the company has a share capital—
(i) the memorandum shall also state the amount of share capital with which the company proposes to be registered and the division thereof into shares of a fixed amount;
(ii) no subscriber of the memorandum shall take less than one share;
(iii) each subscriber shall write opposite to his name the number of shares he takes.

Notes—A member of a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital which has a share capital, every member to the amount undertaken to be contributed by him to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up, to contribute to the extent of any sums unpaid on any shares held by him. Stiebel, Company Law, p. 1153.

Memorandum of unlimited company.

8. In the case of an unlimited company—

(i) the memorandum shall state—

(ii) the name of the company;

(iii) the province in which the registered office of the company is to be situate;

(iv) the objects of the company;

(v) if the company has a share capital—

(i) no subscriber of the memorandum shall take less than one share;

(ii) each subscriber shall write opposite to his name the number of shares he takes.

Notes—Companies with unlimited liability are rarely formed and while limited companies have been increasing by leaps and bounds unlimited companies have dwindled nearly to zero. An unlimited company requires a memorandum and articles of association and may have a joint stock capital divided into shares, or no such capital. Its name will not include the word "Limited". If the company is wound up, the liability of its members to contribute to the payment of debts and costs of winding up will be unlimited. Palmer's Company Law, p. 375.

9. The memorandum shall be signed by each subscriber in the presence of at least one witness who shall attest the signature.

Signature of memorandum.

Signature—Any one may sign the memorandum. A subscriber may be a minor and the signature need not be of full age. Any one may be a witness. A witness need not be a subscriber.

Notes—Signatures need not be used; but sometimes the same witness cannot attest all the signatures and in that case the attestation clause must be altered. Palmer's Company Law, p. 36. After registration a subscription cannot be repudiated on the ground of misrepresentation. Metal Constituents Ltd. (1902) 1 Ch 707.

10. A company shall not alter the conditions contained in its memorandum except in the cases and in the mode and to the extent for which express provision is made in this Act.

Restriction on alteration of memorandum.
Notes.—In keeping a company strictly to the objects defined in its memorandum of association the Legislature intended to protect, not only investors and shareholders, but also the outside public, and more particularly creditors. Ashbury v. Ritchie, 7 H. L. 667. (2) If a company, through inadvertence or otherwise, is, without such consent as aforesaid, registered by a name identical with that by which a company in existence is previously registered, or so nearly resembling it as to be calculated to deceive, the first-mentioned company may, with the sanction of the registrar, change its name.

(3) A company shall not be registered by a name which contains any of the following words, namely:—"Crown," "Emperor," "Empire," "Empress," "Imperial," "King," "Queen," "Royal." ("Bank of Bengal," "Bank of Madras," "Bank of Bombay") or words expressing or implying the sanction, approval or patronage of the Crown or the Government of India or a Local Government, except where the Governor General in Council signifies his consent to the use of such words as part of the name of the company by order in writing under the

(4) Any company may, by special resolution and subject to the approval of the Local Government signified in writing, under the hand of one of the Secretaries to such Government, change its name.

(5) Where a company changes its name, the registrar shall enter the new name on the register in place of the former name, and shall issue a certificate of incorporation altered to meet the circumstances of the case. On the issue of such certificate, the change of name shall be complete.

(6) The change of name shall not affect any rights or obligations of the company, or render defective any legal proceedings by or against the company; and any legal proceedings that might have been continued or commenced against it by its former name may be continued or commenced against it by its new name.

Clause (2).—The principle on which the Court interferes in such cases is that one person is not to be permitted to represent the business which is carried on by another as carried on by him. *Croft v. 12. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, a company may, by special Alteration of Memorandum resolution, alter the provisions of its memorandum so as to change the place of the registered office from one province to another, or with respect to the objects of the company, so far as may be required to enable it—

(a) to carry on its business more economically or more efficiently; or
(b) to attain its main purpose by new or improved means; or
(c) to enlarge or change the local area of its operations; or
(d) to carry on some business which under existing circumstances may conveniently or advantageously be combined with the business of the company; or
(e) to restrict or abandon any of the objects specified in the memorandum.

(2) The alteration shall not take effect until and except in so far as it is confirmed by the Court on petition.

(3) Before confirming the alteration, the Court must be satisfied—

(a) that sufficient notice has been given to every holder of debentures of the company, and to any persons or class of persons whose interest will, in the opinion of the Court, be affected by the alteration; and

(b) that, with respect to every creditor who in the opinion of the Court is entitled to object, and who signifies his objection in manner directed by the Court, either his consent to the alteration has been obtained or his debt or claim has been discharged or has determined, or has been secured to the satisfaction of the Court:

Provided that the Court may, in the case of any person or class, for special reasons, dispense with the notice required by this section.

Scope—This section empowers a company by special resolution to add to or alter its articles. Such alterations must be "subject to the provisions of the Act and to the conditions contained in the Memorandum of Association." All or any of the articles may be altered and no restriction can be put upon this power in the memorandum. Walker v London Tramway Co., 12 Ch. D. 705; Matleson v National Insurance Co., (1894) 1 Ch. 207 Such alterations are binding on outsiders. Allen v Gold, (1900) 1 Ch. 656; Punt v Symons, (1905) 2 Ch. 500 "The power" said Lindley M. R. in Allen v. Gold, (1900) 1 Ch. 656, "thus conferred on corporation to alter the regulations is limited only by the provisions contained in the Statute and the conditions contained in the company's Memorandum of Association. It must be exercised for the benefit of the Company as a whole, and it must not be exceeded. These conditions are always implied and are seldom if ever expressed. But if they are complied with, I can discover no ground for judicially putting any other restrictions on the power conferred by the section than those contained in it." See also Pepo v. City, (1893) 2 Ch. 311; (1895) A. C. 35. But in making the alterations no statutory principles of law must be violated, (1895) 1 Ch. 121; (1900) 1 Ch. 508; (1908) 1 Ch. 84. For purposes of jurisdiction for an application under this section of the Companies Act to confirm the resolutions proposing the transfer of the place of business, the Court must have ordinary jurisdiction in the place at which the registered office of the company is situate. 96 Ind. Cas. 753 (2) = 24 A. L. J. 768.

13. The Court may make an order confirming the alteration either wholly Power of Court when con- or in part, and on such terms and conditions as firming alteration it thinks fit, and may make such order as to costs as it thinks proper.

Notes—The Court has no jurisdiction to rectify Articles of association on the ground of mistake, for they have statutory operation. Evans v. Chapman, 86 L. T. 381.

14. The Court shall, in exercising its discretion under sections 12 and 13, have Exercise of discretion by Court regard to the rights and interests of the members of the company or of any class of them, as well as to the rights and interests of the creditors, and may, if it thinks fit, adjourn the proceedings in order that an arrangement may be made to the satisfaction of the Court for the purchase of the interests of directions and make such orders as it arising into effect any such arrangement of the company may be expended in any such purchase.

Notes.—The Court can sanction alteration which substituted a complete new set of objects in modern form for the old concise and imperfect objects. Palmer’s Company Law, p 79

15. (1) A certified copy of the order confirming the alteration, together with a printed copy of the memorandum as altered, shall, within three months from the date of the order, be filed by the Company with the registrar, and he shall register the same, and shall certify the registration under his hand, and the certificate shall be conclusive evidence that all the requirements of this Act with respect to the alteration and the confirmation thereof have been complied with, and thenceforth the memorandum so altered shall be the memorandum of the company.

(2) A transfer of the registered office from one of the order confirming such change shall trar in each of such provinces, and each of such registrars shall register the same and shall certify under his hand the registration thereof, and the registrar for the province from which such office is transferred shall send to the registrar for the other province all documents relating to the company registered or filed in his office.

(3) The Court may by order at any time extend the time for the filing of documents with the registrar under this section for such period as the Court thinks proper.

16. No such alteration shall have any operation until registration thereof has been duly effected in accordance with the provisions of section 15, and if such registration is not effected within three months next after the date of the order of the Court confirming the alteration, or within such further time as the Court may determine, become absolutely null and void:

Provided that the Court may, on sufficient cause shown, revive the order on application made within a further period of one month.

Articles of Association.

17. (1) There may, in the case of a company limited by shares, and there Registration of articles, shall, in the case of a company limited by guaran- tee or unlimited, be registered with the memorandum, articles of association signed by the subscribers to the memorandum and prescribing regulations for the company.

(2) Articles of association may adopt all or any of the regulations contained in Table A in the First Schedule.

(3) In the case of an unlimited company or a company limited by guarantee, the articles, if the company has a share capital, shall state the amount of share capital with which the company proposes to be registered.

(4) In the case of an unlimited company or a company limited by guarantee, if the company has not a share capital, the articles shall state the number of members with which the company proposes to be registered, for the purpose of enabling the registrar to determine the fees payable on registration.

Notes.—The Memorandum of Association, when taken in for registration may be accompanied by articles of association containing regulations for the manage-

18. In the case of a company limited by shares and registered after the commencement of this Act, if articles are not registered, or, if articles are registered, in so far as the articles do not exclude or modify the regulations in Table A in the First Schedule, those regulations shall, so far as applicable, be the regulations of the company in the same manner and to the same extent as if they were contained in duly registered articles.

Notes—Articles of Association may adopt all or any of the regulations contained in Table A in the First Schedule to this Act. The articles are to be expressed in separate para-

19. Articles shall—

(a) be printed;
(b) be divided into paragraphs numbered consecutively; and
(c) be signed by each subscriber of the memorandum of association in the presence of at least one witness who must attest the signature.

Notes.—The articles, if any, must be printed and must be signed by the subscribers to the Memorandum of Association. Each subscriber must sign in the presence of a witness who must attest the signature. As in the case of the memorandum, the signature may be under the signatory's own hand or that of his duly authorised agent. One of the subscribers cannot attest the signature of another. 20. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act and to the conditions contained in its memorandum, a company may by special resolution alter or add to its articles, and any alteration or addition so made shall be as valid as if originally contained in the articles, and be subject in like manner to alteration by special resolution.

(2) The power of altering articles under this section shall, in the case of any company formed and registered under Act No. XIX of 1857 and Act No. VII of 1860 or either of them, extend to altering any provisions in Table B annexed to Act XIX of 1857, and shall also, in the case of an unlimited company formed and registered under the said Acts or either of them, extend to altering any regulations relating to the amount of capital or its distribution into shares, notwithstanding that those regulations are contained in the memorandum.

Notes—This section gives to a company under this Act power by special resolution, but “subject to the provisions of this Act and to the conditions contained in the memorandum of association,” to alter or add to its articles, and it expressly provides that “any alteration or addition so made shall be as valid as if originally contained in the articles, and be subject in like manner to alteration by special resolution. Nothing could be wider than the terms of this section. It does not say that the articles for the management or administration of the business may be altered, or that General Provisions.

21. (1) The memorandum and articles shall, when registered, bind the company and the members thereof to the same extent as if they respectively had been signed by each member and contained a covenant on the part of each member, his heirs, and legal representatives, to observe all the provisions of the memorandum and of the articles, subject to the provisions of this Act.

(2) All money payable by any member to the company under the memorandum or articles shall be a debt due from him to the company.

Articles of Association can be read for the purpose of explaining the memorandum in respect of a matter which need not appear in the latter—for example, the borrowing of money by a railway company—but not for the purpose of showing that borrowing means the granting of perpetual annuities, for that is not borrowing, nor is it a purpose subsidiary to the general objects of such a company. (1905) 2 Ch. 78.

A provision in the Articles of Association of a registered company which makes a shareholder's debt to the company a charge on his shares applies to the case of debtors who afterwards become shareholders. 22. The memorandum and the articles (if any) shall be filed with the registrar for the province in which the registered office of the company is stated by the memorandum to be situate, and he shall retain and register them.

Notes.—A foreign corporation cannot be registered under this Act. Bulkeley v. A. C 386. A partnership is to be capable of registration. Q. B. 593; Cassons Ltd. (1904) 73 L. J. Ch. 196. J. 17 = A. I. R. 1933 Mad. 129.

23. (1) On the registration of the memorandum of a company, the registrar shall certify under his hand that the company is incorporated, and in the case of a limited company that the company is limited.

(2) From the date of incorporation mentioned in the certificate of incorporation, the subscribers of the memorandum, together with such other persons as may from time to time become members of the company, shall be a body corporate by the name contained in the memorandum, capable forthwith of exercising all the functions of an incorporated company, and having perpetual succession and a common seal, but with such liability on the part of the members to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up as is mentioned in this Act.

(1867) 2 Ch. 674. Similarly in Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 323. Lord Chelmsford said: "I think that the certificate prevents all recurrence to prior matters and the company is held to be the most dangerous consequence of any back and enter original registration and Lord Carnes in Peet's Case. 134 Ind. 24. (1) A certificate of incorporation given by the registrar in respect of any association shall be conclusive evidence that all the requirements of this Act in respect of registration and of matters precedent and incidental thereto have been complied with, and that the association is a company authorised to be registered and duly registered under this Act.

(2) A declaration by an advocate, attorney or pleader entitled to appear the formation of a company, or by a manager or secretary of the company, requirements shall be filed with the registrar, and the registrar may accept such a declaration as sufficient evidence of compliance.

Notes.—In England the question whether the Registrar’s certificate is conclusive was decided so far back as (1867) by Lord Cairns.

The Company, however, was registered and the Registrar gave his certificate of incorporation: “It was objected that the memorandum of association had not been signed by seven or indeed by any subscribers and that the provisions of the Act had not been complied with.” To that proposition Lord Cairns assented. But ‘the certificate of incorporation,’ he said ‘is not merely a prima facie answer but a conclusive answer to such objection. When once a certificate of incorporation is given nothing is to be enquired into as to the regularity of the prior proceedings.’ Similarly in Oakes v. Turquand, L. R. 2 H. L. 325, Lord Chelmsford observed: “I think that the certificate prevents all recurrence to prior matters essential to registration, amongst which is the subscription of a memorandum of association by seven persons, and that it is conclusive in this case that all previous requisites have been complied with” Moors v. Ebrahim, 16 C. W. N. 937 P. C. = 40 C. 1 = 23 M. L. J. 315; see also (1891) 2 Ch. 905; 2 Ch. D. 610; (1900) 2 Q. B. 376; 26 A. L. J. 347 = 108 Ind. Cas. 451

25. (1) Every company shall send to every member, at his request, and on payment of one rupee or such less sum as the company may prescribe, a copy of the memorandum and of the articles (if any)

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable for each offence to a fine not exceeding ten rupees.

Associations not for Profit.

26. (1) Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Local Government that an association capable of being formed as a limited company has been or is about to be formed for the purposes of charitable, religious, educational, social, or industrial objects, the Local Government may, by license under the hand of one of its Secretaries, direct that the association be registered as a company with limited liability, without the addition of the word “Limited” to its name, and the association may be registered accordingly.

* Inserted by Act 33 of 1926.
(3) The association shall on registration enjoy all the privileges of limited companies, and be subject to all their obligations, except those of using the word "Limited" as any part of its name, and of publishing its name, and of filing lists of members and directors and managers with the registrar.

(4) A license under this section may at any time be revoked by the Local Government, and upon revocation the registrar shall enter the word "Limited" at the end of the name of the association upon the register, and the association shall cease to enjoy the exemptions and privileges granted by this section.

Provided that, before a license is so revoked, the Local Government shall give to the association notice in writing of its intention, and shall afford the association an opportunity of submitting a representation in opposition to the revocation.

Notes.—Where an associate art, science, religion, charity, to form it on the footing that objects only, and that no dividend shall be paid to its members, the Local Government may grant a license authorizing registration of the association without limited liability, but without the addition of the word "Limited" to its name. Palmer's Company Law, p 350. The advantages of incorporation of such associations are great. The association gains in stability, public estimation, and credit. It becomes a body corporate with perpetual succession. It can adopt in lieu of company a more suitable name, such as chamber, club, college, guild, association. It can have a common seal; it can hold property in its own name; without the intervention of trustees, it can contract and take and defend legal proceedings in its own name; its affairs can be conducted much more efficiently, and finally its officers and members are freed from personal liability. Under clause (4) the Local Government has power to revoke its licence after due notice, and thenceforth the words "Limited" must be used. Palmer's Company Law, pp 250-252. With the consent of the Local Government and the sanction of the Court, such an association can alter its objects. St. Helen's College, (1910) 1 Ch 556. A company thus registered can pay a pension to an outgoing secretary. Cyclist's Journey Club v. Hopkinson, (1910) 1 Ch 179.

Companies limited by Guarantee.

27. (1) In the case of a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital, and registered after the commencement of this Act, every provision in the memorandum or articles or in any resolution of the company purporting to give any person a right to participate in the divisible profits of the company otherwise than as a member shall be void.

(2) For the purpose of the provisions of this Act relating to the memorandum of a company limited by guarantee and of this section, every provision in the memorandum or articles, or in any resolution, of any company limited by guarantee and registered after the commencement of this Act, purporting to divide the undertaking of the company into shares or interests, shall be treated as a provision for a share capital, notwithstanding that the nominal amount or number of the shares or interests is not specified thereby.

Notes.—Prior to the English Companies Act, 1862, it was permissible to form a company limited by guarantee, with articles dividing the undertaking into shares of nominal amount—a most convenient form of association; but section 27 of the Act of 1908 prohibited this and section 21 of the English Companies Act of 1908 which corresponds to this section has continued the prohibition. Vice Palmer's Company Law, p 373.

SHARE CAPITAL, REGISTRATION OF UNLIMITED COMPANY AS LIMITED, AND UNLIMITED LIABILITY OF DIRECTORS.

Distribution of Share Capital.

Nature of shares. 28. (1) The shares or other interest of any member in a company shall be movable property, transferable in manner provided by the articles of the company.
(2) Each share in a company having a share capital shall be distinguished by its appropriate number.

Right to transfer shares.—"When the joint stock companies were established the great object was that the shares should be capable of being easily transferred. Per Lord Blackburn in Re Behin and San Francisco Rail Co. L. R. 3 Q. B. 595. App 655, where there was a transfer of shares but not in manner required by Act of Parliament, it was held that the transfer of those shares in any other form would at least amount to an equitable contract and that even if the company act upon the transfer and receive payments from the person who entered into that equitable contract and issue documents and treat him as a shareholder, it would not have the effect of making him a real shareholder. In Moore v. North Western Bank, (1891) 2 Ch. 599, where the competition was between two persons claiming title to shares registered in the name of a third person in a company, Romer J. observed: "As between two persons claiming title to shares in a company like this, which are registered in the name of a third party priority of title prevails, unless the claimant second in point of time, can show that, as between himself and the company, before

30. (1) The subscribers of the memorandum of a company shall be deemed to have agreed to become members of the company, and on its registration shall be entered as members in its register of members.

(2) Every other person who agrees to become a member of a company, and whose name is entered in its register of members, shall be a member of the company.

Notes.—This section defines the status of a subscriber of the Memorandum of Association in a different way to the position of other persons who agree to become members. Per Brown J. in Nicoll's Case 29 Ch. D. 447. No allotment in this case is necessary. 5 Ch. D. 325. In this case no entry is required to be made in the register. 29 Ch. From the mere omission of the entry of the names of the subscribers to the memorandum in the share register of members it does not follow that the subscribers to the memorandum are not to be deemed to have agreed to become members. The subsequent portion does not govern the earlier portion. 46 A. 492 = 24 A. L. J. 691 = 95 Ind. Cas. 192.

31. (i) Every company shall keep in one or more books a register of its members, and enter therein the following particulars:

(i) the names and addresses, and the occupations, if any, of the members and, in the case of a company having a share capital, a statement of the shares held by each member, distinguishing each share by its number, and of the amount paid or agreed to be considered as paid on the shares of each member;

(ii) the date at which each person was entered in the register as a member;
(iii) the date at which any person ceased to be a member.

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues; and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

Register of members—A mere list of members is not a register. (1894) 2, Ch. 392. But a register may be kept in any form provided the requirements of the Act is satisfied. (1879) 4 A. C. 547. Such a register must be properly kept. 47 C 401. The name of a firm as a member can also be entered. 8 Ch. 831; 28 T. L. R. 653; but see (1910) W. N. 182. Where transfer of shares in a company must be effected by a change in the register, the place where the register is to be kept according to law determines the locality of the shares. 122 Ind. Cas. 302=A. I. R. 1930 P. C. 10; All. Gen. v. Higgings, 2 H. E. N. 358; Bressard v. Smith, (1925) A. C. 371.

32. (i) Every company having a share capital shall once in every year make a list of all persons who, on the day of the first or only ordinary general meeting in the year, are members of the company, and of all persons who have ceased to be members since the date of the last return or (in the case of the first return) of the incorporation of the company.

(a) The list shall state the names, addresses and present members therein mentioned, each of the existing members at the date of the firm since the date of the last return or (in the case of the first return) of the incorporation of the company by persons who are no members and persons who have ceased to be members respectively and the dates of registration of the transfers, and shall contain a summary distinguishing between shares issued for cash and shares issued as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash, and specifying the following particulars:

(a) the amount of the share capital of the company, and the number of the shares into which it is divided;

(b) the number of shares taken from the commencement of the company up to the date of the return;

(c) the number of shares or debentures, or allowed by way of commission in respect of any shares or debentures, or allowed by way of discount in respect of any debentures, since the date of the last return;

(d) the total number of shares forfeited;

(e) the total amount of shares or stock for which share warrants are outstanding at the date of the return;

(f) the total amount of share-warrants issued and surrendered respectively since the date of the last return;

(g) the number of shares or amount of stock comprised in each share-warrant;

(h) the names and addresses of the persons who at the date of the return are the directors of the company and of the persons (if any) who at the said date are the managers of the company; and

(i) the total amount of debt due from the company in respect of all mortgages and charges which are required to be registered under this Act.

shall be contained in a separate part of the report completed within seven days after the meeting in the year, and the company shall forthwith file with the registrar a copy signed by a director or by the manager or the secretary of the company, together with a certificate from such director, manager or secretary that the list and summary state the facts as they stood on the day aforesaid.

(4) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

Clause (4) — The offence is a continuing one and six years is the time for recovering the penalties. Reg v. Catholic Life Institution, 48 L. T. 675. An offence under this section is a criminal offence. Park v. Lawton, (1911) 1 K. B. 588.
The fact that the directors have committed an offence by not summoning a meeting —so that they cannot make a list of members so as to comply with the section—will not be an answer, and can be convicted for both offences Park v. Lawton, (1911) 1 K. B. 588. “Knowing” and “wilfully” connote intentional default.
The default is merely inadvertent and not intentional where evidence on record does not prove that the directors knowingly or wilfully authorized or permitted the company to make a default in filing with the Registrar of Joint-Stock Companies a copy of the list of the shareholders and of the summary described in s. 32 and the accused should not be convicted. 122 Ind. Cas. 58 = 10 Lah. 521 = A.

Therefore every person who at any time during the default in complying with the provisions of this section acted as Director or Manager can be convicted under qualified to act as Directors or Managers or that they did not in fact become Direc-

Trusts not to be entered on register.

33 No notice of any trust, expressed, implied or constructive, shall be entered on the register, or be receivable by the registrar.

Notes — “It follows that if a person gives notice to the company that he claims an equitable interest in the shares registered in the name of another person, the company is not bound to take notice of such trust, and may not enter notice of it in its register, and the company will not be liable for allowing the registered holder to deal with his shares without regard to such equitable interest unless at the time of registering a transfer the directors registering the same actually know that the transfer is a wrongful one. Vile Society Generale v. Walker, (1886) 11 A. C. 20; over such other interest.” — Stiebel p. 192 citing Bradford Bank v. Briggs (1881)

In Re Parkins, 24 Q. B. D. 612, Lord Coleridge, C. J. said: “It seems to me extremely important not to throw any doubt on the principle that companies have can only look to the man whose name is upon the register. It seems to me that if it throws any doubt upon that rule, we should make the carrying on their business by joint stock companies extremely difficult, and might involve those companies in very serious questions and the ultimate result would be anything but beneficial to the holders of shares in such companies themselves.”

35. A transfer of the share or other interest of a deceased member of a company made by his legal representative shall, although the legal representative is not himself a member, be as valid as if he had been a member at the time of the execution of the instrument of transfer.

Notes.— Where shares are registered in the joint names of several executors (Barton v. North Staffordshire Railway, 38 Ch. D. 458), they must all be parties to a transfer even where the register contains a note that they are executors. Barton v. London and North Western Railway (1890) 24 Q. B. D. 77—Suebel, p. 298. Where a member of a company dies, his shares, as personal estate, vest in his executors or administrators, and the estate is liable (Baird’s Case, 5 Ch 725); but the executors or administrators do not ipso facto become members of the company, nor is the company entitled, without their consent, to register them as members. Such registration (as members) may involve them in a personal liability, and to justify it there must be some distinct and intelligent request on their part (Buchan’s Case, 9 App. Cas. 588. Where registered as members, there should be a clean registration without any reference to their representative capacity. They may choose the order in which their names are to stand. Re Saunders & Co. (1901) 1 Ch. 415. This section enables the legal representatives of a deceased member, without himself becoming a member, to transfer the shares of the deceased—Palmer’s Company Law, p. 139.

36. (1) The register of members, commencing from the date of the registration of the company, shall be kept at the registered office of the company, and, except when closed under the provisions of this Act, shall during business hours (subject to such reasonable restrictions, as the company in general meeting may impose, so that not less than two hours in each day be allowed for inspection) be open to the inspection of any member gratis, and to the inspection of any other person on payment of one rupee, or such less sum as the company may prescribe, for each inspection.

(a) Any member or other person may require a copy of the register, or of any part thereof, or of the list and summary required by this Act, or any part thereof, on payment of six annas for every hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied.

(b) If any inspection or copy required under this section is refused, the company shall be liable for each refusal to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees and to a further fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the refusal continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly authorises or permits the refusal shall be liable to the like penalty, and the Court may by order compel an immediate inspection of the register.

Notes.—The register of members commencing from the date of the registration of the company is by this section, to be kept at the registered office of the company and such register by clause (1) is to be open for inspection by members gratis, and for inspection by any other person on payment of one rupee or such less sum as the company may prescribe for each inspection. The right of inspection does not carry with it the right to take copies. Balaghat Co., (1901) 2 K B. 655. But the right is also given to require a copy of such register or any part thereof on certain terms. The right terminates on a winding up. Re Kent Confields Syndicate, (1898) 1 Q. B. 754.

Clause (3)—Refusal means distinct and definite refusal. Rex v Wells, 3 Ad. & El 447; 8 Ad. & El 901. A member has the right to have it inspected by his solicitor. Bewani v Webb, (1901) 2 Ch 59, 75. The Court will compel production, irrespective of motive. Davies v. Gastight & Coke Co., (1909) 1 Ch 248 cited in Palmer’s Company Law, p. 125.

37. A company may, on giving notice by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the district in which the registered office of the company is situate, close the register of members for any time or times not exceeding in the whole thirty days in each year.

Notes.—A company is entitled to refuse to register a transfer of shares when the application is made during the time the transfer books of the company are closed and after a public notification in accordance with the provision of this section, vide, Motkoo Mohin v. The Bank of Bengal, 3 C. 392 = 1 C. L. R. 597.

Power of Court to rectify register.

(a) the name of any person is fraudulently or without sufficient cause entered in or omitted from the register of members of a company; or

(b) default is made or unnecessary delay takes place in entering on the register the fact of any person having ceased to be a member, the person aggrieved, or any member of the company, or the company, may apply to the Court for rectification of the register.

(2) The Court may either refuse the application, or may order rectification of the register and payment by the company of any damages sustained by any party aggrieved, and may make such order as to costs as it in its discretion thinks fit.

(3) On any application under this section the Court may decide any question relating to the title of any person who is a party to the application to have his name entered in or omitted from the register, whether the question arise between members or alleged members, or between members or alleged members on the one hand and the company on the other hand; and generally may decide any question necessary or expedient to be decided for rectification of the register:

Provided that the Court may direct an issue to be tried in which any question of law may be raised; and an appeal from the decision on such an issue shall lie in the manner directed by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908; on the ground mentioned in section 100 of that Code.

41. (1) A company having a share capital may, if so authorised by its articles, cause to be kept in the United Kingdom a branch register of members (in this Act called a British register).
(2) The company shall, within one month from the date of the opening of any British register, file with the registrar notice of the situation of the office where such register is kept and, in the event of any change in the situation of such office or of its discontinuance, shall within one month from the date of such change or discontinuance, as the case may be, file notice of such change or discontinuance.

(3) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

N. B.—This section corresponds to section 34 of the English Act.

Regulations as to British register.

42 (1) A British register shall be deemed to be part of the company's register of members (in this section called the principal register).

(2) It shall be kept in the same manner in which the principal register is by this Act required to be kept, except that the advertisement before closing the register shall be inserted in some newspaper circulating in the locality wherein the British register is kept.

(3) The company shall transmit to its registered office in India a copy of every entry in its British register as soon as may be after the entry is made; and shall cause to be kept at such office, duly entered up from time to time, a duplicate of its British register, and the duplicate shall, for all the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be part of the principal register.

(4) Subject to the provisions of this section with respect to the duplicate register, the shares registered in a British register shall be distinguished from the shares registered in the principal register, and no transaction with respect to any shares registered in a British register shall, during the continuance of that register, be deemed to be part of the principal register.

(6) Subject to the provisions of this Act, any company may, by its articles, make such regulations as it may think fit respecting the keeping of a British register.

N. B.—This section corresponds to section 35 of the English Act.

43. A company limited by shares, if so authorised by its articles, may, with respect to any fully paid-up shares, or to stock, issue under its common seal a warrant stating that the bearer of the warrant is entitled to the shares or stock therein specified, and may provide by coupons or otherwise, for the payment of the future dividends on the shares or stock included in the warrant, in this Act termed a share-warrant.

44. A share-warrant shall entitle the bearer thereof to the shares or a stock therein specified, and the shares or stock may be transferred by delivery of the warrant.

Notes.—A stock or share-warrant is, by mercantile usage, a negotiable instrument; Webe, Hale & Co. v. Alexander, (1902) 93 L. T. 339. The bearer of a stock or share-warrant must produce the share-warrant before he is entitled to exercise any of the rights of a member. Wedgwood Coal and Iron Co. v. Ch. D. 627.

45. The bearer of a share warrant shall, subject to the articles of the company, be entitled, on surrendering it for cancellation, to have his name entered as a member in the register of members; and the company shall be responsible for any loss incurred by any person by reason of the company entering in its register the name of a bearer of a share-warrant in respect of the shares or stock therein specified without the warrant being surrendered and cancelled.
46. The bearer of a share-warrant may, if the articles of the company so provide, be deemed to be a member of the company within the meaning of this Act, either to the full extent or for any purposes defined in the articles, except that he shall not be qualified in respect of the shares or stock specified in the warrant for being a director or manager of the company, in cases where such a qualification is required by the articles.

47. (1) On the issue of a share-warrant, the company shall strike out of its register of members the name of the member then entered therein as holding the shares or stock specified in the warrant as if he had ceased to be a member, and shall enter in the register the following particulars, namely:

(i) the fact of the issue of the warrant;
(ii) a statement of the shares or stock included in the warrant, distinguishing each share by its number; and
(iii) the date of the issue of the warrant.

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully continues or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

Notes — When a share-warrant is issued, the name of the prior holder of the share is struck out of the register of members. Hence, whilst the share-warrant is outstanding, there will be no registered holder. Palmer's Company Law, p. 141.

48. Until the warrant is surrendered, the above particulars shall be deemed to be the particulars required by this Act to be entered in the register of members; and, on the surrender, the date of the surrender shall be entered as if it were the date at which a person ceased to be a member.

Notes — It would seem that the bearer of a stock or share-warrant must, before he is entitled to exercise any of the rights of a member in respect of the stock or shares comprised in his warrant, produce such warrant to the company. Cf. Wedgwood Coal and Iron Co., (1877) Ch. D. 627 — Cited in Sizel p. 311. A member cannot surrender his share and company cannot accept the surrender except as forfeiture. A shareholder when his shares are forfeited ceases to be a member but a shareholder who surrenders his share does not cease to be member. 107 Ind. Cas. 594 — A. I. R. 1925 Lah 240. To hold that a company can by resolution of its Directors accept surrender of shares would be to allow a company to reduce its capital at its pleasure. Ibid; see also Bellerby v Rowland, (1902) 2 Ch. 14.

Power of company to arrange for different amounts being paid on shares.

49. A company, if so authorised by its articles, may do any one or more of the following things, namely:

(1) make arrangements on the issue of shares for a difference between the shareholders in the amounts and times of payment of calls on their shares;
(2) accept from any member who assents thereto the whole or a part of the amount remaining unpaid on any shares held by him although no part of that amount has been called up.
(3) pay dividend in proportion to the amount paid up on each share where a larger amount is paid up on some shares than on others.

Notes — A company will not have powers under this section unless they are conferred by its articles.

Power of company limited by shares to alter its share capital.

50. (1) A company limited by shares, if so authorised by its articles, may alter the conditions of its memorandum as follows, (that is to say), it may—

(a) increase its share capital by the issue of new shares of such amount as it thinks expedient;
(b) consolidate and divide all or any of its share capital into shares of larger amount than its existing shares;

(c) convert all or any of its paid-up shares into stock and reconvert that stock into paid-up shares of any denomination.

(d) sub-divide its shares, or any of them, into shares of smaller amount than is fixed by the memorandum, so however, that in the sub-division the proportion between the amount paid and the amount, if any, unpaid on each reduced share shall be the same as it was in the case of the share from which the reduced share is derived;

(e) cancel shares which, at the date of the passing of the resolution in that behalf, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any person, and diminish the amount of its share capital by the amount of the shares so cancelled.

(2) The powers conferred by this section with respect to sub-division of shares must be exercised by special resolution.

(3) Where any alteration has been made under this section in the memorandum of a company, every copy of the memorandum issued after the date of the alteration shall be in accordance with the alteration.

(4) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of subsection (3), it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for each copy in respect of which default is made; and every officer of the company who knowingly and willfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

(5) A cancellation of shares in pursuance of this section shall not be deemed to be a reduction of share capital within the meaning of this Act.

Clause (b)—The doubt raised in Wakefield Rolling Stock (1892) 3 Ch. 165 is set at rest by this clause. There is no reason why the articles should not entrust the other powers to the directors—they would seem to be powers relating to the management of the company. Mosley v. Koffyfontein, (1910) 2 Ch. 382 cited in Steibel, p. 83.

51. (1) Where a company having a share capital has consolidated and divided its share capital into shares of larger amount than its existing shares or converted any of its shares into stock, or reconverted stock into shares, it shall within fifteen days of the consolidation and division conversion or re-conversion, file notice with the registrar of the same, specifying the share consolidated and divided, or converted, or the stock re-converted.

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly and willfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

52. Where a company having a share capital has converted any of its shares into stock, and filed notice of the conversion with the registrar, all the provisions of this Act which are applicable to shares only shall cease as to so much of the share capital as is converted into stock; and the registrar of members of the company, and the list of members to be filed with the registrar, shall show the amount of stock held by each member instead of the amount of shares and the particulars relating to shares heretofore required by this Act.
Notes.—Where any shares have been converted into stock the register must show the amount of stock held by each member in lieu of the particulars relating to shares. Where payment in full is made, stock can be issued without going through the formality of issuing shares—but the issue of forms or partly paid stock is ultra vires—and it has been held that the holders of stock so issued are not members. (1912) 1 Ch. 72.

53. (1) Where a company having a share capital, whether its shares have or have not been converted into stock, has increased its share capital beyond the registered capital, and where a company not having a share capital has increased the number of its members beyond the registered number, it shall file with the registrar, in the case of an increase of share capital, within fifteen days after the passing, or in the case of a special resolution the confirmation, of the resolution authorising the increase, and in the case of an increase of members within fifteen days after the increase was resolved on or took place, notice of the increase of capital or members, and the registrar shall record the increase.

(2) If a company makes a default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

Notes—Where the articles empower the directors to increase the capital with sanction of a general meeting, and such a meeting authorises the directors to increase the capital to a specified amount, duty is forthwith payable on such amount. Ati. Gen v. Anglo Argentine Tramways, (1900) 1 K. B. 676.

54. (1) A company limited by shares may, by special resolution confirmed by an order of the Court, modify the conditions contained in its memorandum so as to reorganise its share capital, whether by the consolidation of shares of different classes or by the division of its shares into shares of different classes:

Provided that no preference or special privilege attached to or belonging to any class of shares shall be interfered with except by resolution passed by a majority in number of shareholders of that class holding three fourths of the share capital of that class and confirmed at a meeting of shareholders of that class in the same manner as a special resolution of the company is required to be confirmed, and every resolution so passed shall bind all shareholders of the class.

(2) Where an order is made under this section, a certified copy thereof shall be filed with the registrar within twenty-one days after the making of the order, or within such further time as the Court may allow, and the resolution shall not take effect until such a copy has been so filed.

Notes.—"The proviso in the section is very badly drafted, but it will be observed that it does not speak of the majority in number of the shareholders, but of a majority in number of shareholders, at a meeting and it is thought that if a meeting of the shareholders be called the majority at that meeting will be sufficient, if they are present in person or by proxy and voting in favour of the scheme by shareholders representing three fourths of the capital of the class. At the confirmatory meeting a bare majority of the members of the class present in person or by proxy will be enough. The application to the Court, it is thought, should be by petition."—Siebel, p. 318. Company proposing to abolish existing classes of shares and to creating new classes of shares—this section does not contemplate such a mode of reorganization. This section applies only to two modes of reorganizing share capital, namely, (1) consolidation of shares of different classes into shares of one class, and (2) division of shares of one class into shares of different classes. 30 Bom. (2) Subject to confirmation by the Court, a company limited by shares, if so authorised by its articles, may by special resolution reduce its share capital in any way, and in particular (without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power) may—

(a) extinguish or reduce the liability on any of its shares in respect of share capital not paid up; or

(b) either with or without extinguishing or reducing liability on any of its shares, cancel any paid-up share capital which is lost or unrepresented by available assets; or

(c) either with or without extinguishing or reducing liability on any of its shares, pay off any paid-up share capital which is in excess of the wants of the company, and may, if and so far as is the amount of its share capital and

53. Where a company has passed and confirmed a resolution for reducing share capital, it may apply by petition to the Court for an order confirming the reduction.

Notes—An application is then made by petition to the Court for an order confirming the reduction. The Court means the Court having jurisdiction to wind up the company. Vide Rugby Gas Co., (1899) W. N. 127; (1908) W. N. 203; (1911) W. N. 235.

57. On and from the confirmation by a company of a resolution for reducing share capital, or where the reduction does not involve the diminution of any liability in respect of unpaid share capital or the payment to any shareholder of any paid-up share capital, then on and from the presentation of the petition for confirming the reduction, the company shall add to its name, until such date as the Court may fix, the words “and reduced” as the last words in its name, and those words shall, until that date, be deemed to be part of the name of the company:

Provided that, where the reduction does not involve either the diminution of any liability in respect of unpaid share capital or the payment to any shareholder of any paid-up share capital, the Court may, if it thinks expedient, dispense altogether with the addition of the words “and reduced.”

Notes.—The words “and warning to the public.” (1892) without leave will deprive the T. Clark & Co., (1911) S. C. 243. Where the scheme for reduction is abandoned the words may be discontinued with the sanction of the Court. 53 L. T. 726; 5 Ch. D. 535. In case of companies carrying on business abroad this practice may be dispensed with. Vide (1870) W. N. 89; (1906) W. N. 182; (1910) 1 Ch. 414.

58. (1) Where the proposed reduction of share capital involves either diminution of liability in respect of unpaid share capital, or the payment to any shareholder of any paid-up share capital, and in any other case if the Court so directs, every creditor of the company who at the date fixed by the Court is entitled to any debt or claim which, if that date were the commencement of the winding up of the company, would be admissible in proof against the company, shall be entitled to object to the reduction.

(2) The Court shall settle a list of creditors so entitled to object, and for that purpose shall ascertain, as far as possible without requiring an application from any creditor, the names of those creditors and the nature and amount of their debts or claims, and may publish notices fixing a day or days within which creditors not entered on the list are to claim to be so entered or are to be excluded from the right of objecting to the reduction.

59. Where a creditor entered on the list of creditors whose debt or claim is not discharged or determined does not consent to the reduction, the Court may, if it thinks fit, dispense with the consent of that creditor, on the company securing payment of his debt or claim by appropriating, as the Court may direct, the following amount (that is to say),—

(i) if the company admits the full amount of his debt or claim, or, though not admitting it, is willing to provide for it, then the full amount of the debt or claim;

(ii) if the company does not admit or is not willing to provide for the full amount of the debt or claim, or if the amount is contingent or not ascertained, then an amount fixed by the Court after the like inquiry and adjudication as if the company were being wound up by the Court.

(1) The registrar on production to him of an order of the Court confirming the reduction of the share capital of a company, and on the filing with him of a certified copy of the order and of a minute (approved by the Court) showing, with respect to the share capital of the Company as altered by the order, the amount of the share capital, the number of shares into which it is to be divided and the amount of each share, and the amount (if any) at the date of the registration deemed to be paid up on each share, shall register the order and minute.

(2) On the registration, and not before, the resolution for reducing share capital as confirmed by the order so registered shall take effect.

(3) Notice of the registration shall be published in such manner as the Court may direct.

(4) The registrar shall certify under his hand the registration of the order and minute, and his certificate shall be conclusive evidence that all the requirements of this Act with respect to reduction of share capital have been complied with, and that the share capital of the company is such as is stated in the minute.

Notes—The minute, together with a copy of the order, has to be filed with the Registrar, who gives a certificate. This certificate is conclusive evidence of reduction. Re. Walker and Smith Ltd 72 L. J. Ch. 572; see also (1900) 2 Q. B. 376. (1993) W. N. 82 (Eng) embodied in every copy of the memorandum issued after its registration.

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for each copy in respect of which default is made, and every officer of the company who knowingly and willfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

63. (1) A member of the company, past or present, shall not be liable in respect of any share to any call or contribution exceeding in amount the difference (if any) between the amount paid, or (as the case may be), the reduced amount, if any, which is to be deemed to have been paid, on the share and the amount of the share as fixed by the minute:

Provided that, if any creditor, entitled in respect of any debt or claim to object to the reduction of share capital, is, by reason of his ignorance of the proceedings for reduction, or of their nature and effect with respect to his claim not entered on the list of creditors, and, after the reduction, the company is unable, within the meaning of the provisions of this Act with respect to winding up by the Court, to pay the amount of his debt or claim, then—

(1) every person who was a member of the company at the date of the registration of the order for reduction and minute, shall be liable to contribute for the payment of that debt, or claim an amount not exceeding the amount which he would have been liable to contribute if the company had commenced to be wound up on the day before that registration; and

If any officer of the company wilfully conceals the name of any creditor entitled to object to the reduction, or wilfully misrepresents the nature or amount of the debt or claim of any creditor, or if any officer of the company abets any such concealment or misrepresentation as aforesaid, every such officer shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, or with fine, or with both.

65. In any case of reduction of share capital, the Court may require the company to publish as the Court directs the reasons for reduction, or such other information in regard thereto as the Court may think expedient with a view to give proper information to the public, and, if the Court thinks fit, the causes which led to the reduction.

66. A company limited by guarantee and registered after the commencement of this Act may, if it has a share capital and is so authorised by its articles, increase or reduce its share capital in the same manner and subject to the same conditions in and subject to which a company limited by shares may increase or reduce its share capital under the provisions of this Act.

Registration of Unlimited Company as Limited.

67. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, any company registered as unlimited may register under this Act as limited or any company already registered as a limited company may re-register under this Act but the registration of an unlimited company as a limited company shall not affect any debts, liabilities, obligations or contracts incurred or entered into by, to, with or on behalf of, the company before the registration, and those debts, liabilities, obligations and contracts may be enforced in manner provided by Part VIII of this Act in the case of a company registered in pursuance of that Part.

(2) On registration in pursuance of this section, the registrar shall close the former registration of the company, and may dispense with the delivery to him of copies of any documents with copies of which he was furnished on the occasion of the original registration of the company; but, save as aforesaid, the registration shall take place in the same manner and shall have effect as if it were the first registration of the company under this Act.

68. An unlimited company having a share capital may, by its resolution for registration as a limited company in pursuance of this Act, do either or both of the following things, namely:

(a) increase the nominal amount of its share capital by increasing the nominal amount of each of its shares, but subject to the condition that no part of the amount by which its capital is so increased shall be capable of being called up except in the event and for the purposes of the company being wound up;
(b) provide that a specified portion of its uncalled share capital shall not be capable of being called up except in the event and for the purposes of the company being wound up.

Reserve Liability of Limited Company.

69. A limited company may by special resolution determine that any portion of its share capital which has not been already called up shall not be capable of being called up, except in the event and for the purposes of the company being wound up, and thereupon that portion of its sharecapital shall not be capable of being called up except in the event and for the purposes aforesaid.

Notes.—There is nothing to prevent a limited company providing by its Memorandum of Association that part of its capital shall only be capable of being called up in the event and for the purposes of a winding up, and such a provision would be unalterable. Ashbury v. Watson, 30 Ch. D. 376. Where there is no provisions in the Memorandum of Association, such a provision may also be made under this section by special resolution. It is well settled that a power to charge uncalled capital conferred by the Memorandum or Articles of Association of a company is good. Pyle Works (1890) 44 Ch. D. 534; Newton v. Anglo-Australian Investment Co. (1893) A. C. 244.

Unlimited Liability of Directors

70. (1) In a limited company the liability of the directors or of any director may, if so provided by the memorandum, be unlimited.

(2) In a limited company in which the liability of any director is unlimited, the directors of the company (if any) and the member who proposes a person for election or appointment to the office of director shall add to that proposal a statement that the liability of the person holding that office will be unlimited and the promoters and officers of the company, or one of them, shall, before the persons accepts the office or acts therein, give him notice in writing that his liability will be unlimited.

(3) If any director or proposer makes default in adding such a statement or if any promoter or officer of the company makes default in giving such a notice, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees and shall also be liable for any damage which the person so elected or appointed may sustain from the default, but the liability of the person elected or appointed shall not be affected by the default.

71. (1) A limited company, if so authorised by its articles, may, by special resolution, alter its memorandum so as to render unlimited the liability of its directors or of any director.

(2) Upon the confirmation of any such special resolution, the provisions thereof shall be as valid as if they had been originally contained in the memorandum, and a copy thereof shall be embodied in or annexed to every copy of the memorandum issued after the confirmation of the resolution.

(3) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for each copy in respect of which default is made; and every officer of the company, who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default, shall be liable to the like penalty.

PART IV.

MANAGEMENT AND ADMINISTRATION.

Office and Name.

72. (1) Every company shall have a registered office to which all communications and notices may be addressed.

(2) Notice in writing of the situation of the registered office, and of any change therein, shall be filed with the registrar who shall record the same.

(3) If a company carries on business without complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which it so carries on business.
Notes.—Change of registered office becomes effective only on notification of the same to Registrar. Mere resolution to change is not enough. A.I.R. 1931 Cal. 692=58 C. 715=133 Ind. Cas. 321.

Publication of name by a limited company.

(a) shall paint or affix, and keep painted or affixed, its name on the outside of every office or place in which its business is carried on, in a conspicuous position, in letters easily legible and in English characters, and also, if the registered office be situate in a place beyond the local limits of the ordinary characters of one of the vercle characters on its seal;

(c) shall have its name mentioned in legible English characters in all billheads and letter paper and in all notices, advertisements and other official publications of the company, and in all bills of exchange, hundis, promissory notes, endorsements, cheques and orders for money or goods purporting to be signed by or on behalf of the company, and in all bills of parcels, invoices, receipts and letters of credit of the company.

Notes—The Legislature whilst allowing limited liability desires by this means to make the company itself continually bring to the notice of those who deal or may deal with it the fact that it is limited—Palmer's Company Law, p 248. Abbreviations such as Co and Ltd may be used (1912) 106 L. T. 544. If any company omits to comply with the provisions of this section that will not preclude it from enforcing any rights it has. (1932) 2 Ch 334; (1901) 18 Rep. Pat. Cas. 185—cited in Stichel p. 322. But where the pronoun is on a sheet of paper printed with the name of the company, the requirements are fulfilled 67 Ind. Cas. 941=24 Bom. L. R. 355.

74. Penalties for non-publication of name.

Penalties for non-publication of name. If a limited company does not paint or affix, and keep painted or affixed, its name in a manner directed by this Act, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for not so painting or affixing its name, and for every day during which its name is not so kept painted or affixed, and every officer of the company, who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default, shall be liable to the like penalty.

(a) If any officer of a limited company, or any person on its behalf, uses or authorises the use of any seal purporting to be a seal of the company whereon its name is not so engraved as aforesaid, or issues or authorises the issue of any billhead, letter paper, notice, advertisement or other official publication of the company, or signs or authorises to be signed on behalf of the company any bill of exchange, hundi, promissory note, endorsement, cheque or order for money or goods, or issues or authorises to be issued any bill of parcels, invoice, receipt or letter of credit of the company, wherein its name is not mentioned in manner aforesaid, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and shall further be personally liable to the holder of any such bill of exchange, hundi, promissory note, cheque or order for money or goods, for the amount thereof, unless the same is duly paid by the company.

Notes—This section provides that if any officer signs or authorises to be signed on behalf of the company any bill of exchange, promissory note etc., wherein the name of the company is not mentioned in the manner specified, he shall be personally liable to the holder of any such bill of exchange, etc., for the amount thereof unless the same is duly paid by the company. 61 L. T. 23; 21 T. L. R. 510—cited in Palmer's Company Law, p 248; see also Penrose v. Marly, E. B. & E. 499; 70 L. T. 376.

75. Publication of authorised as well as subscribed and paid-up capital.

Publication of authorised as well as subscribed and paid-up capital. Where any notice, advertisement or other official publication of a company contains a statement of the amount of the authorised capital of the company, such notice, advertisement or other official publication shall also contain a statement in an equally prominent position and equally conspicuous characters of the amount of the capital which has been subscribed and the amount paid up.

(2) Any company which makes default in complying with the requirements of this section and every officer of the company who is knowingly a party to the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

Meetings and Proceedings.

76. (1) A general meeting of every company shall be held once at the least in every year, and not more than fifteen months after the holding of the last preceding general meeting, and, if not so held, the company and every officer of the company, who is knowingly a party to the default, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

(2) When default has been made in holding a meeting of the company in accordance with the provisions of this section, the Court may, on the application of any member of the company, call or direct the calling of a general meeting of the company.

Notes.—In the English Act the words "calendar year" are used for the word "year commences on the 1st of April in the year following that in which the Act is passed." This is not to be taken to imply that such a meeting is required to be held before the date when the Act comes into force.

6. To amend the Companies Act, 1956, in the following manner, viz.—

77. (1) Every company limited by shares and registered after the commencement of this Act shall, within a period of six months from the date at which the company is entitled to commence business, hold a general meeting of the members of the company which shall be called the statutory meeting.

(2) The directors shall, at least ten days before the day on which the meeting is held, forward a report (in this Act called "the statutory report") to every member of the company and to every other person entitled under this Act to receive it.

(3) The statutory report shall be certified by not less than two directors of the company or, where there are less than two directors, by the sole director and shall state—

(a) the total number of shares allotted, distinguishing shares allotted as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash, and stating in the case of shares partly paid up the extent to which they are so paid up, and in either case the consideration for which they have been allotted;

(b) the total amount of cash received by the company in respect of all the shares allotted distinguished as aforesaid;

(c) an abstract of the receipts of the company whether from its share capital or from debentures, and of the payments made thereout, up to a date within seven days of the date of the report, exhibiting under distinctive headings the receipts of the company from shares and debentures and other sources, the payments made thereout and particulars concerning the balance remaining in hand and an account or estimate of the preliminary expenses of the company;

(d) the names, addresses and descriptions of the directors, auditors (if any), managers (if any) and secretary of the company;

(e) the particulars of any contract, the modification of which is to be submitted to the meeting for its approval, together with the particulars of the modification or proposed modification.

(4) The statutory report shall, so far as it relates to the shares allotted by the company and to the cash received in respect of such shares and to the receipts and payments of the company on capital account, be certified as correct by the auditors (if any) of the company.

(5) The directors shall cause a copy of the statutory report, certified as by this section required, to be filed with the registrar forthwith after the sending thereof to the members of the company.

(6) Every director of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits a default in complying with the provisions of sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(7) The directors shall cause a list showing the names, descriptions and addresses of the members of the company, and the number of shares held by them respectively, to be produced at the commencement of the meeting, and to remain open and accessible to any member of the company during the continuance of the meeting.

(8) The members of the company present at the meeting shall be at liberty to discuss any matters relating to the formation of the company, or arising out of the statutory report, whether previous notice has been given or not, but no resolution of which notice has not been given in accordance with the articles may be passed.

(9) The meeting may adjourn from time to time, and at any adjourned meeting any resolution of which notice has been given in accordance with the articles, either before or subsequently to the former meeting, may be passed, and the adjourned meeting shall have the same powers as an original meeting.

(10) If a petition is presented to the Court in manner provided by Part V for wind report or that the

(11) The provisions of this section as to the forwarding and filing of the statutory report shall not apply in the case of a private company.

Notes—The obvious purpose is to put the shareholders of the important facts relating to the companies received, what contracts entered into, what sums spent on preliminary expenses, etc. Furnished with these particulars, the shareholders are to have an opportunity of meeting and discussing the whole situation—the management, method and prospects of the company. 78. (1) Notwithstanding anything in the articles, the directors of a company which has a share capital shall, on the requisition of the holders of not less than one tenth of the issued share capital of the company upon which all calls or other sums then due have been paid, forthwith proceed to call an extraordinary general meeting of the company.

(a) The requisition must state the objects of the meeting, and must be signed by the requisitionists and deposited at the registered office of the company, and may consist of several documents in like form, each signed by one or more requisitionists.

(b) If the directors do not proceed within twenty-one days from the date of the requisition being so deposited to cause a meeting to be called, the requisitionists or a majority of them in value, may themselves call the meeting, but in either case any meeting so called shall be held within three months from the date of the deposit of the requisition.
(4) If at any such meeting a resolution requiring confirmation at another meeting is passed, the directors shall forthwith call a further extraordinary general meeting for the purpose of considering the resolution and, if thought fit, of confirming it as a special resolution and, if the directors do not call the meeting within seven days from the date of the passing of the first resolution, the requisitionists, or a majority of them in value, may themselves call the meeting.

Provisions as to meetings

79. In default of, and subject to, any regulations in the articles,—

(i) a meeting of a company may be called by fourteen days' notice in writing, served on every member in manner in which notices are required to be served by Table A in the First Schedule;
(ii) five members may call a meeting;
(iii) any person elected by the members present at a meeting may be chairman thereof; and
(iv) every member shall have one vote.

Notes — In default of, and subject to any regulations in the articles any five members of a company may summon a meeting. The Regulations are applicable where there are no directors to call a meeting (1878) W. N. 140, see also (1901) 2 Ch. 431. 80. A company which is a member of another company may, by resolution of the directors, authorise any of its officials or any other person to act as its representative at any meeting of that other company, and the persons so authorised shall be entitled to exercise the same powers on behalf of the Company which he represents as if he were an individual shareholder of that other company.

   (a) passed in manner required for the passing of an extraordinary resolution; and
   (b) confirmed by a majority of such members entitled to vote as are present in person or by proxy (where proxies are allowed) at a subsequent general meeting of which notice has been duly given, and held after an interval of not less than fourteen days, nor more than one month, from the date of the first meeting.

(3) At any meeting at which an extraordinary resolution is submitted to be passed or a special resolution is submitted to be passed or confirmed, a declaration of the chairman on a show of hands that the resolution is carried shall, unless a poll is demanded, be conclusive evidence of the fact without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against the resolution.

(4) At any meeting at which an extraordinary resolution is submitted to be passed or a special resolution is submitted to be passed or confirmed, a poll may be demanded by three persons for the time being entitled according to the articles to vote, unless the articles of the company require a demand by such number of such persons, not in any case exceeding five, as may be specified in the articles.

(5) In a case where, if a poll is demanded, it may in accordance with the articles be taken in such manner as the chairman may direct; it may, if the chairman so directs, be taken at the meeting at which it is demanded.

(6) When a poll is demanded in accordance with this section, in computing the majority on the poll, reference shall be had to the number of votes to which each member is entitled by the articles of the company.

Registration and copies of special and extraordinary resolutions

82. (1) A copy of every special and extraordinary resolution shall, within fifteen days from the confirmation of the special resolution or from the passing of the extraordinary resolution, as the case may be, be printed or typewritten and filed with the registrar who shall record the same.

(2) Where articles have been registered, a copy of every special resolution for the time being in force shall be embodied in or annexed to every copy of the articles issued after the date of the resolution.

(3) Where articles have not been registered, a copy of every special resolution shall be forwarded in print to any member at his request, on payment of one rupee or such lesser sum as the company may direct.

(4) If a company makes default in filing with the registrar a copy of a special or extraordinary resolution, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(5) If a company makes default in embodying in or annexing to a copy of its articles or in forwarding in print to a member when required by this section a copy of a special resolution, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for each copy in respect of which default is made.

(6) Every officer of a company who knowingly and willfully authorises or permits any default by the company in complying with the requirements of this section shall be liable to the like penalty as is imposed by this section on the company for that default.

Notes — A copy of every special and extraordinary resolution has to be printed and forwarded to the Registrar and a copy to be annexed to or embodied in the articles. A registrar can refuse to register alteration of article. 141 Ind. Cas. 177 = 53 M. L J 917 = 36 M. L. W 942 = A. I. R. 1935 Mad 129

Minutes of proceedings of general meetings and of its directors.

83. (1) Every company shall cause minutes of all proceedings of general meetings and of its directors to be entered in books kept for that purpose.

(2) Any such minutes, if purporting to be signed by the chairman of the meeting at which the proceedings were had, or by the chairman of the next succeeding meeting, shall be evidence of the proceedings.

(3) Until the contrary is proved, every general meeting of the company or meeting of directors in respect of the proceedings whereof minutes have been so made shall be deemed to have been duly called and held, and all proceedings had thereat to have been duly had, and all appointments of directors or liquidators shall be deemed to be valid.

Signed by the Chairman — Such signature may be put at any time Royney’s Case. 4 De G. J. & S. 426. After the signature of the Chairman the minutes of the meeting should not be altered. 42 Ch. D. 209.

Clause (3) — The Court, notwithstanding the minutes are made conclusive by the articles, may look and consider the regularity of the notice. Bills & Co. v. Macnaghten, (1910) 1 Ch. 420 cited in Palmer’s Company Law, p. 244.

"Directors.*

83A (1) Every company registered after the commencement of this Act shall have at least two directors.

(2) This section shall not apply to a private company.

* This heading and sections 83A and 83 B have been inserted by Act 11 of 1914 is thus summarised by James L. J.: "A trustee is a man who is the owner of the property, and deals with it as principal owner and master subject only to an equitable obligation to account to some person to whom he stands in relation of trustee and who are his cestui que trust. The same individual may fill the office of director and also be a trustee having property, but that is a rare exceptional and casual circumstance. The office of director is that of paid servant of the company. A director never enters into contract for himself but he enters into contract for his principal, that is, for the company of whom he is a director and for whom he is acting. He can sued on them unless he exceeds his authority." disclose his knowledge of the company, then that the company though in general the knowledge of knowledge of the company. 33 Dom. L. R. 184.

83B In default of and subject to any regulations in the articles of a company other than a private company—

(i) the subscribers of the memorandum shall be deemed to be the directors of the company until the first directors shall have been appointed;

(ii) the directors of the company shall be appointed by the members in general meeting; and

(iii) any casual vacancy occurring among the directors may be filled up by the directors, but the person so appointed shall be subject to retirement at the same time as if he had become a director on the day on which the director in whose place he is appointed was last appointed a director."

Casual vacancy.—A casual vacancy means a vacancy occurring by death, resignation, or bankruptcy and not by eflux of time. 34 L. W. 746=61 M. L. J. 1724.

84. (1) A person shall not be capable of being appointed director of a company by the articles, and shall not be named as a director or proposed director of a company in any prospectus issued by or on behalf of the company or in relation to any intended company or in any statement in lieu of prospectus filed by or on behalf of a company, unless, before the registration of the articles or the publication of the prospectus, or the filing of the statement in lieu of prospectus, as the case may be, he has, by himself or by his agent authorised in writing—

(i) signed and filed with the registrar a consent in writing to act as such director; and

(ii) save in the case of a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital, either signed the memorandum for a number of shares not less than his qualification (if any) or signed and filed with the registrar a contract in writing to take from the Company and pay for his qualification shares (if any).

(a) On the application for registration of the memorandum and articles of a company the applicant shall file with the registrar a list of the persons who have consented to be directors of the company, and, if this list contains the name of any person who has not so consented, the applicant shall be liable date at which the company is entitled to commence business.

Notes.—The word 'articles' in this section refers to the articles in force, whether in their original form or as altered by special resolution. Where an agent signs the consent he must produce his authority. An intended director who subscribes the memorandum for his qualification becomes bound on incorporation to take the shares even though the company never commences business.—Palmer's Company Law, p. 182.

85. (1) Without prejudice to the restrictions imposed by section 84, it shall be the duty of every director who is by the articles required to hold a specified share qualification, and who is not already qualified, to obtain his qualification within two months after his appointment, or such shorter time as may be fixed by the articles.

(2) The office of director of a company shall be vacated if the director does not, within two months from the date of his appointment, or within such shorter time as may be fixed by the articles, obtain his qualification, or if after the expiration of such period or shorter time he ceases at any time to hold his qualification; and a person vacating office under this section shall be incapable of being re-appointed director of the company until he has obtained his qualification.

(3) If, after the expiration of the said period or shorter time, any unqualified person acts as a director of the company, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day between the expiration of the said period or shorter time and the last day on which it is proved that he acted as a director.

Object—The qualification is fixed in order to give the director personal interest in the undertaking Archer's Case, (1892) 1 Ch. 322. A joint holding gives the requisite qualification. Glory Paper Mills, 3 Ch 473; Grandy v Briggs, (1910) 1 Ch 411. If the qualification is increased while a person is serving as director, the failure on his part to increase the number of shares will not make him vacate his office (1903) 2 K B 589; see also 23 Ind. Cas. 718

86. The acts of a director shall be valid notwithstanding any defect that may afterwards be discovered in his appointment or qualification: Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to give validity to acts done by a director after the appointment of such director has been shown to be invalid.

Notes.—A director must be a person who has been duly appointed. Jenner's Case, 7 Ch D. 122. But the effect of this section is where a person is allowed to persons dealing with such to act and the company

87. (1) Every company shall keep at its registered office a register containing the names and addresses and the occupations of its directors, and file with the registrar a copy thereof, and from time to time file with the registrar notice of any change among its directors or managers.

(2) If default is made in complying with this section, the company shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues; and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

Managers—Unless a person is in charge of the entire business of a company he cannot be deemed to be the manager thereof. A person in charge of the business of a branch of a bank, therefore, does not come within the purview of the term "manager" as used in this section. Basant v. Emperor, 43 Ind Cas. 791 = 19 Cr. L. J. 589. The company is bound to know or its institution of the company, and its indent articles, but they are not kept as appointed company and a search Contracts.

88. (1) Contracts on behalf of a company may be made as follows (that is to say):

(i) any contract which, if made between private persons, would be by law required to be in writing, signed by the parties to be charged therewith, may be made on behalf of the company in writing signed by any person acting under its authority, express or implied, and may in the same manner be varied or discharged;

(ii) any contract which, if made between private persons, would by law be valid although made by parol only, and not reduced into writing, may be nor-and shall bind the company and its successors and all other parties thereto, their heirs, or legal representatives, as the case may be.

Notes—A contract entered into by the promoters of a company prior to its incorporation, is not binding on the company; nor can a company ratify or adopt such a contract; it may enter into a new contract embodying the terms of that contract of adopting it. The mere affixing of a copy of an agreement to the Articles of Association is not equivalent to effecting a new contract by the company and would not stop the official liquidator from objecting to a claim on behalf of the
89. A bill of exchange, hundi or promissory note shall be deemed to have been made, drawn, accepted or endorsed on behalf of a company if made, drawn, accepted or endorsed in the name of, or by or on behalf or account of, the company by any person acting, under its authority, express or implied.

Notes.—In Chapman v. Swethurst, (1909) 1 K. B. 927 Lord Justice Kennedy said in Lindley on Companies, 6th Ed. whether the question is in every case one of construction or of fact? Does it really purport it so to be? For, although given for the purposes of the Company, the bill or note may not even purport to bind it. If on the true construction of the instrument the bill or note is the bill or note of the company, the company will be liable on it, and not the individuals whose names are on it, unless the bill or note is the bill or note of both. On the other hand, if on the true construction of the bill or note it is not the bill or note of the company, the persons whose names are upon it will be liable upon it, whether they intended to be so or not." Therefore "it is of utmost importance that the name of a person or firm to be charged upon a negotiable document should be clearly stated on the face or back of the document, so that it must be the real name of the person liable upon the bill. 99 Ind. Cas. 328. When a person is not specifically authorized either as a managing agent or otherwise to execute or make a promissory note in his own name so as to bind the company the company will not be liable. A. I. R. 1930 All. 778. The ignorance of the Manager of the Bank of the terms of the Articles of Association does not affect this power to make a transfer of negotiable instrument. 80 Ind. Cas. 741. A. I. R. 1924 Lah. 462.

80. A company may, by writing under its common seal, empower any person, either generally or in respect of any specified matters, as its attorney, to execute deeds on its behalf in any place not situate in British India; and every deed signed by such attorney, on behalf of the company, and under its seal, where sealing is required, shall bind the company, and have the same effect as if it were under its common seal.

Notes.—Under this section the company can authorize any person, as the attorney of the company, to execute, under his seal, deeds outside British India.—Vide Palmer's Company Law, p. 259.

81. (1) A company whose objects require or comprise the transaction of business beyond the limits of British India may, if authorised by its articles, have for use in any territory, district or place not situate in British India, an official seal, which shall be a facsimile of the common seal of the company, with the addition on its face of the name of every territory, district or place where it is to be used.

(2) A company having such an official seal may, by writing under its common seal, authorise any person appointed for the purpose in any territory, district or place not situate in British India to affix the same to any deed or other document, whether in the company and any period (if any) mentioned in the instrument is there mentioned, then until notice of the revocation or determination of the agent's authority has been given to the person dealing with him.

(3) The person affixing any such official seal shall, by writing under his hand, on the deed or other document to which the seal is affixed, certify the date and place of affixing the same.

(5) A deed or other document to which an official seal is duly affixed shall bind the company as if it had been sealed with the common seal of the company.

Notes.—Besides its common seal, a company may under this section, obtain power to have an official seal for use abroad.—Palmer's Company Law, p. 239.

91A. (1) Every director who is directly or indirectly concerned or interested in any contract or arrangement entered into by or on behalf of the company shall disclose the nature of his interest at the meeting of the directors at which the contract or arrangement is determined on, if his interest then exists, or in any other case at the first meeting of the directors after the acquisition of his interest or the making of the contract or arrangement:

Provided that a general notice that a director is a member of any specified firm or company, and is to be regarded as interested in any subsequent transaction with such firm or company, shall as regards any such transaction be sufficient disclosure within the meaning of this subsection and after such general notice, it shall not be necessary to give any special notice relating to any particular transaction with such firm or company.

(2) Every director who contravenes the provisions of sub-section (1) shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

91B. * (1) No director shall, as a director, vote on any contract or arrangement in which he is either directly or indirectly concerned or interested; and if he does so vote, his vote shall not be counted.

Provided that the directors or any of them may vote on any contract of indemnity against any loss which they or any one or more of them may suffer by reason of becoming or being sureties or surety for the company.

(2) Every director who contravenes the provisions of sub-section (1) shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

"(3) This section shall not apply to a private company."†

Notes.—There is almost invariably a more or less stringent clause as to the office of director being vacated if he is concerned in or participates in profits of contracts with the company, though such a clause has a saving to the effect that it shall not apply if he discloses his interest, meaning the exact nature of the interest (Imperial Mercantile Credit v. Coleman, L. R. 6 H. L. 189), to his co-directors or if he is only interested as a member of another company, in which latter case he will have only to disclose the fact of his membership (Costa v. Forwood, (1901) 1 Ch. 746). The provision usually adds that he must not vote. Stibel's Company Law, p. 359. Under sub-section (2) any director who contravenes with the provisions of sub-section (1) shall be liable to a fine but non-observance will not forfeit his office as director. Cf. Imperial Mercantile Credit v. Coleman, (1871) 6 Ch. 538. In such a case his vote will not be counted. British American Corporation, (1903) 19 T. L. R. 662; see also 32 Ind. Cas. 205; 149 B. 491; (1916) 1 A. C. 554. But this section will not prevent a director from exercising his vote on such matters as a general meeting of the company. (1887) 12 A. C. 589; 40 Ch. D. 135.

Provision—Usually a director is expressly allowed to vote on question of security to be given to him in respect of debts of the company for which he is liable. Stibel, p. 359.

91C* (1) Where a company enters into a contract for the appointment of a manager of the company in which contract any director of the company is directly or indirectly concerned or interested, or varies any such existing contract, the company shall send an abstract of the terms of such contract or variation, as the case may be, together with a memorandum clearly indicating the nature of the interest of the director in such contract, or in such variation, to every member; and the contract shall be open to the inspection of any member at the registered office of the company.

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of sub-section (1), it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

91D* (1) Every manager or other agent of a company other than a private company who enters into a contract for or on behalf of the company in which contract the company is an undisclosed principal shall, at the time of entering into the contract, make a memorandum in writing of the terms of the contract, and specify therein the person with whom it has been made.

(a) the contract shall, at the option of the company, be void as against the company; and
(b) such manager or other agent shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees."

Prospectus.

92. (1) Every prospectus issued by or on behalf of a company or in relation to any intended company shall be dated, and that date shall, unless the contrary be proved, be taken as the date of publication of the prospectus.

(2) A copy of every such prospectus, signed by every person who is named therein as a director or proposed director of the company, or by his agent authorised in writing, shall be filed for registration with the registrar on or before the date of its publication, and no such prospectus shall be issued until a copy thereof has been so filed for registration.

* Vide footnote under section 91 A.
(5) Every prospectus shall state on its face of it that a copy has been filed for registration as required by this section.

(6) If a prospectus is issued without a copy thereof being so filed, the company, and every person who is or has been engaged or interested in the formation of the company, shall state—

(2) Where any such prospectus as is mentioned in this section is published as a newspaper advertisement, it shall not be necessary in the advertisement to specify the contents of the memorandum, or the signatories thereto, and the number of shares subscribed for by them.

(3) This section shall not apply to a circular or notice inviting existing members or debenture-holders of a company to subscribe either for shares or for debentures of the company, whether with or without the right to renounce in favour of other persons.

(4) The requirements of this section as to the memorandum and the qualification, remuneration and interest of directors, the names, descriptions and addresses of directors, or proposed directors and of managers or proposed managers, and the amount or estimated amount of preliminary expenses, shall not apply in the case of a prospectus issued more than one year after the date at which the company is entitled to commence business.

(5) Nothing in this section shall limit or diminish any liability which any person may incur under the general law or this Act apart from this section.

the unscrupulous director can easily comply with the letter, and yet, by a multiplicity of details, baffle inquiry and throw dust in the eyes of investors.—Palmer’s Company Law, p. 346. An outsider cannot challenge the appointment of director or contest a director’s authority to act on behalf of the company where the company has recognised a person to be a director for a long time, without repudiating his acts on any single occasion. 31 Ind Cas 595.

Cláusulo (3)—A circular of which a few copies are printed or typewritten, and which is only given to the directors and few other persons for distribution among personal friends, does not come within this section. Stirléth v. Glasgow, (1904) 6 Fra. 420, Shevwell v. Combined Incandescent Mantles, (1907) 23 T. L. R. 482; (1911) 1 Ch. 573.

Cláusulo (5)—No penalty is imposed for non-compliance with the section, and the inference seems to be that any one aggrieved by the neglect of the statutory duty has a right of action for damages against the directors or promoters or other persons responsible for the neglect.—Palmer's Company Law citing Atkinson v. Newcastle, 1 Ex. D. 441; Cowley v. Newmarket, (1892) 2 A. C. 345; Municipal v. Geldert, (1893) A. C. 344; Saunders v. Holborn, (1895) 1 Q. B. 64; Houston v. Consumers, (1898) A. C. 447.

94. For the purposes of section 93 every person shall be deemed to be a vendor who has entered into any contract, absolute or conditional, for the sale or purchase, or for any option of purchase, of any property to be acquired by the company, in any case where—

(a) the purchase-money is not fully paid at the date of issue of the prospectus; or

(b) the purchase-money is to be paid or satisfied wholly or in part out of the proceeds of the issue offered for subscription by the prospectus; or

(c) the contract depends for its validity or fulfilment on the result of that issue.

Notes.—Very wide meaning is given to the word "vendor"—Palmer's Company Law, p. 346.

95. Where any of the property to be acquired by the company is to be taken on lease, section 93 shall apply as if the expression "vendor" included the lessor, and the expression "purchase-money" included the consideration for the lease, and the expression "sub-purchaser" included a sub-lessee.

Notes.—This corresponds to clause (3) of section 81 of the English Act.

96. Any condition requiring or binding any applicant for shares or debentures to waive compliance with any requirements of section 93, or purporting to affect him with notice of any contract, document or matter not specifically referred to in the prospectus, shall be void.

97. In the event of non-compliance with any of the requirements of section 93, a director or other person responsible for the prospectus shall not incur any liability by reason of the non-compliance, if he proves that—

(a) as regards any matter not disclosed, he was not cognisant thereof; or

(b) the non-compliance arose from an honest mistake of fact on his part.

98. (1) A company which does not issue a prospectus on or with reference to its formation shall not allot any primary_share_capital(344,753),(445,781)(340,782),(437,801) of its shares or debentures unless before the first allotment of other shares or debentures there has been filed with the registrar a statement in lieu of prospectus signed by every person who is named therein as a director or a proposed director of the company or by his agent authorised in writing, in the form and containing the particulars set out in the Second Schedule.

(2) This section shall not apply to a company which has allotted shares or debentures before the commencement of this Act or, in so far as it relates to the allotment of shares to a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital.

Notes.—The registrar will not file a statement in lieu of a prospectus unless every point in such form is dealt with either by a definite affirmative statement or by a negative statement and he is bound in this case to see the statute is complied with.—Stiebel, p. 219. A scheme was set on foot to purchase a cotton mill as a going concern at an excessive price, and to promote a company greatly over-capitalised, to which it was to be sold at a profit to the promoters. One of the promoters introduced the scheme to the respondent Lewis, and induced him to provide £30,000 in cash, for registration, but before the registration and at that time no prospectus, or statement in lieu of a prospectus had been filed as required by s. 82(1) (=this section) of the English Companies Act. Held, that the respondent was liable as a promoter. Jubilee Cotton Mills v. Lewis, (1914) A. C. 958. The statement is also open to inspection (1914) 1 Ch. 390. The requirements of the section are satisfied by the mere filing of the statement (1914) 1 Ch 399

99 A company shall not, at any time, vary the terms of a contract referred to in the prospectus, or statement in lieu of prospectus, except subject to the approval of the company in general meeting.

Notes—A company cannot previously to its statutory meeting alter the terms of a contract referred to in a prospectus or statement in lieu of a prospectus except subject to the approval of the statutory meeting. Stiebel, p. 330.

100. (1) Where a prospectus invites persons to subscribe for shares in or debentures of a company, every person who is a director of the company at the time of the issue of the prospectus, and every person who has authorised the naming of himself and is named in the prospectus as a director or as having agreed to become a director either immediately or after an interval of time, and every promoter of the company, and every person who has authorised the issue of the prospectus, shall be liable to pay compensation to all persons who subscribe for any shares or debentures on the faith of the prospectus for all loss or damage they may have sustained by reason of any misleading or untrue statement therein, or any report or memorandum appearing on the face thereof, or by reference incorporated therein or issued therewith, unless it is proved—

(a) with respect to every misleading or untrue statement not purporting to be made on the authority of an expert or of a public official document or statement, that he had reasonable ground to believe and did up to the time of the allotment of the shares or debentures, as the case may be, believe that the statement fairly represented the facts or was true;

(b) with respect to every misleading or untrue statement purporting to be a statement by or contained in what purports to be a copy of or extract from a report or valuation of an expert, that it fairly represented the statement, or was a correct and fair copy or extract from the report or valuation; Provided that the director, person named as director, promoter or person who authorised the issue of the prospectus shall be liable to pay compensation as aforesaid if it is proved that he had no reasonable ground to believe that the person making the statement, report or valuation was competent to make it; and

(c) with respect to every misleading or untrue statement purporting to be a statement made by an official person or contained in what purports to be a copy of or extract from a public official document, that it was a correct and fair representation of the statement or copy of or extract from the document:

he withdrew without his knowledge or consent, and have a reasonable public notice...
(iii) that, after the issue of the prospectus and before allotment thereunder, he, on becoming aware of any misleading or untrue statement therein, withdrew his consent thereto, and gave reasonable public notice of the withdrawal, and of the reason therefor.

(a) Where a company existing at the commencement of this Act has issued shares or debentures, and for the purpose of obtaining further capital by subscriptions for shares or debentures issues a prospectus, a director shall not be liable in respect of any statement therein unless he has authorised the issue of the prospectus, or has adopted or ratified it.

(3) Where the prospectus contains the name of a person as a director of the company, or as having agreed to become a director thereof, and he has not consented to become a director, or has withdrawn his consent before the issue of the prospectus, and has not authorised or consented to the issue thereof, the directors of the company, except any without whose knowledge or consent the prospectus was issued, and any other person who authorised the issue thereof, shall be liable to indemnify the person named as aforesaid against all damages, costs and expenses to which he may be made liable by reason of his name having been inserted in the prospectus, or in defending himself against any suit or legal proceedings brought against him in respect thereof.

(4) Every person who, by reason of his being a director or named as a director, or as having agreed to become a director, or of his having authorised the issue of the prospectus, becomes liable to make any payment under this section, may recover contribution, as in cases of contract, from any other person, who, if sued separately, would have been liable to make the same payment, unless the person who has become so liable was, and that other person was not, guilty of fraudulent misrepresentation.

(5) For the purposes of this section—

(a) the expression "promoter" means a promoter who was a party to the preparation of the prospectus, or the portion thereof containing the misleading or untrue statement, but does not include any person by reason of his acting in a professional capacity for persons engaged in procuring the formation of the company;

(b) the expression "expert" includes engineer, valuer, accountant and any other person whose profession gives authority to a statement made by him.

Notes—A prospectus set forth that the company had been formed for the purpose of acquiring a concession to work and sell rubber in a certain district, and inter alia, stated, "L. reports as follows," and then quoted the report L's name had been already mentioned as a director of the company. The prospectus also stated that the statements in it were based mainly upon L's report and further stated that no portion of the price would be paid until the directors received an independent report substantially confirming L's action to have his name take action to have his name taken in the report were untrue and the averment was relevant. Mair v. Rio Grande Rubber Estates (1913) A.C. 533. Where a company issues a prospectus inviting applications for shares on the faith of a bona fide statement of fact expressly based on the bona fide, report of an expert, the accuracy of those statements is not contract. If the company does not intend itself from the report in such clear and applicants that it does not vouch for it based thereon. Otherwise, if the report proves to be inaccurate, any material inaccuracy in the company's statements, though based thereon, will be a ground for rescission. In such a case, calculations of future profits based on the date of the report may amount to a material misrepresentation of fact. In Re Pataya Rubber and Produce Co., Ltd. (1914) 1 Ch. 542. Two of the directors mentioned in a prospectus retired before the allotment of shares and the fact of retirement was not communicated to the allottee of shares. Held, that the allottee of the shares would be entitled to rescind the contract of allotment of shares and claim a refund of the Allotment.

101. (1) No allotment shall be made of any share capital of a company offered to the public for subscription, unless the following conditions have been complied with, namely:—

(a) the amount (if any) fixed by the memorandum or articles and named in the prospectus as the minimum subscription upon which the directors may proceed to allotment; or

(b) if no amount is so fixed and named, then the whole amount of the share capital so offered for subscription has been subscribed, and the sum payable on application for the amount so fixed and named or for the whole amount offered for subscription, has been paid to and received in cash by the company.

(2) The amount so fixed and named and the whole amount aforesaid shall be reckoned exclusively of any amount payable otherwise than in cash, and is in this Act referred to as the minimum subscription.

(3) The amount payable on application on each share shall not be less than five per cent. of the nominal amount of the share.

(4) If the conditions aforesaid have not been complied with on the expiration of one hundred and twenty days after the first issue of the prospectus, all money received from applicants for shares shall be forthwith repaid to them without interest, and, if any such money is not so repaid within one hundred and thirty days after the issue of the prospectus, the directors of the company shall be jointly and severally liable to repay that money with interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the expiration of the one hundred and thirtieth day: Provided that a director shall not be liable if he proves that the loss of the shares to waive

(5) This section, except sub-section (3) thereof, shall not apply to any allotment of shares subsequent to the first allotment of shares offered to the public for subscription.

(7) In the case of the first allotment of share capital payable in cash of a company which does not issue any invitation to the public to subscribe for its shares, no allotment shall be made unless the minimum subscription (that is to say)—

(a) the amount (if any) fixed by the memorandum or articles and named in the statement in lieu of prospectus as the minimum subscription upon which the directors may proceed to allotment; or

(b) if no amount is so fixed and named, the whole amount of the share capital other than that issued or agreed to be issued as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash has been subscribed and an amount not less than five per cent. of the nominal amount of each share payable in cash has been paid to and received by the company.

(8) Sub-section (7) shall not apply to a private company or to a company which has allotted any shares or debentures before the commencement of this Act.

Notes.—This section applies to a company’s first allotment of shares offered to the public subscription; once the company has allotted shares offered for public subscription, it will not, if it makes a further issue have again to comply with the section; nor does the section touch or affect in any way (except by sub-section 7) an allotment of shares not offered for public subscription, e.g. offered to a limited circle of friends or relations. Palmer’s Company Law, p. 105. The section ...
sub-section (3) requiring the amount payable on application to be not less than 5 per cent of the nominal amount of each share does not apply to any allotment of shares subsequent to the first allotment of shares offered to the public for subscription. Siebel, p. 223.

A person who has taken shares on the strength of an offer made before incorporation of the company can not avail himself of these provisions to avoid his contract. Sherwell v Combined Incandescent Co, (1907) 23 T. L. R. 452. Where the company has issued two prospectuses one of which does, and the other does not comply with these provisions, a person who has taken shares on the strength of the then the issue of the shares as fully paid cannot be justified. 51 C. L. J. 424. C. W. N. 709 A I. R. 1910 P. C. 151 must be made within reasonable time. 150 Ind Cas. 97. Allotment should not be made until 1934 All. 855. A director is guilty under 1.

102 (1) An allotment made by a company to an applicant in contravention of the provisions of section 104 shall be voidable at the instance of the applicant within one month after the holding of the statutory meeting of the company and not later, and shall be so voidable notwithstanding that the company is in course of being wound up.

(2) If any director of a company knowingly contravenes or permits or authorises the contravention of any of the provisions of section 104 with respect to allotment, he shall be liable to compensate the company and the allottee respectively for any loss, damages or costs which the company or the allottee may have sustained or incurred thereby: Provided that proceedings to recover any such loss, damages or costs shall not be commenced after the expiration of two years from the date of the allotment.

One month.—It is not necessary that the actual proceeding should be commenced within the month—it is enough if notice of intention to avoid the allotment is given within the month—and proceedings are taken as soon as it is clear that the directors of the company do not intend to remove the applicant’s name National Motor Rail Co. (1908) 2 Ch. 238.

Voidable.—After allotment the remedy under section 104 is gone and a company cannot avoid a wrongful allotment unless the allottee demands that they shall do so Burton v. Bevan, (1908) 2 Ch. 240.

Compensation.—The amount of such compensation will probably not be limited to the amount by which the shares applied for fall short of the minimum subscription. Daily Events Co. Times Newspaper, 2nd March, 1911 cited in Siebel, p. 224.

Restrictions on commencement of business.

103. (1) A company shall not commence any business or exercise any borrowing powers unless—

(a) shares held subject to the payment of the whole amount thereof in cash have been allotted to an amount not less in the whole than the minimum subscription; and
(b) every director of the company has paid to the company on each of the shares taken or contracted to be taken by him, and for which he is liable to pay in cash, a proportion equal to the proportion payable on application and allotment on the shares offered for public subscription or, in the case of a company which does not issue a prospectus inviting the public to subscribe for its shares, on the shares payable in cash; and

(c) there has been filed with the registrar a duly verified declaration by the secretary or one of the directors, in the prescribed form, that the aforesaid conditions have been complied with; and

(d) in the case of a company which does not issue a prospectus inviting the public to subscribe for its shares, there has been filed with the registrar a statement in lieu of prospectus.

(a) The registrar shall, on the filing of a duly verified declaration, in accordance with the provisions of this section certify that the company is entitled to commence business, and that certificate shall be conclusive evidence that the company is so entitled:

Provided that, in the case of a company which does not issue a prospectus inviting the public to subscribe for its shares, the registrar shall not give such a certificate unless a statement in lieu of prospectus has been filed with him.

(3) Any contract made by a company before the date at which it is entitled to commence business shall be provisional only, and shall not be binding on the company until that date, and on that date it shall become binding.

(4) Nothing in this section shall prevent the simultaneous offer for subscription or allotment of any shares and debentures or the receipt of any money payable on application for debentures.

(5) If any company commences business or exercises borrowing powers in contravention of this section, every person who is responsible for the contravention shall, without prejudice to any other liability, be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for every day during which the contravention continues.

(6) Nothing in this section shall apply to a private company, or to a company registered before the commencement of this Act which does not issue a prospectus inviting the public to subscribe for its shares or, in so far as its provisions relate to shares, to a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital.

Notes.—If a statement in lieu of prospectus has been filed pursuant to section
98 of the Companies Act, and the registrar has given a certificate under sub-section
(2) the company can proceed to allotment notwithstanding that the statement contains mis-statements and omissions. In re Bizzar Open Heat Furnace Co. Ltd.
(1914) 1 Ch. 390.

104. (1) Whenever a company having a share capital makes any allotment of its shares, the company shall, within one month thereafter,—

(a) file with the registrar a return of the allotments, stating the number and nominal amount of the shares comprised in the allotment, the names, addresses and descriptions of the allottees, and the amount (if any) paid or due and payable on each share; and

(b) in the case of shares allotted as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash, produce for the inspection and examination of the registrar a contract in writing constituting the title of the allottee to the allotment together with any contract of sale, or for services or other consideration in respect of which file with the acts and a the extent which they have been allotted.

(2) Where such a contract as above mentioned is not reduced to writing, the company shall, within one month after the allotment, file with the registrar the prescribed particulars of the contract stamped with the same stamp-duty as would have been payable if the contract had been reduced to writing, and these particulars shall be deemed to be an instrument within the meaning of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899*, and the registrar may, as a condition of filing the particulars, require that the duty payable thereon be adjudicated under section 30 of that Act.

(3) If default is made in complying with the requirements of this section, every officer of the company who is knowingly a party to the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for every day during which the default continues:

Provided that, in case of default in filing with the registrar within one month after the allotment any document required to be filed by this section, the company, or any person liable for the default, may apply to the Court for relief, and the Court, if satisfied that the omission to file the document was accidental or due to inadvertence or that on other grounds it is just and equitable to grant relief, may make an order extending the time for the filing of the document for such a period as the Court may think proper.

Notes.—In British Farmer's Pure Linseed Cake Co. (1878) 7 Ch. D. 533. Jessel M. R. said: "You are prohibited from contracting that shares shall be paid for otherwise than in cash except by a registered contract." The condition that the defendant need not pay unless the company makes a profit and dividend is paid is in direct violation of section 28 of the Companies Act of 1882. Motilal v. Thakurlal, 16 Ind. Commissions and Discounts.

105. (1) It shall be lawful for a company to pay a commission to any person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe, whether absolutely or conditionally, for any shares in the company, or procuring or agreeing to procure subscriptions, whether absolute or conditional, for any shares in the company, if the payment of the commission is authorised by the articles and the commission paid or agreed to be paid does not exceed the amount or rate so authorised and if the amount or rate per cent. of the commission paid or agreed to be paid is—

(a) in the case of shares offered to the public for subscription, disclosed in the prospectus; or

(b) in the case of shares not offered to the public for subscription, disclosed in the statement in lieu of prospectus, or in a statement in the prescribed form signed in like manner as a statement in lieu of prospectus and filed with the registrar and, where a circular or notice, not being a prospectus inviting subscription for the shares is issued, also disclosed in that circular or notice.

(2) Save as aforesaid, no company shall apply any of its shares or capital money either directly or indirectly in payment of any commission, discount or allowance, to any person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe, whether absolutely or conditionally, for any shares of the company, or procuring or agreeing to procure subscriptions, whether absolute or conditional, for any shares in the company, whether the shares or money be so applied by being added to the purchase-money of any property acquired by the company or to the contract price of any work to be executed for the company, or the money be paid out of the nominal purchase-money or contract price, or otherwise.

(3) Nothing in this section shall affect the power of any company to pay such brokerage as it has heretofore been lawful for a company to pay, and a vendor to, promotor of, or other person who receives payment in money or shares from, a company shall have and shall be deemed always to have had power to apply any part of the money or shares so received in payment of any commission, the payment of which, if made directly by the company, would have been legal under this section.

Clause (1).—This clause makes provision for underwriting agreement. An underwriter generally finds subscribers for so many of the shares specified in the underwriting letter, as are not before a certain date or event, otherwise subscribed. See Gowers in Case, 8 Ch. 157. In return of his services he is given certain commission. 42 Ch. D 1; 53 T. L. R. 569; (1897) 1 Ch. 575. Before the passing of this Act, it was doubtful whether such commission could be paid. Vide Lord Darcy in Hilder v. Deater, 1602 A. C. 474 (478); Sydney v. Bird, 33 Ch. D. 85; 95; Fournier Electric Accumulator Co., 1886 40 Ch. D. 141. Contract by the contractor of a Company to take shares after payment of allotment money and after agreement to pay the balance by goods supplied does not contravene the provision of this section. 63 M. Clause (2).—When the provision is in contravention of Indian Companies Act s. 105 (2) it is ultra vires, 115 Ind. Cas. 748.
Notes.—This section only applies to the underwriting of shares, and not of debentures, as there was never any legal objection to the underwriting of debentures, but sums paid for underwriting of shares or debentures, or allowed by way of discount in respect of debentures, or so much thereof as has not been written off, must be stated in every balance-sheet of the company, until the whole amount has been written off.—Stiebel, p. 131.

Payment of Interest out of Capital.

107. Where any shares of a company are issued for the purpose of raising money to defray the expenses of the construction of any works or buildings or the provision of any plant which cannot be made profitable for a lengthened period, the company may pay interest on so much of that share capital as is for the time being paid up for the period and subject to the conditions and restrictions in this section mentioned, and may charge the same to capital as part of the cost of construction of the work or building, or the provision of plant:

Provided that—

(1) no such payment shall be made unless the same is authorised by the articles or by special resolution;

(2) no such payment, whether authorised by the articles or by special resolution, shall be made without the previous sanction of the Local Government, which sanction shall be conclusive evidence for the purposes of this section that the shares of the company, in respect of which such sanction is given, have been issued for a purpose specified in this section;

(3) before sanctioning any such payment, the Local Government may, at the expense of the company, appoint a person to inquire and report to such Local Government as to the circumstances of the case, and may, before making the appointment, require the company to give security for the payment of the costs of the inquiry;

(4) the payment shall be made only for such period as may by determined by the Local Government; and such period shall in no case extend beyond the close of the half-year next after the half-year during which the works or buildings have been actually completed or the plant provided;

(5) the rate of interest shall in no case exceed four per cent. per annum or such lower rate as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, prescribe;

(6) the payment of the interest shall not operate as a reduction of the amount paid up on the shares in respect of which it is paid;

(7) the accounts of the company shall show the share capital on which, and the rate at which, interest has been paid out of capital during the period to which the accounts relate;

(8) nothing in this section shall affect any company to which the Indian Railway Companies Act, 1895, * or the Indian Tramways Act, 1902, † applies.

N. B.—The power, if will be observed, is carefully hedged now with conditions designed to prevent any abuse.—Palmer’s Company Law, p. 22.

Certificates of Shares, etc.

108. (1) Every company shall, within three months after the allotment of any of its shares, debentures or debenture stock, and within three months after the registration of the transfer of any such shares, debentures or debenture stock, complete and have ready for delivery the certificates of all shares, the debentures, and the certificates of all debenture stock allotted or transferred, unless the conditions of issue of the shares, debentures or debenture stock otherwise provide.

(2) If default is made in complying with the requirements of this section, the company, and every officer of the company who is knowingly a party to the default, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

Information as to Mortgages, Charges, etc.

109. Every mortgage or charge created after the commencement of this Act by a company and being either—

(a) a mortgage or charge for the purpose of securing any issue of debentures; or

(b) a mortgage or charge on uncalled share capital of the company; or

(c) a mortgage or charge on any immovable property wherever situate, or any interest therein; or

(d) a mortgage or charge on any book debts of the company; or

(e) a floating charge on the undertaking or property of the company; shall, so far as any security on the company’s property or undertaking is thereby conferred, be void against the liquidator and any creditor of the company, unless the prescribed particulars of the mortgage or charge, together with the instrument (if any) by which the mortgage or charge is created or evidenced, or a copy thereof verified in the prescribed manner are filed with the registrar for registration in manner required by this Act within twenty-one days after the date of its creation, but without prejudice to any contract or obligation for repayment of the money thereby secured, and when a mortgage or charge becomes void under this section, the money secured thereby shall immediately become payable:

Provided that—

(i) in the case of a mortgage or charge created out of British India, comprising solely property situate outside British India, twenty-one days after the date on which the instrument or copy could, in due course of post, and if despatched with due diligence, have been received in British India shall be substituted for twenty-one days after the date of the creation of the mortgage or charge, as the time within which the particulars and instrument or copy are to be filed with the registrar; and

(ii) where the mortgage or charge is created in British India but comprises property outside British India, the instrument creating or purporting to create the mortgage or charge or a copy thereof verified in the prescribed manner may be filed for registration notwithstanding that further proceedings may be necessary to make the mortgage or charge valid or effectual according to the law of the country in which the property is situate, and

(iii) where a negotiable instrument has been given to secure the payment of any book debts of a company, the deposit of the instrument for the purpose of securing an advance to the company shall not for the purposes of the borrowing powers of the company. Per Lord Shelborne v. The Mufassal Bank Ltd.

L. R. 6 A. 29=83 Ind. Cas. 142=A. I. R. (1923) All. 206 (1). This section applies to a mortgage or charge created by the company by contract and not to a charge arising by operation of law (1927) Oudh 55; see also A. I. R. 1934 All. 161=(1934) A. L. J. 195.

Clause (1).—A mortgage will be created for the purposes of this section where property purchased by a company and paid for out of its own moneys is subsequently conveyed to the trustees of an existing covering deed on their repaying such money to the company. Cornbrook v. Law, (1924) 1 Ch. 103; but not where there is a conveyance direct from the vendor to the trustees. Bristol United Breweries v. Abbitt, (1938) 1 Ch 273 cited in Stichel, p. 355. The date of creation of a charge is the date when the seal of the company is affixed to the debentures, Spirit Globe, (1931) 2 Ch 203; New London and Suburban Omnibus, (1938) 1 Ch. 627; but see Abrahams and Sons Ltd., (1920) 1 Ch. 695; Harrowgate States Ltd., (1930) 1 Ch. 498; N. Distillers & Co. (1934) 1 Ch. 37. A mortgage or charge is "created" when the deed or agreement is executed or entered into, even though the advance is made subsequently (1922) 2 Ch. 229; (1923) 1 Ch. 498; (1928) 1 Ch. 621; see also 38 C. W. N. 1190; 35 C. W. N. 1034 (P. C.).

Where the director of a company pledged the movable assets of the company but remained himself in possession as agent of the pledgee, held, that only a floating charge was created and it not being registered as required by this section was void against the liquidator. Padamjee & Co. v. V. K. Mood, 27 Bom. L. R. 1218=91 Ind. Cas. 334. It is necessary to file with the registrar the particulars of a mortgage by deposit of title deeds, whether or not it is accompanied by a memorandum of deposit. A. I. R. (1927). Bom. 167 A mortgage registered within 21 days has priority over a prior mortgage registered subsequently under an order of extension by High Court (1927) Oudh 300.

A floating security is not a specific mortgage of assets, plus a licence to the mortgagor to dispose of them in the course of his business, but is a floating mortgage applying to every item comprised in the security, but not specifically affecting any item until some event occurs or some act on the part of the mortgagor is done which causes it to crystallise into a fixed security. (1910) 2 K. B. 979; (1927) A. I. R. Cal. 682.

(1910) 2 K. B. 979; (1927) A. I. R. Cal. 682.

The debentures charging the company’s assets though not creating an interest in immovable property create a floating charge and require registration under s. 17 (1) of the Registration Act. 58 C. 135=53 C. L. J. 269=131 Ind. Cas. 689=A. I. R. 1931 Cal. 223; but see 35 C. W. N. 1034=A. I. R. 1931 P. C. 245. Mortgage or charge created by company on immovable property is not necessarily interest in immovable property. Debentures charging company’s assets, present and future, must be registered under Registration Act. 17, 131 Ind. Cas. 689=53 C. L. J. 269=58 C. 135=34 C. W. N. 689=A. I. R. (1931) Cal. 223.

deed containing the charge or, if there is no such deed, after the execution of any debentures of the series, the following particulars:

(a) the total amount secured by the whole series; and
(b) the dates of the resolutions authorising the issue of the series and the date of the covering deed (if any) by which the security is created or defined; and
(c) a general description of the property charged; and
(d) the names of the trustees (if any) for the debenture-holders;

together with the deed or a copy thereof verified in the prescribed manner containing the charge, or if there is no such deed, one of the debentures of the series, and the registrar shall, on payment of the prescribed fee, enter those particulars in the register.

Provided that, where more than one issue is made of debentures in the series, there shall be filed with the registrar for entry in the register particulars of the date and amount of each issue, but an omission to do this shall not affect the validity of the debentures issued.

Dobentures.—“I cannot find,” said Chitty J. in Levey v. Abercorn Co. (1888) 37 Ch. D. 264, “any precise legal definition of the term (i.e., debenture) It is not either in law or commerce a strictly technical term, or what is called a term of art. It is very wide term, but it is now generally used to signify a security for money called on the face of it a debenture, and providing for the payment of a specified sum—say £100—at a fixed date, with the interest meantime half-yearly. It usually gives a charge by way of security, and in most cases is expressed to be one of the series of like debentures. But the term as used in common parlance is of an extremely elastic character.” Palmer’s Company’s Law citing Gardiner v. London, 2 Ch. 201; Levey v. Abercorn Co. 37 Ch. D. 264; Robson v. Smiths, (1895) 2 Ch. 18; British India and Co. v. Commissioner, 7 Q. B. D. 165.

111. Where any commission, allowance or discount has been paid or made either directly or indirectly by the company to any person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe, whether absolutely or conditionally, for any debentures of the company, or procuring or agreeing to procure subscriptions, whether absolute or conditional, for any such debentures, the particulars required to be filed for registration under sections 109 and 110 shall include particulars as to the amount or rate per cent. of the commission, discount or allowance so paid or made, but an omission to do this shall not affect the validity of the debentures issued:

Provided that the deposit of any debentures as security for any debt of the company shall not for the purposes of this provision be treated as the issue of the debentures at a discount.

Notes.—The legality of issuing a debenture at a discount is recognised by this section Buckley, p 249.

112. (1) The registrar shall keep, with respect to each company, a register in the prescribed form of all mortgages and charges created by the company after the commencement of this Act and requiring registration under section 109, and shall, on payment of the prescribed fee, enter in the register, with respect to every such mortgage or charge, the date of creation, the amount secured by it, short particulars of the property mortgaged or charged, and the names of the mortgagees or persons entitled to the charge.

(2) After making the entry required by sub-section (1), the registrar shall return the instrument (if any) or the verified copy thereof, as the case may be, filed in accordance with the provisions of section 109 or section 110 to the person filing the same.

(3) The register kept in pursuance of this section shall be open to inspection by any person on payment of the prescribed fee, not exceeding one rupee for each inspection.
Clause (3).—The right of inspection includes the right to take copies. (1897) i Ch. 130.

113. The registrar shall keep a chronological index, in the prescribed form and with the prescribed particulars, of the mortgages or charges registered with him under this Act.

Notes.—This section makes provision for the keeping of a chronological index in the prescribed form and with the prescribed particulars of the mortgages or charges registered with the registrar under the Act.

114. The registrar shall give a certificate under his hand of the registration of any mortgage or charge registered in pursuance of section 109, stating the amount thereby secured, and the certificate shall be conclusive evidence that the requirements of sections 109 to 112 as to registration have been complied with.

Notes.—The certificate is conclusive evidence that the requirements of the section as to registration have been complied with. The mistake on the part of the registrar does not invalidate the certificate. Yolland, Husson, Birkett and Co. Ltd (1908) i Ch. 152; see also Gunard Steamship Co. v. Hopwood, (1908) 2 Ch. 564; Harrogate Estates, Ltd, (1903) i Ch. 498; (1924) i K. B 431 at p. 444.

115. The company shall cause a copy of every certificate of registration, given under section 114, to be endorsed on every debenture or certificate of debenture stock which is issued by the company, and the payment of which is secured by the mortgage or charge so registered:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring a company to cause a certificate of registration of any mortgage or charge so given to be endorsed on any debenture or certificate of debenture stock which has been issued by the company before the mortgage or charge was created.

116. (1) It shall be the duty of the company and right of interested party as regards registration.

any such mortgage or charge n interested therein.

(2) Where the registration is effected on the application of some person other than the company, that person shall be entitled to recover from the company the amount of any fees properly paid by him to the registrar on the registration.

117. Every company shall cause a copy of every instrument creating any mortgage or charge requiring registration under section 109, to be kept at the registered office of the company: Provided that, in the case of a series of uniform debentures, a copy of one such debenture shall be sufficient.

118 (1) If any person obtains an order for the appointment of a receiver of the property of a company, or appoints such a receiver under any powers contained in any instrument, he shall, within fifteen days from the date of the order or of the appointment under the powers contained in the instrument, file notice of the fact with the registrar, and the registrar shall, on payment of the prescribed fee, enter the fact in the register of mortgages and charges.
(2) If any person makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

119. (1) Every receiver of the property of a company who has been appointed under the powers contained in any instrument, and who has taken possession, shall once in every half-year while he remains in possession, and also on ceasing to act as receiver, file with the registrar an abstract in the prescribed form of his receipts and payments during the period to which the abstract relates, and shall also, on ceasing to act as receiver, file with the registrar notice to that effect, and the registrar shall enter the notice in the register of mortgages and charges.

(2) Every receiver who makes default in complying with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

120. The Court, on being satisfied that the omission to register a mortgage or charge within the time required by section 109, or that the omission or mis-statement of any particular with respect to any such mortgage or charge, was accidental, or due to inadvertence or to some other sufficient cause, or is not of a nature to prejudice the position of creditors or shareholders of the company, or that on other grounds it is just and equitable to grant a relief, may, on the application of the company or any person interested, and on such terms and conditions as seem to the Court just and expedient, order that the time for registration be extended, or, as the case may be, that the omission or mis-statement be rectified, and may make such order as to the costs of the application as it thinks fit.

On the ground of bona fide belief that registration was required under the stamp authorities in the cases of Joplin Breweries, 1902 Ch. 79 an application was granted on the ground that delay had been caused by the illness of a director. Similar application may be granted on the ground of misunderstanding of law. Mendip Press, 1901 T. L. R. 38; 1905 49 Sol J 283 cited in Sudeb, p 350.

122. (1) If any company makes default in filing with the registrar for registration the particulars—

(a) of any mortgage or charge created by the company; or

(b) of the issues of debentures of a series, requiring registration with the registrar under the provisions of the Indian Companies Act, then, unless the registration has been made, every person, the company, and every officer of the company who is knowingly a party to the default, shall be liable to a fine.
not exceeding five hundred rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(2) Subject as aforesaid, if any company makes default in complying with any of the requirements of this Act as to the registration with the registrar of any mortgage or charge created by the company, the company, and every officer of the company, who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall, without prejudice to any other liability, be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

(3) If any person knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the delivery of any debenture or certificate of debenture stock requiring registration with the registrar under the foregoing provisions of this Act without a copy of the certificate of registration being endorsed upon it, he shall, without prejudice to any other liability, be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

Notes.—Vide 29 M. L. J. 110.

123. (1) Every limited company shall keep a register of mortgages and enter therein all mortgages and charges specifically affecting property of the company, giving in each case a short description of the property mortgaged or charged, the amount of the mortgage or charge and (except in the case of securities to bearer) the names of the mortgagors or persons entitled thereto.

(2) If any director, manager or other officer of the company knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the omission of any entry required to be made in pursuance of this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

Notes.—Non-registration does not affect the validity of a charge. In cases of willful omission, a penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees is to be imposed. Re General South America Co., 2 Ch. D. 337; Wright v. Barton, (1887) 12 App. Cas. 371; 43 M. 550 (P. C.).

124. (1) The copies kept at the registered office of the company in pursuance of section 117 of instruments creating any mortgage or charge requiring registration under this Act with the registrar, and the register of mortgages kept in pursuance of section 123, shall be open at all reasonable times to the inspection of any creditor or member of the company without fee, and the register of mortgages shall also be open to the inspection of any other person on payment of such fee, not exceeding one rupee for each inspection, as the company may prescribe.

(2) If inspection of the said copies or register is refused, the company shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees and a further fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the refusal continues, and every officer of the company shall incur the like penalty by order compel

Notes.—A prospective creditor can see the company's register of mortgages but not the mortgages or charges. National Union Bank of England v. Cornby, (1919) W. N. 315.

125. (1) Every register of holders of debentures of a company shall, except when closed in accordance with the articles during such period or periods (not exceeding in the whole thirty days in any year) as may be specified in the articles, be open to the inspection of the registered holder of any such debentures, and of any holder of shares in the company, but subject to such reasonable restrictions as the company may in general meeting impose, so that at least two hours in each day are appointed for inspection, and every such holder may require a copy of the register or any part thereof on payment of six annas for every one hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied.

(a) A copy of any trust-deed for securing any issue of debenture shall be forwarded to every holder of any such debentures at his request on payment in the case of a printed trust-deed of the sum of one rupee or such less sum as may be prescribed by the company, or, where the trust-deed has not been printed, on payment of six annas for every one hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied.

(3) If inspection is refused, or a copy is refused or not forwarded, the company shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the refusal continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly authorises or permits the refusal shall incur the like penalty, and the Court may by order compel an immediate inspection of the register.

Debentures and Floating Charges.

126. A condition contained in any debentures or in any deed for securing any debentures, whether issued or executed before Perpetual debentures, or after the passing of this Act, shall not be invalid by reason only that thereby the debentures are made irredeemable or redeemable only on the happening of a contingency, however remote, or on the expiration of a period however long.

Notes—Where, however, the covenant for repayments provides that the principal money shall be repayable on the happening of events which may not happen for an indefinite period. [Per Rigby, L.J in City of London Brewery v. Inland Revenue, (1899) 1 Q.B. 121, 138], or where the debenture or debenture stock is stated to be irredeemable, and there is no provision for redemption or covenant for repayment, there the debenture stock and debentures will be what is called perpetual or irreredeemable within the company has redeemed any debentures previously issued, the company, unless the articles or the conditions of issue expressly otherwise provide, or unless the debentures have been redeemed in pursuance of any obligation on the company so to do (not being an obligation enforceable only by the person to whom the redeemed debentures were issued or his assigns), shall have power, and shall be deemed always to have had power, to keep the debentures alive for the purposes of re-issue, and where a company has purported to exercise such a power the company shall have power, and shall be deemed always to have had power, to re-issue the debentures either by reissuing the same debentures or by issuing other debentures in their place, and upon such re-issue the person entitled to the debentures shall have, and shall be deemed always to have had, the same rights and priorities as if the debentures had not previously been issued.

(2) Where with the object of keeping debentures alive for the purpose of re-issue they have, either before or after the commencement of this Act, been transferred to a nominee of the company, a transfer from that nominee shall be deemed to be a re-issue for the purposes of this section.

(3) Where a company has, either before or after the commencement of this Act, deposited any of its debentures to secure advances from time to time on current account or otherwise, the debentures shall not be deemed to have been redeemed by reason only of the account of the company having ceased to be in debit whilst the debentures remained so deposited.

(4) The re-issue of a debenture or the issue of another debenture in its place under the power by this section given to, or deemed to have been possessed by, a company, whether the re-issue or issue was made before or after the commencement of this Act, shall be treated as the issue of a new debenture for the purposes of stamp duty, but it shall not be so treated for the purposes of any provision limiting the amount or number of debentures to be issued.

Provided that any person lending money on the security of a debenture re-issued under this section which appears to be duly stamped may give the debenture in evidence in any proceedings for enforcing his security without payment of the stamp duty or any penalty in respect thereof, unless he had notice or, for his negligence, might have discovered, that the debenture was not duly stamped, but in any such case the company shall be liable to pay the proper stamp duty and penalty.

(5) Nothing in this section shall prejudice—

(a) the operation of any decree or order of a Court of competent jurisdiction pronounced or made before the twenty-fifth day of February, 1910, as between the parties to the proceedings in which the decree or order was made, and any appeal from any such decree or order shall be decided as if this Act had not been passed; or

(b) any power to issue debentures in the place of any debentures paid off or otherwise satisfied or extinguished, reserved to a company by its debentures or the securities for the same.

Notes.—With regard to debentures which a company has redeemed or brought on the market formerly the law was that such debentures were cancelled or spent by the fact that the money secured by them was paid off, and they could not be re-issued. The same rule was applicable where debentures were purchased and registered in the name of the company. George Routledge, (1904) 2 Ch. 474. This law was altered in England by section 15 of the Companies Act, 1907. That change has also been incorporated in section 104 of the Companies Consolidation Act, 1908 and in this section. Upon any such re-issue the person entitled to the debentures will have, and is deemed always to have the same rights and priorities as if the debentures had not been previously issued. The question whether re-issued debentures requires registration was raised in New London and Suburban Omnibus Co. (1908) 1 Ch. 621, where Neville J., did not decide the question, but held in that particular case that debentures did not require registration. Stiebel, p. 479.

Specific performance of contract to subscribe for debentures.

128. A contract with a company to take up and pay for any debentures of the company may be enforced by a decree for specific performance.

Notes.—The enactment of this section alters the law as laid down in South African Territories v Wallington, (1898) A. C. 399; see also (1915) 1 Ch. 472 at p. 476. Before the enactment of this section it was a mere agreement and could not be enforced specifically. Ibid.

129. (1) Where either a receiver is appointed on behalf of the holders of any debentures of a company secured by a floating charge, or possession is taken by or on behalf of those debenture-holders of any property comprised in or subject to the charge, then, if the company is not at the time in course of being wound up, the debts which in every winding up are under the provisions of Part V relating to preferential payments to be paid in priority to all other debts, shall be paid forthwith out of any assets coming to the hands of the receiver or other person taking possession as aforesaid in priority to any claim for principal or interest in respect of the debentures.

(a) The periods of time mentioned in the said provisions of Part V shall be reckoned from the date of the appointment of the receiver or of possession being taken as aforesaid, as the case may be.

(3) Any payments made under this section shall be recouped, as far as may be, out of the assets of the company available for payment of general creditors.

Notes — Vaie (1898) 2 Ch 378 at p. 381.

Statements, Books and Accounts

130. Every company shall keep proper books of account in which shall be entered full, true and complete accounts of the affairs and transactions of the company.

131. (1) Every company shall, once at least in every year and at intervals of not more than fifteen months, cause the accounts of the company to be balanced and a balance-sheet to be prepared.

(2) The balance-sheet shall be audited by the auditor of the company as hereinafter provided, and the auditor's report shall be attached thereto, or there shall be inserted at the foot thereof a reference to the report, and the report shall be read before the company in general meeting and shall be open to inspection by any member of the company.

(3) Every company other than a private company shall send a copy of such balance-sheets so audited to the registered address of every member of the company at least seven days before the meeting at which it is to be laid before the members of the company, and shall deposit a copy at the registered office of the company for the inspection of the members of the company during a period of at least seven days before that meeting.

(4) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

the time being in Br in British India, by such director, but in such a case there shall be subjoined to the balance-sheet a statement signed by such directors or director explaining the reason for non-compliance with the provisions of sub-section (1).

(3) If any copy of a balance-sheet which has not been signed as required by this section is issued, circulated or published, the company and every officer of the company who knowingly a party to the default shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Notes—The directors sign on behalf of the company and after approval by the board by a resolution.

134. (1) After the balance-sheet has been laid before the company at the general meeting a copy thereof signed by the manager or secretary of the company shall be filed with the registrar at the same time as the copy of the annual list of members and summary prepared in accordance with the requirements of section 32.

(2) If the general meeting before which a balance-sheet is laid does not adopt the balance-sheet, a statement of that fact and of the reasons therefor shall be annexed to the balance-sheet and to the copy thereof required to be filed with the registrar.

(3) This section shall not apply to a private company.

(4) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, the company and every officer of the company who knowingly and willfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty as is provided by section 32 for a default in complying with the provisions of that section.

Notes.—In answer to a charge under clause (4) in respect of default made in filing with the registrar the balance-sheet for a certain year, it is not open to a director of a joint-stock company to plead that as no general meeting was called in that year and no balance-sheet was laid before the company at any such general meeting, it was impossible for him or his company to comply with the requirements of this section. The Presidency Magistrates in Calcutta possess jurisdiction to try charges under section 134 of the Indian Companies Act even where the company is situate outside Calcutta, as the office of the registrar with whom the balance-sheet should be filed is in Calcutta. The fact that the directors have committed an offence by not summoning a meeting —so that they cannot make a list of the members so as to comply with the section—will be no answer, and they can be convicted of both offences. Park v. Laxton, (1911) 1 K. B. 558.

135. Save as otherwise provided in this Act, any member of a company shall be entitled to be furnished with copies of the balance-sheet and the auditor's report at a charge not exceeding six annas for every hundred words or fractional part thereof.

Notes.—The shareholders cannot be deprived of their statutory rights given under this section.

Statement to be published by Banking and certain other Companies.

136. (1) Every company being a limited banking company or an insurance company or a deposit, provident or benefit society shall, before it commences business, and also on the first Monday in February and the first Monday in August in every year during which it carries on business, make a statement in the form marked G in the Third Schedule, or as near thereto as circumstances will admit.

(2) A copy of the statement shall be displayed and, until the display of the next following statement, kept displayed in a conspicuous place in the registered office of the company, and in every branch office or place where the business of the company is carried on.

(3) Every member and every creditor of the company shall be entitled to a copy of the statement on payment of a sum not exceeding eight annas.

(4) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues; and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

(5) This section shall not apply to a life assurance company or provident insurance society to which the provisions of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912,* or the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912,† as the case may be, as to the annual statements to be made by such company or society. apply with or without modifications, if the company or society complies with those provisions.

Notes.—Under sub-section (1) every limited banking company is bound to publish a statement provided in the third schedule on the date specified in the section and the failure to comply with its provisions is punishable under sub-section (4). The fact that statements could not be published in time on account of the change in the closing date of the financial year of the company is not a valid answer to the charge. P. R. 18 v. Investigation by the Registrar.

137. (1) Where the registrar, on perusal of any document which a company is required to submit to him under the provisions of this Act, is of opinion that any information or explanation is necessary in order that such document may afford full particulars of the matter to which it purports to relate, he may, by a written order, call on the company submitting the document to furnish in writing such information or explanation within such time as he may specify in his order.

(2) On the receipt of an order under sub-section (1), it shall be the duty of all persons who are or have been officers of the company to furnish such information or explanation, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees in respect of each offence.

(3) If any such person refuses or neglects to furnish any such information or explanation, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees in respect of each offence.

(4) On receipt of such information or explanation the registrar may annex the same to the original document submitted to him; and any additional document so annexed by the registrar shall be subject to the like provisions as to inspection and the taking of copies as the original document is subject.

(5) If such information or explanation is not furnished within the specified time, or if after perusal of such information or explanation the registrar is of opinion that the document in question discloses an unsatisfactory state of affairs, or that it does not disclose a full and fair statement of the matters to which it purports to relate, the registrar shall report in writing the circumstances of the case to the Local Government.

Inspection and Audit

138. The Local Government may appoint one or more competent inspectors to investigate the affairs of any company and to report thereon in such manner as the Local Government may direct—

(i) in the case of a banking company having a share capital, on the application of members holding not less than one-fifth of the shares issued;

(ii) in the case of any other company having a share capital, on the application of members holding not less than one-tenth of the shares issued;

(iii) in the case of a company not having a share capital, on the application of not less than one-fifth in number of the persons on the company's register of members;

(iv) in the case of any company, on a report by the registrar under section 137, sub-section (5).

139. An application by members of a company under section 138 shall be

140. (1) It shall be the duty of all persons who are or have been officers of the company to produce to the inspectors all books and documents in their custody or power relating to the company.

(2) An inspector may examine on oath any such person in relation to its business, and may administer an oath accordingly.

(3) If any person refuses to produce any book or document which under this section it is his duty to produce, or to answer any question relating to the affairs of the company, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees in respect of each offence.

141. (1) On the conclusion of the investigation, the inspectors shall report their opinion to the Local Government and a copy of the report shall be forwarded by the Local Government to the registered office of the company, and a further copy shall, at the request of the applicants for the investigation, be delivered to them.

(2) The report shall be written or printed, as the Local Government directs.

(3) All expenses of, and incidental to, the investigation shall be defrayed by the applicants unless the Local Government directs the same to be paid by the company, which the Local Government is hereby authorized to do.

Power of company to appoint inspectors.

142. (1) A Company may by a special resolution appoint inspectors to investigate its affairs.

(2) Inspectors so appointed shall have the same powers and duties as inspectors appointed by the Local Government, except that, instead of reporting to the Local Government, they shall report in such manner and to such persons as the company in general meeting may direct.

(3) All persons who are or have been officers of the company shall incur the like penalties in case of refusal to produce any book or document required to be produced to inspectors so appointed, or to answer any question, as they would have incurred if the inspectors had been appointed by the Local Government.

143. A copy of the report of any inspectors appointed under this Act, authenticated by the seal of the company whose affairs they have investigated, shall be admissible in any legal proceeding as evidence of the opinion of the inspectors in relation to any matter contained in the report.

144. (1) No person shall be appointed or act as an auditor of any company other than a private company unless he holds a certificate from the “Governor General in Council”,* entitling him to act as an auditor of companies:

(a) provide for the maintenance of a register of accountants entitled to apply for such certificates;

(b) prescribe the qualifications for enrolment on the register and the fees therefor;

(c) provide for the examination of candidates for enrolment, and prescribe the fees to be paid by examinees;

(d) prescribe the circumstances in which the name of any person may be removed from or restored to the register;

(e) provide for the establishment, constitution and procedure of an Indian Accountancy Board, consisting of persons representing the interests principally affected or having special knowledge of accountancy in India, to advise him on all matters of administration relating to accountancy and to assist him in maintaining the standards of qualification and conduct of persons enrolled on the Register; and

(f) provide for the establishment, constitution and procedure of local accountancy boards at such centres as the Governor General in Council may select, to advise him and the Indian Accountancy Board on any matter that may be referred to them.

(3) No auditor or auditors shall be removed from or restored to the register before the next annual general meeting.

(4) If an appointment of an auditor is not made at an annual general meeting, the Local Government may, on the application of any member of the company, appoint an auditor of the company for the current year, and fix the remuneration to be paid to him by the company for his services.

(5) The following persons, that is to say,

(i) a director or officer of the company; and

(ii) a partner of such director or officer; and

(iii) in the case of a company, other than a private company, any person in the employment of such director or officer, shall not be appointed auditors of the company.

(6) A person, other than a retiring auditor, shall not be capable of being appointed auditor at an annual general meeting unless notice of an intention to nominate that person to the office of auditor has been given by a member of the company to the company not less than fourteen days before such annual general meeting. A copy of any such notice to the retiring auditor shall be sent or given to its members either by advertisement or articles not less than seven days before the annual general meeting:

Provided that, if after notice of the intention to nominate an auditor has been given, the notice to be sent or given by the company may, instead of being sent or given within the time required by this section, be sent or given at the same time as the notice of the annual general meeting.

(7) The first auditors of the company may be appointed by the directors before the statutory meeting, and if so appointed shall hold office until the first annual general meeting, unless previously removed by a resolution of the members of the company in general meeting, in which case such members at that meeting may appoint auditors.

(8) The directors may fill any casual vacancy in the office of auditor, but while any such vacancy continues, the surviving or continuing auditor or auditors (if any) may act.

(9) The remuneration of the auditors of a company shall be fixed by the company in general meeting, except that the remuneration of any auditors appointed before the statutory meeting, or to fill any casual vacancy, may be fixed by the directors.

145. (1) Every auditor of a company shall have a right of access at all times to the books and accounts and vouchers of the company, and shall be entitled to require from the directors and officers of the company such information and explanation as may be necessary for the performance of the duties of the auditors.

(2) The auditors shall make a report to the members of the company on the accounts examined by them, and on every balance sheet laid before the company in general meeting during their tenure of office, and the report shall state:

(a) whether or not they have obtained all the information and explanations they have required; and

(b) whether, in their opinion, the balance-sheet referred to in the report is drawn up in conformity with the law; and

(c) whether such balance-sheet exhibits a true and correct view of the state of the company's affairs according to the best of their information and the explanations given to them, and as shown by the books of the company.

(3) In the case of a banking company, if the company has branch banks beyond the limits of India, it shall be sufficient if the auditor is allowed access to such copies of and extracts from the books and accounts of any such branch as have been transmitted to the head office of the company in British India.

146. (1) Holders of preference shares and debentures of a company shall have the same right to receive and inspect the balance-sheets of the company and the reports of the auditors and other reports as is possessed by the holders of ordinary shares in the company.

(2) This section shall not apply to a private company, nor to a company registered before the commencement of this Act.

Notes.—This section provided that holders of preference shares of a company shall have the same right to receive and inspect the balance-sheets of a company and the reports of the auditors and other reports as is possessed by the holders of ordinary shares in the company.

Carrying on business with less than the legal minimum of members.

147. If at any time the number of members of a company is reduced, in the case of a private company, below two, or in the case of any other company, below seven, and it carries on business for more than six months while the number is so reduced, every person who is a member of the company during the time that it so carries on business after those six months and is cognisant of the fact that it is carrying on business with fewer than two members or seven members, as the case may be, shall be severally liable for the payment of the whole debts of the company contracted during that time, and may be sued for the same without joinder in the suit of any other member.

Tables, Forms and Rules as to prescribed matters.

Application and alteration of tables and forms, and power to make rules as to prescribed matters

151. (1) The forms in the Third Schedule or forms as near thereto as circumstances admit shall be used in all matters to which those forms refer.

(2) The Governor General in Council may alter any of the tables and forms in the First Schedule, so that he does not increase the amount of fees payable to the registrar in the said Schedule, mentioned, and may alter or add to the forms in the Third Schedule.

(3) Any such table or form, when altered, shall be published in the Gazette of India, and on such publication shall have effect as if enacted in this Act but no alteration made by the Governor General in Council in Table A in the First Schedule shall affect any company registered before the alteration, or repeal; as respects that company, any portion of that table.

(4) In addition to the powers hereinbefore conferred by this section, the Governor General in Council may make rules providing for all or any matters which by this Act are to be prescribed by his authority.

Conversion of private company into public company.

154. (1) A private company may, subject to anything contained in its memorandum or articles, by a special resolution and by filing with the registrar a copy of such resolution and also such a statement in lieu of prospectus as the company, if a public company, would have had to file before alloting any of its shares or debentures, together with such a duly verified declaration as the company, if a public company, would have had to file before commencing business, turn itself into a public company.

(2) Upon the filing of the documents mentioned in sub-section (1), the registrar shall record the change in his books relating to the company.

Notes — A private company is a company which is formed with the intention of carrying on its business without calling in the public or issuing any shares except to the then existing shareholders. (1891) 7 Ch. D. 467 The private character of such a company may at any time be terminated in the manner indicated in this section or by any alteration of its articles depriving it of any one of the features of a private company, but it is to be noted that there is no prohibition in the section against disregarding the articles in so far as they bring the company within the definition—Palmer's Company Law p. 263.

PART V.

WINDING UP.

PRELIMINARY.

155. (1) The winding up of a company may be either—

(a) by the Court; or
(b) voluntary; or
(c) subject to the supervision of the Court.

(2) The provisions of this Act with respect to winding up apply, unless the contrary appears, to the winding up of a company in any of these modes.

Notes — A company incorporated under this Act cannot be put an end to except through the machinery of winding up. Princess of Reurs v. Bos, L. R. 5 H. L. 1931. The winding up mentioned in clause (1) to section 1, is called compulsory liquidation. Clause (2) makes mention of voluntary winding up and clause (3) makes mention of voluntary winding up subject to supervision of Court. A voluntary winding up is deemed to commence at the time of the passing of the resolution authorizing the winding up, i.e., in the case of a special resolution at the time of the confirmatory resolution. Horby's Case, (1868) 37 L. J. Ch. 929; Davy's Case, (1868) 6 Eq. 232—cited in Stiebel, p. 1264.

A corporation does not become dissolved at the commencement of either of a voluntary or a compulsory winding up. Kusum v. Surendra, 42 Ind. Cas. 455 (Cal.). If a man finds himself by an unconditional contract to take shares in a the allotment, but it is eventually made and must be taken to have consented to it, and if 134=40, A. 45. The Court can set aside a merepsilon of the creditors and contributories of the company. 48 Ind. Cas. 919-7 P. L. R. 1919. In case of voluntary winding up, liquidator without order from Court can make call and receive payments. But in compulsory winding up there is no provision enabling liquidator to make call without order of Court. 56 C. W. N. 409=139 Ind. Cas. 882=59 C. 1099=A. L. R. 1932 Cal. 691.

Contributories.

158. (1) In the event of a company being wound up, every present and past members shall, subject to provisions of this section, be liable to contribute to the assets of the company to an amount sufficient for payment of its debts and liabilities and the costs, charges and expenses of its winding up, and for the adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves, with the qualifications following (that is to say):—

(a) a past member shall not be liable to contribute if he has ceased to be
(iii) a past member shall not be liable to contribute unless it appears to the Court that the existing members are unable to satisfy the contributions required to be made by them in pursuance of this Act;

Company when deemed unable to pay its debts —

183. A company shall be deemed to be unable to pay its debts—

(i) if a creditor, by assignment or otherwise, to whom the company is indebted in a sum exceeding five hundred rupees then due, has served on the company, by leaving the same at its registered office, a demand under his hand requiring the company to pay the sum so due and the company has for three weeks thereafter neglected to pay the sum, or to secure or compound for it to the reasonable satisfaction of the creditor; or

(ii) if execution or other process issued on a decree or order of any Court in favour of a creditor of the company is returned unsatisfied in whole or in part; or

(iii) if it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the company is unable to pay its debts, and, in determining whether a company is unable to pay its debts, the Court shall take into account the contingent and prospective liabilities of the company.

Ibid. that it pay its debts, and this is evidence relied on. Provided that—

(a) a contributory shall not be entitled to present a petition for winding up a company unless—

(i) either the number of members is reduced, in the case of a private company, below two, or, in the case of any other company, below seven; or

(ii) the shares in respect of which he is a contributory or some of them either were originally allotted to him, or have been held by him, and registered in his name, for at least six months during the eighteen months before the commencement of the winding up, or have devolved on him through the death of a former holder;

(b) a petition for winding up a company on the ground of default in filing the statutory report or in holding the statutory meeting shall not be presented by any person except a shareholder, nor before the expiration of fourteen days after the last day on which the meeting ought to have been held;

180. The Court may provide by any order that the official liquidator may exercise any of the above powers without the sanction or intervention of the Court, and, where an official liquidator is provisionally appointed, may limit and restrict his powers by the order appointing him.

181. The official liquidator may, with the sanction of the Court, appoint an advocate, attorney or pleader entitled to appear before the Court to assist him in the performance of his duties: Provided that, where the official liquidator is an attorney, he shall not appoint his partner, unless the latter consents to act without remuneration.

Notes.—When no such sanction has been obtained, the validity of the acts of the pleader is not affected. 5 Lah. 414

182. The official liquidator of a company which is being wound up by the Court shall keep, in manner prescribed, proper books in which he shall cause to be made entries or minutes of proceedings at meetings, and of such other matters as may be prescribed, and any creditor or contributory may, subject to the control of the Court, personally or by his agent inspect any such books.
183. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act the official liquidator of a company which is being wound up by the Court shall, in the administration of the assets of the company and in the distribution thereof among its creditors, have regard to any directions that may be given by resolution of the creditors or contributories at any general meeting.

(2) The official liquidator may summon general meetings of the creditors or contributories for the purpose of ascertaining their wishes, and it shall be his duty to summon meetings at such times as the creditors or contributories, by resolution, may direct, or whenever requested in writing to do so by one-tenth in value of the creditors or contributories, as the case may be, in manner prescribed for the winding up.

(3) The liquidator shall use his own discretion in the administration of the assets of the company and in the distribution thereof among the creditors.

(5) If any person is aggrieved by any act or decision of the official liquidator, that person may apply to the Court, and the Court may confirm, reverse or modify the act or decision complained of, and make such order as it thinks just in the circumstances.

Clause (2).—In the winding up of a solvent company the Court and also the Official Liquidator as to all matters affecting the contributories as a class, should have particular regard to the wishes as proved by any sufficient evidence. 36 C. W. N. 54.

Ordinary Powers of Court.

184. (1) As soon as may be after making a winding up order, the Court shall settle a list of contributories, with power to rectify the register of members in all cases where rectification is required in pursuance of this Act, and shall cause the assets of the company to be distributed, and distinguish between those who are contributories and application of assets.

Notes.—The applicant contended that the General Manager of the company, who allotted the shares to him not having been properly given the authority in this behalf, not only paid a shareholder with an allotment. Held that Jank v. 28 Ind. Cas. 53.

A subscriber to the Memorandum of Association remains a member of the company until such time as either the company, which, of course, must be authorised by the Articles of Association, accepts a surrender of the shares for valid reason or the subscriber himself pays for the shares and validly transfers them to somebody else. 191 Ind. Cas. 474—A. 1 R. 1031 All 701. Held that the share of a shareholder who seeks to be dispossessed of his shares before the commencement of the winding up he has not only repudiated his shares but has also asserted his right to repudiate them in an action by the company to enforce calls upon him. "Ibid." The appellant admitted that he had originally agreed to purchase 70 shares in the company under liquidation, but objected to his name being included in the list, if before the commencement of the winding up had not only repudiated his shares but also asserted his right to repudiate them in an action by the company to enforce calls upon him. Held that the objection was untenable, and that the shares of a shareholder who seeks to be dispossessed of his shares before the commencement of the winding up has not only repudiated his shares but has also asserted his right to repudiate them in an action by the company to enforce calls upon him. 24 Ind. Cas. 274. Liability of assets. 190 Ind. Cas. 554—10 Pat.
185. The Court may, at any time after making a winding up order, require any contributory for the time being settled on the list of contributories and any trustee, receiver, banker, agent, or officer of the company to pay, deliver, surrender or transfer forthwith, or within such time as the Court directs, to the official liquidator any money, property, or documents in his hands to which the company is prima facie entitled.

Notes—An official liquidator is not entitled by summary order to a refund of money realized by a creditor of the Bank before the order of winding up was passed. The liquidator had no power to pass a judgment of the High Court in the matter. The amount realized by the liquidator was paid to the creditor.

A I R 1932 Snd 108 Court has summary power to interim order in respect of property to which prima facie company is entitled. 142 Ind. Cas. 765=14 Lah 68 =34 P. L. R. 383=A. I R 1933 Lah 437.

186. (1) The Court may, at any time after making a winding up order, make an order on any contributory for the time being settled on the list of contributories to pay, in manner directed by the order, any money due from him or from the estate of the person whom he represents to the company exclusive of any money payable by him or the estate by virtue of any call in pursuance of this Act.

(2) The Court in making such an order may, in the case of an unlimited company, allow to the contributory by way of set-off any money due to him or to the estate which he represents from the company on any independent dealing or contract with the company, but not any money due to him as a member of the company in respect of any dividend or profit; and may, in the case of a limited company, make to any director whose liability is unlimited or to his estate the like allowance.

Provided that, in the case of any company, whether limited or unlimited, when all the creditors are paid in full, any money due on any account whatever to a contributory from the company may be allowed to him by way of set-off against any subsequent call.

Notes—Sub-section (1) does nothing more than create a new machinery for bringing in debts due by a contributory to the company. It does not create new liabilities or confer new rights; it merely provides a summary procedure for enforcing existing legal liabilities. The words “at any time,” in the sub-section do not allow the Court to pass a judgment of the High Court in the matter. The amount realized by the liquidator was paid to the creditor.

The Court may order any contributory, purchaser or other person Power to order payment into from whom money is due to the company to pay the same into the Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Madras, or the Bank of Bombay as the case may be, or any branch thereof, respectively, to the account of the official liquidator instead of to the official liquidator, and any such order may be enforced in the same manner as if it had directed payment to the official liquidator.

Notes.—The Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Madras or the Bank of Bombay now refers to Imperial Bank of India. If a liquidator who has obtained an order wishes to enforce it he must obtain a further order for payment to himself. Leeds Banking Co. (1866) 1 Ch. 150.

189. All moneys, bills, hundis, notes, and other securities paid and deliverea into the Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Madras or the Bank of Bombay, or any branch thereof, respectively, in the event of a company being wound up by the Court, shall be subject in all respects to the orders of the Court.

Notes.—The Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Madras or the Bank of Bombay now refers to Imperial Bank of India. Vide s. 52 of the Imperial Bank of India Act, 1920.
190. (1) An order made by the Court on a contributory shall (subject to any right of appeal) be conclusive evidence that the money, if any, thereby appearing to be due or ordered to be paid is due.

(2) All other pertinent matters stated in the order shall be taken to be truly stated as against all persons, and in all proceedings whatsoever.

191. The Court may fix a time or times within which creditors are to prove their debts or claims, or to be excluded from the benefit of any distribution made before those debts are proved.

192. The Court shall adjust the rights of the contributories among themselves, and distribute any surplus among the persons entitled thereto.

Adjustment of rights of contributories.

Notes—After payment of costs, charges, expenses of the liquidation and all the debts of the company, the liquidator is to adjust the rights of the contributories inter se. Angloa Colliery Co (1869) L. R. 5 H. L. 711. Apart from any special provision in the articles the rule is that the property of the company, including its uncalled capital [Hibbs v. Hippsley, (1872) L. R. 5 H. L. 711], is, if all the shares are of equal nominal value divisible among the contributories as follows: that is to say, (1) if such property is not sufficient to repay to the contributories the amount paid in, less is borne respectively, more than sufficient surplus after portion to the number of shares held by them respectively. 193. The Court may, in the event of the assets being insufficient to satisfy the liabilities, make an order as to the payment out of the assets of the costs, charges and expenses incurred in the winding up in such order of priority as the Court thinks just.

Notes.—Where a lease provided that if lessee (a company) caused delay in payment of rent, the landlords would be entitled to recover the arrears with interest "from the buildings which may have been erected on the land." Held (1) that in equity a charge was created on the buildings when they came into existence; and (2) that although the charge did not amount to a transfer or a mortgage, it gave a right of priority to the landlords over the unsecured creditors of the company in a winding up. Keshav Lal v. Girishwar Lal, 27 Ind. Cas. 34.

194 (1) When the affairs of a company have been completely wound up, the Court shall make an order that the company shall be dissolved from the date of the order, and the company shall be dissolved accordingly.

(2) The order shall be reported within fifteen days of the making thereof by the official liquidator to the Registrar, who shall make in his books a minute of the dissolution of the company.

(3) If the official liquidator makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which he is in default.

Notes—Unless the dissolution is set aside no action can be taken against the promoters, directors, etc. (1891) 2 Ch. 73.
Extraordinary Powers of Court.

195. (1) The Court may, after it has made a winding up order, summon before it any officer of the company or person known or suspected to have in his possession any property of the company, or supposed to be indebted to the company, or any person whom the Court deems capable of giving information concerning the trade, dealings, affairs or property of the company.

(2) The Court may examine him on oath concerning the same, either by words of mouth or on written interrogatories, and may reduce his answers to writing and tend to him to read them.

(3) The power to produce books, accounts and the like shall be given to the Court, and the Court shall have power to require the persons present at the Court to answer questions relating to that lien.

(4) If any person so summoned, after being tendered a reasonable sum for his expenses, refuses to come before the Court at the time appointed, not having a lawful impediment (made known to the Court at the time of its sitting, and allowed by it), the Court may cause him to be apprehended and brought before the Court for examination.

Notes.—Before granting an application for the discovery and inspection of the books and papers of the winding up, the Court may call on the Directors and the Manager. It is in the discretion of the Court conducting the winding up to determine whether it will exercise the powers vested in it, but the discretion must be exercised judicially and not without consideration. 28 Ind Cas 287. (4) The Court may put such questions to the person examined as the Court thinks fit.

(5) The person examined shall be examined on oath, and shall answer all such questions as the Court may put or allow to be put to him.

(6) A person ordered to be examined under this section may at his own cost employ any person entitled to appear before the Court, who shall be at liberty to put to him such questions as the Court may deem just for the purpose of enabling him to explain or qualify any answers given by him: Provided that if he is, in the opinion of the Court, exculpated from any charges made or suggested against him, the Court may allow him such costs as in its discretion it may think fit.

A. I. R. 1934, Rang. 271 = 7 R. R. 132 = 151 Ind. Cas. 937.

Clause (5).—Clause (5) was enacted in order to enable the Court in charge of the liquidation proceedings to examine the persons mentioned therein inter alia to ascertain their conduct with regard to the management of the company and to find out its financial condition and its assets. In these proceedings there is no contest between two parties and therefore the proviso to s. 132 of the Evidence Act does not confer any special privilege on the persons so examined. Ram Chand Gurvala v. Emperor, A I R 1926 Lah 385.

Clause (7).—The intention of the Legislature in using the words "in civil proceedings" in clause (7) was to make the statement admissible against the person examined unconditionally so far as civil proceedings are concerned and in criminal proceedings subject to the provisions of s. 132, Evidence Act. This section was not intended in any way to override the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act. Ram Chand Gurvala v. Emperor A I R 1926 Lah 385.

Voluntary winding up.

203. A company may be wound up voluntarily:—

(i) when the period (if any) fixed for the duration of the company by the articles expires, or the event (if any) occurs, on the occurrence of which the articles provide that the company is to be dissolved and the company in general meeting has passed a resolution requiring the company to be wound up voluntarily;

(2) if the company resolves by special resolution that the company be wound up voluntarily;

(3) if the company resolves by extraordinary resolution to the effect that it cannot by reason of its liabilities continue its business, and that it is advisable to wind up.

Notes—A company registered under this Act may be wound up voluntarily. Torquay Bath Co. In re, 32 Beav. 581. In order to render an extraordinary resolution for the voluntary winding up of a company valid, it is necessary that notice of the meeting should express that it is intended to propose a resolution that the company is unable by reason of its liabilities to continue its business. Silkstone Fall Colliery Co. In re 1 Ch. D. 38; see also 2 Ch. 191 (1875) 1 Ch. D. 38; 15 C. W. N. 1047; 35 R. 1917; 38 Ind. Cas. 943. Commencement of voluntary winding up.

204. A voluntary winding up shall be deemed to commence at the time of the passing of the resolution authorising the winding up.

Notes.—A voluntary winding up of a company is to be deemed to commence, on as defined by section 81, resolution confirming the after the passing of such a resolution, the winding up dates from the presentation of the petition. Taurine Co. In re 53 L. J. Ch. 271=25 Ch. D. 118; (1910) 2 Ch. 78; 18 L. T. 205.

205. When a company is wound up voluntarily, the company shall, from the commencement of the winding up, cease to carry on its business, except so far as may be required for the beneficial winding up thereof:

Provided that the corporate state and corporate powers of the company shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in its articles, continue until it is dissolved.

Notes—The voluntary winding up does not operate as a notice of dismissal meeting or the liquidator sanctions the continuance thereof. Ordinary trade contracts made previous to the liquidation are terminated. (1902) 2 K. B. 660; (1903) A. C. 414; (1882) 5 Q. B. D. 149.

206. (1) Notice of any special resolution or extraordinary resolution for winding up a company voluntarily shall be given by the company within ten days of the passing of the same by advertisement in the local official gazette, and also in some newspaper (if any) circulating in the district where the registered office of the company is situate.
(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues; and every officer of the company who knowingly and willfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to a like penalty.

Notes.—Where a company has resolved by special or extraordinary resolution to wind up voluntarily, it must give notice of the resolution by advertisement in the Gazette.—Stiebel, p. 1272.

207. The following consequences shall ensue on the voluntary winding up of a company:—

(i) the assets of the company shall be applied in satisfaction of its liabilities pari passu, and, subject thereto, shall, unless the articles otherwise provide, be distributed among the members according to their rights and interests in the company;

(ii) the company in general meeting shall appoint one or more liquidators for the purpose of winding up the affairs and distributing the assets of the company, and may fix the remuneration to be paid to him or them;

(iii) on the appointment of a liquidator all the powers of the directors shall cease, except so far as the company in general meeting, or the liquidator, sanctions the continuance thereof;

(iv) the liquidator may, without the sanction of the Court, exercise all powers by this Act given to the official liquidator in a winding up by the Court;

(v) the liquidator may exercise the powers of the Court under this Act of settling a list of contributories, and of making calls, and shall pay the debts of the company, and adjust the rights of the contributories among themselves;

(vi) the list of contributories shall be prima facie evidence of the liability of the persons named therein to be contributories;

(vii) when several liquidators are appointed, every power hereby given may be exercised by such one or more of them as may be determined by the company at the time of their appointment, or in default of such determination by any number not less than two;

(viii) if from any cause whatever there is no liquidator acting, the Court may, on the application of a contributory, appoint a liquidator; and

(ix) the Court may, on cause shown, remove a liquidator, and appoint another liquidator.

Notes.—If decree is passed against a bank after it goes into voluntary liquidation the High Court has the power to order stay of execution. One creditor must not be allowed to be given more than his share of the assets of the company. National Bank of Upper India, Ltd. v. Lakhpat Rai, 2 O. W. N. 508=A. I. R. 1925 Oudh 483. The power of the Court to remove a liquidator under clause 9 is not confined to cases of unsoundness on the part of the liquidator, but also extends to cases where ‘due cause’ is shown which in its turn must be measured by the real interests of the liquidation. 80 Ind. Cas. 515; (1867) Ch. D 299. The provision that the assets of the company in voluntary liquidation shall be applied in satisfaction of its liabilities pari passu is intended for the guidance of the private liquidator. 35 C. W. But dismissing the application for execution is not warranted. 53 C. 913=35 C. W. N. 299. After a company has gone into liquidation through a voluntary liquidation the remedy of a creditor is to take only what he can take under the scheme of the liquidation and no more. 118 Ind. Cas. 387. Clause (i) is not in itself a statutory holder is entitled to move the Court having jurisdiction under the Companies Act.
208. (1) The liquidator in a voluntary winding up shall, within twenty-one days after his appointment, file with the registrar a notice of his appointment in the form prescribed.

(2) If the liquidator fails to comply with the requirements of this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

Notes.—Where a person is appointed a liquidator of any company however imperfect he may consider his appointment to be, if he acts as such, he must carry out the duties as required by law; and if he does not do so then, in the nature of a misunderstanding, he will be liable to a penalty under this section. Salish Chandran Ghosh v. Emperor, 39 Ind. Cas. 248 = 15 A. L. J. 342 = 1932 A. L. J. 354 = 54 A. 1. 54.

209. (1) Every liquidator appointed by a company in a voluntary winding up shall, within seven days from his appointment, send notice by post to all persons who appear to him to be creditors of the company that a meeting of the creditors of the company will be held on a date, not being less than twenty one days nor more than one month after his appointment, and at a place and hour, to be specified in the notice, and shall also advertise notice in the register office or principal

(2) At the meeting to be held in pursuance of the foregoing provisions of this section the creditors shall determine whether an application shall be made to the Court for the appointment of any person as liquidator in the place of, or jointly with, the liquidator appointed by the company, and, if the creditors so resolve, an application may be made accordingly to the Court at any time not later than fourteen days after the date of the meeting, by any creditor appointed for the purpose at the meeting:

219. The voluntary winding up of a company shall not bar the right of any creditor or contributary to have it wound up by the Court, if the Court is of opinion, in the case of an application by a creditor, that the rights of the creditor or, in the case of an application by a contributary, that the rights of the contributaries will be prejudiced by a voluntary winding up.

Notes.—An application for winding up a company was filed in Court, but before any creditor or contributary was allowed to be voluntary or be made compulsory by Court depends on the facts of each case. 119 Ind. Cas. 539 = A. I. R. 1930 Smd 71.
220. Where a company is being wound up voluntarily, and an order is made for winding up by the Court, the Court may, if it thinks fit, by the same or any subsequent order, provide for the adoption of all or any of the proceedings in the voluntary winding up.

Scope.—This section does not enable the Court to provide that a compulsory liquidation shall commence at the time when a previous voluntary winding up commenced. But the Court can adopt the list of contributories prepared at the voluntary liquidation. Taurine Co., (1883) 25 C. D. 118

Winding up subject to supervision of Court.

Supplemental Provisions.

227. (1) In the case of voluntary winding up every transfer of shares, except transfers made to or with the sanction of the liquidator, and every alteration in the status of the members of the company made after the commencement of the winding up shall be void.

(2) In the case of a winding up by or subject to the supervision of the Court, every disposition of the property (including actionable claims) of the company and every transfer of shares, or alteration in the status of its members, made after the commencement of the winding up shall, unless the Court otherwise orders, be void.
Note.—If there be several transfers sanctioned by the liquidator under this section all the transferees will be placed in the B list of contributories (1897) 1 Ch. 298. When such transfer is void under clause (2) the validity of the transfer as between the parties is not affected (1867) 2 C. P. 228, 3 Q. B. 689. After winding up order is made company cannot enter into contracts or make payments without Court's sanction, but section 227 (2) does not in terms apply to contract for purchase of course which, if made honestly and in the ordinary course of business, may be sanctioned by Court. 129 Ind. The plain reading of section 227 (2) means that it is within the jurisdiction of the court at any time after the transfer is a good transaction and shall stand. It is not necessary that previous sanction should be void. An order otherwise although it would properly lie, to the Court to do whatever is necessary to prevent such breaches of contract. Such an order however although it would normally be made without grounds for making it.

228. In every winding up (subject in the case of insolvent companies to the application in accordance with the provisions of this Act of the law of Insolvency) all debts payable on a contingency, and all claims against the company, present or future, certain or contingent, shall be admissible to proof against the company, a just estimate being made, so far as possible, of the value of such debts or claims as may be subject to any contingency or for some other reason do not bear a certain value.

Debts of all descriptions to be proved.

229. In the winding up of an insolvent company the same rules shall prevail and be observed with regard to the respective rights of secured and unsecured creditors and to debts provable and to the valuation of annuities and future and contingent liabilities as are in force for the time being under the law of insolvency with respect to the estates of persons adjudged insolvent; and all persons who in any such case would be entitled to prove for and receive dividends out of the assets of the company may come in under the winding up, and make such claims against the company as they respectively are entitled to by virtue of this section.

In considering whether a company is insolvent the interest on debt up to the date of payment is also to be calculated. Re Whitaker, (1904) 1 Ch. 299. A solvent company must also be in a position to pay the cost of liquidation as well. Re Lang (1853) 1 Ch. 652. But where the company is insolvent, interest stops at the date of commencement of winding up. (1859) 4 Ch. App. 643; (1881) 17 Ch. D. 324; (1872) 13 Eq. 623: (1892) 1 Ch. 637. A company which turns out to be insolvent on winding up is not an insolvent company and creditors are entitled to interest from commencement of winding up at contract rate. A. I. A secured creditor can stand wholly outside the winding up proceedings if he so elects and realise upon his security or his decree, provided he has obtained leave to proceed.

Preferential payments. 230. (1) In a winding up there shall be paid in priority to all other debts—

(a) all revenue, taxes, cesses and rates, whether payable to the Crown or to a local authority, due from the company at the date hereinafter mentioned and having become due and payable within the twelve months next before that date;

(b) all wages or salary of any clerk or servant in respect of service rendered to the company within the two months next before the said date, not exceeding one thousand rupees for each clerk or servant; and

(c) all wages of any labourer or workman, not exceeding five hundred rupees for each, whether payable for time or piece work, in respect of services rendered to the company within the two months next before the said date.

(2) The foregoing debts shall—

(a) rank equally among themselves and be paid in full, unless the assets are insufficient to meet them, in which case they shall abate in equal proportion; and

(b) so far as the assets of the company, creditors are insufficient to meet them, have priority of debentures under any floating charge created accordingly out of any property comprised in

(3) Subject to the retention of such sums as may be necessary for the costs and expenses of the winding up, the foregoing debts shall be discharged forthwith so far as the assets are sufficient to meet them.

(4) In the event of a landlord or other person distraining or having distrained on any goods or effects of the company within three months next before the date of a winding up order, the debts to which priority is given by this section shall be a first charge on the goods or effects so distrained on, or the proceeds of the sale thereof:

Provided that in respect of any money paid under any such charge, the landlord or other persons shall have the same rights of priority as the person to whom the payment is made.
(5) The date hereinbefore in this section referred to is—

(a) in the case of a company ordered to be wound up compulsorily which had not previously commenced to be wound up voluntarily, the date of the winding up order; and

(b) in any other case, the date of the commencement of the winding up.

To constitute a fraudulent preference three conditions must be fulfilled: first, that the payment is made by a person unable to pay his debts as they become due; secondly, that a creditor over others, and thirdly, that payment was made, was a desire to prefer that payment. Notes.—This section corresponds to section 218 of the English Companies Act, which section was repealed by section 1 of the Perjury Act of 1911. Section 1 of the English Perjury Act runs as follows: "If any person on examination on oath authorised under this Act or in any affidavit or deposition in or about the winding up of a company or otherwise in or about any matter arising under this Act wilfully and corruptly gives evidence, he will be liable to the penalties for wilful perjury."

240. Where any company is being wound up, all documents of the company and of the liquidators shall, as between the contributories of the company, be prima facie evidence of the truth of all matters purporting to be therein recorded.

Notes.—A person who is admitted by a contributory for some shares will often be in a more difficult position than he would otherwise have been when trying to repudiate other shares. Ex parte Kennedy (1890) 44 Ch. 472. The section is not, however, brought into play by the mere fact of a person's name being on the register. Fox's Case, (1863) 3 De. G. 241. After an order for a winding up by or subject to the supervision of the Court, the Court may make such order for inspection by creditors and contributories of the company of its documents as the Court thinks just, and any documents in the possession of the company may be inspected by creditors or contributories accordingly, but not further or otherwise.

Notes.—The right of inspection given by various sections as well as by articles of associations are taken away by this section. Yorkshire Fibre Co., (1870) 9 Eq. 308; Re. Yorkshire Fibre Co. 242. (1) When a company has been wound up and is about to be dissolved, the disposal of the documents of the company and of the liquidators may be disposed of as follows (that is to say):—

(a) in the case of a winding up by or subject to the supervision of the Court, in such way as the Court directs;

(b) in the case of a voluntary winding up, in such way as the company by extraordinary resolution directs.

(2) After three years from the dissolution of the company, no responsibility shall rest on the company or the liquidators, or any person to whom the custody of the documents has been committed, by reason of the same not being forthcoming to any person claiming to be interested therein.

Notes.—If after dissolution the books are in possession of the liquidator and as regards which he has received no instruction, he may be ordered by the Court to produce them on an application for discovery and he cannot claim protection on the ground that he holds them on behalf of some one else. London and Yorkshire Bank v. Cooper, (1885) 15 Q. B. D. 473.

243. (1) Where a company has been dissolved, the Court may, at any time within two years of the date of the dissolution on an application being made for the purpose by the liquidator of the company or by any other person as upon not been dissolved.
(2) It shall be the duty of the person on whose application the order was made, within twenty-one days after the making of the order, to file with the registrar a certified copy of the order, and if that person fails so to do, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

245. (1) Any affidavit required to be sworn under the provisions or for the purposes of this Part may be sworn in British India, or elsewhere within the dominions of His Majesty, before any Court, Judge or person lawfully authorised to take and receive affidavits, or in any part of India other than British India before any Court authorised or continued by the Governor General in Council, or in any place outside His Majesty’s dominions before any of His Majesty’s Consuls or Vice Consuls.

(2) All Courts, Judges, Justices, Commissioners and persons acting judicially in British India shall take judicial notice of the seal or stamp or signature (as the case may be) of any such Court, Judge, person, Consul or Vice Consul, attached, appended or subscribed to any such affidavit or to any other document to be used for the purposes of this Part.

(4) The Local Government may direct a seal or seals to be prepared for the authentication of documents required for or connected with the registration of companies.

(5) Any person may inspect the documents kept by the registrar on payment of such fees as may be appointed by the Local Government, not exceeding one rupee for each inspection; and any person may require a certificate of the incorporation of any company, or a copy or extract of any other document or any part of any other document, to be certified by the registrar on payment for the certificate, certified copy or extract, of such fees as the Local Government may appoint, not exceeding three rupees for a certificate of incorporation, and not exceeding six annas for every hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied.

(6) Whenever any act is by this Act directed to be done to or by the registrar it shall, until the Local Government otherwise directs, be done to or by the existing registrar of joint stock companies or in his absence to or by such person as the Local Government may for the time being authorise; but, in the event of the Local Government altering the constitution of the existing registry offices or any of them, any such act shall be done to or by such officer and at such place with reference to the local situation of the registered offices of the companies to be registered as the Local Government may appoint.

249. (1) There shall be paid to the registrar in respect of the several matters mentioned in Table B in the First Schedule the several fees therein specified, or such smaller fees as the Governor General in Council may direct.

(2) All fees paid to the registrar in pursuance of this Act shall be accounted for to the Crown.

PART VII.

APPLICATION OF ACT TO COMPANIES FORMED AND REGISTERED UNDER FORMER COMPANIES ACTS.

250. In the application of this Act to existing companies, it shall apply in the same manner in the case of a limited company, other than a company limited by guarantee, as if the company had been formed and registered under this Act as a company limited by shares; in the case of a company limited by guarantee, as if the company had been formed and registered under this Act as a company limited by guarantee; and, in the case of a company other than a limited company, as if the company had been formed and registered under this Act as an unlimited company:

Provided that—

(1) nothing in Table A in the First Schedule shall apply to a company formed and registered under Act XIX of 1857 and Act VII of 1860, or either of them, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1856, * or the Indian Companies Act, 1882. †

(2) reference, express or implied, to the date of registration shall be construed as a reference to the date at which the company was registered under Act No. XIX of 1857 and Act No. VII of 1860, or either of them, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or the Indian Companies Act, 1882, as the case may be.

*Act X of 1866.

253. (1) With the exceptions and subject to the provisions mentioned and contained in this section,—

(i) any company consisting of seven or more members, which was in existence on the first day of May, eighteen hundred and eighty-two, including any company registered under Act No. XIX of 1857 and Act No. VII of 1860 or either of them, and

(ii) any company formed after the date aforesaid whether before or after the commencement of this Act, in pursuance of any Act of Parliament or Act of the Governor General in Council other than this Act, or of Letters Patent, or being otherwise duly constituted according to law, and consisting of seven or more members; may at any time register under this Act as an unlimited company or as a company limited by shares, or as a company limited by guarantee, and the registration shall not be invalid by reason that it has taken place with a view to the company being wound up:

(2) Provided as follows:

(a) a company having the liability of its members limited by Act of Parliament or Act of the Governor General in Council or by Letters Patent, and not being a joint-stock company as hereinafter defined, shall not register in pursuance of this section;

(b) a company having the liability of its members limited by Act of Parliament or Act of the Governor General in Council or by Letters Patent shall act as an unlimited company or as a joint-stock company as hereinafter defined.

(c) a company shall not register in pursuance of this section without the assent of a majority of such of its members as are present in person or by proxy (in cases where proxies are allowed by the articles) at a general meeting summoned for the purpose;

(d) where a company not having the liability of its members limited by Act of Parliament or Act of the Governor General in Council or by Letters Patent is about to register as a limited company, the majority required to assent as aforesaid shall consist of not less than three-fourths of the members present in person or by proxy at the meeting;

(e) where a company is about to register as a company limited by guarantee, the assent to its being so registered shall be accompanied by a resolution declaring that each member undertakes to contribute to the assets of the company, in the event of its being wound up while he is a member, or within one year afterwards, for payment of the debts and liabilities of the company contracted before he ceased to be a member, and of the costs and expenses of winding up, and for the adjustment of the rights of the contributors among themselves such amount as may be required not exceeding a specified amount.

* Act X of 1866.
† Act VI of 1882.

(3) In computing any majority under this section when a poll is demanded regard shall be had to the number of votes to which each member is entitled according to the articles.

(4) A company registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1882, shall not be registered in pursuance of this section.

Duly constituted according to law.—A partnership consisting of seven or more members is not a company "otherwise duly constituted by law" so as to be capable of registration under this section, Reg v. Registrar of Joint-Stock Companies, (1891) 2 Q. B 503; Cussons, Ltd., (1924) 73 L. J. Ch. 296; see also (1920), Ch. 201.

Sub-section (3)—In cases not provided for by the Articles of Association the majority will be ascertained by a show of hands. Ernest v. Homa Gold Mines, (1897) 1 Ch. 1; Harbury Bridge Co., (1897) 11 C. D. 109.

254. For the purposes of this Part as far as relates to registration of companies as companies limited by shares, a joint-stock company means a company having a permanent paid up or nominal share capital of fixed amount divided into shares, also of fixed amount, or held and transferable as stock, or divided and held partly in one way and partly in the other, and formed on the principle of having for its members the holders of those shares or that stock, and no other persons; and such a company, when registered with limited liability under this Act, shall be deemed to be a company limited by shares.

255. Before the registration in pursuance of this Part of a joint-stock company, there shall be delivered to the registration by joint-stock companies. the following documents (that is to say):

(a) a list showing the names, addresses and occupations of all persons who on a day named in the list, not being more than six clear days before the day of registration, were members of the company, with the addition of the shares or stock held by them respectively, distinguishing, in cases where the shares are numbered, each share by its number;

(b) a copy of any Act of Parliament, Act of the Governor General in Council, Royal Charter, Letters Patent, deed of settlement, contract of co-partnery or other instrument constituting or regulating the company; and into which it is divided or the amount of stock of which it consists;

(c) the number of shares taken and the amount paid on each share;

(d) the name of the company, with the addition of the word "Limited" as the last word thereof; and

(e) in the case of a company intended to be registered as a company limited by guarantee, the resolution declaring the amount of the guarantee.

256. Before the registration in pursuance of this Part of any company not being a joint-stock company, there shall be delivered to the registrar—

* Act VI of 1882.
(1) a list showing the names, addresses and occupations of the directors of the company; and
(2) a copy of any Act of Parliament, Act of the Governor General in Council, Letters Patent, deed of settlement, contract of co-partnership or other instrument constituting or regulating the company; and
(3) in the case of a company intended to be registered as a company limited by guarantee, a copy of the resolution declating the amount of the guarantee.

257. The list of members and directors and any other particulars relating to the company required to be delivered to the registrar shall be duly verified by the declaration of any two or more directors or other principal officers of the company.

258. The registrar may require such evidence as he thinks necessary for the purpose of satisfying himself whether any company proposing to be registered is or is not a joint-stock company as hereinbefore defined.

259. (1) Where a banking company, which was in existence on the first day of May eighteen hundred and eighty two, proposes to register as a limited company, it shall, at least thirty days before so registering, give notice of its intention so to register to every person who has a banking account with the company, either by delivery of the notice to him, or by posting it to him at, or delivering it at, his last known address.

(a) If the company omits to give the notice required by this section, then as between the company and the person for the time being interested in the account in respect of which the notice ought to have been given, and so far as respects the account down to the time at which notice is given, but not further or otherwise, the certificate of registration with limited liability shall have no operation.

260. No fees shall be charged in respect of the registration in pursuance of this Part of a company if it is not registered as a limited company, or if before its registration as a limited company the liability of the shareholders was limited by some Act of Parliament or Act of the Governor General in Council or by Letters Patent.

261. When a company registers in pursuance of this Part with limited liability, the word “Limited” shall form and be registered as part of its name.

262. On compliance with the requirements of this Part with respect to registration, and on payment of such fees, if any, as are payable under Table B in the First Schedule, the registrar shall certify under his hand that the company applying for registration is incorporated as a company under this Act, and in the case of a limited company that it is limited, and thereupon the company shall be incorporated, and shall have perpetual succession and a common seal.

263. All property, movable and immovable, including all interests and rights in, to and out of property, movable and immovable, and including obligations and actionable claims as may belong to or be vested in a company at the date of its registration in pursuance of this Part, shall, on registration, pass to and vest in the company as incorporated under this Act for all the estate and interest of the company therein.
264. The registration of a company in pursuance of this Part shall not affect the rights or liabilities of the company in respect of any debt or obligation incurred or any contract entered into, by, to, with, or on behalf of, the company before registration.

265. All suits and other legal proceedings which at the time of the registration of a company in pursuance of this Part are pending by or against the company, or the public officer or any member thereof, may be continued in the same manner as if the registration had not taken place; nevertheless execution shall not issue against the effects of any individual member of the company on any decree or order obtained in any such suit or proceeding; but, in the event of the property and effects of the company being insufficient to satisfy the decree or order, an order may be obtained for winding up the company.

Effect of registration under Act.

266. When a company is registered in pursuance of this Part,—

(i) all provisions contained in any Act of Parliament, Act of the Governor General in Council, Patent, or other instrument in the case of a registered memorandum, and the residue thereof were contained in registered articles.

(ii) all the provisions of this Act shall apply to the company and the members, contributories and creditors thereof, in the same manner in all respects as if it had been formed under this Act, subject as follows (that is to say):

(a) the regulations in Table A in the First Schedule shall not apply unless adopted by special resolution;

(b) the provisions of this Act relating to the numbering of shares shall not apply to any joint-stock company whose shares are not numbered;

(c) subject to the provisions of this section, the company shall not have power to alter any provisions contained in any Act of Parliament or Act of the Governor General in Council relating to the company;

(d) subject to the provisions of this section, the company shall not have power, without the sanction of the Governor General in Council, to alter any provision contained in any Letters Patent relating to the company;

(e) the company shall not have power to alter any provision contained in a Royal Charter or Letters Patent with respect to the objects of the company;

(f) in the event of the company being wound up, every person shall be a contributory, in respect of the debts and liabilities of the company contracted before registration, who is liable to pay or contribute to the payment of any debt or liability of the company contracted before registration, or to pay or contribute to the payment of any sum for the adjustment of the rights of the members among themselves in respect of any such debt or liability; or to pay or contribute to the payment of the costs and expenses of winding up the company, so far as relates to such debts or liabilities as aforesaid; and every contributory shall be liable to contribute to the assets of the company, in the course of the winding up, all sums due from as aforesaid; and in the event of the death of the provisions of this Act with respect of deceased contributories, and with reference to the assignee of insolvent contributories, shall apply;

(iii) the provisions of this Act with respect to—

(a) the registration of an unlimited company as limited;

(b) the powers of an unlimited company on registration as a limited company to increase the nominal amount of its share capital and to provide that a portion of its share capital shall not be capable of being called up except in the event of winding up;

(c) the power of a limited company to determine that a portion of its share capital shall not be capable of being called up except in the event of winding up;

shall apply notwithstanding any provisions contained in any Act of Parliament, Act of the Governor General in Council, Royal Charter, deed of settlement, contract of co-partnership, Letters Patent or other instrument constituting or regulating the company;

(ii) nothing in this section shall authorise the company to alter any such provisions contained in any deed of settlement, contract of co-partnership, Letters Patent or other instrument constituting or regulating the company, as would if the company had originally been formed under this Act, have been required to be contained in the memorandum and are not authorized to be altered by this Act;

(v) nothing in this Act shall derogate from any lawful power of altering its constitution or regulations which may, by virtue of any Act of Parliament, Act of the Governor General in Council, deed of settlement, contract of co-partnership, Letters Patent or other instrument constituting or regulating the company, be vested in the company.

267. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, a company registered in pursuance of this Part may by special resolution alter the form of its constitution by substituting a memorandum and articles for a deed of settlement.

(a) The provisions of this Act with respect to confirmation by the Court and registration of an alteration of the objects of a company shall, so far as applicable, apply to an alteration under this section with the following modifications:

(a) there shall be substituted for the printed copy of the altered memorandum required to be filed with the registrar a printed copy of the substituted memorandum and articles, and

(b) on the registration of the alteration being certified by the registrar, the substituted memorandum and articles shall apply to the company in the same manner as if it were a company registered under this Act with that memorandum and those articles, and the company's deed of settlement shall cease to apply to the company.

(3) An alteration under this section may be made either with or without any alteration of the objects of the company under this Act.

(4) In this section the expression "deed of settlement" includes any contract of co-partnership or other instrument constituting or regulating the company, not

Royal Exchange Buildings,

268. The provisions of this Act with respect to staying and restraining suits and legal proceedings against a company at any time after the presentation of a petition for winding up and before the making of a winding up order shall, in the case of a company registered in pursuance of this Part, where the application to stay or restrain is by a creditor, extend to suits and legal proceedings against any contributory of the company.

269. Where an order has been made for winding up a company registered in pursuance of this Part, no suit or other legal proceeding shall be commenced or proceeded with against the company or any contributory of the company in respect of any debt of the company, except by leave of the Court, and subject to such terms as the Court may impose.

Notes—The dismissal of a suit against a registered company after the company went into liquidation is no bar to the maintenance of the claim before the official liquidator. Pearcy v. IV. K. Porter, 24 Ind. Cas. 99.

PART IX.

WINDING UP OF UNREGISTERED COMPANIES.

270. For the purposes of this Part, the expression "unregistered company" shall not include a railway company incorporated by Act of Parliament or by an Act of the Governor General in Council, nor a company registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1866* or under any Act repealed thereby, or under the Indian Companies Act 1882, † or under this Act, but, save as aforesaid, shall include any partnership, association or company consisting of more than seven members.

Inclusion:—The companies at the date of petition should consist of more than seven members. Bolton Benefit Loan Society, (1879) 12 C. D. 679. In New York and Continental Line, (1909) 54 Sol. J. 117 it was suggested by Eddy J. that under the English Companies (Consolidation) Act, 1908, it was not necessary for an unregistered company to have more than seven members in order to enable it to be wound up. It will be observed that this section merely "includes" the companies herein named under the expression "unregistered companies," Vide Suebel, p. 782. In a proper case, the Court can order winding up of a partnership, association or company under this section, if and only if it consists of more than seven members on the date of the presentation of petition. A. I. R. 1931 Rang. 77.

271. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Part, any unregistered company may be wound up under this Act, and all the provisions of this Act with respect to winding up shall apply to an unregistered company, with the following exceptions and additions:—

(i) an unregistered company shall, for the purpose of determining the Court having jurisdiction in the matter of the winding up, be deemed to be registered in the province where its principal place of business is situate or, if it has a principal place of business in more than one province, then in each province where it has a principal place of business; and the principal place of business situate in that province in which proceedings are being instituted shall, for all the purposes of the winding up, be deemed to be the registered office of the company;

(ii) no unregistered company shall be wound up under this Act voluntarily or subject to supervision;

(iii) the circumstances in which an unregistered company may be wound up are as follows (that is to say):—

(a) if the company is dissolved, or has ceased to carry on business or is carrying on business only for the purpose of winding up its affairs;

(b) if the company is unable to pay its debts;

(c) if the Court is of opinion that it is just and equitable that the company should be wound up;

* Act X of 1866. † Act VI of 1882.
(iv) an unregistered company shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be unable to pay its debts—

(a) if a creditor, by assignment or otherwise, to whom the company is indebted in a sum exceeding five hundred rupees then due, has served on the company, by leaving at its principal place of business, or by delivering to the secretary, or some director, manager or principal officer of the company, or by otherwise serving in such manner as the Court may approve or direct, a demand under his hand requiring the company to pay the sum so due, and the company has for three weeks after the service of the demand neglected to pay the sum, or to secure or compound for it to the satisfaction of the creditor;

(b) if any suit or other legal proceeding has been instituted against any member for any debt or demand due or claimed to be due, from the company or from him in his character of member, and notice in writing of the institution of suit or other legal proceeding having been served on the company by leaving the same at its principal place of business or by delivering it to the secretary, or some director, manager or principal officer of the company or by otherwise serving the same in such manner as the Court may approve or direct, the company has not within ten days after service of the notice paid, secured or compounded for the debt or demand, or procured the suit or other legal proceeding to be stayed, or indemnified the defendant to his reasonable satisfaction against the suit or other legal proceeding, and against all costs, damages and expenses to be incurred by him by reason of the same;

(c) if execution or other process issued on a decree or order obtained in any Court in favour of a creditor against the company, or any member thereof as such, or any person authorised to be sued as nominal defendant on behalf of the company, is returned unsatisfied; and

(d) if it is otherwise proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the company is unable to pay its debts.

(2) Nothing in this Part shall affect the operation of any enactment which provides for any partnership, association or company being wound up, or being wound up as a company or as an unregistered company, under any enactment repealed by this Act, except that references in any such first mentioned enactment to any such repealed enactment shall be read as references to the corresponding provision (if any) of this Act.

Notes—A foreign company consisting of more than seven members can be wound up under this section if it has office and assets here. Syrian Ottoman Rail Co., (1904) 20 T. L. R. 217; Matheson Bros. (1884) 27 C. D. 225; Commercial Bank of India, (1868) 6 Eq. 517; Jarvis Conklin Mortgage Co., (1895) 12 T. L. R. 373; 2 Mysore Law Journal, 165; 33 Ch. D. 174; (1892) 2 Ch. 204; 5 C. 888. The Court has jurisdiction where such a company transacts business within its jurisdiction and has an office within its jurisdiction (1898) 6 Eq. 517. The fact that an order for the winding up of the company or for continuing its winding up subject to supervision has been made by a competent Court of the place of the company’s incorporation does not make any difference to the jurisdiction of the Court here. Stiebel, p. 787 citing 27 Ch. D. 225; 33 Ch. D. 174; 62 L. J. Ch. 561. An inchoate foreign company or a partnership for promoting foreign companies cannot be wound up. (1872) 26 L. T. 229. Concerns of the same nature as companies exactly designated can be dealt with under this section. 127 Ind. Cas. 736.=A. I. R. 1930 Rang. 337.

272. (1) In the event of an unregistered company being wound up, every person shall be deemed to be a contributory who is liable to pay or contribute to the payment of any debt or liability of the company, or to pay or contribute to the payment of any sum for the adjustment of the rights of the members among themselves, or to pay or contribute to the payment of the costs and expenses of winding up the company, and every contributory shall be liable to contribute to the assets of the company all sums due from him in respect of any such liability as aforesaid.
(2) In the event of any contributory dying or being adjudged insolvent, the provisions of this Act with respect to the legal representatives and heirs of deceased contributories, and to the assignees of insolvent contributories shall apply.

Notes.—Under this section every debtor to the company is not a contributory. A person who has taken shares through a trustee is liable equitably to the trustee, but he is not a contributory. British National Life Assurance, (1878) 8 Ch. D. 679. An officer of the company who has misappropriated the assets of the company and who is liable to refund the same is also not a contributory. Saries Case, (1890) 45 C. D. 537; see also Exparte Littlehal (1874) 9 Ch. 257.

273. The provisions of this Act with respect to staying and restraining suits and legal proceedings against a company at any time after the presentation of a petition for winding up and before the making of a winding up order shall, in the case of an unregistered company, where the application to stay or restrain is by a creditor, to suits and legal proceedings against any contributory of the company.

Notes.—In a compulsory winding up the onus lies upon the person who wishes to show that the action should be continued notwithstanding the winding up. Currie v. Consolidated Kent Collieries Corporation (1906) 1 K. B. 134, cited in Stiebel, p. 909.

274. Where an order has been made for winding up an unregistered company, no suit or other legal proceedings shall be proceeded with or commenced against any contributory of the company in respect of any debt of the company, except by leave of the Court, and subject to such terms as the Court may impose.

Notes.—This section is applicable to action against a contributory as such and not to an action by a holder of promissory notes though they had been given as security for advances to the company. South of France Pottery Works Syndicate, (1877) 37 L. T 260.

275. If any unregistered company has no power to sue and be sued in a common name, or if for any reason it appears expedient, the Court may, by the winding up order, or by any subsequent order, direct that all or any part of the property, movable or immovable, including all interests and rights in, to and out of property, movable and immovable, and including obligations and actionable claims as may belong to its behalf, is to vest in the official liquidator by the property or the part thereof specified in and the official liquidator may, after giving such may direct, bring or defend in his official name any suit or other legal proceeding relating to that property, or necessary to be brought or defended for the purposes of effectually winding up the company and recovering its property.

Vesting in official liquidator—All properties under this section vest in the official liquidator in his official character. Graham v. Edge, (1888) 20 Q. B. D 683. Where there are several liquidators, all must join in giving effect to a valid conveyance. Edsward and Today's Contract, 42 Ch. D. 23.

276. The provisions of this Part with respect to unregistered companies shall be in addition to, and not in restriction of, any provisions hereinafore in this Act contained with respect to winding up companies by the Court, and the Court or official liquidator may exercise any powers or do any thing might be exercised or done by a registered under this Act; but the event of its being wound up, be then only to the extent provided by this Part.
PART X.

COMPANIES ESTABLISHED OUTSIDE BRITISH INDIA.

277. (1) Every company incorporated outside British India, which at the commencement of this Act has a place of business in British India, and every such company which after the commencement of this Act establishes such a place of business within British India, shall, within six months from the commencement of this Act or within one month from the establishment of such place of business, as the case may be, file with the registrar in the province in which such place of business is situated,—

(a) a certified copy of the charter, statutes or memorandum and articles of the company, or other instrument constituting or defining the constitution of the company, and, if the instrument is not written in the English language, a certified translation thereof;

(b) the full address of the registered or principal office of the company;

(c) a list of the directors and managers (if any) of the company;

(d) the names and addresses of some one or more persons resident in British India authorised to accept on behalf of the company’s service of process and any notices required to be served on the company;

and, in the event of any alteration being made in any such instrument or in such address or in the directors or managers or in the names or addresses of any such persons as aforesaid, the company shall, within the prescribed time, file with the registrar a notice of the alteration.

(2) Any process or notice required to be served on the company shall be sufficiently served, if addressed to any person whose name has been so filed as aforesaid and left at or sent by post to the address which has been so filed.

In this section applies shall in every year file in which the company has its principal place

(i) in a case where by the law, for the time being in force, of the country in which the company is incorporated such company is required to file with the public authority an annual balance-sheet,—a copy of that balance-sheet; or

(ii) in a case where no such provision is made by the law, for the time being in force, of the country in which the company is incorporated,—such a statement in the form of a balance-sheet as such company would, if it were a company formed and registered under this Act, be required to file in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

Provided that the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India subject to such restrictions and conditions, if any, as he may therein prescribe, exempt any such company or any class of such companies from this requirement.

(4) Every company to which this section applies and which uses the word “Limited” as part of its name, shall—

(a) in every prospectus inviting subscriptions for its shares or debentures in British India, state the country in which the company is incorporated; and

(b) conspicuously exhibit on every place where it carries on business in British India the name of the company and the country in which the company is incorporated in letters easily legible in English characters and also, if any place where it carries on business is beyond the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of a High Court, in the characters of one of the vernacular languages used in that place; and

(c) have the name of the company and of the country in which the company is incorporated mentioned in legible English characters in all bill heads and letter paper, and in all notices, advertisements and other official publications of the company.
(5) If any company to which this section applies fails to comply with any of the requirements of this section, the company, and every officer or agent of the company, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees or, in the case of a continuing offence, fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(6) For the purposes of this section—
(a) the expression "certified" means certified in the prescribed manner to be a true copy or a correct translation;
(b) the expression "place of business" includes a share transfer or share registration office;
(c) the expression "director" includes any person occupying the position of director, by whatever name called; and
(d) the expression "prospectus" means any prospectus, notice, circular, advertisement or other invitation offering to the public for subscription or purchase, any shares or debentures of the company.

(7) There shall be paid to the registrar for registering any document required by this section to be filed with him a fee of five rupees or such smaller fee as may be prescribed.

Notes—The only mode of serving processes on foreign companies is that prescribed by s. 277 and not what are prescribed by Or. 29 R. 2. C. P. Code. A. I. R. 1928 Sind 111.

PART XI.

Supplemental.

Legal proceedings, offences, etc.

278. (1) No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence against this Act.

(2) If any offence which by this Act is declared to be punishable by fine only is committed by any person within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of any Presidency Magistrate, it shall be deemed to be committed within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction, for the purposes of this Act, in and for the Presidency of Madras and for the purposes of this Act, 1898, in and for the Presidency of Bombay, 1898.

Complaint.—Ordinarily, a Magistrate should be chary of proceeding on a complaint of this kind except after reference to the Registrar of the joint-stock companies, or on the complaint of a responsible person. 12 Ind. Cas. 972; see also 14 P. R. 1916 Cr. Simple cases may be tried by a magistrate summarily 35 A 173.

279. The Court imposing any fine under this Act may direct that the whole or any part thereof be applied in or towards payment of the costs of the proceedings, or, in or towards the rewarding of the person on whose information the fine is recovered.

280. Where a limited company is plaintiff or petitioner in any suit or unpaid to pay the costs of the defendant if successful in his defence, require sufficient security to be given for those costs, and may stay all proceedings until the security is given.

Power to require limited company to give security for costs.

Notes.—This section is not applicable to miscellaneous proceedings by a liquidator. Strandwood Co., (1904) 2 Ch. 1; see also 145 Ind. Cas. 372-1933 A. L. J.
281. If in any proceeding before any Court against a director of a company for negligence or breach of trust, it appears to such Court that the director is or may be liable in respect of the negligence or breach of trust, but has acted honestly and reasonably, and ought fairly to be excused for the negligence or breach of trust, that Court may relieve him, either wholly or partly, from his liability on such terms as the Court may think proper.

Notes.—Directors being required by Articles of Association to control management are not exempted though section 281 is not designed to protect them from personal liability in all cases. An unconstitutional restraint on trade was not one of the usual methods of controlling management. The attempt of such a company to protect itself from liability is repugnant to the law. Gopinath v. Bhupendra, 27 Bom. L. R. 635; Arunachal v. Hemavati, 30 Cal. 528; Green v. H. N. A., 31 Cal. 127; Mani v. Anang, 19 Cal. 430.

A. I. R. 1930 Bom. 571.

282. Whoever in any return, report, certificate, balance-sheet or other document, required by or for the purposes of any of the provisions of this Act, wilfully makes a statement false in any material particular knowing it to be false, shall be punishable with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three years, and shall also be liable to fine.

In addition, the Act prevents a director of a company from contracting any liability for the payment of dividends or other sums due from them but inspite of such undertake to subscribe for shares of the company. Held that the accused led the registrar to believe that even the two directors who never paid any money had taken the shares and paid for them and he was therefore guilty under s. 282 of the Act. A. I. R. 1929 Bom. 445 = 12 Ind. Cas. 141; but see 134 Ind. Cas. 993 = 25 S. L. R. 297 = A. I. R. 1932 Sind. 4 = 134 Ind. Cas. 993. Auditors signing auditor's report below false balance-sheet make false statement and are liable under s. 282. A. I. R. 1932 Sind. 1 = 25 S. L. R. 297 = 134 Ind. Cas. 993. Showing bad debts which are not paid and which are not likely to be paid as part of profit amounts to making false statement. Ibid. False statement must be with knowledge of its falsity. Statement must be shown to be false when it is made. A. I. R. 1933 Sind. 2 = 33 Cr. L. J. 891 = 26 S. L. R. 211 = 1933 Cr. C. 36. More showing of profit on paper is not necessarily misstatement. Ibid. Statement need not necessarily be made with intent to deceive. A. I. R. 1935 Cal. 741.

283. If any person or persons trade or carry on business under any name or title which “Limited” is the last word, that person or those persons shall, unless duly incorporated with limited liability, be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day upon which that name or title has been used.
Notes.—A solicitor who enters an appearance for such persons under such name will be personally liable for costs. Stiebel, p. 55 citing Simmons v. Liberal Opinion Ltd., (1911) 1 C. B. 966.

284. The provisions of this Act with respect to winding up shall not apply to any company of which the winding up has commenced before the commencement of this Act, but every such company shall be wound up in the same manner and with the same incidents as if this Act had not been passed, and for the purposes of the winding up, the Indian Companies Act, 1882,* shall be deemed to remain in full force.

Shares.

3. Subject to the provisions, if any, in that behalf of the memorandum of association of the company, and without prejudice to any special rights previously conferred on the holders of existing shares in the company, any share in the company may be issued with such preferred, deferred or other special rights, or such restrictions, whether in regard to dividend, voting, return of share capital, or otherwise, as the company may from time to time by special resolution determine.

Notes—Very frequently the shares of a company are divided into two or more holders have received back the capital they have paid—Stiebel, p. 316. Preference shareholders are members of the company and not its creditors. (1889) 14 A. C.: 525. The company may also issue second preference shares. Palmer, vol. I, p. 802.

4. If at any time the share capital is divided into different classes of shares, the rights attached to any class (unless otherwise provided by the terms of issue of the shares of that class) may be varied with the consent in writing of the holders of three-fourths of the issued shares of that class, or with the sanction of an extraordinary resolution passed at a separate general meeting of the holders of the shares of the class, so that the necessary quorum by proxy one-third of the issued shares of the class.

5. No share shall be offered to the public for subscription except upon the terms that the amount payable on application shall be at least five per cent. of the nominal amount of the share; and the directors shall, as regards any allotment of shares, duly comply with such of the provisions of sections 101 and 104 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, as may be applicable thereto.

Notes—The allotment must be made by the directors for the best interest of the company. (1902) 2 Ch. 421 at p. 425 If the allotment is made at an under-value, the directors are liable to make good the loss sustained by the company. (1900) 2 Ch. 305 In allotting shares the directors must exercise the powers with good faith. (1903) 2 Ch. 506; (1920) 1 Ch. 77

6. Every person whose name is entered as a member in the register of members shall, without payment, be entitled to a certificate under the common seal of the company specifying the share or shares held by him and the amount paid up thereon: Provided that, in respect of a share or shares held jointly by several persons the company shall not be bound to issue more than one certificate, and delivery of a certificate for a share to one of several joint-holders shall be sufficient delivery to all.

7. If a share certificate is defaced, lost or destroyed, it may be renewed on payment of such fee, if any, not exceeding eight annas, and on such terms, if any, as to evidence of indemnity as the directors think fit.

8. No part of the funds of the company shall be employed in the purchase of, or in loans upon the security of, the company's shares.

Lien.

9. The company shall have a lien on every share (not being a fully-paid share) for all moneys (whether presently payable or not) called or payable at a fixed time in respect of that share, and the company shall also have a lien on all shares (other than fully-paid shares) standing registered in the name of a single person, for all moneys presently payable by him or his estate to the company; but the directors may at any time declare any share to be wholly or in part exempt from the provisions of this clause. The company's lien, if any, on a share shall extend to all dividends payable thereon.

Notes.—This lien has priority over mortgagee of the shares. Borland's Trust v. Steel Brothers, (1901) 1 Ch. 270; see also New London and Brazilian Bank v. Brockbank, 21 Ch. D 392; Bradford v. Briggs, 12 A. C. 29. The transferee takes subject to a lien the company had against his transferor, Stiebel, p. 274.

10. The company may sell, in such manner as the director thinks fit, any shares on which the company has a lien, but no sale shall be made unless some sum in respect of which the lien exists is presently payable, nor until the expiration of fourteen days after a notice in writing, stating and demanding payment of such part of amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, has been given to the registered holder for the time being of the share, or the person entitled by reason of his death or insolvency to the share.
11. The proceeds of the sale shall be applied in payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, and the residue shall (subject to a like lien for sums not presently payable as existed upon the shares prior to the sale) be paid to the person entitled to the shares at the date of the sale. The purchaser shall be registered as the holder of the shares, and he shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase-money, nor shall his title to the shares be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the sale.

Calls on Shares.

12. The directors may, from time to time, make calls upon the members in respect of any moneys unpaid on their shares, provided that no call shall exceed one-fourth of the nominal amount of the share, or be payable at less than one month from the last call, and each member shall (subject to receiving at least fourteen days' notice specifying the time or times of payments) pay to the company at the time or times so specified the amount called on his shares.

Notes—The articles of association usually contain provisions for enabling calls to be made, and not infrequently provide that not more than a certain amount is to be called up at a time and that a specified period article authorising calls to be made from time to time exceed a specified sum, will not prevent two calls.

13. The joint holders of a share shall be jointly and severally liable to pay all calls in respect thereof.

14. If a sum called in respect of a share is not paid before or on the day appointed for payment thereof, the person from whom the sum is due shall pay interest upon the sum at the rate of five per cent. per annum from the day appointed for the payment thereof to the time of the actual payment, but the directors shall be at liberty to waive payment of that interest wholly or in part.

Notes.—This provision does not apply to calls made in a winding up. Welsh Flannel and Tweed Co. (1875) 20 Eq. 356; Ex parte Lintott. (1867) 2 Eq. 181.

15. The provisions of these regulations as to payment of interest shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which, by the terms of issue of a share, becomes payable at a fixed time, whether on account of the amount of the share, or by way of premium, as if the same had become payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

16. The directors may make arrangements on the issue of shares for a difference between the holders in the amount of calls to be paid and in the times of payment.

17. The directors may, if they think fit, receive from any member willing to advance the same, all or any part of the moneys uncalled and unpaid upon any shares held by him; and upon all or any of the moneys so advanced may (until the same would, but for such advance, become presently payable) pay interest at such rate (not exceeding, without the sanction of the company in general meeting, six per cent.) as may be agreed upon between the member paying the sum in advance and the directors.

Notes.—The powers given under this article is perfectly valid. Lock v. Queensland Co. (1866) A. C. 461; (1866) 1 Ch. 397; Dale v. Martin. (1883) 11 L. R. Ir. 371. When such a payment has been made the relation of debtor and creditor, and not that of company and shareholder, exists qua such payment between the company and the member making the payment. Stiebel, p. 263 citing Lock v. Queensland Co., (1896) A. C. 461.

Transfer and transmission of shares.

18. The instrument of transfer of any share in the company shall be executed both by the transferor and transferee, and the transferor shall be deemed to remain holder of the share until the name of the transferee is entered in the register of members in respect thereof.

Notes — Where the article is silent on the subject, the transfer is to be made in accordance with the custom of the company. Morin’s Case, (1867) 2 Ch. 596.

19. Shares in the company shall be transferred in the following form, or in any usual or common form which the directors shall approve:

I, A B of , in consideration of the sum of rupees paid to me by C D of (hereinafter called "the said transferee"), do hereby transfer to the said transferee the share [or shares] numbered in the undertaking called the Company, Limited, to hold unto the said transferee, his executors, administrators and assigns, subject to the several conditions on which I held the same at the time of the execution thereof, and I, the said transferee, do hereby agree to take the said share [or shares] subject to the conditions aforesaid. Notes — This article is directory only. (1904) 1 Ch. 815

20. The directors may decline to register any transfer of shares, not being fully-paid shares, to a person of whom they do not approve, and may also alien The fourteen days year. The

(6) the instrument of transfer is accompanied by the certificate of the shares to which it relates, and such other evidence as the directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer.

Notes — Where the deed of transfer is not properly stamped a company may refuse registration. Maynard v. Consolidated Kent Collieries (1903) 2 K. B. 351. Where the articles restrict transfers by a person indebted to the company, it was held that it must be read with the articles giving the company a lien. Stockton Malleable Iron Co., (1876) 2 Ch. D. 101 cited in Stiebel, p. 285.

21. The executors or administrators of a deceased sole holder of a share shall be the only persons recognized by the company as having any title to the share. In the case of a share registered in the names of two or more holders, the survivors or survivor, or the executors or administrators of the deceased survivor, shall be the only persons recognised by the company as having any title to the share.

Notes — Upon the death of a member, his executors and administrators are entitled to become members and to receive dividends and are liable for calls in respect of shares held by the deceased holder. (1899) 2 Ch. 41; (1911) 2 Ch. 670; (1879) Tuticorin Cotton Press Co., (1894) 71 L. T. 723. It would seem that in the same through

22. Any person becoming entitled to a share in consequence of the death or insolvency of a member shall, upon such evidence being produced as may from time to time, be required by the directors, have the right, either to be registered as a member in respect of the share or, instead of being registered himself, to make such transfer of the share as the deceased or insolvent person could have made; but the directors shall, in either case, have the same right to decline or suspend registration as they would have had in the case of a transfer of the share by the deceased or insolvent person before the death or insolvency.

Notes—Transfers of share or other interest of a deceased member of a company which are made by his personal representative will, although the personal representative is not himself a member, be valid as if he had been a member at the time of the execution of the transfer. Stiebel, p. 284.

23. A person becoming entitled to a share by reason of the death or insolvency of the holder shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered holder of the share, except that he shall not, before being registered as a member in respect of the share, be entitled in respect of it to exercise any right conferred by membership in relation to meetings of the company.

Forfeiture of shares

24. If a member fails to pay any call or instalment of a call on the day appointed for payment thereof, the directors may, at any time thereafter during such time as any part of such call or instalment remains unpaid, serve a notice on him requiring payment of so much of the call or instalment as is unpaid, together with any interest which may have accrued.

Notes—The power of forfeiture is not implied and as such the articles of same. Clarke v. Hurt, 6 H. L. C. 633; a prospective notice that shares will be further resolution of the directors, be f. 46. A more or less ambiguous notice situated as a mere threat to forfeit, Moore's Case (1866) 1 Eg 303; Cohen's Case (1870) 30 L. J. Ch. 259 cited in Stiebel, p. 276. A notice by directors for payment of a call does not by itself render forfeiture of shares—subsequent resolution by directors is necessary. 130 Ind Cas 534—A. L. R. 1931 Pat 44. A valid call and default are conditions precedent to and necessary for a valid forfeiture. 125 Ind. Cas. 419.

25. The notice shall name a further day (not earlier than the expiration of fourteen days, from the date of the notice) on or before which the payment required by the notice is to be made, and shall state that, in the event of non-payment at or before the time appointed, the shares in respect of which the call was made will be liable to be forfeited.

26. If the requirements of any such notice as aforesaid are not complied with, any share in respect of which the notice has been given may at any time thereafter, before the payment required by the notice has been made, be forfeited by a resolution of the directors to that effect.

Notes—The provisions of the Act are strictly followed, as any irregularity in 629 or even in a call out of which 631; Gordon Galley v. McLester (11 Stiebel, p. 276. Although the notice called were not paid on the dates specified, the shares would be forfeited, in the absence of a resolution by the directors actually forfeiting the shares as required under the Articles of Association of the company, there is no valid forfeitures of the shares. 28. A person whose shares have been forfeited shall cease to be a member in respect of the forfeited shares, but shall, notwithstanding, remain liable to pay to the company all moneys which, at the date of forfeiture, were presently payable by him to the company in respect of the shares, but his liability shall cease if and when the company received payment in full of the nominal amount of the shares.

Notes.—A forfeited shareholder ceases to be a member but his liability for money payable to the company at the time of forfeiture in respect of the forfeited share, including any interest on arrears of calls remains. Stocken's Case, (1868) 3 Ch 412; Ladies' Dress Association v Pulbrook, (1909) 2 Q B 276. 29. A duly verified declaration in writing that the declarant is a director of the company, and that a share in the company has been duly forfeited on a date stated in the declaration, shall be conclusive evidence of the facts therein stated as against all persons claiming to be entitled to the share, and that declaration, consideration, if any, given for the share constitute good title to the share, and disposed of shall be registered as the be bound to see to the application of the his title to the share be affected by any proceedings in reference to the forfeiture, sale or disposal of the share.

Notes—It is usual for the articles to provide that where forfeited shares have been sold the purchaser shall have good title and the right of the person aggrieved shall be in damages against the company only. Such a right may be enforced in winding up. New Chile Gold Mining Co, (1890) 45 Ch D 398, cited in Stiebel, p 276

30. The provisions of these regulations as to forfeiture shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which, by the terms of issue of a share, become payable at a fixed time, whether on account of the amount of the share, or by way of premium, as if the same had been payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

Conversion of shares into stock.

31. The directors may, with the sanction of the company previously given in general meeting, convert any paid-up shares into stock, and may with the like sanction re-convert any stock into paid up shares of any denomination.

32. The holders of stock may transfer the same, or any part thereof in the same manner, and subject to the same regulations, as, and subject to which, the shares from which the stock arose might previously to conversion have been transferred, or as near thereto as circumstances admit; but the directors may from time to time fix the minimum amount of stock transferable, and restrict or forbid the transfer of fractions of that minimum, but the minimum shall not exceed the nominal amount of the shares from which the stock arose.

33. The holders of stock shall, according to the amount of the stock held by them have the same rights, privileges and advantages as regards dividends, voting at meetings of the company, and other matters, as if they held the shares from which the stock arose, but no such privilege or advantage (except participation in the dividends and profits of the company) shall be conferred by any such aliquot part of stock as would not, if existing in shares, have conferred that privilege or advantage.

34. Such of the regulations of the company (other than those relating to share warrants), as are applicable to paid-up shares shall apply to stock, and the words "share" and "shareholder" therein shall include "stock" and "stockholder."

Share-warrants.

35. The company may issue share-warrants, and accordingly the directors may in their discretion, with respect to any share which is fully paid up, on application in writing signed by the person registered as holder of the share, and authenticated by such evidence (if any) as the directors may from time to time require as to the identity of the person signing the request, and on receiving the certificate (if any) of the share, and the amount of the stamp duty on the warrant and such fee as the directors may from time to time require, issue under the company's seal a warrant, duly stamped, stating that the bearer of the warrant is entitled to the shares therein specified, and may provide by coupons or otherwise for the payment of dividends, or other moneys on the shares included in the warrant.

36. A share-warrant shall entitle the bearer to the shares included in it and the share shall be transferred by the delivery of the share-warrant, and the provisions of the regulations of the company with respect to transfer and transmission of shares shall not apply thereto.

37. The bearer of a share-warrant shall, on surrender of the warrant to the company for cancellation, and on payment of such sum as the directors may from time to time prescribe, be entitled to have his name entered as a member in the register of members in respect of the shares included in the warrant.

38. The bearer of a share-warrant may at any time deposit the warrant at the office of the company, and so long as the warrant remains so deposited, the depositor shall have the same right of signing a requisition for calling a meeting of the company, and of attending and voting and exercising the other privileges of a member at any meeting held after the expiration of two clear days from the time of deposit, as if his name were inserted in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the deposited warrant. Not more than one person shall be recognised as depositor of the share-warrant. The company shall, on two days' written notice, return the deposited share-warrant to the depositor.

39. Subject as herein otherwise expressly provided, no person shall, as the meeting but the same privileges and advantages as if he were named in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the warrant, and he shall be a member of the company.
40. The directors may from time to time make rules as to the terms on which (if they shall think fit) a new share-warrant or coupon may be issued by way of renewal in case of defacement, loss or destruction.

Alteration of Capital.

41. The directors may, with the sanction of an extraordinary resolution of the company increase the share capital by such sum, to be divided into shares of such amount, as the resolution shall prescribe.

Notes—The exact increase proposed must be given in the notice. (1916) 2 Ch 57.

42. Subject to any direction to the contrary that may be given by the resolution sanctioning the increase of share capital, all new shares shall, before issue, be offered to such persons as at the date of the offer are entitled to receive notices from the company of general meetings in proportion, as nearly as the circumstances admit, to the amount of the existing shares to which they are entitled. The offer shall be made by notice specifying the number of shares offered, and limiting a time within which the offer, if not accepted, will be deemed to be declined, and after the expiration of that time, or on the receipt of an intimation from the person to whom the offer is made that he declines to accept the shares offered, the directors may dispose of the same in such manner as they think most beneficial to the company. The directors may likewise so dispose of any new shares which (by reason of the ratio which the new shares bear to shares held by persons entitled to an offer of new shares) cannot, in the opinion of the directors, be conveniently offered under this article.

If shares are d belong to the estate and if they are not in a position to take them the right to call for the new shares should, if valuable, be sold for the benefit of the estate 50 L. J. Ch. 747; 51 L. J. Ch. 447—cited in Stedel, p 315.

43. The new shares, shall be subject to the same provisions with reference to the payment of calls, lien, transfer, transmission, forfeiture and otherwise as the shares in the original share capital.

44. The company may, by special resolution,—
(a) consolidate and divide its share capital into shares of larger amount than its existing shares;
(b) by sub-division of its existing shares or any of them, divide the whole or any part of its share capital into shares of smaller amount than is fixed by the paragraph

(c) consent to, agree to, or otherwise assent to, any thing, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any person;
(d) reduce its share capital in any manner and with, and subject to, any incident authorised, and consent required, by law.

General Meetings.

45. The statutory general meeting of the company shall be held within the period required by section 77 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913.

I once in every year at such time (not in default, at such time in the month following that in which the anniversary of the company's incorporation occurs, and at such place as the directors shall appoint. In default of a general meeting being so held, a general meeting shall be held in the month next following, and may be called by any two members in the same manner as nearly as possible as that in which meetings are to be called by the directors.

Notes.—The directors can call such a meeting. (1875) 10 Q. B. 329, at p. 339. A secretary has no power to call such a meeting. (1900) 2 Ch. 230; (1901) 2 Ch. 431. Only the directors of the company in general meeting can authorise the name of a company being used in any proceedings. La Compagnie de Mayville v. Whitley. (1896) 1 Ch. 788.

47. The above-mentioned general meetings shall be called ordinary meetings; all other general meetings shall be called extraordinary.

48. An extraordinary general meeting shall also be called on such requisition, or in default, may be called by certain requisitionists, as provided by section 78 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913. If at any time there are not within British India sufficient directors capable of acting to form a quorum, any director or any two members of the company may call an extraordinary general meeting in the same manner as nearly as possible as that in which meetings may be called by the directors.

Proceedings at General Meeting.

49. Fourteen days’ notice at the least (exclusive of the day on which the notice is served or deemed to be served, but inclusive of the day for which notice is given) specifying the place, the day and the hour of meeting and, in case of special business, the general nature of that business, shall be given in manner hereinbefore mentioned, or in such other manner, if any, as may be prescribed by the company in general meeting, to such persons as are under the regulations of the company, entitled to receive such notices from the company; but the non-receipt of the notice by any member shall not invalidate the proceedings at any general meeting.

Notes.—Notice cannot be given that a meeting will be held on certain contingencies happening. Alexander v. Simpson. (1889) 13 Ch D 139; Esplin v. Land and Cattle Co. (1900) 48 W. R. 684. As to what will amount to a sufficient statement of the general nature of business, vide Belts v. Macnaughton, (1910) 1 Ch. 430.

50. All business shall be deemed special that is transacted at an extraordinary meeting, and all that is transacted at an ordinary meeting with the exception of sanctioning a dividend, the consideration of the accounts, balancesheets and the ordinary report of the directors and auditors, the election of directors and other officers in the place of those retiring by rotation, and the fixing of the remuneration of the auditors.

51. No business shall be transacted at any general meeting unless a quorum of members is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business; save as herein otherwise provided, three members personally present shall be a quorum.

Notes.—In the article it is generally provided that a certain number of members is to constitute a quorum. Cf. Hemans v. Hotelkiss Ormian Co., (1899) 1 Ch. 115. If there is no provision the majority can bind the company. Rex v. Vards, (1775) 1 Cowp. 283; Rex v. Monday, (1877) 2 Cowp. 550; Grundy v. Barker, (1793) 1 Bos & Pull 229. Even where the articles do not make any provision for quorum, two members must be present to constitute a meeting. Sharp v. Davies, 2 Q B D 26; Santry Carbon Co., (1877) W. N. 223. In computing quorum the proxies are not counted. Cf. 23 W. R. 403 (Eng) 1920 W. N. 274 (Eng).

52. If within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if called upon the requisition of members, shall be dissolved; in any other case, it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week at the same time and place, and, if at the adjourned meeting a quorum is not present within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting, the members present shall be a quorum.
Notes.—At the adjourned meeting if a quorum is not present within half an hour, the members whose number must be two or more shall be a quorum. One member can not constitute a quorum. 2 Q. B. D. 26. In counting quorum members not entitled to vote are not counted. Henderson v. Lontit & Co., (1884) 21 Rettie, 674.

53. The chairman, if any, of the board of directors shall preside as chairman at every general meeting of the company, preserve order, and to take care that and that the sense of the meeting question that is before the meeting. Henderson v. Sykes, (1894) 3 Ch. 159.

54. If there is no such chairman, or if at any meeting he is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, or is unwilling to act as chairman, the members present shall choose some one of their number to be chairman.

Notes.—In such a case the elected chairman is not bound to vacate the chair even if the permanent chairman comes afterwards Blackwell, p. 18.

55. The chairman, may, with the consent of any meeting at which a quorum is present (and shall if so directed by the meeting), adjourn the meeting from time to time and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place. When a meeting is adjourned for ten days or more, notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given as in the case of an original meeting. Save as aforesaid, it shall not be necessary to give any notice of an adjournment or of the business to be transacted at an adjourned meeting.

Notes.—The chairman cannot adjourn the meeting at his own pleasure. If he

56. At any general meeting a resolution put to the vote of the meeting shall be decided on a show of hands, unless a poll is (before or on the declaration of the result of the show of hands) demanded by at least three members, and unless a poll is so demanded, a declaration by the chairman that a resolution has, on a show of hands, been carried, or carried unanimously, or by a particular majority, or lost, and an entry to that effect in the book of the proceedings of the company shall be conclusive evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of, or against, that resolution.

Notes.—It is the chairman's business to ascertain the sense of the meeting. This is done in the first instance by a show of hands. Vide Hurbury Bridge Coal, Iron and Waggan Co., (1879) 11 Ch. D. 107. Even on a special resolution proxies will not, unless they are held by a person not otherwise entitled to vote, be counted. Stichel, p. 392 citing Ernest v. Loma Gold Mines, (1897) 1 Ch. 1; Calorie Engineer and Steam Fog Signals Co., (1875) 52 L. T. 846.

57. If a poll is duly demanded, it shall be taken in such manner as the chairman directs, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

58. In the case of an equality of votes, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, the chairman of the meeting at which the show of hands takes place, or at which the poll is demanded, shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

Notes. — Where there is no provision in the Articles of Association, the chairman is not entitled to a casting vote. Nel; v. Longbottom, (1894) 1 Q. B. 767. In the absence of any such provision in the Articles of Association any proposition would fall to the ground in the case of equality of votes. Cf. Re; Chapman, (1704) Holt 443; Rev. v. Gisnew, (1796) 9 T R 732; Rev. v. Tipperary, (1903) 2 Ir. 108. A casting vote will be in addition to any vote which the chairman is entitled to as a member. Nall v. Longbottom, (1894) 1 Q. B. 767.

59. A poll demanded on the election of a chairman or on a question of adjournment shall be taken forthwith. A poll demanded on any other question shall be taken at such time as the chairman of the meeting directs.

Notes. — The right time to demand a poll would seem to be immediately after the chairman's declaration on the show of hands. Campbell v. Mound, (1836) 5 A. & E. 865. The chairman is to decide when and where the poll is to be held. Reg. v. D. Oyly, (1840) 12 A. & E. 139; Rev. v. Chester, (1834) 1 A. & E. 342; Chullington Iron Co., (1855), 29 Ch. D. 159.

Votes of Members.

60. On a show of hands every member present in person shall have one vote. On a poll every member shall have one vote for each share of which he is the holder.

Notes. — Each member present will have one vote. Harbury Bridge Coal, Iron, and Waggon Co., (1879) 11 Ch. D. 109. A holder of a proxy, who is not a member, can only vote, if he is entitled to vote as such, (1897) 1 Ch. 1; (1885) 52 L. T 846. On a poll the number of votes each member has, and also proxies, will be counted, not infrequently scrutineers are appointed, but the result of the poll should be declared by the chairman. Stiebel, p. 395 citing Indian Zoedone Co., (1884) 26 Ch. D. 70.

61. In the case of joint-holders, the vote of the senior who tenders a vote, whether in person or by proxy, shall be accepted to the exclusion of the votes of the other joint-holders; and for this purpose seniority shall be determined by the order in which the names stand in the register of members.

62. A member of unsound mind, or in respect of whom an order has been made by any Court having jurisdiction in lunacy, may vote, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, by his committee or other legal guardian, and any such committee or guardian may, on a poll, vote by proxy.

63. No member shall be entitled to vote at any general meeting unless all calls or other sums presently payable by him in respect of shares in the company have been paid.

64. On a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy: Provided that no company shall vote by proxy as long as a resolution of its directors in accordance with the provisions of section 80 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, is in force.

Notes. — No member is entitled to vote by proxy unless the Articles of Association authorize him to do so. Harbur v. Phillips, (1883) 23 Ch. D. 14.

65. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointor or of his attorney duly authorized in writing, or, if the appointor is a corporation, either under the common seal, or under the hand of an officer or attorney so authorised. No person shall act as a proxy unless either he is entitled on his own behalf to be present and vote at the meeting at which he acts as proxy, or he has been appointed to act at that meeting as proxy for a corporation.

Notes—Prima facie there is no right to vote by proxy, for the common law does not recognize any such mode of voting; but the Articles generally confer such a right, for it is extremely inconvenient that a member, especially when residing at a distance, should be required personally to attend every meeting. Palmer's Company Law, p 172. Where the Articles make provision that the instrument should be signed in the presence of a witness, in such a case, signature in the presence of a witness is necessary. Harben v. Phillips, 23 Ch. D. 32. A proxy cannot attest his own appointment. Ex parte Cullen, (1861) 2 Q. B. 151.

66. The instrument appointing a proxy and the power-of-attorney or other authority (if any), under which it is signed or a notarially certified copy of that power or authority, shall be deposited at the registered office of the company not less than seventy-two hours before the time for holding the meeting at which the person named in the instrument proposes to vote, and in default the instrument of proxy shall not be treated as valid.

Notes—The Articles very commonly require instruments of proxy to be deposited with the company a certain number of hours before the meeting. Palmer's Company Law, p 173. The presence of a member in a meeting after appointing a proxy does not cancel the proxy but if he votes at the meeting the proxy will be revoked. Knight v. Bulky, 5 Jur. N. S. 817.

67. An instrument appointing a proxy may be in the following form, or in any other form which the directors shall approve:

"I of in the district of , being a member of the Company, Limited, hereby appoint of as my proxy to vote for me and on my behalf at the [ordinary or extraordinary, as the case may be] general meeting of the company to be held on the day of and at any adjournment thereof."

Signed this day of .

Notes—This article does not require a proxy to be attested. Under the Indian Stamp Act a proxy requires 2 annas stamp, vide Art. 52 of the Stamp Act. In England a proxy for a single meeting requires a penny stamp. If for several meetings, it requires a 10s. stamp. Vide section 80 of the English Stamp Act, 1891. See also (1915) 32 T. L. R. 183 A filled up before it is deposited or used. Ernest v. Lorna Co., (1897) 1 Ch. signatures and dates on the stamp. 71 L. J. Ch. 755.

Directors.

68. The number of the directors and the names of the first directors shall be determined in writing by a majority of the subscribers of the memorandum of association.
69. The remuneration of the directors shall from time to time be determined by the company in general meeting.

Notes.—Prima facie a
Imperial & Co, 3 Bar & Co vs. Strand v. Royal Aquarian, the Articles make provision for remuneration. (1921) 1 K.B. 423. Such remunerations may be paid from the funds of the company even where the company has acquired no profit. Harry Lewis's Case, 26 L. 673. But where there is no provision in the Articles or where it has not been determined in a general meeting such remuneration cannot be paid (1895) 1 Ch. 674; 22 A. L. J. 883; (1916) A. C 554.

70. The qualification of a director shall be the holding of at least one share in the company, and it shall be his duty to comply with the provisions of section 82 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913.

Notes.—The qualification is required in order to give a director a personal interest in the holding Archer's Case, (1892) 1 Ch. 322. The meaning of such a clause is, that the director is under an obligation to acquire the requisite qualification in some way or other, whether from the company, or by transfer from a friend, or by purchase in the market; but that he is to have a reasonable time—say a few weeks—within which to do so. Brown's Case, 9 Ch. 102; Palmer's Company Law, p. 193. Joint holding gives the requisite qualification. Glory Paper Mills (1894) 3 Ch. 473; Grundy v. Briggs, (1910) 1 Ch. 444. As to the effect of raising the share qualification on existing directors, while (1922) 2 K.B. 589.

Powers and duties of Directors.

71. The business of the company shall be managed by the directors, who may pay all expenses incurred in getting up and registering the company, and may exercise all such powers of the company as are not, by the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force, or by these articles, required to be exercised by the company in general meeting, subject nevertheless to any regulation of these articles, to the provisions of the said Act, and to such regulations being not inconsistent with the foregoing regulations or provisions, as may be prescribed by the company in general meeting, but no regulation made by the company in general meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the directors which would have been valid if that regulation had not been made.

Notes.—The articles generally give to the directors a number of specific powers scattered up and down the various clauses, but, in addition to these specific powers, there is almost always inserted a general clause on the lines of this article, providing that the directors may exercise all the powers of the company not by the articles or by statute required to be exercised by the company in general meeting. Palmer’s vesting of powers in the directors is valid in considering whether any particular by such a clause on the directors, is to search the articles and the Acts to see whether there is any express provision requiring for that transaction the authority of the company in general meeting, and, if there is no such provision, the directors must be treated as competent to carry out the transaction. Ibid. p. 199; see also L. R. 6 Ch. 83; 20 Eq. 359; (1891) 1 Ch. 173; 45 L. J. Ch. 437.

72. The directors may from time to time appoint one or more of their body to the office of managing director or manager for such term, and at such remuneration (whether by way of salary, or commission, or participation in profits, or partly in one way and partly in another) as they may think fit, and a director so appointed shall not, while holding that office, be subject to retirement by rotation, or taken into account in determining the rotation of retirement of directors, but his appointment shall be subject to determination ipso facto if he ceases from any cause to be a director, or if the company in general meeting resolve that his tenure of the office of managing director or manager be determined.

Notes.—The maxim "delegatus non habet delegatur" applies to directors and they determine their duties and powers, and further that the directors may delegate to any one or more of themselves any of their powers. Palmer's Company Law, p. 197. By this article the directors and managing director. But by their right of supervision over case may be. (1908) 99 L. T. 524; (1874) 9 Ch. 691.

73. The amount for the time being remaining undischarged of money borrowed or raised by the directors for the purposes of the company (otherwise than by the issue of share capital) shall not at any time exceed the issued share capital of the company without the sanction of the company in general meeting.

Notes.—Under article 71, the directors have got the power of borrowing on behalf of the company. This article limits the borrowing powers to a sum not exceeding the paid up capital. But the company can increase the limit by ordinary resolution. (1877) 2 A. C. 366 at p. 374. Where the directors borrow in excess of their powers, the acts may be ratified in a general meeting. Ibid.

74. The directors shall duly comply with the provisions of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force, and in particular with the provisions in regard to the registration of the particulars of mortgages and charges affecting the property of the company or created by it, and to keeping a register of the directors, and to sending to the registrar an annual list of members, and a summary of particulars relating thereto and notice of any consolidation or increase of share capital, or conversion of shares into stock, and copies of special resolutions and a copy of the register of directors and notifications of any changes therein.

75. The director shall cause minutes to be made in books provided for the purpose—

(a) of all appointments of officers made by the directors;

(b) of the names of the directors present at each meeting of the directors and of any committee of the directors;

(c) of all resolutions and proceedings at all meetings of the company, and, of the directors, and of committees of directors; and every director present at any meeting of directors or committee of directors shall sign his name in a book to be kept for that purpose.

The Seal.

76. The seal of the company may appoint one person as aforesaid shall sign every instrument to which the seal of the company is so affixed in their presence.

Notes.—The affixing of seals by some unauthorised person does not bind the company. Mayor, etc., of Merchants of the Staple v Bank of England, (1887) 21 Q. B. D. 160; Rutten v. Great Fingall, (1906) A. C. 439.

Disqualifications of Directors.

77. The office of directors shall be vacated if the director—

(a) ceases to be a director by virtue of section 85 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913; or

(b) holds, or any partner of his, or the firm of which he is a member, holds, any other office of profit under the company except that of managing director or manager; or

(c) is adjudged insolvent; or
(d) is found lunatic or becomes of unsound mind; or
(e) is concerned or participates in the profits of any contract with the company; or
(f) is punished with imprisonment for a term exceeding six months:

Provided, however, that no director shall vacate his office by reason of his being a member of any company which has entered into contracts with, or done any work for, the company of which he is director, but a director shall not vote in respect of any such contract or work, and if he does so vote, his vote shall not be counted.

Notes.—On the happening of the event, a director vacates his office automatically. Bodley Co Limited, (1904) 1 Ch. 276. Even apart from such a provision, it is well settled that the acceptance by a director of an incompatible office vacates his directorship. Palmer's Company Law, p. 182, citing Millner v. Thacker, 2 T. R. 81; Eales v. Cumberland Co, 6 H. & N. 481; Iron Ship Co, v. Blank, L. R. 3 C. P. 484.

Clause (g).—Becomes insolvent after election. (1893) 1 Ch. 6; see also 10 H. L. Cas. 404; Sissons v. S. 54, S. J. 802.

Rotation of Directors.

78. At the first ordinary meeting of the company, the whole of the directors shall retire from office, and at the ordinary meeting in every subsequent year, one-third of the directors for the time being or, if their number is not three or a multiple of three, then the number nearest to one-third shall retire from office.

79. The directors to retire in every year shall be those who have been longest in office since their last election, but as between persons who became directors on the same day those to retire shall (unless they otherwise agree among themselves) be determined by lot.

80. A retiring director shall be eligible for re-election.

81. The company at the general meeting at which a director retires in manner aforesaid may fill up the vacated office by electing a person thereto.

82. If at any meeting at which an election of directors ought to take place, the places of the vacating directors are not filled up, the meeting shall stand adjourned till the same day in the next week at the same time and place and, if at the adjourned meeting the places of the vacating directors are not filled up, the vacating directors or such of them as have not had their places filled up shall be deemed to have been re-elected at the adjourned meeting.

83. The company may from time to time in general meeting increase or reduce the number of directors, and may also determine in what rotation the increased or reduced number is to go out of office.

84. Any casual vacancy occurring on the board of directors may be filled up by the directors, but the person so chosen shall be subject to retirement at the same time as if he had become a director on the day on which the director in whose place he is appointed was last elected a director.

Notes.—Such a power continues to be exercisable even after a general meeting of the company, if the vacancy still continues. Munster v. Camnell, (1882) 21 Ch. D. 183; Zennell Bros. v. Lewis, (1904) 20 T. L. R. 1.

85. The directors shall have power at any time, and from time to time, to appoint a person as an additional director who shall retire from office at the next following ordinary general meeting, but shall be eligible for election by the company at that meeting as an additional director.

86. The company may by extraordinary resolution remove any director before the expiration of his period of office, and may by an ordinary resolution appoint another person in his stead; the person so appointed shall be subject to retirement at the same time as if he had become a director on the day on which the director in whose place he is appointed was last elected a director.

Notes.—Even in the absence of such an article from a company's Articles of Association, a director can be removed for misconduct. Boston Deep Sea Fishing Co. v. Ansell, (1888) 39 Ch. D. 339; Cf. Kayte v. Alturas Gold Co., (1888) 36 W. R. 495. By this article a director can be removed by an extraordinary resolution. In such a case the delinquent director is not entitled to a hearing in his defence. Dean v. Bennett, (1876) 6 Ch. 489; Raymon v. Governors of Rugby School, (1874) 18 Eq. 28. He is also not entitled to any notice. African Association v. Allen, (1910) 1 K. B. 396.

Proceedings of Directors.

87. The directors may meet together for the despatch of business, adjourn and otherwise regulate their meetings, as they think fit. Questions arising at any meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes. In case of an equality of votes, the chairman shall have a second or casting vote. A director may, and the secretary on the requisition of a director shall, at any time, summon a meeting of directors.

Notes—Notice of the meeting must be given to all directors 42 Ch. D. 160. But such notice can be dispensed with where they are travelling abroad. 59 L.J. Ch. 591. The directors need not meet where they agree to a particular course. Ex parte Kennedy (1890) 44 Ch. D. 472; Hollings v. Farnie, (1857) 3 Eq. 520.

Vote—Every director has got one vote. Vide id Ch. D. 190. Any question raised in a meeting is to be decided by a majority of votes. Rex v. Vaxlo, (1775) 1 Cowp. 248; Rex v. Monday, (1873) 3 Cowp. 530; Perry v. Shipway, (1859) 1 Giff. 1; Wilkinson v. Malin, (1832) 2 Tyr. 544.

Meeting.—The meeting of the directors should be duly convened. (1900) 2 Ch. 230; (1867) 2 Exch. 158. Apart from any special powers the directors can only act as a board. D'Arcy v. The Tamar, etc. Railway, (1867) L.R. 2 Ex. 158; Howard's Case, (1666) 1 Ch. 561; John Mosby Building Co. v. Carras, (1891) 2 Ch. 356. There need not by any fixed place of meeting. All that is required is that they must meet in some place where all may be present and may have the opportunity of expressing their assent or dissent. D'Arcy v. The Tamar, etc. (1867) L.R. 2 Ex. 158.

Casting vote.—A chairman who is not duly appointed can not give a casting vote. (1920) 1 Ir. Rep. 107

88. The quorum necessary for the transaction of the business of the directors may be fixed by the directors, and unless so fixed shall (when the number of directors exceeds three) be three.

Notes.—In the absence of any provision for quorum in the Articles the majority of the whole number of directors can act. York Tramways v. Willows, (1882) 8 Q.B. D. 685. But it is doubtful whether any smaller number can act. Portuguese Consolidated Copper Co. Steel's Case, (1889) 42 Ch. D. 160. In a meeting where the quorum is present, all the authorities, powers and discretions vested in the directors can be exercised. "A bare quorum is capable to act and bind the company at a meeting duly convened, with proper notice given to the other directors, at which therefore all the other directors may, if they please, be present." (1888) 38 Ch. D. 546 at p. 550. Even a quorum of one can be fixed. (1915) 2 Ch. 142. The directors who are not competent to vote are not counted. (1904) 1 Ch. 32; (1903) 19 T.L.R. 602.

89. The continuing directors may act notwithstanding any vacancy in their body, but, if and so long as their number is reduced below the number fixed by or pursuant to the regulations of the company as the necessary quorum of directors, the continuing directors may act for the purpose of increasing the number of directors to that number, or of summoning a general meeting of the company, but for no other purpose.

Notes.—Where the Articles provide that the directors are not to be less than a certain number, in such a case, if there are not the minimum number of directors, the directors cannot act. Kirk v. Bell, (1851) 16 Q. B. 290; Faure v. Philpott, (1888) 38 L. T. 325; British Empire Match Co, 59 L. T. 291. It may act and the are more than the business only. 901 1 Ch. 115. And there never has 1911 2 Ch. 439. But the better opinion seems to be that under such an Article continuing directors can act though there are too few of them to form a quorum (1900) 2 Ch. 272; (1901) 1 Ch. 115; 8 Q. B. D. 685; 23 Ch. D. 413. Stiebel, p 361.

So. The directors may elect a chairman of their meetings and determine the period for which he is to hold office, but if no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within five minutes after the time appointed for holding the same, the directors present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

Chairman — The duties of the chairman are to preserve order, and to take care that proceedings are conducted in a proper manner, and that the sense of the meeting is properly ascertained with regard to any question that is before the meeting. National Dwellings Society v. Sykes, (1894) 3 Ch. 159.

91. The directors may delegate any of their powers to committees consisting of such member or members of their body as they think fit; any committee so "formed" shall, in the exercise of the powers so delegated, conform to any regulations that may be imposed on them by the directors.

Notes — Such a committee may where that seems to be the intention of the Article consist of a single director. Taurine Co, (1883) 25 Ch D 118; (1916) 2 Ch 142. Even in such a case the directors have the right of supervision over the acts of the committee. Horn v. Henry Boulder Co, (1901) 99 L. T. 5 524; see also Cartmel's Case, (1874) 9 Ch 691.

92. A committee may elect a chairman of their meetings; if no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within five minutes after the time appointed for holding the same, the members present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

93. A committee may meet and adjourn as they think proper. Questions arising at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the members present, and in case of an equality of votes, the chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

94. All acts done by any meeting of the directors or of a committee of shall, notwithstanding that were disqualified, be as valid as if every such person had been duly appointed and was qualified to be a director.

Notes — The defects must be discovered after the Act Murray v. Bush, (1873) L. R. 6, H. L. 37; British Asbestos Co v. Boyd, (1903) 2 Ch. 439. The word "qualified" must not be read in the narrow sense of qualification as regards holding the qualification shares. British Asbestos Co v. Boyd, (1903) 2 Ch. 439; but see 42 Ch. D. 160. When a dividend is declared and becomes payable it is a debt. Re. C. declaration the shareholder can not succeed has ceased to be a director by the elected enters into an agreement as director, arty and the other shareholders agreed to ratify and also to carry out the terms of the agreement, the irregularity, if any; is cured by article 94, and the company is stopped from challenging the validity of the agreement on the ground that the directors were not duly elected. A. I. R. 1935, Rang. 76.

* The word within quotations has been substituted by Act 10 of 1914.
Dividends and Reserve.

95. The company in general meeting may declare dividends, but no dividends shall exceed the amount recommended by the directors.

Notes—Dividends are generally distributed in cash. The payment is made in part from the liability by sending the dividend warrant by post. Thairwalt v. Great Northern Railway, (1901) 2 K. B. 509.

96. The directors may from time to time pay to the members such interim dividends as appear to the directors to be justified by the profits of the company.

Notes—The article authorises the directors to pay interim dividends only out of profits. Vide (1903) 20 T. L. R. 16; (1914) 1 Ch. 558; (1901) 85 L. T. 22.

97. No dividends shall be paid otherwise than out of profits.

Notes.—Dividends are only to be paid out of profits, and not out of capital. In re Oxford Benefit Building Society, 35 Ch. D 592; In re National Funds Insurance Co., 10 Ch. D. 126; Fletchers Case, 21 Ch. D. 519; Alexandra Palace Co., 21 Ch. D. 149; 36 Ch. D. 807; (1892) 1 Ch. 154. Payment out of capital is ultra vires. Trevor v. Whitworth, 12 App. Cas. 409. If the directors pay dividends out of the capital they are jointly and severally responsible for payment. Fletchers Case 21 Ch. D. 519. If the directors pay fictitious dividends may be made criminally liable. Burns v. Peimell, (1849) 2 H. L. C. 525; Regina v. Eslail, (1858) 1 F & F. 213. So dividends can only be paid out of profits ascended by a proper profit and loss account and balance-sheet, as commercial men generally ascertain profits, throughout the world. Holley's Case, 2 Eq. 175; 4 Ch. 475; (1894) 2 Ch. 264; (1892) 2 Ch. 198; 4 Ch. D. 825; 16 Ch. D. 347; 35 Ch. D. 582.

98. Subject to the rights of persons (if any) entitled to shares with special rights as to dividends, all dividends shall be declared and paid according to the amounts paid on the shares, but if and so long as nothing is paid upon any of the shares in the company, dividends may be declared and paid according to the amounts of the shares. No amount paid on a share in advance of calls shall, while carrying interest, be treated for the purposes of this article as paid on the share.

Notes.—One of the most important points which the articles have to determine in reference to dividends is in what proportion the dividends are to be made payable as between the members. In the absence of any provision in the articles 'all the shares are entitled to participate equally in dividend, without regard to the amount paid up upon each.' Oakbank Oil Co v. Crum, 8 App. Cas. 65; see also Bridge-water Co., 14 App. Cas. 525. But this article gives a rateable dividend on the amounts paid on the shares.

99. The directors may, before recommending any dividend, set aside out of the profits of the company such sums as they think proper as a reserve or reserves which shall, at the discretion of the directors, be applicable for meeting contingencies, or for equalizing dividends, or for any other purpose to which the profits of the company may be properly applied, and pending such application may, at the like discretion, either be employed in the business of the company or be invested in such investments (other than shares of the company) as the directors may from time to time think fit.

Notes.—Even where there is no provision in the article the directors can set apart a portion of the profit as reserve fund. They may invest such fund in any investments which they consider desirable. Berland v. Earle, (1902) A. C. 13; Fishter v. Black and White Co., (1901) 1 Ch. 174. It is generally available for distribution of profits in succeeding years. Hoare & Co., (1904) 2 Ch. 208. Bouch v. Sprague, (1887) 12 A. C. 355; Re Alibby, (1892) 45 Ch. D. 237.

100. If several persons are registered as joint-holders of any share, any one of them may give effectual receipts for any dividend payable on the share.

Notes—As between tenant for life and remainder man, the tenant for life is entitled to all profits distributed unless the company has validly capitalized them by resolution or otherwise. Stiebel, p. 300 citing Bouch v. Sproule, (1887) 12 A. C. 385; Re Piercy, (1907) 2 Ch. 389; Re Northage (1891) 60 L. J. Ch. 488; Hume Nisbit's Settlement, (1911) 27 T. L. R. 461; Re Palmer (1912) 56 Sol. J. 363.

101. Notice of any dividend that may have been declared shall be given in manner hereinafter mentioned to the person entitled to share therein.

Notes — Where a dividend is declared between the date of a contract for sale of shares and the transfer, it will be payable to the transferee if the contract be silent on the point. Stiebel, p. 304 citing Black v. Howersham, (1879) 4 Ex. D. 24.

102. No dividend shall bear interest against the company.

Cf. Rishon v. Grissel (1870) 10 Eq. 393.

Accounts.

103. The directors shall cause true accounts to be kept—

(a) of the sums of money received and expended by the company, and the matter in respect of which such receipt and expenditure takes place; and

(b) of the assets and liabilities of the company.

Notes — Directors are agents and in some sense trustees for the company. This is one of their duties. 8 Ves. 363, to keep a clear account, and to communicate the contents of it to his principal. — Palmer's Company Law, p. 222.

104. The books of account shall be kept at the registered office of the company, or at such other place or places as the directors think fit, and shall always be open to the inspection of the directors.

Notes — A director by virtue of his office has the right to inspect the accounts of the company. (1890) W. N. (Eng.) 209. This right of inspection ceases on voluntary winding up. Yorkshire & Co, 9 Eq 650; Kent Coalfields Syndicate, (1898) 1 Q B 754.

105. The directors shall from time to time determine whether and to what extent and at what times and places and under what conditions or regulations the accounts and books of the company or any of them shall be open to the inspection of members not being directors, and no member (not being a director) shall have any right of inspecting any account or book or document of the company except as conferred by law or authorised by the directors or by the company in general meeting.

Notes — The right of inspection of accounts and books of the company is not a statutory right. This article does not prevent a shareholder to inspect the register of members, or the register of mortgages, for a member has statutory right to inspect them. Palmer's Company Law, p. 222.

106. Once at least in every year the directors shall lay before the company in general meeting a profit and loss account for the period since the preceding account or (in the case of the first account) since the incorporation of the company, made up to a date not more than six months before such meeting.

107. The profit and convenent heads, the amount of the expenses of the establishment, salaries and other like matters. Every item of expenditure fairly chargeable against the year's income shall be brought into account, so that a just balance of profit and loss may be laid before the meeting, and, in cases where any item of expenditure which may in fairness be distributed over several years has been incurred in any one year, the whole amount of such item shall be stated, with the addition of the reasons why only a portion of such expenditure is charged against the income of the year.
108. A balance-sheet shall be made out in every year and laid before the company in general meeting made up to a date not more than six months before such meeting. The balance-sheet shall be accompanied by a report of the directors as to the state of the company’s affairs, and the amount which they recommend to be paid by way of dividend, and the amount (if any) which they propose to carry to a reserve fund.

109. A copy of the balance-sheet and report shall, seven days previously to the meeting, be sent to the persons entitled to receive notices of general meetings in the manner in which notices are to be given hereunder.

110. The directors shall in all respects comply with the provisions of sections 130 to 135 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force.

Audit.

111. Auditors shall be appointed and their duties regulated in accordance with sections 144 and 145 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force.

Notices.

112. (1) A notice may be given by the company to any member either personally or by sending it by post to him at his registered address or (if he has no registered address in British India) to the address, if any, within British India supplied by him to the company for the giving of notices to him.

(2) Where a notice is sent by post, service of the notice shall be deemed to be effected by properly addressing, prepaying and posting a letter containing the notice and, unless the contrary is proved, to have been effected at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post.

Notes.—The notice must be given to every member within reach. Smith v. Darley, (1840) 2 A. L. C. 789. Where a member’s whereabouts is not known, notice may not be given Halifax Sugar Co. v. Franklin (1809) 59 L. J. Ch. 591; Portuguese Consolidated Copper Mines (1886) 4 Ch D 160; Union Hill Silver Co. (1870) 22 L. T. 492. In the absence of any special provision non-service of notice on a single member will invalidate a meeting British Sugar Refining Co., (1857) 3 K. & J. 498. Notice is to be given only to members on the register Sussex, Brit. Co., (1904) 1 Ch. 598.

113. If a member has no registered address in British India, and has not supplied to the company an address within British India for the giving of notices to him, a notice addressed to him and advertised in a newspaper circulating in the neighbourhood of the registered office of the company shall be deemed to be duly given to him on the day on which the advertisement appears.

Notes.—Where notice is by advertisement, this would appear apart from special provision to be the rule Mercantile Investment and General Trust Co. v. International Co., of Mexico, (1893) 2 Ch. 484 N.—Stiebel, p 388. No notice need be given to shareholders who live abroad. 22 L. T. 490.

114. A notice may be given by the company to the joint-holders of a share by giving the notice to the joint-holder named first in the register in respect of the share.

Notes.—In the absence of such a provision in the articles, such a notice is not sufficient. Cf. Patentwood Key Syndicate v. Pearse, (1905) W. N. 164.

115. A notice may be given by the company to the persons entitled to a share in consequence of the death or insolvency of a member by sending it through the post in a prepaid letter addressed to them by name, or by the title of representation, to the person supplied by giving the notice in any manner in which the same might have been given if the death or insolvency had not occurred.
Notes.—These persons are not entitled to any notice in the absence of such an article. (1909) 1 Ch. 656 ; (1896) 1 Ch. 456 ; (1894) 1 Q. B. 622.

in consequence of the death or insolvency of a member, who but for his death or insolvency, would be entitled to receive notice of the meeting. No other persons shall be entitled to receive notices of general meetings.

ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION TO ACCOMPANY PRECEDING MEMORANDUM OF ASSOCIATION.

Number of Members.

1. The company for the purpose of registration is declared to consist of five hundred members.

2. The directors hereinafter mentioned may, whenever the business or the association requires it, register an increase of members.

Definition of Members.

3. Every person shall be deemed to have agreed to become a member of the company who insures any ship or share in a ship in pursuance of the regulations hereinafter contained.

General Meetings.

4. The first general meeting shall be held at such time, not being less than one month nor more than three months after the incorporation of the company, and at such place, as the directors may determine.

5. A general meeting shall be held once in every year at such time (not being more than fifteen months after the holding of the last preceding general meeting) and place as may be prescribed by the company in general meeting, or, in default, at such time in the month following that in which the anniversary of the company's incorporation occurs, and at such place, as the directors shall appoint. In default of in the month next ordinary meetings;

7. The directors may, whenever in writing by any five or more members,

8. Any requisition made by the proposed to be called, and must be the registered office of the company.
Proceedings at General Meetings.

10. Fourteen days' notice at the least, specifying the place, the day and the hour of meeting, and in case of special business the general nature of the business, shall be given to the members in manner hereinafter mentioned, or in such other manner (if any) as may be prescribed by the company in general meeting; but the non-receipt of such a notice by any member shall not invalidate the proceedings at any general meeting.

by rotation, and the fixing of remuneration of the auditors.

12. No business shall be transacted at any meeting except the declaration of a dividend, unless a quorum of members is present at the commencement of the business. The quorum shall be ascertained as follows (that is to say):—if the members of the company at the time of the meeting do not exceed ten in number, the quorum shall be five; if they exceed ten, there shall be added to the above quorum one for every five additional members with this limitation, that no quorum shall in any case exceed ten.

13. If within one hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum of members is not present, the meeting, if called on the requisition of the members, shall be dissolved: in any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the following week at the same time and place; and if at such adjourned meeting a quorum of members is not present, it shall be adjourned sine die.

14. The chairman (if any) of the directors shall preside as chairman at every general meeting of the company.

15. If there is no such chairman, or if at any meeting he is not present at the time of holding the same, the members present shall choose some one of their number to be chairman of that meeting.

16. The chairman may, with the consent of the meeting, adjourn the meeting from time to time and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place.

17. At any general meeting, unless a poll is demanded by at least three members, a declaration by the chairman that a resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the book of proceedings of the company, shall be conclusive evidence of the fact without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against the resolution.

18. If a poll is demanded in manner aforesaid, the same shall be taken in such manner as the chairman directs, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

Votes of Members.

19. Every member shall have one vote and no more.

20. If any member is a lunatic or idiot he shall not vote by his committee or other being unless all moneys due or by proxy: Provided that of its directors in accordance its Act, 1913, is in force. A by the appointor, or, if such

23. (1) No person shall act as a proxy unless he is a member, or unless he is a registered office of holding the meeting

THE CONTEMPT OF COURTS ACT, 1926.

ACT NO XII OF 1926.

RECEIVED THE ASSENT OF THE G. G. ON THE 8TH MARCH 1926.

An Act to define and limit the powers of certain Courts in punishing contempts of Courts.

WHEREAS doubts have arisen as to the powers of a High Court of Judicature to punish contempts of subordinate Courts;

And whereas it is expedient to resolve these doubts and to define and limit the powers exercisable by High Courts and Chief Courts in punishing contempts of Court; IT is hereby enacted as follows:

Notes—"The several High Courts of Judicature established by Letters Patent are superior Courts of record, and as such they have power to attach and commit for acts amounting to contempt of their own proceedings as contempt of Court, and without reference to whether the acts alleged constitute an offence under the Indian Penal Code. Different views have, however, been held by the various High Courts for such contempts committed in regard to proceedings in the Madras High Court in the cases of L. J. 832 and the Bombay High Court in the case of B. L. R. 16, have held that they possess exclusive power over subordinate Courts against such contempts. The Calcutta High Court on the other hand, in such as Amrita Bazar Patrika, 17 C. W. N. 1285 and the Legal Remembrancer v. Moti Lal Ghose, 4 Cal. 173 has taken a contrary view. In cases in which it is held that the power to attach and commit exists, the powers of the Courts are as unrestricted as are the powers of superior Courts of record in England. It has not been decided whether the Court of Judicial Commissioners of the Central Provinces, Oudh and Sindh have these general powers either in regard to contempt of their own proceedings or of the superior Courts of record to attach and commit for contempt of Court; contempts of Courts are also indictable misdemeanours at common law in India, on the other hand, though the Indian Penal Code does not provide for the punishment of contempt of the kind referred to above has long been introduced in the Indian Legal System, but it was not proceeded with.

THE PRESENT BILL PROPOSES TO DECLARE AND AMEND THE LAW IN OTHER LINES. INSTEAD OF INCREASING THE CLASSES OF CASES PUNISHABLE AS CONTEMPTS OF Court after trial by Magistrates, the Bill restricts the power to protect subordinate Courts against contempts which are not already provided for in the Indian Penal ment of Objects and Reasons.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Contempt of Courts Act, 1926.

(2) It shall extend to the whole of British India.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint.

2. (1) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), the High Courts of Judicature established by Letters Patent shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction, powers and authority, in accordance with the same procedure and practice, in respect of contempts of Courts subordinate to them as they have and exercise in respect of contempts of Court referred to in sub-section (1).

(3) No High Court shall take cognizance of a contempt alleged to have been committed in respect of a Court subordinate to it where such contempt is an offence punishable under the Indian Penal Code.*

Notes.—A contempt of Court contemplated in this section is a criminal offence and no person can be punished for it, unless that offence be proved by legal evidence. In re Pollard, L. R. 2 P. C. 306 = 5, Moo. P. C. N. S. 111. A statement of the above case may be seen in the Queen v. The criminal proceeding need not deny that the Bench in England for contempt of court upheld by the King’s Bench Division. In Rex v. Davis, L. R. (1906) 1 K. B. 32 came before the old King’s Bench Division on a rule for a writ of attachment for contempt of Court. This contempt consisted of the publication of articles in a newspaper calculated to give an exceedingly unfavourable impression of a prisoner, who had been arrested and brought before the Magistrate. The publication was made while the case was still before the Magistrate and prior to committal. It was held that the High Court had power to attach first because these might come to the assizes for trial, and secondly, because, even if the committal had actually been made to the quarter session, still the King’s Bench Division as the inquirer of all the jurisdictions and powers of the Court of the King’s Bench was the summary power of punishment. It was on the second of these two grounds that the Advocate General relied in his opening.

and protector of public justice throughout the kingdom, the custos morum, a dignity that reverted to it or was revived on the abolition of the Star Chamber by 16 Char. I. c. 10. Ordinarily misdemeanour was punishable by indictment or information, but when it was a contempt of Court it was also punishable _brevi rebus_ by attachment. When this summary proceeding was first used is in some doubt, but the opinion has been expressed that the earliest instance of its use where the contempt was an attack on a Judge, not in the face of the Court, was in 1720.

"The fact that there was one alternative mode of bringing the offender before the Court where the misdemeanour was a contempt of Court was merely a difference of procedure; the subject matter was the same, that is to say, the prosecution of an offence in the Court of King's Bench.

"The helplessness of the inferior Court and its subjection to the superintendence and control of the King's Bench were not the foundation of the jurisdiction, but merely the occasion and the reason for its exercise. Inferior Courts before the Bazar Patrika, 17 C. W. N. 1 the old Common Law must,

... unencumbered was an inferior Criminal Court, unable to protect itself but under the superintendence and control of the Court of King's Bench the case was one in which it would be right that the common law principle should be applied in a summary proceeding.

... on law powers that conduct in relation of that Court, such LV of 1860?"

Then it was held by His Lordship that neither the Supreme Court nor the Sudder Dewan-Adawlat nor the Sudder Nizamat Adawlat had jurisdiction to commit a person for contempt of a Criminal Court in the Mofussil. The Calcutta High Court has inherited all the jurisdiction and every power and authority in any manner vested in the Supreme Court; the Sudder Dewan Adawlat and the Sudder Nizamat Adawlat, has not derived any such jurisdiction from any of those Courts. Ibid; but see Re Venkata Rao, 21 M. 2. In this Act the following words and expressions are used in the following senses, unless a contrary intention appears from the context:

(a)—When one person signifies to another his willingness to do or to abstain from doing anything, with a view to obtaining the assent of that other to such act or abstinence, he is said to make a proposal:

(b)—When the person to whom the proposal is made signifies his assent thereto, the proposal is said to be accepted. A proposal, when accepted, becomes a promise:

(c)—The person making the proposal is called the "promisor," and the person accepting the proposal is called the "promisee":

(d)—When, at the desire of the promisor, the promisee or any other person has done or abstained from doing, or does or abstains from doing, or promises to do or to abstain from doing, something, such act or abstinence or promise is called a consideration for the promise:

The company in their minutes recorded resolutions which did not embody this condition and in express terms spoke of the transaction as a sale of the patent for Rs. 30,000. Held that the only contract between R and the company was that contained in the statute and that if this minute incorporated the terms of the letter, it did so in so far only as the letter was not inconsistent with the express terms of the minute. 13 C. Sub-section (d).—Consideration is an act or forbearance, or the promise thereof, which is offered by one party to an agreement, and accepted by the other, as an inducement to the other's act or promise. Pollock's Contract p. 10. In Currie v. Missa (1875) L. R. 10 Ex. at p. 162, the following definition of consideration was given: "A valuable consideration, in the sense of the law, may consist either in some right, interest, profit or benefit accruing to one party, or some forbearance, detriment, loss or responsibility, given, or suffered or undertaken by the other." In this sub-section, consideration means an act, abstention or promise made by the promisor or some other person at the desire of the promisor. Where the promise did not do anything at the request of the maker of the hand-note, the promissory note is not supported by consideration so far as the maker is concerned. 5 Ind. Cas. 757 = 20 L. Services previously rendered at the desire of a promisor are by this sub-section placed on the same footing with services to be rendered in the future, and constitute a good consideration for a definite agreement. 20 B. 755.

CHAPTER I.

Of the Communication, Acceptance and Revocation of Proposals.

3. The communication of proposals, the acceptance of proposals, and the revocation of proposals and acceptances, respectively, are deemed to be made by any act or omission of the party proposing, accepting or revoking by which he intends to communicate such proposal, acceptance or revocation, or which has the effect of communicating it.

Notes—An offer or its acceptance or both may be made either by words or conduct. Anson, p 28. A common illustration is afforded by the sending of goods, and their use or consumption by the person to whom they are sent. The sending is the offer, the use or consumption is the acceptance, importing a promise to pay the price. Ib id citing Hart v. Mills, 15 M. & W. 37; see also Paynter v. Williams, 1 C & M. 810. The communication takes place when it is brought to the knowledge of the person to whom it is made. Taylor v. Laird, (1850) 25 L. J. Ex. 329; Richardson v. Rowntree, (1894) A. C. 217. An offer must be made with the intention of creating legal relations, 23 B. & 420 So a mere invitation to a dinner is no offer. Ibid. "Where a relation exists between two parties which involves the performance of certain duties by one of them, and the payment of reward to him by the other, the law will imply or the jury may infer a promise by each party to do what is to be done by him." Morgan v. Ravey, 30 L. J. Ex. 131. Commission agent sending out his terms or quotations to the people; no contract arises on such letter. 137 Ind. Cas. 381=34 Bom. L. R. 236=56 B. 324=A. I. Communication, when complete.

The communication of an acceptance is complete, as against the proposer, when it is put in a course of transmission to him, so as to be out of the power of the acceptor, as against the acceptor, when it comes to the knowledge of the proposer.

The communication of a revocation is complete, as against the person who makes it, when it is put into a course of transmission to the person to whom it is made, so as to be out of the power of the person who makes it; as against the person to whom it is made, when it comes to his knowledge.

Illustrations.

(a) A proposes, by letter, to sell a house to B at a certain price. The communication of the proposal is complete when B receives the letter.

(b) B accepts A's proposal by a letter sent by post. The communication of the acceptance is complete.

Notes—Under this section, the communication of acceptance is complete as against the proposer, only when it is put in a course of transmission to him; and communication to a proposer contained in a letter not proved to have been correctly addressed to him, could not although posted be said to have been “put in a course of transmission” to him within the meaning of this section 9A 369=A 34. An acceptance is made in the place where the letter accepting the offer is finally posted. 6 A L J 63=1 Ind. Cas. 77; see also 76 P. R. 1856, 145 Ind. Cas. 998=1933 M W. N. 937=56 M L J 455=A. I. Revocation of proposals and acceptances.

A proposal may be revoked at any time before the communication of its acceptance is complete as against the proposer, but not afterwards.

An acceptance may be revoked at any time before the communication of the acceptance is complete as against the acceptor, but not afterwards.

Illustrations.

A proposes, by a letter sent by post, to sell his house to B.
B accepts the proposal by a letter sent by post.

A may revoke his proposal at any time before or at the moment when B posts his letter of acceptance, but not afterwards.

B may revoke his acceptance at any time before or at the moment when the letter communicating it reaches A, but not afterwards.

Notes—“In the absence of consideration for a promise to keep an offer open for a time, the promise is a nudum pactum and may be revoked at any time before acceptance thereof.” 2 M. L. J. 57. The contract is made at the place where the letter is sent. Van Tienhoven, "Principles of Contract." The question in the question in the next paragraph is not the question whether an offer had not been made when the offer was revoked, but whether it had been revoked before the offeree had knowledge of its revocation. See Atkinson v. Atkinson, (1889) 2 Ch 77 (G. A.)

The communication of notice of revocation by the proposer to the other party;

(2) by the lapse of the time prescribed in such proposal for its acceptance, or, if no time is so prescribed, by the lapse of a reasonable time, without communication of the acceptance ;

(3) by the failure of the acceptor to fulfil a condition precedent to acceptance ; or

(4) by the death or insanity of the proposer, if the fact of his death or insanity comes to the knowledge of the acceptor before acceptance.

Notes—“Acceptance is to offer what a lighted match is to a train of gunpowder.
It produces some thing which can not be recalled or undone. But the powder may have lain till it has become damp, or the man who laid the train may remove it before the match is applied. So an offer may lapse for want of acceptance or be revoked before acceptance.” Anson’s Contrae, p. 35

Clause (1)—An offer to guarantee moneys to be advanced to a third party on discount, to a certain extent “for the space of twelve calendar months,” is counter-mandable within that time. Ofori v. Davies, 12 C. L. T. N. S. 748-31. L. J. C. P.

Clause (2).—Where a party fixes a time within which an offer is to remain open, the offer would lapse after that time. Dickinson v. Dodds, 2 Ch. D. 463. An instance of an offer lapsing by the efflux of a reasonable time is supplied by the case of the Ramsgate Hotel Co. v. Manteshore, L. R. 1 Exch. 109.

Clause (3).—It is an undeniable principle of the law of contract that an offer of a bargain by one person to another imposes no obligation upon the former, until, it is accepted by the latter according to the terms in which the offer was made. Any qualification or departure from these terms invalidates the offer unless the same be agreed to by the person who made it. Ellison v. Henshaw, 4 Wheaton, 225.

Clause (4).—The death of either party before acceptance causes an offer to lapse. An acceptance communicated to the representatives of the offeror cannot bind them. Anson’s Contract, p. 35.

Acceptance must be absolute.

7. In order to convert a proposal into a promise, the acceptance must—

1. be absolute and unqualified;

2. be expressed in some usual and reasonable manner, unless the proposal prescribes the manner in which it is to be accepted. If the proposal prescribes a manner in which it is to be accepted, and the acceptance is not made in such manner, the proposer may, within a reasonable time after the acceptance is communicated to him, insist that his proposal shall be accepted in the prescribed manner, and not otherwise, but if he fails to do so, he accepts the acceptance.

unless it is agreed to by the person from whom the offer comes. In other words, an acceptance with variation is no acceptance; it is simply a counter offer which must be accepted by the original proposer before the contract is made. A person making a proposal can not impose on the party to whom it is addressed, the obligation to refuse it under the penalty of imputed assent or attach to his silence the legal result that he must be deemed to have accepted it. 24 B. 510 = 2 Bom. L. R. 691; see also 54 Ind. Cas. 437 = 18 A. L. J. 313; 811 = 92 P. R. 1913; 6 A. L. J. 213 = 1 Ind. 504; 9 A. L. J. 285; A. L. Acceptance by performing conditions, or receiving consideration.

8. Performance of the conditions of a proposal, or the acceptance of any consideration for a reciprocal promise which may be offered with a proposal, is an acceptance of the proposal.

Notes—Acceptance of a proposal may be made without communication by the conduct of the acceptor. 42 A. 187 = 18 A. L. J. 383 = 54 Ind. Cas. 437; 113 Ind. Cas. 720; 29 C. L. J. 270 (P. C.). A suit for recovery of a reward offered by public advertisement can be found only on a contract. In order to constitute a contract there must be an acceptance of the offer, and there can be no acceptance unless there is a knowledge of the offer. The performance of the act, however, raises an inference of acceptance, and a claim for the reward arises on the basis of the reward. Latman v. Guari, 11 A. L. J. 489 = 19 Ind. Cas. 576.

9. In so far as the proposal or acceptance of any promise is made in words, the promise is said to be express. In so far as such proposal or acceptance is made otherwise than in words, the promise is said to be implied.

Notes—Under this section, an implied contract is as much an agreement between the parties as an express contract and is equally binding. 16 Ind. OF CONTRACTS, VOIDABLE CONTRACTS AND VOID AGREEMENTS.

10. All agreements are contracts if they are made by the free consent of What agreements are contracts parties competent to contract, for a lawful consideration and with a lawful object, and are not hereby expressly declared to be void.

Nothing herein contained shall affect any law in force in British India, and not hereby expressly repealed, by which any contract is required to be made in writing or in the presence of witnesses, or any law relating to the registration of documents.

Notes.—The Indian Contract Act so far as it goes, is exhaustive and imperative. This section makes it essential that all contracting parties should be "competent to contract", and expressly provides that a person who, by reason of infancy, is incompetent to contract, cannot make a contract within the meaning of the Act. A contract, therefore, entered into with an infant is not voidable but void. 30 C. 539 P. C. = 30 I. A. 114 = 7 C. W. N. 441 = 5 Bom. L. R. 421; 26 A. 342: 130 Ind. Cas. 598 = 33 Bom. L. R. 111; A. (a) A having advanced money to his son, B, during his minority, upon B's coming of age obtains, by misuse of parental influence, a bond from B for a greater amount than the sum due in respect of the advance. A employs undue influence.

(b) B's influence over him sum for his professional.

(c) A, being in debt to B, the money-lender of his village, contracts a fresh loan on terms which appear to be unconscionable. It lies on B to prove that the contract was not induced by undue influence.

(d) A applies to a banker for a loan at a time when there is stringency in the money market. The banker declines to make the loan except at an unusually high rate of interest. A accepts the loan on these terms. This is a transaction in the ordinary course of business, and the contract is not induced by undue influence.

The equitable doctrine of undue influence applies to cases, in which the position of the donor and the donee has been such that it has been the duty of the donee to advise the donor or even to manage his property. In such cases, the Court throws upon the donee the burden of proving that he has not abused his position and of proving that the gift made to him has not been brought about by any undue influence on his part. It is necessary to show that the donor had independent advice, and was removed from the influence of the donee, when the gift was made to him. 29 M. 161 (F. B.); see also 11 O. To shift onus on other party, party alleging undue influence must prove that other party was in a position to dominate his will and that the transaction on its face is unconscionable.

The Indian Contract Act throws upon the person dealing with an expectant heir and in a position to dominate the latter’s will the burden of showing that he has not used his position to obtain an unfair advantage. The illustrations to an Indian Statute are to be taken as part of the Statute. 23 C. W. N. 233 (P. C.).

Undue influence is not established by proof of relations of the parties having been such that the one naturally relied upon the other for advice and that the other was in a position to dominate the will of the first in giving it. To render influence “undue” it must be established that the person in a position of domination has used that position to obtain unfair advantage for himself and so as to cause injury to the person relying upon his authority or aid. It is only when the bargain is with the influencer or brought about by him and is in itself unconscionable that the burden is thrown upon the influencer to establish affirmatively that the other party was scrupulously kept separately advised in the independence of a free agent. 43 M. 546 = 55 Ind. Sub-section (3) — By this sub-section three matters are dealt with. In the first place the relation between the parties must be such that one is in a position to dominate the will of the other. Once that position is substantiated the second stage has been reached, viz., the issue whether the contract has been induced by undue influence. Upon the determination of this issue a third point emerges, which is that of the onus probandi the burden of proving that the contract was not induced by undue influence is upon the person who is in a position to dominate the will of the other. 28 C. W. N. 834=51 I. A. 1011.

17. “Fraud” means and includes any of the following acts committed by a party to a contract, or with his connivance, or by his agent, with intent to deceive another party thereto or his agent, or to induce him to enter into the contract:

(1) The suggestion as a fact, of that which is not true, by one who does not believe it to be true;

(2) The active concealment of a fact by one having knowledge or belief of the fact;

(3) A promise made without any intention of performing it;

(4) Any other act fitted to deceive;

(5) Any such act or omission as the law specially declares to be fraudulent.

Explanation — Mere silence as to facts likely to affect the willingness of a person to enter into a contract is not fraud unless the circumstances of the case are such that, regard being had to them, it is the duty of the person keeping silence to speak, or unless his silence is, in itself, equivalent to speech.

Notes.—Fraud is a false representation of fact, made with a knowledge of its falsehood, or recklessly, without belief in its truth, with the intention that it should be acted upon by the complaining party, and actually inducing him to act upon it. 18. "Misrepresentation" means and includes—

(1) the positive assertion, in a manner not warranted by the information of the person making it, of that which is not true, though he believes it to be true;

(2) any breach of duty which, without an intent to deceive, gains an advantage to the person committing it, or any one claiming under him, by misleading another to his prejudice or to the prejudice of any one claiming under him;

(3) causing, however innocently, a party to an agreement to make a mistake as to the substance of the thing which is the subject of the agreement.

Notes.—There is a difference between misrepresentation or innocent misstatement of fact and fraud or wilful misstatement of fact. Anson, p 156 In Arkwright v. Newbold, 17 Ch. D. 320. Cotton L. J. said, "It must be borne in mind that in an action for setting aside a contract which has been obtained by misrepresentation the plaintiff may succeed though the misrepresentation was innocent; but in an action for deceler, the representation to found the action must not be innocent, that is to say, it must be made either with the knowledge of its being false or with a reckless disregard whether it is or it is not true." "It is fraud in law if a party makes representations which he knows to be false and injury ensues, although the motive from which the representations proceeded may not have been bad." Per Tidall, C. J. in Foster v. Charles, 7 Bing. 107, see 3 B. 242. Misrepresentation is a misstatement of facts not known to be false or a nondisclosure of facts not intended to deceive Anson, p 159. 19. When consent to an agreement is caused by coercion*, fraud, or misrepresentation, the agreement is a contract voidable at the option of the party whose consent was so caused.

A party to a contract, whose consent was caused by fraud or misrepresentation, may, if he thinks fit, insist that the contract shall be performed, and that he shall be put in the position in which he would have been if the representations made had been true.

Exception.—If such consent was caused by misrepresentation or by silence, frivolous within the meaning of section 17, the contract, nevertheless, is not voidable, if the party whose consent was so caused had the means of discovering the truth with ordinary diligence.

Explanation.—A fraud or misrepresentation which did not cause the consent to a contract of the party on whom such fraud was practised, or to whom such misrepresentation was made, does not render a contract voidable.

(d) B, having discovered a vein of ore on the estate of A, adopts means to conceal, enabled to buy the estate at an under-value. The contract is voidable at the option of A.

received intelligence of B’s death, prevents the intelligence reaching A, and thus Power to set aside contract induced by undue influence

19A.* When consent to an agreement is caused by undue influence, the agreement is a contract voidable at the option of the party whose consent was so caused.

Any such contract may be set aside either absolutely or, if the party who was entitled to avoid it has received any benefit thereunder, upon such terms and conditions as to the Court may seem just.

Agreement void where both parties are under mistake as to matter of fact.

20. Where both the parties to an agreement are under a mistake as to a matter of fact essential to the agreement, the agreement is void.
Explanations.—An erroneous opinion as to the value of the thing which forms the subject-matter of the agreement is not to be deemed a mistake as to a matter of fact.

(a) A agrees to sell to B a specific cargo of goods supposed to be on its way from England to Bombay. It turns out that, before the day of the bargain, the ship conveying the cargo had been cast away and the goods lost. Neither party was aware of these facts. The agreement is void.

(b) A agrees to buy from B a certain horse. It turns out that the horse was dead at the time of the bargain, though neither party was aware of the fact. The agreement is void.

(c) A, being entitled to an estate for the life of B, agrees to sell it to C. B was dead at the time of the agreement, but both parties were ignorant of the fact. The agreement is void.

There is no difference between "gaming and wagering" used in the English statute and in the earlier Indian Act, XXI of 1848, and the expression "by way of wager" used in the present Contract Act. Two parties may enter into a formal contract for sale and purchase of goods at a given price; and for their delivery at a given time. But if the circumstances are such as to warrant the legal inference that they never intended any actual transfer of goods at all, but only to pay or receive money between one another according as the market price of the goods should vary from the contract price at the given time, that is not a commercial transaction, but a wager on the rise or fall of the market. 29 C. 461=5 C. OF CONTINGENT CONTRACTS.

31. A "contingent contract" is a contract to do or not to do something, if some event, collateral to such contract, does or does not happen.

Illustration.

A contract to pay B Rs. 10,000 if B's house is burnt. This is a contingent contract.

A member of a sugar manufacture appointed the sole agent of the company was not manufacturer of the agency were appointed the sole agent of the company and he company either declined or and the latter went into was not liable to contribute towards the liquidation. 89 Ind. Cas. 438 = 23 A. L. J. 603.
Enforcement of contracts contingent on an event happening.

32. Contingent contracts to do or not to do anything if an uncertain future event happens cannot be enforced by law unless and until that event has happened.

If the event becomes impossible, such contracts become void.

Illustrations.

(a). A makes a contract with B to buy B’s horse if A survives C. This contract cannot be enforced by law unless and until C dies in A’s lifetime.

(b) A makes a contract with B to sell a horse to B at a specified price if C, to whom the horse has been offered, refuses to buy him. The contract cannot be enforced by law unless and until C refuses to buy the horse.

Enforcement of contracts contingent on an event not happening.

33. Contingent contracts to do or not to do anything if an uncertain future event does not happen can be enforced when the happening of that event becomes impossible, and not before.

Notes — When acceptance is by telegram with condition that it would be confirmed by post if mistake found in telegram, contract is complete subject to possible discovery of mistake. 67 Ind Cas 487.

34. If the future event on which a contract is contingent is the way in which a person will act at an unspecified time, the event shall be considered to become impossible when such person does anything which renders it impossible that he should so act within any definite time, or otherwise than under further contingencies.

35. Contingent contracts to do or not to do anything if a specified uncertain event happens within a fixed time become void if, at the expiration of the time fixed, such event has not happened, or if, before the time fixed, such event becomes impossible.
Contingent contracts to do or not to do anything if a specified uncertain event does not happen within a fixed time may be enforced by law when the time fixed has expired and such event has not happened, or, before the time fixed has expired, if it becomes certain that such event will not happen.

36. Contingent agreements to do or not to do anything, if an impossible event happens, are void, whether the impossibility of the event is known or not to the parties to the agreement at the time when it is made.

Illustrations.

(a) A agrees to pay B 1,000 rupees if two straight lines should enclose a space. The agreement is void.

CHAPTER IV.

Of the Performance of Contracts.

Contracts which must be performed.

37. The parties to a contract must either perform, or offer to perform, their respective promises, unless such performance is dispensed with or excused under the provisions of this Act, or of any other law.

Promises bind the representatives of the promisors in case of the death of such promisors before performance, unless a contrary intention appears from the contract.

Illustrations.

(a) A promises to deliver goods to B on a certain day on payment of Rs. 1,000. A dies before that day. A’s representatives are bound to deliver the goods to B, and B is bound to pay the Rs. 1,000 to A’s representatives.

(b) A promises to paint a picture for B by a certain day, at a certain price. A dies before the day. The contract cannot be enforced either by A’s representatives or by B.

Notes.—Under this section promises bind the representatives of the promisors before performance. 4 P. R. 1907 Rev.; see also 106 Ind. Cas. 831; 91 Ind. Cas. 330. Contract by joint Hindu family manager personally is not enforceable by other members after his death. 77 Ind. Cas. 378. 38. Where a promisor has made an offer of performance to the promisee, and the offer has not been accepted, the promisor is not responsible for non-performance, nor does he thereby lose his rights under the contract.

Every such offer must fulfill the following conditions:

(1) it must be unconditional;

(2) it must be made at a proper time and place, and under such circumstances that the person to whom it is made may have a reasonable opportunity of ascertaining that the person by whom it is made is able and willing there and then to do the whole of what he is bound by his promise to do;

(3) if the offer is an offer to deliver anything to the promisee, the promisee must have a reasonable opportunity of seeing that the thing offered is the thing which the promisor is bound by his promise to deliver.

An offer to one of several joint promisees has the same legal consequences as an offer to all of them.

Illustrations.

A contract to deliver to B at his warehouse, on the 1st March, 1873, 100 bales of cotton of a particular quality. In order to make an offer of a performance with the effect stated in this section, A must bring the cotton to B's warehouse, on the appointed day, under such circumstances that B may have a reasonable opportunity of satisfying himself that the thing offered is cotton of the quality contracted for, and that there are 100 bales.

39. When a party to a contract has refused to perform, or disabled himself from performing, his promise in its entirety, the promisee may put an end to the contract, unless he has signified, by words or conduct, his acquiescence in its continuance.

Illustrations.

(a) A, a singer, enters into a contract with B, the manager of a theatre, to sing at his theatre two nights in every week during the next two months, and B engages to pay her 100 rupees for each night's performance. On the sixth night A willfully absents herself from the theatre. B is at liberty to put an end to the contract.

On the sixth night A willfully absents herself. With the assent of B, A sings on the seventh night. B has signified his acquiescence in the continuance of the contract, and cannot now put an end to it, but is entitled to compensation for the damage sustained by him through A's failure to sing on the sixth night.

Notes.—This section confers on the party to a contract the right to put an end to the contract, in case of default on the part of the other party to the contract to perform his promise in its entirety, but the person aggrieved in such a case may refuse to be proper must be of whole amount due.

If no action is taken by other party, refusal before due date does not take away right of claiming performance within reasonable time.
By whom Contracts must be performed

40. If it appears from the nature of the case that it was the intention of the parties to any contract that any promise contained in it should be performed by the promisor himself, such promise must be performed by the promisor. In other cases, the promisor or his representatives may employ a competent person to perform it.

Devolution of joint liabilities. 42. When two or more persons have made a joint promise, then, unless a contrary intention appears by the contract, all such persons, during their joint lives, and after the death, of any of them, his representative jointly with the survivor or survivors, and, after the death of the last survivor, the representatives of all jointly, must fulfil the promise.

Notes.—Rule of survivorship among joint tenants is modified by ss 42 and 45. 122 Ind. Cas. 404. On misappropriation of public trust by manager other members are jointly and severally liable to repay with interest amount used in family business. 85 Ind. Cas. 2.

43. When two or more persons make a joint promise, the promisee may, in the absence of express agreement to the contrary, compel any "one or more" of such joint promisors to perform the whole of the promise. Promisors may compel every other joint promisor to contribute equally with himself to the performance of the promise, unless a contrary intention appears from the contract.

If any one of two or more joint promisors makes default in such contribution, the remaining joint promisors must bear the loss arising from such

55. When a party to a contract promises to do a certain thing at or before a specified time, or certain things at or before specified times, and fails to do any such thing at or before the specified time, the contract, or so much of it as has not been performed, becomes voidable at the option of the promisee, if the intention of the parties was that time should be of the essence of the contract.

If it was not the intention of the parties that time should be of the essence of the contract, the contract does not become voidable by the failure to do such thing at or before the specified time; but the promisee is entitled to compensation from the promisor for any loss occasioned to him by such failure.

If, in case of a contract voidable on account of the promisor’s failure to perform his promise at the time agreed, the promisee accepts performance of such promise at any time other than that agreed, the promisee cannot claim compensation for any loss occasioned by the non-performance of the promise at the time agreed, unless, at the time of such acceptance, he gives notice to the promisor of his intention to do so.

Notes.—This section contains certain provision as to the legal rights of parties to contract when time is of the essence of the contract, and when it is not so; but neither in that section nor in any other legislative provision to which time is to be regarded as of the essence thereof, connected with the subject of contract from the equity of the law, passed by the contract, as much as to contract where the stipulation made time the essence of the contract, the vendor is entitled to retain the earnest money if the contract is not completed within the time agreed upon between the parties owing to unreasonable delay on the part of either party. Ordinarily, in agreements for the sale of land, the contract should be completed within a reasonable time, and if it was not so, the lessor should be entitled to receive the earn money. Section 55 para 3 means that the promisee cannot claim damages for non-performance at the original agreed time, not that he cannot claim damages for non-performance at the extended time. Section 55 of the Contract Act does not lay down any principle differing from that of law of England as to contracts for sale of land. In such cases, equity looks at the substance and not at the letter of the agreement in order to ascertain whether the property notwithstanding that they named a specific time within which the sale was to be completed, really and in substance intended more than that it should take place within a reasonable time. 49 B. 289 = 43 L. 56. An agreement to do an act impossible in itself is void.

A contract to do an act which, after the contract is made, becomes impossible, or, by reason of some event which the promisor could not prevent, unlawful, becomes void when the act becomes impossible or unlawful.

Where one person has promised to do something which he knew, or, with reasonable diligence, might have known, and which the promisee did not know to be impossible or unlawful, such promisor must make compensation to such promisee for any loss which such promisee sustains through the non-performance of the promise.

(b) A agrees to marry B, but B's marriage is prohibited by law. The agreement is void.

(c) A contracts to take in cargo for B at a foreign port. A's Government afterwards declares war against the country in which the port is situated. The contract becomes void when war is declared.

(d) A contracts to act at a theatre for six months in consideration of a sum, paid in advance by B. On several occasions A is too ill to act. The contract to act on those occasions becomes void.

Notes.—According to English law, a contract to do an act which becomes impossible in law after the contract is made becomes void when the Act becomes impossible, but a contract to do an act which becomes impossible in fact does not necessarily become void.

The parties, the second paragraph of the section, are certain that the contract is impossible; or they are not certain that the contract is impossible; or the facts are such that the contract is impossible, but they are not certain that the contract is impossible.

For the purpose of this section "impossible" may include what has become impracticable. 8 Ind. Cas. 565. But this section does not apply to a case, in which although the consideration of the contract is lost the performance of promise on the other side is still possible. 2 M. 187. Before a contract can be broken on the ground that the act to be done have become impossible, the Court must be very sure that they are physically impossible. (b) A owes B 10,000 rupees. A enters into an arrangement with B, and gives B a mortgage of his (A’s) estate for 5,000 rupees in place of the debt of 10,000 rupees. This is a new contract and extinguishes the old.

(c) A owes B 1,000 rupees under a contract. B owes C 1,000 rupees. B orders A to credit C with 1,000 rupees in his books, but C does not assent to the arrangement. B still owes C 1,000 rupees, and no new contract has been entered into.

Notes.—This section is but a legislative expression of the common law; and its provisions do not apply after there has been a breach of the original contract. The parties may make a new contract in substitution of the old contract or may rescind or alter the old contract, and if they do so while the original contract is subsisting and unbroken, the original contract need not be performed, 15 C. 319. Notes.—This section not only modifies but is in direct antagonism to the law in England, 15 C. 319. The section is intended to apply to cases where the whole contract has been supplanted by a new one but to cases where the old contract subsists but there is a voluntary remission of performance of some promise in it, for example, a remission of part of the debt at the time when it becomes payable. Section 63 will not cover a case of a binding promise to dispense with or remit performance in the future unless that waiver is made the subject of a fresh contract because then s. 92 of the Evidence Act will stand in the way.

CHAPTER VI.

OF THE CONSEQUENCES OF BREACH OF CONTRACT.

73. When a contract has been broken, the party who suffers by such breach is entitled to receive, from the party who has broken the contract, compensation for any loss or damage caused to him thereby, which naturally arose in the usual course of things from such breach, or which the parties knew, when they made the contract, to be likely to result from the breach of it.

Such compensation is not to be given for any remote and indirect loss or damage sustained by reason of the breach.

When an obligation resembling those created by contract has been incurred and has not been discharged, any person injured

Compensation for failure to discharge obligation resembling those created by contract.
Illustrations.

(a) A contracts to sell and deliver 50 maunds of saltpetre to B, at a certain price to be paid on delivery. A breaks his promise. B is entitled to receive from A, by way of compensation, the sum, if any, by which the contract price falls short of the price saltpetre of like quality at the time there taken on board, on the first of January, going it to Calcutta, the freight to be paid from Bombay, but A has opportunities of terms as advantageous as those on presentation of those opportunities, but is put to receive compensation from B in rice, no time being the rice if tendered, the amount, if any, the rice at the time when A informs B that he will not accept it.

(b) A contracts to buy B's ship for 60,000 rupees, but breaks his promise. A must pay B, by way of compensation, the price which B can obtain for the ship at the time when it actually arrived.

(c) A, the owner of a boat, contracts for sale at that place, starting on a specified day, the boat, owing to some unavoidable cause, does not start at the time appointed, whereby the arrival of the cargo at Mirzapur is delayed beyond the time when it would have arrived if the boat had sailed according to the contract. After that date, and before the arrival of the cargo, the compensation payable to B by A is the price at the time when it actually arrived.

(f) A contracts to repair B's house in a certain manner, and receives payment in advance of January, for a way of compensation, the price which B could hire a similar house. A, in consequence, loses a profitable contract with the Government. A is entitled to receive from B, by way of compensation, the average amount of profit which would have been made by the working of the mill during the time that delivery of it was delayed, but not the loss sustained through the loss of the Government contract.

(f) A, having contracted with B to supply him with 500 tons of iron at 100 rupees a ton, to be delivered at a stated time, contracts with C for the purchase of 500 tons of iron at 80 rupees a ton, telling C that he does so for the purpose of performing his contract with B. C fails to perform his contract with A, who cannot procure other iron, and B, in consequence, rescinds the contract. C must pay to A 20,000 rupees, being the profit which A would have made by the performance of his contract.
the difference between the contract price of the piece of machinery and the sum paid by B for another, but not the sum paid by B to the third person by way of compensation.

(i) A, a builder, contracts to erect and finish a house by the first of January, in order that B may give possession of it at that time to C, to whom B has contracted C A builds the house so has to be rebuilt by B, who,ived from C, and is obliged . A must make compensa-tion lost, and for the compensa-tion made to C

(ii) A sells certain merchandise to B, warranting it to be of a particular quality, and B, in reliance upon this warranty, sells it to C with a similar warranty The goods prove to be not according to the warranty, and B becomes liable to pay C a sum of money by way of compensation B is entitled to be reimbursed this sum by A.

(iii) B contracts to pay a sum of money to B on a day specified. A does not pay the money on that day. B in consequence of not receiving the money on that day, is unable to pay his debts, and is totally ruined. A is not liable to make good to B anything except the principal sum he contracted to pay, together with interest up to the day of payment.

(iv) A contracts to deliver 50 maunds of saltpetre to B on the first of July, at a certain price. Afterwards, before the first of January, contracts to sell the saltpetre to C at a price higher than the market price of the first of January. A breaks his promise in estimating the compensation payable by A to B, the market price of the first of January, and not the profit which would have arisen to B from the sale to C, is to be taken into account.

(v) A contracts to sell and deliver 500 bales of cotton to B on a fixed day. A knows nothing of B's mode of conducting his business. A breaks his promise, and B, having no cotton, is obliged to close his mill. A is not responsible to B for the loss caused to B by the closing of the mill.

(vi) A contracts to sell and deliver to B, on the first of January, certain cloth which B intends to manufacture into caps of a particular kind, for which there is no demand, except at that season. The cloth is not delivered till after the appointed time, and too late to be used that year in making caps. B is entitled to receive from A, by way of compensation, the difference between the contract price of the cloth and its market price at the time of delivery, but not the profits which he expected to obtain by making caps, nor the expenses which he has been put to in making preparations for the manufacture.

(vii) A, a ship-owner, contracts with B to convey him from Calcutta to Sydney in A's ship, sailing on the first of January, and B pays to A, by way of deposit, one-half of his passage-money. The ship does not sail on the 1st of January, and B, after being in consequence, detained in Calcutta for sometime, and thereby put to some expense, proceeds to Sydney in another vessel, and, in consequence, arriving too late in Sydney, loses a sum of money. A is liable to repay to B his deposit, with interest, and the expense to which he is put by his detention in Calcutta, and the excess, if any, of the passage money paid for the second ship over that agreed upon for the first, but not the sum of money which B lost by arriving in Sydney too late.

Notes.—This section not only confines the right of relief to the party who suffers but provides how his loss is to be measured, what it is to include and what to exclude, and what circumstances. The Court must take into account in estimating the loss. Hence in cases of breach of contract, it is not permissible to the aggrieved party to file a suit to recover the price of goods in dispute. Under the Indian Contract Act, the aggrieved party must sell the refused goods and then seek to recover the loss if any occurring on such rate. 11 Bom. L. R. 335 to Bom. L. R. 1113; 4 Bom. L. Explanation.—A stipulation for increased interest from the date of default may be a stipulation by way of penalty.

Exception.—When any person enters into any bail-bond, recognizance or other instrument of the same nature, or, under the provisions of any law, or under the orders of the Government of India or of any Local Government, gives any bond for the performance of any public duty or act in which the public are interested, he shall be liable, upon breach of the condition of any such instrument, to pay the whole sum mentioned therein.

Explanation.—A person who enters into a contract with Government does not necessarily thereby undertake any public duty, or promise to do an act in which the public are interested.

Illustrations.

(a) A contracts with B to pay B Rs. 1,000, if he fails to pay B Rs. 500 on a certain day he will pay a penalty of Rs. 1,000 with interest at 12 per cent. in case of default, interest shall be calculated from the date of default. This is a stipulation by way of penalty, and B is only entitled to recover from A such compensation as the Court considers reasonable.*

(b) A borrows Rs. 1,000 from B and gives him a bond for Rs. 200 payable by five yearly instalments of Rs. 40, with a stipulation that, in default of payment of any instalment the whole shall become due. This is a stipulation by way of penalty.*

Notes.—In cases of breach of contract covered by this section, the question is one of intention, and consideration is to be had as to whether the parties have ascertained the compensation due on a breach of the obligation contained therein, and as to whether the sum to be paid is “the sum named” in the contract as payable in case of breach. 105 P. R. 1887. The question whether the provision as to a higher rate of interest is to be treated as liquidated damages or as a penalty is a question of fact to be decided on a consideration of the whole instrument in each case. 51 P. R. 1879; 25 P. R. 1879. In the case of the breach of a penal contract the plaintiff is entitled under this section to reasonable compensation and not to the full amount fixed or agreed upon. 3 P. CHAPTER VIII.

OF INDEMNITY AND GUARANTER.

124. A contract by which one party promises to save the other from loss caused to him by the conduct of the promisor himself, or by the conduct of any other person, is called a "contract of indemnity."

Illustration

A contract to indemnify B against the consequences of any proceedings which C may take against B in respect of a certain sum of 200 rupees. This is a contract of indemnity.

Notes.—The Contract Act draws a distinction between contracts of indemnity and contracts of suretyship. So far as the contract of indemnity is concerned the person who indemnifies can, on payment or discharge of the obligation sued, but the suit in the absence of any assignment can only be in the name of the promisee. In such a case there is no direct right of action on the original contract to the person who indemnifies against the person whose contract has caused loss. In the case of a contract of indemnity it is not necessary that actual damage should be caused before the party affected can sue on it. In the case of a contract of indemnity the conditions required by the English law and the Contract Act for a contract of suretyship are also required for such a contract under the Hindu Law. There must be a creditor, a principal debtor and a guarantor or surety, who makes himself liable for the liability of the principal debtor. The relationship may be established by an agreement between the principal debtor and the surety to which the creditor is a party. This is the contract coming under s. 126. It may also be established by an agreement to which the creditor is not a party where there is a collateral contract between the surety and the principal debtor that one of them shall be liable on the default of the other. This is the contract under s. 132 of the Act. But where the contract between the surety and the creditor is not a collateral undertaking but creates an original liability as between those two parties then the contract is not one of surety but one of indemnity within this section of the Contract Act 46 Ind. Cas. 27 = 3 Pat. L. J. 396 = 4 Pat. L. W. 437; see also (1902) 1 K. B. 778; (1894) 2 Q. B. 885.

of indemnity, or if the promisor authorized him to bring or defend the suit;

(3) all sums which he may have paid under the terms of any compromise of any such suit, if the compromise was not contrary to the orders of the promisor, and was one which it would have been prudent for the promisee to make in the absence of any contract of indemnity, or if the promisor authorized him to compromise the suit.

Notes.—Promisee can recover costs properly incurred in resisting or ascertaining the claim to which indemnity relates. Promisor can not impeach a decree passed against promisee. 22 N. I. R. 49 = A. I. R. 1926 Nag 109. In the case of a contract of indemnity, a decree passed against a promisee cannot be impeached by the promisor. Costs reasonably incurred in resisting or concluding or ascertaining the claim can be recovered. 88 Ind. Cas. 699. This section does not contemplate the assessment of future damages, but refers to the amount which has been paid whether under compulsion of an adjudication or under the terms of a proper compromise of the suit.

128. A “contract of guarantee” is a contract to perform the promise, or discharge the liability, of a third person in case of his default. The person who gives the guarantee is called the “surety”; the person in respect of whose default the guarantee is given is called “the principal debtor,” and the person to whom the guarantee is given is called the “creditor.” A guarantee may be either oral or written.

Notes.—A mere recommendation by C that A should buy goods of B will not entail on C the consequences that might follow from his guaranteeing that A will not suffer any loss if he takes up B’s offer of sale. 97 Ind. Cas. 866. This section makes no difference between an oral and a written guarantee; the former being as equally binding as the latter. 17 A. L. J. 1068 = 51 Ind. Cas. 684. The word “liability” in this section means a liability which is enforceable at law, and if that liability does not exist there can not be a contract of guarantee. 42 B. 444 = 20 Bom. L. R. 447 = 46

B owes to C a debt guaranteed by A. The debt becomes payable. C does not sue B for a year after the debt has become payable. A is not discharged from his suretyship.

Notes.—The term "mere forbearance" in this section read with section 131 which is not to discharge the surety when the debt becomes due, 1902, 166. The forbearance during the period allowed by N. L. R. 42; U. B. R. (1896) vol. II. 308; 7 B. 145; 11 A. 210=A. W. N. 1889, 54; 20 M. L. J. 633=33 M. 338=8 M. L. T. 321=7 Ind. Cas. 398. Where claim is time barred as against principal debtor but not as against surety, surety is liable to pay debt and plaintiff is entitled to decree as against him.

138 The mere forbearance does not discharge the surety.

The principal debtor does not discharge the others; neither does it free the surety so released from his responsibility to the other sureties.

(a) B contracts to build a ship for C for a given sum, to be paid by instalments as the work reaches certain stages. A becomes surety to C for B's due performance of the contract. C, without the knowledge of A, prepays to B the last two instalments. A is discharged by this prepayment.
(b) C lends money to B on the security of a joint and several promissory note made in C's favour by B, and by A as surety for B, together with a bill of sale of B's furniture, which gives power to C, to sell the furniture, and apply the proceeds in discharge of the note. Subsequently, C sells the furniture, but, owing to his misconduct and wilful negligence, only a small price is realized. A is discharged from liability on the note.

(c) A puts M as apprentice to B, and gives a guarantee to B for M's fidelity. B promises on his part that he will, at least once a month, see M make up the cash. B omits to see this done as promised, and M embezzles. A is not liable to B on his guarantee.

Notes—When it is found that the creditor has done acts which are inconsistent with the rights of the surety and has also omitted to do certain acts which his duty to the surety requires him to do, and as a result of these acts and omissions the eventual remedy of the surety against the principal debtor is impaired, the surety is discharged from liability under this section, to the extent that he is deprived from recovering from the principal debtor the amount claimed by the creditor. 58 P. (b) C, a creditor, whose advance to B is secured by a decree, receives also a guarantee for that advance from A. C afterwards takes B's goods in execution under the decree, and then, without the knowledge of A, withdraws the execution. A is discharged.

(c) A, as surety for B, makes a bond jointly with B to C, to secure a loan from C to B. Afterwards, C obtains from B a further security for the same debt. Subsequently, C gives up the further security. A is not discharged.

A is not liable as a surety.

Notes.—"This law in India relating to contracts of guarantee is to be found in Chapter VIII of the Indian Contract Act of 1872, and the mistakes, which invalidate such contracts, are specified in sections 142 and 143. These mistakes must be occasioned either (a) by means of a representation made by the creditor or with his knowledge and assent concerning a material part of the transaction; or (b) by the creditor keeping silence as to a material circumstance." 144. Where a person gives a guarantee upon a contract that the creditor shall not act upon it until another person has joined in it as co-surety the guarantee is not valid if that other person does not join.

145. In every contract of guarantee there is an implied promise by the principal debtor to indemnify the surety; and the surety is entitled to recover from the principal debtor whatever sum he has rightfully paid under the guarantee, but no sums which he has paid wrongfully.

(a) B is indebted to C, and on his refusal to pay, A, on his refusal to do so, can recover from B.

(b) C lends B a sum of money, and A, at the request of B, accepts a bill of amount. C, the holder of the bill, sues B for the amount, and A, on the bill, defends the suit, and has to pay the from B the amount of the bill, but not for defending the action.

(c) A guarantees to C, to the extent of 2,000 rupees, payment for rice to be supplied by C to B. C supplies to B rice to a less amount than 2,000 rupees, but obtains from A payment of the sum of 2,000 rupees in respect of the rice supplied. A cannot recover from B more than the price of the rice actually supplied.

Notes — The expression "whatever sum he has rightfully paid" occurring in this section, includes not only coin, but also property of whatever kind which is parted with in lieu of money, but not the mere incurring of a pecuniary obligation to the creditor in lieu of discharge of the debt owing him. 26 M 322. Even where the Notes.—“According to the law of England, a claim for contribution is grounded on principles of natural justice and not on mutual contract express or implied, and inferred that Indian provides that in every principal debtor to indemnify the surety; but the Act has not provided in s. 146 or s. 147 or elsewhere that there is such a promise by one co-surety to the other.” 4 B. 321.

CHAPTER IX.

Cf. Bailment

148. A “bailment” is the delivery of goods by one person to another for some purpose, upon a contract that they shall, when the purpose is accomplished, be returned or otherwise disposed of according to the directions of the person delivering them. The person delivering the goods is called the "bailor". The person to whom they are delivered is called the "bailee.”

Explanation.—If a person already in possession of the goods of another contracts to hold them as a bailee, he thereby becomes the bailor, and the owner becomes the bailor, of such goods although they may not have been delivered by way of bailment.

Notes.—It is the pawner, and not an assignee from him that can give directions.

149. The delivery to the bailee may be made by doing anything which has the effect of putting the goods in the possession of the intended bailee or of any person authorized to hold them on his behalf.

150. The bailor is bound to disclose to the bailee faults in the goods bailed, of which the bailor is aware, and which materially interfere with the use of them, or expose the bailee to extraordinary risks; and, if he does not make such disclosure, he is responsible for damage arising to the bailee directly from such faults.

If the goods are bailed for hire, the bailor is responsible for such damage, whether he was or was not aware of the existence of such faults in the goods bailed.

(b) A hires a carriage of B. The carriage is unsafe, though B is not aware of it, and A is injured. B is responsible to A for the injury.

151. In all cases of bailment the bailee is bound to take as much care of the goods bailed to him as a man of ordinary prudence would, under similar circumstances, take of his own goods of the same bulk, quality and value as the goods bailed.

Notes.—Where articles bailed were actually stolen from the bailee's shop, notwithstanding he had taken care referred to in this section the bailee was held not liable for the loss. 90 P. R. 1000. Held, that the defendant's conduct showed that he took exactly the same care of the plaintiff's money as he did of his own. Termination of bailment by bailee's act inconsistent with conditions.

153. A contract of bailment is voidable at the option of the bailor, if the bailee does any act with regard to the goods bailed, inconsistent with the conditions of the bailment.

Illustration.

A lets to B, for hire, a horse for his own riding. B drives the horse in his carriage. This is, at the option of A, a termination of the bailment.

Notes—Where a pledgee, having power to sell for default, takes over as if upon a sale to himself, the property pledged, without the authority of the pledgor but crediting its value in account with him, this act, though an authorized conversion, does not put an end to the contract of pledge, so as to entitle the pledgor to have the property back without payment 19 C. 323 (P. C.).

154. If the bailee makes any use of the goods bailed, which is not according to the conditions of the bailment, he is liable to make compensation to the bailor for any damage arising to the goods from or during such use of them.

Illustrations.

(b) A hires a horse in Calcutta from B expressly to march to Benares. A rides with due care, but marches to Cuttack instead. The horse accidentally falls and is injured. A is liable to make compensation to B for the injury to the horse.

Notes.—Where a bailee uses a car bailed to him for his own purpose, he is liable for damages arising from such use 35 P. L. R. 705

155. If the bailee, with the consent of the bailor, mixes the goods of the bailor with his own goods, the bailor and the bailee shall have an interest, in proportion to their respective shares, in the mixture thus produced.

156. If the bailee, without the consent of the bailor, mixes the goods of the bailor with his own goods, and the goods can be separated, the property in the goods remains in the parties respectively; but the bailee is bound to bear the expense of separation or division, and any damage arising from the mixture.

Illustration

A bails 100 bales of cotton marked with a particular mark to B. B, without A's consent, mixes the 100 bales with other bales of his own, bearing a different mark. A is entitled to have his 100 bales returned, and B is bound to bear all the expense incurred in the separation of the bales, and any other incidental damage.

157. If the bailee, without the consent of the bailor, mixes the goods of the bailor with his own goods, in such a manner that it is impossible to separate the goods bailed from the other goods and deliver them back, the bailor is entitled to be compensated by the bailee for the loss of the goods.

Illustration.

A bails a barrel of Cape flour worth Rs. 45 to B. B, without A's consent, mixes the flour with country flour of his own, worth only Rs. 25 a barrel. B must compensate A for the loss of his flour.
158. Where, by the conditions of the bailment, the goods are to be kept or to be carried, or to have work done upon them by the bailee for the bailor, and the bailee is to receive no remuneration, the bailor shall repay to the bailee the necessary expenses incurred by him for the purpose of the bailment.

159. The lender of a thing for use may at any time require its return, if the loan was gratuitous, even though he lent it for a specified time or purpose. But, if, on the faith of such loan made for a specified time or purpose, the borrower has acted in such a manner that the return of the thing lent before the time agreed upon would cause him loss exceeding the benefit actually derived by him from the loan, the lender must, if he compels the return, indemnify the borrower for the amount in which the loss so occasioned exceeds the benefit so derived.

160. It is the duty of the bailee to return or deliver according to the bailor's directions, the goods bailed, without demand, as soon as the time for which they were bailed has expired, or the purpose for which they were bailed has been accomplished.

Termination of gratuitous bailment by death.

162. A gratuitous bailment is terminated by the death either of the bailor or of the bailee.

Notes — The Contract Act is not an exhaustive code with reference to the law of bailments. Bailments are of two kinds voluntary and involuntary. Where a depositary dies and the subject of the deposit passes into the hands of his heir, the latter becomes an involuntary bailee 26 C W N. 772. On death of baillee his estate is liable for loss caused to bailor on respect of goods bailed and the heir is a constructive trustee. 127 Ind. Cas. 567=A I. R. 1931 Oudh 15. The Act is not exhaustive as to bailments. When the baillee dies his heir who gains the subject of the bailment is also a bailee. 26 C W. N. 772=69 Ind. Cas. 509.

A leaves a cow in the custody of B to be taken care of. The cow has a calf. B is bound to deliver the calf as well as the cow to A.

Notes.—Where after shares, in a company, were pledged the company issued fresh shares and allotted them to the old shareholder taking the call money from the yearly dividend payable on the old shares, on which they had resolved to pay a fixed interest of 6 per cent. per annum. Held that the new shares were "increase of profit" within this section and the pledgee must return them to pledgor along with the old shares. 49 B. 223=86 Ind. Cas. 363 P. C.

164. The bailor is responsible to the bailee for any loss which the bailee may sustain by reason that the bailor was not entitled to make the bailment, or to receive back the goods or to give directions, respecting them.

165. If several joint owners of goods bail them, the bailee may deliver them back to, or according to the directions of, one joint owner without the consent of all, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary.

166. If the bailor has no title to the goods, and the bailee, in good faith, delivers them back to, or according to the directions of, the bailor, the bailee is not responsible to the owner in respect of such delivery.

Notes — Where one L, who was both a warehouseman and a cotton merchant used to be financed in the latter business by the defendant bank which did not know that he was a warehouseman (though this fact was known to a man in their employ), and pledged by L with the bank, and the cotton after being in the bank’s custody for some time was sold by L and passed out to him or to his order no claim having been made by the plaintiff to the cotton in the interval. Held in a suit by the plaintiff that the fact that the bank parted with the cotton deposited with them to or to the order of the person by whom it was deposited, without notice of any claim.
by any other person afforded a complete defence to the suit. 17 C. W. N. 358 = 24 M. L. J. 176 = 40 l. A. 1 = 37 B. 122 P. C.

167. If a person, other than the bailor, claims goods bailed, he may apply to the Court to stop the delivery of the goods to the bailor, and to decide the title to the goods.

168. The finder of goods has no right to sue the owner for compensation for trouble and expense voluntarily incurred by him to preserve the goods and to find out the goods against the owner until he receives such compensation; and, where the owner has offered a specific reward for the return of goods lost, the finder may sue for such reward, and may retain the goods until he receives it.

169. When a thing which is commonly the subject of sale is lost, if the owner cannot, with reasonable diligence be found, or if he refuses, upon demand, to pay the lawful charges of the finder, the finder may sell it—

(1) when the thing is in danger of perishing or of losing the greater part of its value, or,
(2) when the lawful charges of the finder, in respect of the thing found, amount to two-thirds of its value.

170. Where the bailee has, in accordance with the purpose of the bailment, rendered any service involving the exercise of labour or skill in respect of the goods bailed, he has, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, a right to retain such goods until he receives due remuneration for the services he has rendered in respect of them.

Illustrations.

(a) A delivers a rough diamond to B, a jeweller, to be cut and polished which is accordingly done. B is entitled to retain the stone till he is paid for the services he has rendered.
(b) A gives cloth to B, a tailor, to make into a coat. B promises A to deliver the coat as soon as it is finished, and to give a three months' credit for the price. B is not entitled to retain the coat until he is paid.

Notes—If the custody of goods does not involve the exercise of any labour or skill, a bailee will not in the absence of any express agreement be entitled to retain the goods till paid for his custody. 69 P. R. 1885 Section 170 makes provisions for those cases only in which goods have been given to a bailee for a purpose in connection with which the bailee has to use special skill. A lien is given to the bailee because he has used skill in improving the goods bailed. The case of a seller who keeps the things sold because the price has not been paid can never come within the purview of s. 170. A I. R. 1934 Oudh 380 = 11 O. W. N. 958; but see 53 C. 174 = 29 C. W. 171. Bankers, factors, wharfingers, attorneys of a High Court and policy-brokers may, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, retain, as a security for a general balance of account, any goods bailed to them; but no other persons have a right to retain, as a security for such balance, goods bailed to them, unless there is an express contract to that effect.
A particular lien is a right to retain property for a charge on account of labour employed or expenses bestowed upon the identical property detained. Only bankers, factors, wharfingers, attorneys or policy-brokers, can claim a general lien under this section. 13 B. 314. The word factor in India as in England means an agent entrusted with the possession of goods for the purpose of selling them for his principal. 92 Ind. Cas. 724=A. I. R. 1926 Oudh 202=27 Cr. L. Bailments of Pledges.

172. The bailment of goods as security for payment of a debt or performance of a promise is called “pledge.” The bailee in this case called the “pawner.” The bailor is called “the pawner.”

Notes—The mere taking of goods as security by the lender a pawn-broker. To show that a person carries on the security of goods pledged to him and that he on such security and is in the habit of doing so. 4 L. B. R. 8=6 C. R. L. J. 118. As regards difference between pledge and floating charge, vide 50 B. 547=96 Ind. Cas. 417=A. I. R. 1926 Bom. 427. The method provided by this section for hypothecation of loose chattels is not the only method for creating security thereon. They may be hypothecated without transferring their possession. In such cases the only question that arises is whether there was an intention to create a security, and if there was not an equitable mortgage which must under the law in India be registered. 138 Ind. Cas. 852=36 C. W. N.

C. C. H. Vol. I—51

173. The pawnee may retain the goods pledged, not only for payment of the debt or the performance of the promise, but for the interest of the debt, and all necessary expenses incurred by him in respect of the possession or for the preservation of the goods pledged.

Notes.—A pawn is not an equitable mortgage. It is a security intermediate between a simple loan and a mortgage which only passes the property in thing conveyed. 33 Ind. Cas. 891. It is essential to the contract of a pawn that the thing pledged should be actually or constructively delivered to the pawnee. The pawnee acquires a special property in the thing pledged. 33 Ind. Cas. 891.

174. The pawnee shall not, in the absence of a contract to that effect, retain the goods pledged for any debt or promise other than the debt or promise for which they are pledged; but such contract, in the absence of anything to the contrary, shall be presumed in regard to subsequent advances made by the pawnee.

175. The pawnee is entitled to receive from the pawnor extraordinary expenses incurred by him for the preservation of the goods pledged.

176. If the pawnor makes default in payment of the debt, or performance, at the stipulated time of the promise, in respect of which the goods were pledged, the pawnee may bring a suit against the pawnor upon the debt or promise, and retain the goods pledged as a collateral security; or he may sell the thing pledged, on giving the pawnor reasonable notice of the sale.

If the proceeds of such sale are less than the amount due in respect of the debt or promise, the pawnor is still liable to pay the balance. If the proceeds of the sale are greater than the amount so due, the pawnee shall pay over the surplus to the pawnor.

Notes.—This section requires a notice only when the pawnee wishes to exercise his option of selling the pledged goods. If he chooses to bring a suit upon the debt no notice is required by this section. 48 Ind. Cas. 262. The section does not contain actual date and an intimation could be arranged with; all that the time within which property must be not the goods sold.

16 A. I. R. 390 = 45 Ind. Cas. 462. This section gives a clear right to the pawnee to institute a suit independently of the pawn. 33 Ind. Cas. 891. To effect a pledge of government securities, it is necessary to endorse them, as mere delivery without endorsement gives no property in them for purposes of negotiation or sale. 33 Ind.

R. 1917 = 39 Ind. Cas. 169. Where no period was fixed for the repayment of the loan in order to enforce the right of sale the pawnee should prove (a) a demand for the amount due; (b) a default by the pawner; (c) a notice of sale giving reasonable time to the pawner to pay; and (d) an actual sale. 3 Lah, 271 = A. 177. If a time is stipulated for the payment of the debt, or performance of the promise, for which the pledge is made, and the pawner makes default in payment of the debt or performance of the promise at the stipulated time, he may redeem the goods pledged at any subsequent time before the actual sale of them; but he must, in that case, pay, in addition, any expenses which have arisen from his default.

Notes.—Where pledgor is unable to deliver property even before suit no tender is necessary. 30 M. L. W. 898 = A. I. R. 1930 Mad. 364 = 122 Ind. Cas. 37

178. Where a mercantile agent is, with the consent of the owner, in possession of goods or the documents of title to goods, any pledge made by him, when acting in the ordinary course of business of a mercantile agent, shall be as valid as if he were expressly authorised by the owner of the goods to make the same. Provided that the pawnee acts in good faith, and has not at the time of the pledge notice that the pawner has no authority to pledge.

Explanation.—In this section the expression “mercantile agent” and “documents of title” shall have the meanings assigned to them in the Indian Sale of Goods Act, 1930.

Notes.—To create a pledge under this section, the pledgor must be in the juridical possession of the goods, and mere custody will not suffice. 2 Bom. L. R. 403 = 24 B. 458. Pawnee must act with due care and attention in taking pledge. 134 Ind. A pledge of the documents of goods. A. I. R. 1934 P. 178A. When the pawner has obtained possession of the goods pledged by him under a contract voidable under section 19 or section 19A, but the contract has not been rescinded at the time of the pledge, the pawnee acquires a good title to the goods, provided he acts in good faith and without notice of the pawner’s defect of title.

* Substituted by Act 4 of 1930
† Added by Act 4 of 1930.

179. Where a person pledges goods in which he has only a limited interest, the pledge is valid to the extent of that interest.

Notes.—This section refers to certain cases where a pawnor has possession which is necessarily traceable to, and is an incident of a limited interest he had in the goods pledged. 27 M. 424. This section does not limit the scope of s. 178, but saves a pledge to the extent of the pledgor’s own interest notwithstanding the presence of invalidating conditions falling under one of the provisions to s. 179 = 40 Ind. Cas. 148 = 19 Bom. L. R. 325.

Suits by Bailees or Bailors against Wrong-doers.

180. If a third person wrongfully deprives the bailee of the use or possession of the goods bailed, or does them any injury, the bailee is entitled to use such remedies as the owner might have used in the like case if no bailment had been made; and either the bailor or the bailee may bring a suit against a third person for such deprivation or injury.

Notes.—Either the bailor or the bailee of a chattel may maintain an action in respect of it against a wrong-doer the latter by virtue of his possession and the former by reason of his property. Ramanath v. Putambar, 21 C. W. N 632; see also A. l. R. 1933 Bom 465.

Apportionment of relief or compensation obtained by such suits.

181. Whatever is obtained by way of relief or compensation in any such suit shall, as between the bailor and the bailee, be dealt with according to their respective interests.

CHAPTER X

AGENCY.

Appointment and Authority of Agents.

182. An “agent” is a person employed to do any act for another or to represent another in dealings with third persons. The person for whom such act is done, or who is so represented, is called the “principal.”
183. Any person who is of the age of majority according to the law to which he is subject, and who is of sound mind, may employ an agent.

Notes.—A person who appoints a minor his agent can not repudiate the agency on the ground of minority of the agent. A. I. R. 1928 Lah. 854.

184. As between the principal and third persons any person may become an agent, but no person who is not of the age of majority and of sound mind can become an agent, so as to be responsible to his principal according to the provisions in that behalf herein contained.

Notes.—When a minor, who was a member of a firm consisting of himself and his father applied for shares in a bank and paid an advance with the application whereupon shares were duly allotted to the firm by the bank Held that under this section the minor was competent to act on behalf of the firm and that it accordingly became liable on the shares. 17 P. L. R. 1918 = 38 P. W. R. 1918 = 45 Ind. Cas. 17; 2 All. 374 A. N. G. Nis guardian of the contract not negligence.

Consideration not necessary. 185. No consideration is necessary to create an agency.

Notes—114 Ind. Cas. 321.

Agent's authority may be expressed or implied. 186. The authority of an agent may be expressed or implied.

Notes.—By mere direction by C to A to pay money to B, B is not necessarily agent of C. A. I. R. 1915 Cal. 541. Where an agent, endowed with the widest powers and authorised to buy and sell property, to deal with Government and to pay revenue contracted a loan on behalf of his principal, and the latter did not repudiate the loan when it came to his knowledge, Held, that the principal was bound by the act of his agent and was liable for the repayment of the loan. 39 Ind. Cas. 225 = 1 Pat. L. W. 318. Husband is liable for wife's contracts if incurred while managing the household or for articles of necessity supplied to her. 116 Ind. Cas. 618. Sub-Agents.

190. An agent cannot lawfully employ another to perform acts which he has expressly or impliedly undertaken to perform personally, unless by the ordinary custom of trade the nature of the agency, a sub-agent must, be employed.

Notes.—Agent for sale—Appointment of sub-agent—Contract—Right to implement—Lien of agent—Retainer. 1923 Rang 84; see also 39 M. 365; 42 Ch. D. 424; 1911 A C. 105; 1912 A C 673.

191. A "sub-agent" is a person employed by, and acting under the control of, the original agent in the business of the agency.

"Sub-agent" defined.

Notes—Authority to appoint sub-agent may be presumed from facts and the nature of the agency. 77 Ind. Cas. 920.

192. Where a sub-agent is properly appointed, the principal is so far as regards third persons, represented by the sub-agent, and is bound by and responsible for his acts, as if he were an agent originally appointed by the principal.

Agent's responsibility for sub-agent.

The agent is responsible to the principal for the acts of the sub-agent.

Sub-agent's responsibility

The sub-agent is responsible for his acts to the agent, but not to the principal, except in case of fraud or wilful wrong.

Notes—Where the defendants are sub-agents of A & Co, who are the agents of the plaintiffs, under this section there is no privy of contract between the defendants and the plaintiffs 27 M L J. 501; 26 Ind Cas 822 The liability of an agent to the principal extends to sub-agent's fraud. 43 Ind Cas 697=19 Bom L R. 948; 127 Ind. Cas. 529; 126 Ind. Cas. 473

193. Where an agent, without having authority to do so, has appointed a person to act as a sub-agent, the agent stands towards such person in the relation of a principal to an agent, and is responsible for his acts both to the principal and to third persons, the principal is not represented by or responsible for the acts of the persons so employed, nor is that person responsible to the principal.

Notes.—Where an agent is employed to conduct business and the custom of the trade empowers him in the conduct of such business to employ a sub-agent or where the nature of the business is such that he must employ a sub-agent, he has authority to do so. 43 Ind. Cas. 697=19 Bom. L. R. 948.

194. Where an agent, holding an express or implied authority to name another person to act for the principal in the business of the agency, has named another person accordingly, such person is not a sub-agent, but an agent of the principal for such part of the business of the agency as is entrusted to him.

Illustrations.

195. In selecting such agent for his principal, an agent is bound to exercise the same amount of discretion as a man of ordinary prudence would exercise in his own case; and, if does this he is not responsible to the principal for the acts or negligence of the agent so selected.

Illustrations.

(a) A instructs B, a merchant, to buy a ship for him. B employs a ship surveyor of good reputation to choose a ship for A. The surveyor makes the choice negligently, and the ship turns out to be unseaworthy and is lost; B is not, but the surveyor, is responsible to A.

(b) A consigns goods to B, a merchant, for sale. B, in due course, employs an auctioneer in good credit to sell the goods of A, and allows the auctioneer to receive the proceeds of the sale. The auctioneer afterwards becomes insolvent without having accounted for the proceeds. B is not responsible to A for the proceeds.

Ratification.

196. Where acts are done by one person on behalf of another, but without his knowledge or authority, he may elect to ratify or to disown such acts. If he ratifies them, the same effects will follow as if they had been performed by his authority.

Notes.—The rule, which is recognised in this section is that ratification in the Notes.—An agency for sale of goods does not terminate on receipt of the price by the agent, inasmuch as, under s. 218, there is a subsequent obligation on the part of the agent to account for the sums and to pay them to the principal nor does it terminate when the principal obtains knowledge of the agent's breach of duty. 12 A. 541. Compensation for revocation by principal or renunciation by agent

205. Where there is an express or implied contract that the agency should be continued for any period of time, the principal must make compensation to the agent, or the agent to the principal, as the case may be, for any previous revocation or renunciation of the agency without sufficient cause.

Notes.—Under this section, in the absence of any express contract the period of time to be implied depends on the particular circumstances of the cases.

206. Reasonable notice must be given of such revocation or renunciation; otherwise the damage thereby resulting to the principal or the agent, as the case may be, must be made good to the one by the other.

Agent's Duty to Principal.

211. An agent is bound to conduct the business of his principal according to the directions given by the principal, or, in the absence of any such directions, according to the custom which prevails in doing business of the same kind at the place where the agent conducts such business. When the agent acts otherwise, if any loss be sustained, he must make it good to his principal, and, if any profit accrues, he must account for it.

212. An agent is bound to conduct the business of the agency with as much skill as is generally possessed by persons engaged in similar business, unless the principal has notice of his want of skill. The agent is always bound to act with reasonable diligence, and to use such skill as he possesses and to make compensation to his principal in respect of the direct consequences of his own neglect, want of skill or misconduct, but not in respect of loss or damage which are indirectly or remotely caused by such neglect, want of skill or misconduct.

In the absence of an agreement, an agent is entitled to retain goods, papers, and other property, whether movable or immovable, of the principal received by him, until the amount due to himself for commission, disbursements and services in respect of the same has been paid or accounted for to him.

Notes.—In so far as the expenditure incurred for a lien, and s. 149 of the Companies Act does not authorise the Court to deprive the agent between a company and its agent of his lien, the agent is entitled to a lien.

Principal's Duty to Agent.

for breach of contract. B informs A of the suit, and A authorizes him to defend the suit. B defends the suit, and is compelled to pay damages and costs, and incurs expenses. A is liable to B for such damages, costs and expenses.

(2) B, a broker at Calcutta, by the orders of A, a merchant there, contracts with C for the purchase of ten casks of oil for A. Afterwards A refuses to receive the oil, and C sues B. B informs A, who repudiates the contract altogether. B defends, but unsuccessfully, and has to pay damages and costs, and incurs expenses. A is liable to B for such damages, costs and expenses.

Notes.—A suit by a commission agent against his principal is governed by Art 83 of the Limitation Act. 59 P. L. R. 1918—46 Ind. Cas. 541. A broker is an agent to find a contracting party, and as long as he adheres strictly to his position as broker, his contract is one of employment between him and the person who employs him and not a contract of sale or purchase with the party with whom he in the course of such employment deals. 19 C. THE CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT, 1912.

ACT NO. 11 OF 1912.

RECEIVED THE ASSENT OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL ON THE 1ST MARCH, 1912.

An Act to amend the law relating to Co-operative Societies.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to facilitate the formation of Co-operative Societies for the promotion of thrift and self-help among agriculturists, artisans and persons of limited means, and for that purpose to amend the law relating to Co-operative Societies; it is hereby enacted as follows:—

Object of the Legislation.—Legislation is called for not only in order to lay down the fundamental conditions which must be observed but also with a view to giving Co-operative Societies a corporate existence without resort to the elaborate provisions of the Companies Act; but it is thought that legislation should be confined within the narrowest possible limits. The bill has, therefore, been drawn so as to deal only with those points which the Government consider to be essential, and its provisions have been expressed in simple and general terms, a wide rule-making power being reserved to Local Governments, so that what is left to be of the nature of an experiment may be tried in each province or part of province on such lines as seem to afford most promise of success—Statement of Objects and Reasons.

Defects of Co-operative Societies Act of 1904—(i) The Act of 1904 applied to societies for the purpose of Co-operative Credit only and not to Co-operative Societies of other kinds, such as those established for production or distribution. It has in practice been found that the establishment of Credit Societies has led to the founding of other classes of Co-operative Societies also, and it is advisable that the privileges extended by the Act to Co-operative Credit Societies should be extended as now revised to Co-operative Societies of other kinds.

... they were "Urban" rule rural societies was adopted mainly commended and put a parts of India, but has in practice been found artificial and inconvenient. The real distinction is between Societies with limited and those with unlimited liability, and it is proposed in the new Bill to maintain this distinction only while retaining the principle that Agricultural Credit Society must as a general rule be with unlimited liability.

(ii) The Act of 1904 did not contemplate that Societies with unlimited liability should distribute profits. It is still felt that such Societies do not represent the best form of Co-operation for agricultural communities but this form of society has, in practice, been for some time in existence in several provinces, and Societies of the recognised to be capable of useful give them undue encouragement, it unlimited society, with the sanct-

(iv) A cardinal principle which is observed in the organization of Co-operative Societies in Europe is the grouping of such Societies into unions and then financing by means of Central Banks. This stage of Co-operation has not been fully realised but such grouping of Societies has already been and it is now considered desirable to legalise it Societies of which the members shall be other Co-operative Credit Societies.—Statements of Objects and Reasons.

Interpretation.—It should be strictly construed. A I. R. 1931 Lah. 631.

Registration.

3. The Local Government may appoint a person to be Registrar of Co-operative Societies for the Province or any portion of it, and may appoint persons to assist such Registrar, and may, by general or special order, confer on any such persons all or any of the powers of a Registrar under this Act.

Notes.—In this section provision has been made for investing in persons, other than Registrars, the power of a Registrar—Vide Statement of Objects and Reasons.

4. Subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, a society which has as its object the promotion of the economic interests of its members in accordance with co-operative principles, or a society established with the object of facilitating the operations of such a society, may be registered under this Act with or without limited liability:

Provided that unless the Local Government by general or special order otherwise directs—

(i) the liability of a society of which a member is a registered society shall be limited:

(ii) the liability of a society of which the object is the creation of funds to be lent to its members, and of which the majority of the members are agriculturists, and of which no member is a registered society, shall be unlimited.

Notes.—Under the Indian Companies Act a foreign corporation cannot be registered Bulkeley v Schutt, L. R. 3 C. P. 764; Balme v Service, (1881) A. C. 386 A decree obtained against Co-operative Society cannot be executed against members in their individual capacity. 150 Ind Cas 172=39 L. W. 143=1934 M. W. N. 339=A. I. R. 1934 Mad. 181

Restrictions on interest of member of society with limited liability and a share capital

5. Where the liability of the members of a society is limited by shares, no member other than a registered society shall—

(a) hold more than such portion of the share capital of the society, subject to a maximum of one-fifth, as may be prescribed by the rules, or

(b) have or claim any interest in the shares of the society exceeding one thousand rupees.

6. (1) No society, other than a society of which a member is a registered society, shall be registered under this Act which does not consist of at least ten persons above the age of eighteen years and, where the object of the society is the creation of funds to be lent to its members, unless such persons—

(a) reside in the same town or village or in the same group of villages; or,

(b) save where the Registrar otherwise directs, are members of the same tribe, class, caste or occupation.

(a) The word "limited" shall be the last word in the name of every society with limited liability registered under this Act.

Notes.—In this section provision is made to maintain the existing restrictions as to residence or class obligatory before registration in the case of Credit Soc' and to render the existence of ten members obligatory before registration in the case of all kinds of Co-operative Societies other than those, all the members of which are given the power of the same occupation.

7. When any question arises whether for the purposes of this Act a person is an agriculturist or a non-agriculturist, or whether any person is a resident in a town or village or group of villages, or whether two or more villages shall be considered to form a group, or whether any person belongs to any particular tribe, class, caste or occupation, the question shall be decided by the Registrar, whose decision shall be final.

Notes.—In these matters the decision of the Registrar is final and no suit lies in a civil Court against his decision.

8. (1) For purposes of registration an application for registration an application to register shall be made to the Registrar.

(2) The application shall be signed—
(a) in the case of a society of which no member is a registered society, by at least ten persons qualified in accordance with the requirements of section 6, sub section (1); and
(b) in the case of a society of which a member is a registered society, by a duly authorized person on behalf of every such registered society, and where all the members of the society are not registered societies, by ten other members or, when there are less than ten other members, by all of them.

(3) The application shall be accompanied by a copy of the proposed by-laws of the society, and the persons by whom or on whose behalf such application is made shall furnish such information in regard to the society as the Registrar may require.

Notes.—This section corresponds to section 9 of the Friendly Societies Act, 1896.

9. If the Registrar is satisfied that a society has complied with the provisions of this Act and the rules and that its proposed by-laws are not contrary to the Act or to the rules, he may, if he thinks fit, register the society and its by-laws.

Notes.—This section giving conclusive authority to the Registrar's certificate of registration as new.—Statement of Objects and Reasons

10. A certificate of registration signed by the Registrar shall be conclusive evidence that the society therein mentioned is duly registered unless it is proved that the registration of the society has been cancelled.

11. (1) No amendment of the by-laws of a registered society shall be valid until the same has been registered under this Act, for which purpose a copy of the amendment shall be forwarded to the Registrar.

(2) If the Registrar is satisfied that any amendment of the by-laws is not contrary to this Act or to the rules, he may, if he thinks fit, register the amendment.
(3) When the Registrar registers an amendment of the by-laws of a registered society, he shall issue to the society a copy of the amendment certified by him, which shall be conclusive evidence that the same is duly registered.

Notes.—By this section it is provided that no amendment of a rule shall be valid until it has been registered. In connection with a similar provision in the Friendly Societies Act, in Bailey v. Townrow, (1814) 4 Camp 5, Lord Ellenborough, observed: "The section which permits an alteration of rules, provides that such alteration should be subject to the review of the justices and shall have no force or effect until confirmed by them." So where the altered rules were never enrolled, the rules as altered cannot legally be acted upon. R. v. Gadolphin, 8 A. & E. 383; see also R. v. Cotton, 15 Q. B. 569; Meredith v. Wilttingham, 1 C. B. N. S. 216; Dewhurst v. Clarkson, 3 El. & Bl. 194; Smith v. Gelleway, (1898) 1 Q. B. 71.

Rights and liabilities of members.

12. No member of a registered society shall exercise the rights of a member unless or until he has made such payment to the society in respect of membership or acquired such interest in the society, as may be prescribed by the rules or by-laws.

13. (1) Where the liability of the members of a registered society is not limited by shares, each member shall, notwithstanding the amount of his interest in the capital, have one vote only as a member in the affairs of the society.

(a) Where the liability of the members of a registered society is limited by shares, each member shall have as many votes as may be prescribed by the by-laws.

As There

propriety or impropriety of the motive is immaterial, Pender v. Lushington, Ibid. Prima facie, there is no right to vote by proxy, for the common law does not recognize any such mode of voting. But where such power is given by the Act or by the law, a vote by proxy is allowed.—Vide Palmer's Company Law, p. 172.

14. (1) The transfer or charge of the share or interest of a member in the capital of a registered society shall be subject to such conditions as to maximum holding as may be prescribed by this Act or by the rules.

(a) In case of a society registered with unlimited liability a member shall not transfer any share held by him or his interest in the capital of the society or any part thereof unless—

(b) the transfer or charge is made to the society or to a member of the society.

Notes.—In Bennet v. Slater, (1899) 1 Q. B. C. A. in connection with the Friendly Societies Act, 1875, Vaughan Williams L. J. said: "In this case the question really raised is whether or not a policy issued by a Friendly Society governed by the Act of 1875, is or is not assignable, and I have come to the conclusion that it is assignable. Where a policy is taken out for a sum of money which is payable to the member who takes out the policy, or his personal representative, by virtue of the contract entered into, no one will deny for a moment that such a sum of money, prima facie, is part of the property of the member or the estate of the deceased member, as the case may be, therefore we must find something in the Act of 1875 or in the rules of the society, which prevents this particular property having this ordinary incident of property. Now it is admitted on both sides that there is whatever in either Act of Parliament or the rules which expressly prevents the moneys payable under this policy, or the policy itself, from being assignible. If, therefore, the policy is not assignible it must be from some implication arising out of the statute'. So there must be some restriction as regards transfer in the section.

Duties of registered societies.

15. Every registered society shall have an address, registered in accordance with the rules, to which all notices and communications may be sent, and shall send to the Registrar notice of every change thereof.

Notes—This section corresponds to section 72 of the Indian Companies Act. The registered office need not be and very commonly is not, in the exclusive occupation of the company, and no part of the company’s business need be carried on there—Rustomjee’s Companies Act, p. 89.

16. Every registered society shall keep a copy of this Act and of the rules governing such society, and of its by-laws, open to inspection free of charge at all reasonable times at the registered address of the society.

17. (1) The Registrar shall audit or cause to be audited by some person authorized by him by general or special order in writing in this behalf the accounts of every registered society once at least in every year.

(2) The audit under sub-section (1) shall include an examination of overdue debts, if any, and a valuation of the assets and liabilities of the society.

(3) The Registrar, the Collector or any person authorized by general or special order in writing in this behalf by the Registrar shall at all times have access to all the books, accounts, papers and securities of a society, and every officer of the society shall furnish such information in regard to the transactions and working of the society as the person making such inspection may require.

Notes.—To the previous statement of the true facts, confined to that. But then comes the question, how is he to ascertain the position? The answer is by examining the books of the company. But he does not discharge his duty by doing this without enquiry and without taking any trouble to see that the books themselves show the company’s true position. (1896) 2 Ch 234.

Privileges of registered societies.

18. The registration of a society shall render it a body corporate by the name under which it is registered, with perpetual succession and a common seal, and with power to hold property, to enter into contracts, to institute and defend suits and other legal proceedings and to do all things necessary for the purposes of its constitution.

Notes.—The Chairman of a Co-operative Credit Society has no right to institute a suit against a member of the society under the Co-operative Credit Societies Act, in his own name. The suit should be one by the society under s. 6, cl. 2 of Act X of 1904. A suit in the name of the chairman must fail. 10 Ind Cas. 570. A society cannot bring a suit for defamation. In Hill v. Hart Davies, (1882) 21 Ch D. 798, Key v. said: “I have no doubt whatever about it. It seems to me that it is perfectly settled that any libel which is calculated to injure another man in his trade, or a trading company, will be restrained by injunction, and although there has Friendly Society or Joint Stock company, I have not least doubt that it is as applicable to the case of a Friendly Society or a Joint Stock Company as it is to an individual trader, because everybody who has the least knowledge of what goes on in the world, and particularly of what goes on in a Court of Justice, must be perfectly well aware that nothing is more sensitive to evil report and to false statements than a society like a Friendly Society or a Joint Stock Company, and if a libel 3 him in his business can be and to me a fortiori that a libel ness should also be restrained by to render it a body corporate. The remedy of a creditor in sections 36 and 39 and the exception right of Government under § 44 to have direct recourse against the members demonstrates the general rule to the contrary. 12 Pat. L. T. 619 = A. I. R. 1931 Pat. 321. (F. B.) = 12 P. L. T. 619 = 134 Ind. Cas. 421.

19. Subject to any prior claim of the Government in respect of land-revenue or any money recoverable as land-revenue or of a landlord in respect of rent or any money recoverable as rent, a registered society shall be entitled in priority to other creditors to enforce any outstanding demand due to the society from a member or past member—

(a) in respect of the supply of seed or manure or of the loan of money for the purchase of seed or manure—upon the crops or other agricultural produce of such member or person at any time within eighteen months from the date of such supply or loan;

(b) in respect of the supply of cattle, fodder for cattle, agricultural or industrial implements or machinery, or raw materials for manufacture, or of the loan of money for the purchase of any of the foregoing things—upon any such things so supplied, or purchased in whole or in part from any such loan, or on any articles manufactured from raw materials so supplied or purchased.

Notes.—This section extends from one year to 18 months the term of lien on agricultural products and permits a lien on articles manufactured from raw materials supplied by or with the help of registered society. Statement of Objects and Reasons. An application made under section 73 of the Code of Civil Procedure a registered Co-operative Society cannot enforce its prior claim within the meaning of this section as against a judgment-creditor at whose instance property is going to be sold if they have no decree or a charge under section 20 of the said Act. Other remedies may still be open to such society. 18 C. W. N. 1140. Musical instruments cannot be described as 'Industrial implements' or machinery within the meaning of this section, nor do they come within any other part of the category of articles referred to in that section. 38 Ind. Cas. 414. The money advanced by a Co-operative Credit Society registered under this Act for purchasing fat to be sold at a profit, out of which no other commodity is to be manufactured is not a charge upon it (fat) as under these circumstances it cannot be called "raw material" within the purview of s. 19 (b) of the Act. 39 Ind. Cas. 373 = 19 P. L. R. 1917 = 3 P. W. R. 1917.

20. A registered society shall have a charge upon the share or interest in, the capital and on the deposits of a member or past member and upon any dividend, bonus or profits payable to a member or past member in respect of any debt due from such member or past member to the society, and may set off any sum credited or payable to a member or past member in or towards payment of any such debt of the Code of Civil Procedure its prior claim within the whose instance property is under section 20 of this Act. C. W. N. 1140. So long as a Co-operative Society is carrying on business, it cannot be held to be precluded from exercising the right of set-off mentioned in this section. In re Gwastwy Gweithy v. Industrial and Provident Society, Davy v. Morgan, (1901) 2 K. B. 477.
21. Subject to the provisions of section 20, the share or interest of a member in the capital of a registered society shall not be liable to attachment or sale under any decree or order of a Court of Justice in respect of any debt or liability incurred by such member, and neither the Official Assignee under the Presidency towns Insolvency Act, 1909, nor a Receiver under the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907 shall be entitled to or have any claim on such share or interest.

22. (1) On the death of a member a registered society may transfer the share or interest of the deceased member to the person nominated in accordance with the rules made in this behalf, or, if there is no person so nominated, to such person as may appear to the committee to be the heir or legal representative of the deceased member, or pay to such nominee, heir or legal representative, as the case may be, a sum representing the value of such member's share or interest, as ascertained in accordance with the rules or by laws:

Provided that—

(i) in the case of a society with unlimited liability, such nominee, heir or legal representative, as the case may be, may require payment by the society of the value of the share or interest of the deceased member ascertained as aforesaid;

(ii) in the case of a society with limited liability, the society shall transfer the share or interest of the deceased member to such nominee, heir or legal representative, as the case may be, being qualified in accordance with the rules and by-laws for membership of the society, or on his application within one month of the death of the deceased member to any person specified in the application, who is so qualified.

(2) A registered society may pay all other moneys due to the deceased member from the society to such nominee, heir or legal representative, as the case may be.

(3) All transfers and payments made by a registered society in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be valid and effectual against any demand made upon the society by any other person.

Notes.—According to s. 58 of the English Friendly Societies Act, 1869, in default of nomination by a member, a society may distribute any sum not exceeding one hundred pounds on his death intestate, "without letters of administration, amongst such persons as appear to a majority of the trustees (or in an industrial and provident society, the committee of management) to be entitled by law to, or excess of the provisions of s. 22, proviso, the death of a member his share or interest, who is qualified under the Act even though he has not been duly elected as such as provided by by-law Rule 17 (b) A. I. R. 1934 Cal. 537 = 38 C. W. N. 459 = A. L. R. 1934 Cal. 569 = 151 Ind. Cas. 165.

The power of the committee to distribute the property is entirely discretionary, and they cannot be compelled by action to exercise their discretion. Etrist v. Tadmorden Co-operative Society. (1898) 1 Q. B. 461.

23. The liability of a past member for the debts of a registered society as they existed at the time when he ceased to be a member shall continue for a period of two years from the date of his ceasing to be a member.

24. The estate of a deceased member shall be liable for a period of one year from the time of his decease for the debts of a registered society as they existed at the time of his decease.
Notes.—Section 24 cannot be called to aid except in liquidation proceedings under this section. S. Ind. Cas., 964. The provisions of this section are only applicable to S. 42 of 24 & 25.

25. Any register or list of members or shares kept by any registered society shall be prima facie evidence of any of the following particulars entered therein:

(a) the date at which the name of any person was entered in such register or list as a member;
(b) the date at which any such person ceased to be a member.

Notes.—This section is Provident Societies Act.
Reasons.

26. A copy of any entry in a book of a registered society regularly kept in the course of business, shall, if certified in such manner as may be prescribed by the rules, be received, in any suit or legal proceeding, as prima facie evidence of the existence of such entry, and shall be admitted as evidence of the matters, transactions and accounts therein recorded in every case where, and to the same extent as, the original entry itself is admissible.

Notes.—This section is also based on provisions in the English Industrial and Provident Societies Act. It provides for proof of entries in the books of a registered society.

Exemption from compulsory registration of instruments relating to shares and debentures of registered society.

27. Nothing in section 17, sub-section (1), clauses (b) and (c), of the Indian Registration Act, *1908, shall apply to—

(1) any instrument relating to shares in a registered society, notwithstanding that the assets of such society consists in whole or in part of immovable property; or
(2) any debenture issued by any such society and not creating, declaring, assigning, limiting or extinguishing any right, title or interest to or in immovable property except in so far as it entitles the holder to the security afforded by a registered instrument whereby the society has mortgaged, conveyed or otherwise transferred the whole or part of its immovable property or any interest therein to trustees upon trust for the benefit of the holders of such debentures; or
(3) any endorsement upon or transfer of any debenture issued by any such society.

Notes.—Various facilities are given in this Act to encourage Co-operative Societies.

Power to exempt from income-tax, stamp-duty and registration-fees

28. ¶(1) The Governor General in Council by notification in the Gazette of India may, in the case of any registered society or class of registered society, remit the income-tax payable in respect of the profits of the society, or of the dividends or other payments received by the members of the society on account of profits;

(2) The Local Government, in the case of any registered society or class of registered society, remit:

(a) the stamp duty with which, under any law for the time being in force, instruments executed by or on behalf of a registered society or by an officer or member and relating to the business of such society, or any class of such instruments, are respectively chargeable; and

(5) any fee payable under the law of registration for the time being in force.*

Notes.—By s. 33 of the Friendly Societies Act, 1896, societies registered under that act are entitled to certain exemption from stamp duty; see also Royal Liver Friendly Society, L. R. 5 Ex. 78.

Property and funds of registered societies.

29. (1) A registered society shall not make a loan to any person other than a member:

Provided that, with the general or special sanction of the Registrar, a registered society may make loans to another registered society.

(2) Save with the sanction of the Registrar, a society with unlimited liability shall not lend money on the security of moveable property.

(3) The Local Government may, by general or special order, prohibit or restrict the lending of money on mortgage of immovable property by any registered society or class of registered societies.

Notes.—A by-law of a Co-operative society to the effect that the Society shall not sell goods on credit to a non-member cannot have the force of law but can be money paid under implied contract to repay. 96 Ind. Cas. 95.

30. A registered society shall receive deposits and loans from persons who are not members only to such extent and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the rules or by-laws.

Notes.—By this section it is made clear that a registered society is not precluded from receiving deposits from non-members. Statement of Objects and Reasons.

31. Save as provided in sections 29 and 30, the transactions of a registered society with persons other than members shall be subject to such prohibitions and restrictions, if any, as the Local Government may, by rules, prescribe

Investment of funds

32. (1) A registered society may invest or deposit its funds—

(a) in the Government Savings Bank, or
(b) in any of the securities specified in section 29 of the Indian Trusts Act 1882, or
(c) in the shares or on the security of any other registered society, or
(d) with any bank or person carrying on the business of banking, approved for this purpose by the Registrar, or
(e) in any other mode permitted by the rules.

(2) Any investments or deposits made before the commencement of this Act which would have been valid if this Act had been in force are hereby ratified and confirmed.

this section. —
Funds not to be divided by 33. No part of the funds of a registered society shall be divided by way of bonus or dividend or otherwise among its members:

Provided that after at least one-fourth of the net profits in any year has been carried to a reserve fund, payments from the remainder of such profits from any profits of past years available for distribution may be made to the members to such extent and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the rules or by-laws:

Provided also that in the case of a society with unlimited liability no distribution of profits shall be made without the general or special order of the Government in this behalf.

Notes.—After keeping a reserve of 25 p. c. of the profit the remainder may be distributed among the members in accordance with the rule of the society.

34. Any registered society may, with the sanction of the Registrar, after Contribution to charitable purpose.

one-fourth of the net profits in any year has been carried to a reserve fund, contribute an amount not exceeding ten per cent. of the remaining net profits, as defined in section 2 of the Charitable Vrnents Act, 1890."

Notes.—This provision allowing contributions to charities is new—Statement of Objects and Reasons.

Inspection of affairs.

35. (1) The Registrar may, of his own motion, and shall on the request of the Collector, or on the application of a majority of the committee, or of not less than one-third of the members, hold an inquiry or direct some person authorized by him by order in writing in this behalf to hold an inquiry into the constitution, working and financial condition of a registered society.

(2) All officers and members of the society shall furnish such information in regard to the affairs of the society as the Registrar or the person authorized by the Registrar may require.

Notes.—This section allows a registrar to conduct an enquiry by deputy—Statement of Objects and Reasons.

36. (1) The Registrar shall, on the application of a creditor of a registered society, inspect or direct some person authorized by him by order in writing in this behalf to inspect the books of the society:

Provided that—

(a) the applicant satisfies the Registrar that the debt is a sum then due, and that he has demanded payment thereof and has not received satisfaction within a reasonable time; and

(b) the applicant deposits with the Registrar such sum as security for the costs of the proposed inspection as the Registrar may require.

(2) The Registrar shall communicate the results of any such inspection to the creditor.

Notes.—This provision of allowing a creditor to require an inspection is new. It is based on a similar provision in the Companies Act—vide Statement of Objects and Reasons.

37. Where an inquiry is held under section 35, or an inspection is made under section 36, the Registrar may apportion the costs, or such part of the costs as he may think right, between the society, the members or creditor demanding an inquiry or inspection, and the officers or former officers of the society.

* VI of 1890.
Notes—The party at fault should bear the costs, as is like the order of a Court and can be enforced having jurisdiction in the place where the person actually and voluntarily resides or carries on business. (Vide section 38 infra)

38. Any sum awarded by way of costs under section 37 may be recovered, on application to a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the place where the person from whom the money is claimable actually and voluntarily resides or carries on business, by the distress and sale of any movable property within the limits of the jurisdiction of such Magistrate belonging to such person.

Notes.—To encourage Co-operative Societies, this summary procedure has been provided.

Dissolution of society.

39. (1) If the Registrar, after an inquiry has been held under section 35 or after an inspection has been made under section 36 or on receipt of an application made by three-fourths of the members of a registered society, is of opinion that the society ought to be dissolved, he may cancel the registration of the society.

(2) Any member of a society may, within two months from the date of an order made under sub section (1), appeal from such order.

(3) Where no appeal is presented within two months from the making of an order cancelling the registration of a society, the order shall take effect on the expiry of that period.

(4) Where an appeal is presented within two months, the order shall not take effect until it is confirmed by the appellate authority.

(5) The authority to which appeals under this section shall lie shall be the Local Government.

Provided that the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, direct that appeals shall lie to such Revenue-authority as may be specified in the notification.

Notes.—This section makes provision for the dissolution of a Co-operative Society. The procedure to be adopted before dissolution is also very simple.

40. Where it is a condition of the registration of a society that it should consist of at least ten members, the Registrar may, by order in writing, cancel the registration of the society if at any time it is proved to his satisfaction that the number of the members has been reduced to less than ten.

Notes.—The term "member" does not include past members or representatives of deceased members or trustees of bankrupt members. (1895) 1 Ch. 563.

Effect of cancellation of registration.

41. Where the registration of a society is cancelled, the society shall cease to exist as a corporate body—

(a) in the case of cancellation in accordance with the provisions of section 39, from the date the order of cancellation takes effect;

(b) in the case of cancellation in accordance with the provisions of section 40, from the date of the order.

Notes.—By registration a society acquires its corporate character and when the registration is cancelled, its corporate character goes with it also.

42. (1) Where the registration of a society is cancelled under section 39, or section 40, the Registrar may appoint a competent person to be liquidator of the society.
A liquidator appointed under sub-section (1) shall have power—

(a) to institute and defend suits and other legal proceedings on behalf of the society by his name of office;

(b) to determine the contribution to be made by the members and past members of the society respectively to the assets of the society;

(c) to investigate all claims against the society, and subject to the provisions of this Act, to decide questions of priority arising between claimants;

(d) to determine by what persons and in what proportions the costs of the liquidation are to be borne; and

(e) to give such directions in regard to the collection and distribution of the assets of the society, as may appear to him to be necessary for winding up the affairs of the society.

Subject to any rules, a liquidator appointed under this section shall, so far as such powers are necessary for carrying out the purposes of this Act, have power to summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses and to produce documents by the same means and (so far as may be) in the same manner as is provided in the case of a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

Where an appeal from any order made by a liquidator under this section is provided for by the rules, it shall lie to the Court of the District Judge.

Orders made under this section shall, on application, be enforced as follows:

(a) when made by a liquidator, by any Civil Court having local jurisdiction in the same manner as a decree of such Court;

(b) when made by the Court of the District Judge on appeal, in the same manner as a decree of such Court made in any suit pending therein.

Save in so far as is hereinafter expressly provided, no Civil Court shall have any jurisdiction in respect of any matter connected with the dissolution of a registered society under this Act.

Notes—Where the liquidator of a registered society passes an order such as is not appealable, 94 Ind. Cas. 49 = A. I. C. 1915 = A. I. C. 1917, and except in liquidation proceeding, where the liquidator of a Co-operative Society passes an order in payment of a debt due from another member, the member whose money has been so utilized can sue the other member in a Civil Court for the recovery of the amount under s. 42 Cl. (b), Co-operative Societies Act is no bar to such a suit. Section 42 (b) of the Co-operative Societies Act, is intended to prevent the litigation in the Civil Courts in regard to the validity of the acts and decision of a liquidator under the Act except in respect of certain specified orders which are appealable to a District Court or which may be enforced as decrees of Courts. 84 Ind. Cas. 994 = A. I. C. 1925 Rang. 36 Under s. 42 (b) a liquidator made an order declaring certain members of a society registered thereunder should be settled without litigation in the Courts, otherwise the whole object of the Act would be defeated. 15 A. Rules

43. (1) The Local Government may, for the whole or any part of the Province and for any registered society or class of such societies, make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) subject to the provisions of section 5, prescribe the maximum number of shares or portion of the capital of a society which may be held by a member;

(b) prescribe the forms to be used and the conditions to be complied with in the making of applications for the registration of a society and the procedure in the matter of such applications;

(c) prescribe the matters in respect of which a society may or shall make by-laws and for the procedure to be followed in making, altering and abrogating by-laws, and the conditions to be satisfied prior to such making, alteration or abrogation;

(d) prescribe the conditions to be complied with by persons applying for admission or admitted as members, and provide for the election and admission of members, and the payment to be made and the interests to be acquired before the exercise of the right of membership;

(e) regulate the manner in which funds may be raised by means of shares or debentures or otherwise;

(f) provide for general meetings of the members and for the procedure at such meetings and the powers to be exercised by such meetings;

(g) provide for the appointment, suspension and removal of the members of the committee and other officers, and for the procedure at meetings of the committee, and for the powers to be exercised and the duties to be performed by the committee and other officers;

(h) prescribe the accounts and books to be kept by a society and provide for the audit of such accounts and the charges, if any, to be made for such audit, and for the periodical publication of a balance-sheet showing the assets submitted by a society to the Registrar and the form in which such returns shall be submitted;

(7) provide for the persons by whom and the form in which copies of entries in books of societies may be certified;

(8) provide for the formation and maintenance of a register of members and, where the liability of the members is limited by shares, of a register of shares;

(I) provide that any dispute touching the business of a society between members or past members of the society or persons claiming through a member or past member or between a member or past member or persons so claiming and the committee or any officer shall be referred to the Registrar for decision or, if he so directs, to arbitration, and prescribe the mode of appointing an arbitrator or arbitrators and the procedure to be followed in proceedings before the Registrar or such arbitrator or arbitrators, and the enforcement of the decisions of the Registrar or the awards of arbitrators;
(m) provide for the withdrawal and expulsion of members and for the payments, if any, to be made to members who withdraw or are expelled and for the liabilities of past members;

(n) provide for the mode in which the value of a deceased member's interest shall be ascertained, and for the nomination of a person to whom such interest may be paid or transferred;

(o) prescribe the payments to be made and the conditions to be complied with by members applying for loans, the period for which loans may be made, and the amount which may be lent, to an individual member;

(p) provide for the formation and maintenance of reserve funds, and the objects to which such funds may be applied, and for the investment of any funds under the control of the society;

(q) prescribe the extent to which a society may limit the number of its members;

(r) prescribe the conditions under which profits may be distributed to the members of a society with unlimited liability and the maximum rate of dividend which may be paid by societies;

(s) subject to the provisions of section 49, determine in what cases an appeal shall lie from the orders of the Registrar, and prescribe the procedure to be followed in presenting and disposing of such appeals; and

(t) prescribe the procedure to be followed by a liquidator appointed under section 42, and the cases in which an appeal shall lie from the order of such liquidator.

(3) The Local Government may delegate, subject to such conditions, if any, as it thinks fit, all or any of its powers to make rules under this section to any authority specified in the order of delegation.

(4) The power to make rules conferred by this section is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication.

(5) All rules made under this section shall be published in the local official Gazette, and on such publication shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

Notes.—Sub-clause 2 (m) and (n) and 3 are new. The two former allow the Local Government to prescribe returns and the procedure on liquidation, and the latter permits of the delegation of the powers of the Local Government.—Vide Statement of Objects and Reasons. Where a dispute lies between a Co-operative Society and a member who is dead proceedings can be continued or entertained between the society and the legal representatives of the deceased debtor and arbitrators appointed under the rules framed under this section are competent to decide who are the legal representatives of the deceased debtor. If a wrong conclusion is arrived at with regard to a particular person then that person has a remedy under the Act of filing an appeal to the Registrar. An Act to modify and add to the provisions of the Copyright Act, 1911.

Whereas it is expedient to modify and add to the provisions of the Copyright Act, 1911,† in its application to British India; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Notes—"The question of the amendment of the Indian Copyright Act (XX of 1847) has been considered on several occasions since 1864 on the ground that the Act was incomplete and did not provide among other matters for the prohibition of copyright in photographs, translations, newspapers, telegrams, etc. Legislation, however, has been postponed in view of possibility of an amendment of the English Acts on the subject of Copyright. CHAPTER I.
PRELIMINARY.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Copyright Act, 1914.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India including British Beluchistan, the District of Angul and the Sonthal Parganas.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "the Copyright Act" means the Act of Parliament entitled the Copyright Act, 1911,* and

(2) words and expressions defined in the Copyright Act have the same meanings as in that Act.

CHAPTER II
CONSTRUCTION AND MODIFICATION OF THE COPYRIGHT ACT.

3. In the application to British India of the Copyright Act (a copy of which Act, except such of the provisions thereof as are expressly restricted to the United Kingdom, is set out in the First Schedule), the following modifications shall be made, namely:—

(1) the powers of the Board of Trade under section 3 shall, in the case of works first published in British India, be exercised by the Governor General in Council ;

* 1 & 2, Geo. 5. C. 45.
(a) the powers of the Board of Trade under section 19 shall, as regards records, perforated rolls and other contrivances, the original plate of which was made in British India, be exercised by the Governor General in Council; and the confirmation of Parliament shall not be necessary to the exercise of any of these powers;

(3) the references in section 19, sub-section (4), and in section 24, sub-section (1), to arbitration shall be read as references to arbitration in accordance with the law for the time being in force in that part of British India in which the dispute occurs;

(4) as regards works the authors whereof were at the time of the making of the works resident in British India, and as regards works first published in British India, the reference in section 22 to the Patents and Designs Act, 1907,* shall be construed as a reference to the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911,† and the reference in the said section to section 86 of the Patents and Designs Act, 1907,* shall be construed as a reference to section 77 of the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911;†

(5) as regards works first published in British India, the reference in section 24, sub-section (1), proviso (a), to the London Gazette and two London newspapers shall be construed as a reference to the Gazette of India and two newspapers published in British India; and the reference in proviso (b) of the same sub-section of the same section to the 26th day of July, 1910, shall, as regards works the authors whereof were at the time of the making of the works resident in British India, and as regards works first published in British India, be construed as a reference to the 30th day of October, 1912.

Notes.—This contains purely formal modifications necessary for the application of the Act of 1911 to British India—Statement of Objects and Reasons In England before the statute of Anne [3 Anne c 10] there was no copyright at common law for an author, or a publisher in his published work. 44 B 729. The preamble runs as follows: "Printers, book-sellers and other persons were frequently in the habit of printing, reprinting, and publishing books and other writings without the consent of the authors or proprietors of such books and writings, to their very great detriment, and too often to the ruin of them and their families. For preventing, therefore, of such practices for the future and for the encouragement of learned men to compose and write useful books, it is enacted that the author of any book or books already printed who have not transferred to any other the copy or copies of such book or books in order to print or reprint the same shall have the sole right and liberty of printing such book or books for the term of one and twenty years, and that the author of any book or books already composed, and not printed and published, or that shall hereafter be composed, and his assigns, or assignees shall have the sole liberty of printing or reprinting such book or books for a term of fourteen years, to commence from the day of first publishing the same and no longer." It further provides that "after the expiration of the said term of fourteen years the sole right of printing or disposing of copies shall return to the authors thereof, if they are then living, or their representatives, for another term of fourteen years". For infringement of copyright forfeiture of illicit copies could be ordered and a fine was imposed. This Act was to have effect from the 10th April 1919.

The effect of the statute was to extinguish the common law copyright in published works; though leaving the common law copyright in unpublished works unaffected Donaldson v. Beckett, 4 Burr. 2403; Beckford v. Hood, (1798) 7 T. R. 620; Jeffreys v. Bossey, (1854) 4 H. L. C. 815. By 54 Geo 3, c. 156 the period was extended to 28 years to commence from the day of the first publication of the same; and if the author survives that period, then for the residue of his natural life. Finally in 1842, the period was extended to 70 years, which was deemed to have subsisted when Act III of 1914 came into force, the period of copyright substituted by that Act would be 50 years from the death of the author. When a complaint for infringement is made after the new Act the question to be considered is whether the copyright is subsisting under the new Act and not whether it was subsisting under the old Act. A. I. R. 1931 All 353 = 1931 A. L. J. 304 = 32 Cr L. J. 814 = 131 Ind. Cas.

* 7 Edw. VII, c 29  † II of 1911.

called subs...to him, of the protection of the law. It has, nevertheless, been a matter of frequent controversy the first Copyright Act: 9 Anne, c. 19; and (3) that although the author of any literary composition, and his assignees, had the sole right of printing and publishing the same in perpetuity by the common law, yet that right became merged in the the common law rights in unpublished copyright or any similar right in any literary, dramatic, musical, or artistic work, whether published or unpublished, otherwise than under and in accordance with the provisions of the Act, or of any other statutory enactment for the time being in force.”

4. (1) In the case of works first published in British India, copyright shall be subject to this limitation that the sole right to produce, reproduce, perform or publish a translation of the work shall subsist only for a period of ten years from the date of the first publication of the work:

Provided that if within the said period the author, or any person to whom he has granted permission so to do, publishes a translation of any such work in any language, reproduce, to the limit

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) the expression “author” includes the legal representative of a deceased author.

Notes—Under sections 1-3 of the Act of 1911 the term for which copyrights subsist in translations is the life of the author and a period of fifty years after his death. The special linguistic conditions of India are so numerous and differs so widely that the conditions which prevail cannot be compared with those in most European countries and vernacular translations from English and from one vernacular to another are not only common but serve the useful purpose for disseminating knowledge. It is proposed, therefore, that translations of works first published in British India should be permitted after the expiry of five years from the date of first publication, provided that two years’ notice of the intention to publish a translation has been given to the author. This proposal is considered to be a sufficient safeguard of and a reasonable compromise between rights of the author and those of the public. Statement of Objects and Reasons.

5. In the application of the Copyright Act to musical works the authors whereof were at the time of the making of the works resident in British India, or to musical works first published in British India, the term “musical work” shall, save as otherwise expressly provided by the Copyright Act, mean “any combination of melody and harmony, or either of them, which has been reduced to writing.”
the Act of 1911 are new, and in view objections have been urged against the works. It is pointed out that it is impossible for the original composer or author and the majority of works written in staff notation except through the medium of infinite variety of notation and time. If, under these circumstances, section 19 is adopted with its retrospective principle there may be fictitious claims of ownership in musical works and much confusion and undesirable litigation. To make it clear that in order to fall within the definition of "musical work" music must have been graphically represented it is proposed to "musical work" means any combination of notes, or reduced to writing."—Statement of Objects and Reasons

6. (1) Copies made out of British India of any work in which copyright subsists which if made in British India would infringe copyright, and as to which the owner of the copyright gives notice in writing by himself or his agent to the Chief Customs officer, as defined in the Sea Customs Act, 1878,* that he is desirous that such copies should not be imported into British India, shall not be so imported, and shall, subject to the provisions of this section, be deemed to be prohibited imports within the meaning of section 18 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878.*

(2) Before detaining any such copies, or taking any further proceedings with a view to the confiscation thereof, such Chief Customs officer, or any other officer appointed by "the Chief Customs authority" in this behalf, may require the regulations under this section, whether as to information, security, conditions or other matters, to be complied with, and may satisfy himself, in accordance with these regulations, that the copies are such as are prohibited by this section to be imported.

(3) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, make regulations, either general or special, respecting the detention and confiscation of copies the importation of which is prohibited by this section, and the conditions, if any, to be fulfilled before such detention and confiscation; and may, by such regulations, determine the information, notices and security to be given, and the evidence requisite for any of the purposes of this section, and the mode of verification of such evidence.

(4) Such regulations may apply to copies of all works the importation of copies of which is prohibited by this section, or different regulations may be made respecting different classes of such works.

(5) The regulations may provide for the informant reimbursing the Secretary of State for India in Council all expenses and damages incurred in respect of any detention made on his information, and of any proceedings consequent on such detention, and may provide that notices given under the Copyright Act to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise of the United Kingdom, and communicated by that authority to any authority in British India, shall be deemed to have been given by the owner to the said Chief Customs officer.

(6) This section shall have effect as the necessary modification of section 14 of the Copyright Act.

7. If any person knowingly—

(a) makes for sale or hire any infringing copy of a work in which copyright subsists; or
(b) sells or lets for hire, or by way of trade exposes or offers for sale or hire, any infringing copy of any such work; or
(c) distributes infringing copies of any such work, either for the purposes of trade or to such an extent as to affect prejudicially the owner of the copyright; or
(d) by way of trade exhibits in public any infringing copy of any such work; or
(e) imports for sale or hire into British India any infringing copy of any such work;

he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every copy dealt with in contravention of this section, but not exceeding five hundred rupees in respect of the same transaction.

Penalties.—"We have substituted the word penalties, for the words 'summary remedies' in the title of Chapter III in view of the fact that the expression summary trial is used in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, to denote a particular procedure in the trial of cases, which might not be applicable to cases under this Chapter."—Report of the Select Committee. Sections 7-12—"The provisions of section 11 of the Act of 1911 have been in the main adopted. Imprisonment, however, will in all cases be simple, and offences will be triable by a Magistrate of the first class only. It is proposed to convert the amount of English fines on the basis of £1 = Rs 10 in accordance with the usual practice and to insert a clause exempting the case of infringement by the construction of a building from the operation of summary remedies, thus giving effect to the similar exemption provided by section 9 of the English Act."—Statement of Objects and Reasons. Where a book is printed at Lahore, only the Lahore Court has jurisdiction under s. 177 Cr. P. Code to enquire into and try the cases against the printer. The offence under this section is complete as soon as the book infringing the copyright is printed and it does not depend for its completion upon the ensuing of any consequence such as is mentioned in s. 174 of the Cr. P. Code. 28 P. R. 1916 Cr.

Who may be convicted—A person who has in his possession any plate for the purpose of infringing copies will be convicted. Copinger p. 183; see also R. v. Blodid, Times November 27, 1913 cited in ibid. When two or more persons conspire to infringe a copyright, both of them may be convicted. R. v. Willett, (1906) 7 J. I. P. 127. The question whether there has been an infringement depends on whether a colourable imitation has been made. Whether a work is a colourable imitation of another is a question of fact. 5 C. L. J. 243 = 31 C. W. N. 540. A copy comes so near the original as to suggest the original to the spectator. In the case of pictures it is enough if in the offending pictures, the main figures have an identical form. 112 Ind. Cas. 784 = 33 C. W. N. 179.

Registration—Where the action in respect of infringement of copyright was commenced when the Act of 1914 was in force, the non-registration of the copyright does not effect dismissal of the action. Venkata Rao v. Padmanava, 1927 Mad. 981; Gobind v. Wallace, (1877) 36 L. T. 704; E. W. Savory v. World of Gold Ltd. (1914) 2 Cr. 566. Where the offence alleged to have been committed by the accused was one under s. 7, Copyright Act (1911) and trial Court took a wrong view of the law and acquitted the accused. Held, that in a case when the Court has proceeded on a wrong view of the law, and when the matter is of great importance to the complainant in his position as author of the book, which will be pirated by another who will secure for himself the gains that ought legitimately to go to the petitioner a retrial should be ordered. of the owner of the copyright, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

9. If any person, after having been previously convicted of an offence punishable under section 7 or section 8, is subsequently convicted of an offence punishable under either of these sections, he shall be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

10. (x) The Court before which any offence under this Chapter is tried may, whether the alleged offender is convicted or not, order that all copies of the work or all be destroyed or delivered up to the owner of the copyright, or otherwise dealt with as the Court may think fit.

11. No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence against this Act.

12. The provisions of this Chapter shall not apply to any case to which section 9 of the Copyright Act, regarding the restrictions on remedies in the case of a work of architecture, applies.

CHAPTER IV.

MISCELLANEOUS.

13. Every suit or other civil proceeding regarding infringement of copyright shall be instituted and tried in the High Court or the Court of the District Judge.

Notes.—On account of the technicalities of the subject of copyright and of the greater finality that such a tribunal will afford it has been considered advisable to give jurisdiction to High Courts only in all suits or civil proceedings regarding infringement of copyright.—Statement of Objects and Reasons.

14. No suit or other civil proceeding instituted after the 30th of October, 1912, regarding infringement of copyright in any book the author whereof was at the time of making the book resident in British India, or of any book first published in British India, shall be dismissed by reason only that the registration of such book had not been effected in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Copyright Act, 1847.
Notes—This clause which is self-explanatory has been added in view of a recent decision in Evans v. Morris reported in the Law Journal of March 29th, 1913—

An Act to amend and consolidate the Law relating to Copyright

[16TH DECEMBER, 1911.]

Be it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

PART I.

IMPERIAL COPYRIGHT.

Rights.

1. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, copyright shall subsist throughout the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends for the term hereinafter mentioned in every original literary, dramatic, musical and artistic work, if—

(a) in the case of a published work, the work was first published within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid; and

(b) in the case of an unpublished work, the author was at the date of the making of the work a British subject or resident within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid;

but in no other works, except so far as the protection conferred by this Act is extended by Orders in Council thereunder relating to self-governing dominions to which this Act does not extend and to foreign countries.

(2) For the purposes of this Act, “copyright” means the sole right to produce or reproduce the work or any substantial part thereof in any material form whatsoever, to perform, or in the case of a lecture to deliver, the work or any substantial part thereof in public; if the work is unpublished, to publish the work or any substantial part thereof; and shall include the sole right—

(a) to produce, reproduce, perform, or publish any translation of the work;

(b) in the case of a dramatic work, to convert it into a novel or other non-dramatic work;

(c) in the case of a novel or other non-dramatic work, or of an artistic work, to convert it into a dramatic work, by way of performance in public or otherwise;

work, to make any revision by means of;

(3) For the purposes of this Act, publication, in relation to any work, means the issue of copies of the work to the public, and does not include the performance in public of a dramatic or musical work, the delivery in public of a lecture, the exhibition in public of an artistic work, or the construction of an architectural work of art, but, for the purposes of this provision, the issue of photographs and engravings of works of sculpture and architectural works of art shall not be deemed to be publication of such works.

Original.—According to the section the work must be original. So far as the copyright in a reported speech is concerned, a reporter has no copyright in the speech of a person but he has such right in the reports of those speeches. Wither v. Lane, (1900) A. C. 539 on appeal from (1899) 2 Ch. 749 In the same case, Lord Chancellor said that copyright "is given by the statute to the first producer of a book whether that book be wise or foolish, accurate or inaccurate, of literary merit or, no merit whatever." In University of London Press v. University Tutorial Press, (1916) 2 Ch. 631, Peterson J. said: "The word 'original' does not in this connection mean that the work must be an expression of original or inventive thought. Copyright Acts are not concerned with the originality of ideas but with the expression of thought, and in the case of literary work, with the expression of the thought in print or writing. The originality which is required relates to the expression of the thought. But the Act does not require that the work must not be copied from another work—that it should originate from the author." Originality relates to the expression of thought. The work must not be copied from another work. 48 B. 309=28 C. W. N. 613=40 T. L. R. 186 (P. C.) The word "original" should

In Frederick Emerson v. Chas. Davis, 3 Story U. S. Rep. 768, the plaintiff had compiled and published a book entitled, "The North American Arithmetick, sold by the defendants, was composed by themselves, and that neither it nor any part of it was copied, adopted or taken from the plaintiff's book or any part thereof. At p. 778 of the report the learned Judge expressed himself thus: "The book of the plaintiff is, in my judgment, new and original in the sense in which those words are to be understood in cases of copyright. The question is not whether the materials which are used are entirely new and have never been used before, or even that they have never been used before for the same purpose. The true question they are combined in a different manner from what was in use before. does not thereby acquire the right are common to all persons before, such materials but then they have, no right to use such materials with its improvements superadded, whether they consist in plan, arrangement, or illustrations or combinations, for these are strictly his own.....In truth, in literature, in science and in art there are and can be few, if any, things which, in an abstract sense, are strictly new and original throughout.

In the case of Macmillan v. Sureth Chandra Deb, 17 Cal. 951, the question was whether copyright can exist in a selection. In that case Sir Arthur Wilson said at p. 961: "In the case of work not original in the proper sense of the term, but composed or compiled or prepared from materials open to all, the fact that one man has produced such a work does not take away from any one else the right to produce another work of the same kind, and in doing so to use all the materials open to him. But, as the law is concisely stated by Hull, V. C. in Hogg v. Scott, L. R. 18 Eq. 444 the same selection but that must be by resorting to the original authors, not by taking advantage of the selection already made by another." This passage was approved of by Lord Hatherly in Spires v. Brown, 6 W. R. (Eng.) 853; see also Maffat v. Paige v. Gill, (1902) 84 L. T. 456 on appeal 86 L. T. 405.

pressed by saying that the book will procure purchasers in the market on special accounts of these notes. When notes to this extent and this value are added I can not doubt that they attach to the edition the privilege of copyright. The principle of the law of copyright directly applies. There is involved in such annotation and

It will still, as in the ingemblem.

In J. Arnold v. Houlston, the plaintiffs were the publishers of a book written by Dr. Brewer called the "Guide to Science". The Vice-Chancellor S. W. Pagewood, having fully ascertained the object with which this book was compiled and published and the sources from which Dr. Brewer obtained the information in the following passage.

He said: "If any one a systematic course of ons asking in reference questions and explanations of those phenomena whether such explanations and answers were furnished by his own recollection of his former general reading or out of works consulted by him for the express purpose, the reduction of the questions so collected with such form, is amply sufficient to con-

* Literary finish, but,

Abridgement—In an abridgement the idea must be preserved and expressed in author's own language. A book in which certain passages are copied and others are omitted is not an abridgement. In order to constitute an original literary work some skill must be manifested in arranging the selection. In order to constitute copyright, labour, skill or capital must be spent. A new or original plan, arrangement or construction of material will entitle the author to copyright therein whether the materials themselves be old or new. It will not create a copyright in a new edition of a work of which the copyright has expired merely to make a few amendments of the text or to add a few important notes. To create a copyright by alterations of the text these must be extensive and substantial practically making a new book. 48 B. 308: 29 C. W. N. 613 P. C; see also Black v. Murray, 9 Sc. Sess. Cas 3rd Ser 341; Headrick v. Griffin, 3 Sc. Sess Cas. 2nd Ser. 303; Thomas v. Tuner, (1886) 33 Ch. D. 292; Blacklock v. Pearson, (1915) 2 Ch. 576.

Compilation—A copyright may exist in a compilation. 43 A. 412: 61 Ind. Cas. 354: 19 A. L. J. 180.

Fair use.—Vide (1934) 1 Ch. 595: 103 L. J. Ch. 281.

Translation—Copyright may exist in the translation of a work. Byrne v. Statist Co., (1914) 1 K. B. 622. The author of a book is entitled to copyright in a translation of it, as if it were an original work. 13 A. L. J. 636.

Original Dramatic Work—in Tate v. Fulbrook, (1908) 1 K. B. 831, it was held that a dramatic work was not entitled to be protected against piracy by public performance unless it was capable of being printed and published. The actual decision in Tate v. Fulbrook, to the effect that mere scenic effects are not the subject of protection has been approved under the Act of 1911—Copinger, p. 68 citing Tate v. Thomas, (1921) 1 Ch. 593.

Artistic Work.—This Act includes, among artistic works, works of painting, drawing, sculpture, and architectural works of art and engravings and photographs. Vide section 35 (1); see also Graves's Case, (1869) L.R. 4 Q.B. 715. But an artist has no monopoly in the subject. De Berenger v. 2. (1) Copyright in a work shall be deemed to be infringed by any person who, without the consent of the owner, infringe the right of the copyright, does anything the sole right to do which is by this Act conferred on the owner of the copyright: Provided that the following acts shall not constitute an infringement of copyright:—

(i) Any fair dealing with any work for the purposes of private study, research, criticism, review, or newspaper summary:

(ii) Where the author of an artistic work is not the owner of the copyright therein, the use by the author of any mould, cast, sketch, plan, model, or study made by him for the purpose of the work, provided that he does not thereby repeat or imitate the main design of that work:

(iii) The making or publishing of paintings, drawings, engravings, or photographs, of a work of sculpture or artistic craftsmanship, if permanently situate in a public place or buildings, or the making or publishing of paintings, drawings, engravings or photographs (which are not in the nature of architectural drawings or plans) of any architectural work of art:

(iv) The publication in a collection, mainly composed of non-copyright matter, bona fide intended for the use of schools, and so described in the title and in any advertisements issued by the publisher, of short passages from published literary works not themselves published for the use of schools in which copyright subsists. Provided that not more than two of such passages from works by the same author are published by the same publisher within five years, and that the source from which such passages are taken is acknowledged:

(v) The publication in a newspaper of a report of a lecture delivered in public, unless the report is prohibited by conspicuous written or printed notice affixed before and maintained during the lecture at or about the main entrance of the building in which the lecture is given, and, except whilst the building is being used for public worship, in a position near the lecturer; but nothing in this paragraph shall affect the provisions in paragraph (1) as to newspaper summaries:
(vi) The reading or recitation in public by one person of any reasonable extract from any published work.

(2) Copyright in a work shall also be deemed to be infringed by any person who—

(a) sells or lets for hire, or by way of trade exposes or offers for sale or hire; or

(b) distributes either for the purposes of trade or to such an extent as to affect prejudicially the owner of the copyright; or

(c) by way of trade exhibits in public; or

(d) imports for sale or hire into any part of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, any work which to his knowledge infringes copyright or would infringe copyright if it had been made within the part of his His Majesty's dominions in or into which the sale or hiring, exposure, offering for sale or hire, distribution, exhibition, or importation took place.

(3) Copyright in a work shall also be deemed to be infringed by any person who for his private profit permits a theatre or other place of entertainment to be used for the performance in public of the work without the consent of the owner of the copyright, unless he was not aware, and had no reasonable ground for suspecting, that the performance would be an infringement of copyright.

Consent.—No written consent is necessary. Consent may be presumed from circumstances. Cooper v. Stephens, (1895) 1 Ch. 567; Dumson v. Ashdown, (1877) 13 T. L. R. 226; Bourne v. Cooke, (1903) 2 K. B. 227, 236. A licensee can sue for infringement. British Film Actors v. Glover, (1918) 1 K. B. 299.

frequently arise in which, though there is some injury, yet equity will not interfere by injunction to prevent the further use, as where the amount copied is small and of little value, if there is no proof of bad motive, or where there is a well founded doubt as to the legal title, or where there has been long acquiescence in the infringement, or culpable laches and negligence in seeking redress, especially if it appear that the delay has misled the respondent. Infringement of copyright.—In an action for an injunction and damages for an infringement of plaintiff's copyright, if it be found that even inaccuracies in both the work are indelible, that references of significance in plaintiff's work are reproduced in defendant's work, but by reason of absence of other matter, have no significance therein, and three is identity not merely of information but of language, that leaves no doubt that the work of the defendant is a copy of the plaintiff's in a very high degree. 67 Ind. Copyright in a literary work: (3) By re-printing the whole work verbatim. (4) By imitating the whole or a part of the work verbatim. (5) By colourable alteration. (6) By reproducing the whole or a part under an abridged form. (7) By reproducing the whole or a part under the form of a translation. (8) By converting it into a dramatic work. (9) By making mechanical contrivances whereby it may be reproduced. (10) By performing it in public. (11) By dealing with copies made or imported in contravention of the Act—Copinger, p. 118.

3. The term for which copyright shall subsist shall, except as otherwise expressly provided by this Act, be the life of the author and a period of fifty years after his death:

Provided that at any time after the expiration of twenty-five years, or in the case of a work in which copyright subsists at the passing of this Act, thirty years, from the death of the author of a published work, copyright in the work shall not be deemed to be infringed by the reproduction of the work for sale if the person reproducing the work proves that he has given the prescribed notice in writing of his intention to reproduce the work, and that he has paid the prescribed manner to, or for the benefit of, the owner of the copyright royalties in respect of all copies of the work sold by him calculated at the rate of ten per cent. on the price at which he publishes the work, and, for the purposes of this proviso, the Board of Trade may make regulations prescribing the mode in which notices are to be given, and the particulars to be given in such notices and the mode, time, and frequency of the payment of royalties, including (if they think fit) regulations requiring payment in advance or otherwise securing the payment of royalties.

Notes—"The proper period of copyright has long been a matter of controversy. Some have contended that the period ought, in the interests of literature, to be a very short one; others urge in favour of a restricted period of copyright speaks of it as a monopoly, and the property is sound."—Copinger at Berlin in the year 1907 for the purpose of considering what modifications ought to be made in the Berne convention, it was decided that the minimum protection accorded to an author should be during his life and for a period of fifty years after his death. This appears to be a reasonable period, and it has now been adopted by the British Copyright Act 1911, for all works, with certain minor exceptions. The present law has, moreover, the very considerable advantage over the old law, that the date of publication has—save in the excepted cases, which will be dealt with later on—no bearing upon the determination of copyright protection. Under the law, which gave an alternative period of copyright for literary works, either for the life of the author and seven years after his death or a gross period of forty-two years, which should be the longer, the works of the author were liable to fall into the public domain at different times; but under the new Act all the works of the same author will—save in the excepted cases—fall into the public domain at one and the same time as if the author died at the

If, at any time after the death of the author of a literary, dramatic or musical work which has been published or performed in public, a complaint is made to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council that the owner of the copyright in the work has refused to republish or to allow the republication of the work or has refused to allow the performance in public of the work, and that by reason of such refusal deration of a sum of money paid to him agrees that certain persons shall have the sole power of printing, reprinting and publishing a certain work for all time, that would be parting with the copyright." Per Wood V. C. in Stevens v. Benning, t. K. & J. 168.

Civil Remedies.

6. (1) Where copyright in any work has been infringed, the owner of the copyright shall, except as otherwise provided by this Act, be entitled to all such remedies by way of injunction or interdict, damages, accounts, and otherwise, as are or may be conferred by law for the infringement of a right.

(2) The costs of all parties in any proceedings in respect of the infringement of copyright shall be in the absolute discretion of the Court.

(3) In any action for infringement of copyright in any work, the work shall be presumed to be a work in which copyright subsists and the plaintiff shall be presumed to be the owner of the copyright, unless the defendant puts in issue the existence of the copyright, or as the case may be, the title of the plaintiff, and where any such question is in issue, then—

(a) if a name purporting to be that of the author of the work is printed or otherwise indicated thereon in the usual manner, the person whose name is so printed or indicated shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed to be the author of the work;

(b) if no name is so printed or indicated, or if the name so printed or indicated is not the author's true name or the name by which he is commonly known, and a name purporting to be that of the publisher or proprietor of the work is printed or otherwise indicated thereon in the usual manner, the person whose name is so printed or indicated shall, unless the contrary is proved, be presumed to be the owner of the copyright in the work for the purposes of proceedings in respect of the infringement of copyright therein.

Notes.—The "owner of the copyright" is either the original owner or a person who, since the right of the plaintiffs is equitable only the legal owner. Performing Right Society Ltd. v. A. Importation of Copies.

14. (1) Copies made out of the United Kingdom of any work in which copyright subsists which if made in the United Kingdom would infringe copyright, and as to which the owner of the copyright gives notice in writing by himself or his agent to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise, that he is desirous that such copies should not be imported into the United Kingdom shall not be so imported, and shall subject to the provisions of this section, be deemed to be included in the table of prohibitions and restrictions contained in section 42 of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876, and that section shall apply accordingly.

(2) Before detaining any such copies or taking any further proceedings with a view to the forfeiture thereof under the law relating to the Customs, the Commissioners of Customs and Excise may require the regulations under this section, whether as to information, conditions or other matters, to be complied with, and may satisfy themselves in accordance with those regulations that the copies are such as are prohibited by this section to be imported.

(3) The Commissioners of Customs and Excise may make regulations, either general or special, respecting the detention and forfeiture of copies, the importation of which is prohibited by this section, and the conditions, if any, to be fulfilled before such detention and forfeiture, and may, by such regulations, determine the information, notices, and security to be given, and the evidence requisite for any of the purposes of this section, and the mode of verification of such evidence.

(4) The regulations may apply to copies of all works the importation of copies of which is prohibited by this section, or different regulations may be made respecting different classes of such works.

(5) The regulations may provide for the informant reimbursing the Commissioners of Customs and Excise all expenses and damages incurred in respect of any detention made on his information and of any proceedings consequent on such detention; and may provide for notices under any enactment repealed by this Act being treated as notices given under this section.

(6) The foregoing provisions of this section shall have effect as if they were part of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876. Provided that, notwithstanding anything in that Act, the Isle of Man shall not be treated as part of the United Kingdom for the purposes of this section.

(7) This section shall, with the necessary modifications, apply to the importation into a British possession to which this Act extends of copies of works made out of that possession.

Delivery of Books to Library.

15. (1) The publisher of every book published in the United Kingdom, shall, within one month after the publication, deliver, at his own expense, a copy of the book to the trustees of the British Museum, who shall give a written receipt for it.

(2) He shall also, if written demand is made before the expiration of twelve months after publication, deliver within one month after receipt of that written demand or, if the demand was made before publication, within one month

* Sections 11 to 13 are not in force in British India.
† 39 and 40 Vict. c. 36.
after publication, to some depot in London named in the demand a copy of the book for, or in accordance with the directions of the authority having the control of each of the following libraries, namely: the Bodleian Library, Oxford, the University Library, Cambridge, the Library of the Faculty of Advocates at Edinburgh, and the Library of Trinity College, Dublin; and, subject to the provisions of this section, the National Library of Wales. In the case of an encyclopædia, newspaper, review, magazine, or work published in a series of numbers or parts, the written demand may include all numbers or parts of the work which may be subsequently published.

(3) The copy delivered to the trustees of the British Museum shall be a copy of the whole book with all maps and illustrations belonging thereto, finished and coloured in the same manner as the best copies of the book are published, and shall be bound, sewed or stitched together, and on the best paper on which the book is printed.

(4) The copy delivered for the other authorities mentioned in this section shall be on the paper on which the largest number of the copies of the book is printed for sale, and shall be in the like condition as the books prepared for sale.

(5) The books of which copies are to be delivered to the National Library of Wales shall not include books of such classes as may be specified in regulations to be made by the Board of Trade.

(6) If a publisher fails to comply with this section, he shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding five pounds and the value of the book, and the fine shall be paid to the trustees of authority to whom the book ought to have been delivered.

(7) For the purposes of this section, the expression "book" includes every part or division of a book, pamphlet, sheet of letter-press, sheet of music, map, plan, chart or table separately published, but shall not include any second or subsequent edition of a book unless such edition contains additions or alterations either in the letter-press or in the maps, prints, or other engravings belonging thereto.

Publisher—Publisher is one who projects, conducts, and carries on, or is the proprietor of any encyclopædia, review, magazine, periodical work, or work published in a series of books or parts, or any book whatsoever. Wardlock & Co Ltd v Long, (1905) 2 Ch. 550 at p. 560 cited in Oldfield, p. 101.

Special Provisions as to certain Works.

16. (1) In the case of a work of joint authorship, copyright shall subsist during the life of the author who first dies and for a term of fifty years after his death, or during the life of the author who dies last, whichever period is the longer, and references in this Act to the period after the expiration of any specified number of years from the death of the author shall be construed as references to the period after the expiration of the like number of years from the death of the author who dies first or after the death of the author who dies last, whichever period may be the shorter, and in the provisions of this Act with respect to the grant of compulsory licenses a reference to the date of the death of the author who dies last shall be substituted for the reference to the date of the death of the author.

(2) Where, in the case of a work of joint authorship, some one or more of the joint authors do not satisfy the conditions conferring copyright laid down by this Act, the work shall be treated for the purposes of this Act as if the other or authors thereof.

It shall be the same as it would have been as aforesaid.

"A work of joint authorship" means a work produced by the collaboration of two or more authors in which the contribution of one author is not distinct from the contribution of the other author or authors.

(4) Where a married woman and her husband are joint authors of a work the interest of such married woman therein shall be her separate property.

Notes.—By mere suggesting an idea person does not become a joint author. Milton, (1824) W. N. 130. In Levy 528 said: “If the piece had been in prosecution of a preconceived co-authors of the whole play, notwithstanding that different portions were respectively the sole productions of either.” In the same case Keating J. said: “Though it may not be necessary that each should contribute the same amount of labour, there must be a joint labouring in furtherance of a common design.” The copyright rests in the joint authors as tenants in common and not as joint tenants. Lauri v. Renad, (1892) 3 Ch. 402; Powell v. Head, 12 Ch. D. 686. Trade Auxiliary v. Middleborough, (1889) 40 Ch. D. 435. One of two joint authors can restrain the other by injunction from publishing the joint work. Cetiotes v. Routledge, (1916) 2 K. B. 325. When one of the co-authors does not satisfy the conditions conferring copyright in this Act, the author who does satisfy such conditions is considered as the sole author. He can alone grant licenses to publish such a work. Lauri v. Renad, ubi supra; Powell v. Head, 12 Ch. D. 685; Trade Auxiliary v. Middleborough, (1888) 40 Ch. D. 425. An employer of an author is not a joint author Levy v. Rutley, (1871) L. R. 6. C. P. 523; Eaton v. Lake, (1888) 20 Q. B. D. 328; Tate v. Gumbrook, (1908) 1 K. B. 821.

Sub-section (4)—“Presumably this sub-section was inserted in order to make it clear that the whole of this copyright is not to belong to the husband under his common law right to the personal property of his wife. It is little curious, therefore, to find that there is no similar provision for the case where a married woman is a co-author with a person other than her husband”—Copinger, p 210. It is submitted that in England in such a case by virtue of this sub-section the person other than her husband will be the sole author of the copyright. But this sub-section is redundant in India where married woman’s earning is her separate property. (vide Act II of 1874).

17. (1) In the case of a literary, dramatic or musical work, or an engraving, in which copyright subsists at the date of the death of the author or, in the case of a work of joint authorship at or immediately before the date of the death of the author who dies last, but which has not been published, nor, in the case of a dramatic or musical work, been performed in public nor, in the case of a lecture, been delivered in public, before that date, copyright shall subsist till publication, or performance or delivery in public, fifty years thereafter and the prov case of such a work, apply as if the tion or performance or delivery in public as aforesaid.

(2) The ownership of an author’s manuscript after his death, where such ownership has been acquired under a testamentary disposition made by the author and the manuscript is of a work which has not been published nor performed in public nor delivered in public, shall be prima facie proof of the copyright being with the owner of the manuscript.

Notes.—Sub section (1) does not apply to artistic work other than engravings—Oldfield, p. 110.

18. Without prejudice to any rights or privileges of the Crown, where Provisions as to Government publications. any work has, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, been prepared or published by or under the direction or control of His Majesty or any Government department, the copyright in the work shall, subject to any agreement with the author, belong to His Majesty, and in such case shall continue for a period of fifty years from the date of the first publication of the work.
Notes.—Originally the copyright of all the publications belonged to the Crown. Gradually this right is partially lost by the Crown. Now the Crown has copyright in the authorised version of the Bible. [University of Oxford and Cambridge v. Richardson, (1802) 6 Ves. 689; Manners v. Blair, 3 Bl. (N. S.) 391; Red Letter Testament, In re. (1900) 17 T. L. R. 1] and Prayer Books. Before this Act, Government had copyright in the Acts of Parliament and other Government publications, Basket v. Cambridge University, (1753) 1 W. Bl. 105. "This section therefore, whilst preserving any special copyright of the Crown, as in the case of the Bible and Prayer Book vests the copyright in all other works prepared by or on behalf of the Government, in the Crown, whether or not the actual author of the work was under a contract of service with the Crown, and the period of copyright is to be the gross period of fifty years, from the date of the publication of the work." Copinger, p. 249 This section has not made any provision as regards unpublished work of the Crown. This section has no application so far as a work published with license of the Crown is concerned. (1926) 1 Ch. 433.

19. (1) Copyright shall subsist in records, perforated rolls, and other contrivances by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced, in like manner as if such contrivances were musical works, but the term of copyright shall be fifty years from the making of the original plate from which the contrivance was directly or indirectly derived, and the person who was the owner of such original plate at the time when such plate was made shall be deemed to be the author of the work, and, where such owner is a body corporate, the body corporate shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to reside within the parts of His Majesty’s dominions to which this Act extends if it has established a place of business within such parts.

(a) It shall not be deemed to be an infringement of copyright in any musical work for any person to make, within the parts of His Majesty’s dominions to which this Act extends, records, perforated rolls or other contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed, if such person proves—

(i) that such contrivances have previously been made by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright in the work; and

(ii) that he has given the prescribed notice of his intention to make the contrivances, and has paid in the prescribed manner to, or for the benefit of, the owner of the copyright in the work royalties in respect of all such contrivances sold by him, calculated at the rate hereinafter mentioned:

Provided that—

(i) nothing in this provision shall authorize any alterations in, or omissions from, the work reproduced, unless contrivances reproducing the work subject to similar alterations and omissions have been previously made by, or with the consent or acquiescence of, the owner of the copyright, or unless such alterations or omissions are reasonably necessary for the adaptation of the work to the contrivances in question; and

(ii) for the purposes of this provision, a musical work shall be deemed to include any words so closely associated therewith as to form part of the same work, but shall not be deemed to include a contrivance by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced.

(2) The rate at which such royalties as aforesaid are to be calculated shall—

(i) in the case of contrivances sold within two years after the commencement of this Act by the person making the same, be two and one-half per cent.; and

(ii) in the case of contrivances sold as aforesaid after the expiration of that period, be five per cent., on the ordinary retail selling price of the contrivance calculated in the prescribed manner, so however that the royalty payable in respect of a contrivance shall, in no case, be less than a half-penny for each musical work in which copyright subsists reproduced thereon, and, where the royalty calculated as aforesaid includes a fraction of a farthing, such fraction shall be reckoned as a farthing:

Provided that, if, at any time after the expiration of seven years from the commencement of this Act, it appears to the Board of Trade that such rate as aforesaid is no longer equitable, the Board of Trade may after holding a public inquiry, make an order either decreasing or increasing that rate to such extent as under the circumstances may seem just, but any order so made, shall be provisional only and shall not have any effect unless and until confirmed by Parliament; but where an order revising the rate has been so made and confirmed, no further revision shall be made before the expiration of fourteen years from the date of the last revision.

producing two or more different versions of the copyright therein are royalties under this section shall be apportioned amongst the several owners of the copyright in such proportions as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration.

(5) When any such contrivances by means of which a musical work may be mechanically performed have been made, then, for the purposes of this section, the owner of the copyright in the work shall, in relation to any person who makes the prescribed inquiries, be deemed to have given his consent to the making of such contrivances if he fails to reply to such inquiries within the prescribed time.

(6) For the purposes of this section, the Board of Trade may make regulations prescribing anything which under this section is to be prescribed, and prescribing the mode in which notices are to be given and the particulars to be given in such notices, and the mode, time, and frequency of the payment of royalties, and any such regulations may, if the Board think fit, include regulations requiring payment in advance or otherwise securing the payment of royalties.

(7) In the case of musical works published before the commencement of this Act, the foregoing provisions shall have effect, subject to the following modifications and additions:

(a) The conditions as to the previous making by, or with the consent or acquiescence of the owner of the copyright in the work, and the restrictions as to alterations in or omissions from the work shall not apply:

(b) The rate of two and one-half per cent. shall be substituted for the rate of five per cent. as the rate at which royalties are to be calculated, but no royalties shall be payable in respect of contrivances sold before the 1st day of July, 1913, if contrivances reproducing the same work had been lawfully made, or placed on sale, within the parts of His Majesty’s dominions to which this Act extends before the 1st day of July, 1910:

(c) Notwithstanding person representatives and not to the assignees, and the royalties aforesaid shall be payable to, and for the benefit of, the author of the work or his legal personal representatives:

(d) The saving contained in this Act of the rights and interests arising from, or in connexion with, action taken before the commencement of this Act shall not be construed as authorising any person who has made contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed to sell any such contrivances, whether made before or after the passing of this Act, except on the terms and subject to the conditions laid down in this section:
(e) Where the work is a work on which copyright is conferred by an Order in Council relating to a foreign country, the copyright so conferred shall not, except to such extent as may be provided by the Order, include any rights with respect to the making of records, perforated rolls or other contrivances by means of which the work may be mechanically performed.

(8) Notwithstanding anything in this Act where a record, perforated roll, or other contrivance by means of which sounds may be mechanically reproduced has been made before the commencement of this Act, copyright shall, as from the commencement of this Act, subsist therein in like manner and for the like term as if this Act had been in force at the date of the making of the original plate from which the contrivance was directly or indirectly derived:

Provided that—

(i) the person who, at the commencement of this Act, is the owner of such original plate shall be the first owner of such copyright; and

(ii) constructed as conferring copyright in any such contrivance as would have infringed copyright in some other contrivance had been in force at the time of the making of the first mentioned contrivance.

Subsection (2)—The rights given by the Copyright Act, 1911, to the author of a musical production to restrain the manufacture of records upon giving notice to the author and laying royalties to him, do not affect any copyright vested in an assignee under an assignment made before the Act. Chappell v. Columbia Gramophone Co., (1914) 2 Ch. 127, 745 Subsection (6)—Under sub-section (6) the Board of Trade may make regulations requiring payments.

20. Notwithstanding anything in this Act it shall not be an infringement of copyright in an address of a political nature delivered at a public meeting to publish a report thereof in a newspaper.

21. The term for which copyright shall subsist in photographs shall be fifty years from making of the original negative from which the photograph was directly or indirectly derived, and the person who was owner of such negative at the time when such negative was made shall be deemed to be the author of the work, and, where such owner is a body corporate, the body corporate shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to reside within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends if it has established a place of business within such parts.

Notes—This section applies irrespective of the fact that the photograph is published or unpublished. A negative will be deemed to be made not upon exposure, but upon the plate being developed and fixed. Vide Copinger's Copyright, p. 85. The copyright dates from the making of the original negative and subsists for a period of fifty years from that date. Where, however, the work is ordered by another person and is made for valuable consideration, the first ownership in copyright belongs to the person so ordering the work in the absence of any agreement. Vide section 5 (1) (a). But the proprietory right in the negative remains with the author.

22. (1) This Act shall not apply to designs capable of being registered under the Patents and Designs Act, 1907, except designs which, though capable of being so registered, are not used or intended to be used as models or patterns to be multiplied by any industrial process.

(2) General rules under section 86 of the Patents and Designs Act 1907, may be made for determining the conditions under which a design shall be deemed to be used for such purposes as aforesaid.

Notes—This section is intended to make the distinction between the law of copyright and the law of design. Under the old law there was no considerable overlapping. Such a division has, however, now become necessary by reason of the inclusion of works of artistic craftsmanship and architectural works of art as matter for copyright protection—Oldfield’s Law of Copyright, p. 124.

23. If it appears to His Majesty that a foreign country does not give, or has not undertaken to give, adequate protection to the works of British authors, it shall be lawful for His Majesty by Order in Council to direct that such of the provisions of this Act as confer copyright on works first published within the part of His Majesty’s dominions to which this Act extends, shall not apply to works thereof are His Majesty’s works.

Notes.—"The intention of this Act is that by Order in Council, the benefit of the protection under the Act should be extended to foreign countries when such countries give reciprocal advantages, and it may be assumed that such extension will be made before the Act comes into force in favour of those countries that are members of the copyright union, so that any author who first publishes in a union country shall not be under the disadvantages of the Act, or his right to withhold the advantages of the Act, have been conferred, if such a case should arise in which it appears that a foreign country does not give or has not undertaken to give adequate protection to the works of British authors."—Oldfield’s Law of Copyright, p. 128.

24. (1) Where any person is immediately before the commencement of this Act entitled to any such right in any work as is specified in the first column of the First Schedule to this Act, or to any interest in such a right, he shall, as from that date, be entitled to the substituted right set forth in the second column of that schedule, or to the same interest in such a substituted right, and to no other right or interest, and such substituted right shall subsist for the term for which it would have subsisted if this Act had been in force at the date when the work was made and the work had been one entitled to copyright thereunder:

Provided that—

(a) if the author of any work in which any such right as is specified in the first column of the First Schedule to this Act subsists at the commencement of this Act has, before that date, assigned the right or granted any interest therein for the whole term of the right, then at the date when, but for the passing of this Act, the right would have expired the substituted right conferred by this section shall, in the absence of express agreement, pass to the author of the work, and any interest therein created before the commencement of this Act and then subsisting shall determine, but the person who immediately before the date at which the right was assigned or granted was the author of the work shall have the benefit of the rights conferred by this section.
right would have so expired was the owner of the right or interest shall be entitled at his option either —

(i) on giving such notice as hereinafter mentioned, to an assignment of the right or the grant of a similar interest therein for the remainder of the term of the right for such consideration as, failing agreement, may be determined, by arbitration; or

(ii) without any such assignment or grant, to continue to reproduce or perform the work in like manner as theretofore subject to the payment, if demanded by the author within three years after the date at which the right would have so expired, of such royalties to the author as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration, or, where the work is incorporated in a collective work and the owner of the right or interest is the proprietor of that collective work, without any such payment;

The notice above referred to must be given not more than one year nor less than six months before the date at which the right would have so expired, and must be sent by registered post to the author, or, if he cannot with reasonable diligence be found, advertised in the London Gazette and in two London newspapers;

(b) where any person has, before the 26th day of July, 1910, taken any action whereby he has incurred any expenditure or liability in connexion with the reproduction or performance of any work in a manner which at the time was lawful, or for the purpose of or with a view to the reproduction or performance of a work at a time when such reproduction or performance would, but for the passing of this Act, have been lawful, nothing in this section shall diminish or prejudice any rights or interest arising from or in connexion with such action which are subsisting and valuable at the said date, unless the person who by virtue of this section becomes entitled to restrain such reproduction or performance agrees to pay such compensation as, failing agreement, may be determined by arbitration.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the expression "author" includes the legal personal representatives of a deceased author.

(3) Subject to the provisions of section 19, sub-sections (7) and (8) and of section 33 of this Act, copyright shall not subsist in any work made before the commencement of this Act, otherwise than under, and in accordance with, the provisions of this section.

Notes — An entry in the Copyright Register Book under section 3 of the previous Copyright Act is prima facie evidence of the proprietorship of the person mentioned therein, but the absence of that provision from the new Copyright Act, does not make it none the less evidence when the new Act grants to the owners of existing copyrights, right at least as valuable as the rights given under the repealed Act. Section 114 of the Evidence Act can, therefore, be invoked to make such evidence admissible. 30 Ind. Cas. 721 = 16 Cr. L. J. 673. This section makes this Act retrospective and this Act is to be considered as if in force at the time when this was made for the purpose of computing the term for which copyright subsists. — Oldfield's Law of Copyright p. 170. Where copyright is subsisting on date of Act, new Act replaces his right and interest.

Application to British Possessions.

25. (1) This Act, except such of the provisions thereof as are expressly restricted to the United Kingdom, shall extend throughout His Majesty's dominions; that it shall not extend to a self-governing c.
nion, unless declared by the Legislature of that dominion to be in force therein either without any modifications or additions, or with such modifications and additions relating exclusively to procedure and remedies, or necessary to adapt this Act to the circumstances of the dominion, as may be enacted by such Legislature.

(1) If the Secretary of State certifies by notice published in the London Gazette that any self-governing dominion has passed legislation under which works, the authors whereof were at the date of the making of the works British subjects resident elsewhere than in the dominion or (not being British subjects) were resident in the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, enjoy within the dominion rights substantially identical with those conferred by this Act, then, whilst such legislation continues in force, the dominion shall, for the purposes of the rights conferred by this Act, be treated as if it were a dominion to which this Act extends; and it shall be lawful for the Secretary of State to give such a certificate as aforesaid, notwithstanding that the remedies for enforcing the rights, or the restrictions on the importation of copies of works, manufactured in a foreign country, under the law of the dominion, differ from those under this Act.

This Act with or without modifications has been in force there.—Oldfield's Law of Copyright, p. 134.

26. (1) The Legislature of any Legislative powers of self-governing dominions.

In time, rendering to copies of this Act so far as they are operative within that dominion: Provided that no such repeal shall prejudicially affect any legal rights existing at the time of the repeal, and that, on this Act or any part thereof being so repealed by the Legislature of a self-governing dominion that dominion shall cease to be a dominion to which this Act extends.

(2) In any self-governing dominion to which this Act does not extend, the enactments repealed by this Act shall, so far as they are operative in that dominion, continue in force until repealed by the Legislature of that dominion.

(3) Where His Majesty in Council is satisfied that the law of a self-governing dominion to which this Act does not extend provides adequate protection within the dominion for the works (whether published or unpublished) of authors who at the time of the making of the work were British subjects resident elsewhere than in that dominion, His Majesty in Council may, for the purpose of giving reciprocal protection, direct that this Act, except such parts (if any) thereof as may be specified in the Order, and subject to any conditions contained therein, shall, within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, apply to works the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the work, resident within the first mentioned dominion, and to works first published in that dominion; but save as provided by such an Order, works the authors whereof were resident in a dominion to which this Act does not extend shall not, whether they are British subjects or not, be entitled to any protection under this Act except such protection as is by this Act conferred on works first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends.

Provided that no such Order shall confer any rights within a self-governing dominion, but the Governor in Council of any self-governing dominion to which this Act extends may, by Order, confer within that dominion the like rights as His Majesty in Council is, under the foregoing provisions of this subsection, authorised to confer within other parts of His Majesty's dominions.

For the purposes of this subsection, the expression "a dominion to which this Act extends" includes a dominion which is for the purposes of this Act to be treated as if it were a dominion to which this Act extends.
Notes—It is to be noted that sub-section (1) gives the legislature of any self-governing dominion power to repeal any enactment relating to copyright including the Act of 1911; all the dominions have now repealed the legislation prior to the Act of 1911 which applied to them—Vide Copinger, p. 301.

27. The Legislature of any British possession to which this Act extends may modify or add to any of the provisions of this Act in its application to the possession, but except so far as such modifications and additions relate to procedure and remedies, they shall apply only to works the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the work, resident in the possession, and to works first published in the possession.

Notes—This sub-section corresponds to resolution 2(b) of the Imperial Copyright Conference, 1910. It applies to all British possessions except the self-governing dominions unless adopted by those dominions. The result is that local Acts will only be operative within the possession—Oldfield's Law of Copyright, p. 136.

28. His Majesty may, by Order in Council, extend this Act to any territories under his protection and to Cyprus, and on the making of any such Order, this Act shall, subject to the provisions of the Order, have effect as if the territories to which it applies or Cyprus were part of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends.

Notes—The administration of Cyprus is entrusted to England under a treaty of June 4, 1887.

PART II.

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

29. (1) His Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that this Act (except such parts, if any, thereof as may be specified in the Order) shall apply—

(a) to works first published in a foreign country to which the Order relates, in like manner as if they were first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends;

(b) to literary, dramatic, musical and artistic works, or any class thereof, the authors whereof were, at the time of the making of the works, subjects or citizens of a foreign country to which the Order relates, in like manner as if the authors were British subjects;

(c) in respect of residence in a foreign country to which the Order relates in like manner as if such residence were residence in the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which the Act extends; and thereupon, subject to the provisions of this Part of this Act and of the Order, this Act shall apply accordingly.

Provided that—

(i) before making an Order in Council under this section in respect of any foreign country (other than a country with which His Majesty has entered into a convention relating to copyright), His Majesty shall be satisfied that that foreign country has made, or has undertaken to make, such provisions, if any, as it appears to His Majesty expedient to require for the protection of works entitled to copyright under the provisions of Part I of this Act;

(ii) the Order in Council may provide that the terms of copyright within such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid shall not exceed that conferred by the law of the country to which the Order relates;

(iii) the provisions of this Act as to the delivery of copies of books shall not apply to works first published in such country, except so far as is provided by the order;
(iv) the Order in Council may provide that the enjoyment of the rights conferred by this Act shall be subject to the accomplishment of such conditions and formalities (if any) as may be prescribed by the Order;

(v) in applying the provisions of this Act as to ownership of copyright, the Order in Council may make such modifications as appear necessary having regard to the law of the foreign country;

(vi) in applying the provisions of this Act as to existing works, the Order in Council may make such modifications as appear necessary, and may provide that nothing in those provisions as so applied shall be construed as reviving any right of preventing the production or importation of any translation in any case where the right has ceased by virtue of section 5 of the International Copyright Act, 1886."

(2) An Order in Council under this section may extend to all the several countries named or described therein.

30. (1) An Order in Council under this Part of this Act shall apply to all His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends except self-governing dominions and any other possessions specified in the Order with respect to which it appears to His Majesty expedient that the Order should not apply.

(2) The Governor in Council of any self-governing dominion to which this Act extends may, as respects that dominion, make the like orders as under this Part of this Act. His Majesty in Council is authorised to make with respect to His Majesty's dominions other than self-governing dominions and the provisions of this Part of this Act shall, with the necessary modifications, apply accordingly.

(3) Where it appears to His Majesty expedient to except from the provisions of any Order any part of his dominions, not being a self-governing dominion, it shall be lawful for His Majesty by the same or any other Order in Council to declare that such Order and this Part of this Act shall not, and the same shall not, apply to such part, except so far as is necessary for preventing any prejudice to any rights acquired previously to the date of such Order.

Notes.—Under this section the self-governing dominions are enabled to make their own Orders in Council, applying the law in such dominions to foreign works. This is new law.—Oldfield's Law of Copyright, p. 148.

PART III.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

31. No person shall be entitled to copyright or any similar right in any literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work, whether published or unpublished, otherwise than under and in accordance with the provisions of this Act, or of any other statutory enactment for the time being in force, but nothing in this section shall be construed as abrogating any right or jurisdiction to restrain a breach of trust or confidence.

Notes.—The new Act, however, abolishes common law copyright, and confers statutory copyright upon all works as from the date when the same are made. In dealing with unpublished works it is advisable to distinguish three things, which are somewhat intermingled in the older cases, namely: (a) the right to the material thing, such as the manuscript; (b) the right to publish the manuscript by making copies thereof or extracts therefrom; and (c) the right to make use of the ideas or information conveyed by the manuscript, without copying the actual language employed therein. The second right only belongs properly to the law of copyright; the first is protected by the ordinary possessory remedies and the third by that equitable jurisdiction to restrain breaches of trust and confidence which is expressly given, p. 27, but such the case, v. 32. (1) His Majesty in Council may make Orders for altering, revoking, or varying any Order in Council made under this Act, or under any enactments repealed by this Act, but any Order made under this section shall not affect prejudicially any rights or interests acquired or accrued at the date when the order comes into operation, and shall provide for the protection of such rights and interests.

* 49 & 50 Vict., c. 33.

(2) Every Order in Council made under this Act shall be published in the London Gazette and shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament as soon as may be after it is made, and shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

33. Nothing in this Act shall deprive any of the universities and colleges mentioned in the Copyright Act, 1775,9 of any copyright they already possess under that Act, but the remedies and penalties for infringement of the Act and not under that Act.

34. There shall continue to be charged on, and paid out of, the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom such annual compensation as was immediately before the commencement of this Act payable in pursuance of any Act as compensation to a library for the loss of the right to receive gratuitous copies of books.

Provided that this compensation shall not be paid to a library in any year, unless the Treasury are satisfied that the compensation for the previous year has been applied in the purchase of books for the use of and to be preserved in the library.

35. (1) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,— "Literary work" includes maps, charts, plans, tables, and compilations; "Dramatic work" includes any piece for recitation, choreographic work or entertainment in dumb show, the scenic arrangement or acting form of which is fixed in writing or otherwise, and any cinematograph production where the arrangement or acting form or the combination of incidents represented give the work an original character;

"Artistic work" includes works of painting, drawing, sculpture and artistic craftsmanship, and architectural works of art and engravings and photographs;

"Work of sculpture" includes cased and models;

"Architectural work of art" means any building or structure having an artistic character or design, in respect of such character or design, or any model for such building or structure, provided that the protection afforded by this Act shall be confined to the artistic character and design, and shall not extend to processes or methods of construction;

"Engravings" include etchings, lithographs, wood-cuts, prints, and other similar works, not being photographs;

"Photograph" includes photo-lithograph and any work produced by any process analogous to photography;

"Cinematograph" includes any work produced by any process analogous to cinematography;

"Collective work" means—

(a) an encyclopaedia, dictionary, year-book, or similar work;

(b) a newspaper, review, magazine, or similar periodical; and

(c) any work written in distinct parts by different authors, or in which works or parts of works of different authors, are incorporated;

"Infringing," when applied to a copy of a work in which copyright subsists, means any copy, including any colourable imitation made or imported in contravention of the provisions of this Act;

"Performance" means any acoustic representation of a work and any visual representation of any dramatic action in a work, including such a representation made by means of any mechanical instrument;

"Delivery," in relation to a lecture, includes delivery by means of any mechanical instrument;

"Plate" includes any stereotype or other plate, stone, block, mould, matrix, transfer, or negative used or intended to be used for printing or reproducing copies of any work, and any matrix or other appliance by which records, perforated rolls or other contrivances for the acoustic representation of the work are or are intended to be made;

"Lecture" includes address, speech, and sermon;

"Self-governing dominion" means the Dominion of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia, the Dominion of New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, and Newfoundland.

(2) For the purposes of the definition of "author" of the works of copyright, a work shall be deemed to be published, performed in public, or delivered in public, without the consent or acquiescence of the author, his executors, administrators or assigns.

(3) For the purposes of this Act, a work shall be deemed to be first published within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends, notwithstanding that it has been published simultaneously in some other place, unless the publication in such parts of His Majesty's dominions as aforesaid is colourable only and is not intended to satisfy the reasonable requirements of the public, and a work shall be deemed to be published simultaneously in two places if the time between the publication in one such place and the publication in the other place does not exceed fourteen days, or such longer period as may, for the time being, be fixed by Order in Council.

(4) Where, in the case of an unpublished work, the making of a work has extended over a considerable period, the conditions of this Act conferring copyright shall be deemed to have been complied with, if the author was, during any substantial part of that period, a British subject or a resident within the parts of His Majesty's dominions to which this Act extends.

(5) For the purposes of the provisions of this Act as to residence, an author

THE COURT FEES ACT, 1870.

ACT NO. VII OF 1870.

Received the G. G.'s assent on 11th March, 1870.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be called the Court Fees Act, 1870.

Extent of Act.

It extends to the whole of British India;

Commencement of Act.

And it shall come into force on the first day of April, 1870.

Amendments by Local Acts.—The power to amend the Court Fees Act by Provincial Act is given by the Devolution Act (XXXVIII of 1920). The various Local Acts which have amended the Court Fees Act of 1870 have been given in Appendix A at the end of the volume.

schedules for the stamps to be used in certain offices of Courts of Chief Justice. That Act not only prescribes the fees but provides how fees are to be ascertained, how questions as to the sufficiency of fees on document so far as Courts are concerned are to be determined, and the conditions under which only the documents to the Act may be received, Courts in India. The Court Fees stamped under that Act for the 12 A. 129 (F. B.) at p. 139. The Court Fees Act, is to lay down rules for the collection of one form of taxation, and the rule that statutes which impose pecuniary burdens or encroach upon, or qualify the rights of the subject, must be strictly construed applies with special force to such provisions of the Act as provides a penalty whatever its nature may be. Per Mahmood J. in 8 A. 282. "The Court Fees Act is essentially a fiscal enactment. Its primary object is to provide for and protect the revenue and not to coerce the subject," Per Manuk J. in 49 Ind. Cas. 442 at p. 44= 49 Pat. L. J. 57 (71); see also 39 C. L. J. 209; 9 M. 148 (F. B.); 14 A. L. J. 850= 36 Ind. Cas. 877; 1922 U. B. R. 14; 44 Ind. Cas. 251 (F. B.); 37 A. 153= 27 Ind. It has been extended, by notification under ss. 5 and 5 A of the same Act, to the following Scheduled Districts, namely:—The Garo Hills District, the Khasia District, the North Cachar Sub-division of the Assam District, and the Dibrugarh District, provided that the Act does not apply to the Gazetted officer assessed to house-tax except in such case as the Governor may withdraw from the operation of the exemption.—See the Aisam Gazette, 1897, Pt. 1, p. 851; the Gazette of India, 1834, Pt. 1, p. 164.

It has also been applied to the Baluchistan Agency Territories by the Baluchistan Agency Law, 1890, 4 (1).

The Act came into permanent operation in Aden on 1st April, 1876.—See the Bombay Government Gazette, 1876, Pt 1, p. 956

It has been declared inapplicable to proceedings before officers making a settlement, and certain other cases under the Santhal Parganas Settlement Regulation (III of 1872), s. 8. See also the Act as amended by the Santhal Parganas Justice and Laws Regulation (III of 1899).

The Act has been amended in Upper Burma (see the Upper Burma Civil Courts Regulation, 1 of 1896, s 36); in the Punjab (see the Punjab Courts Act, XVII of 1886, s. 71); in Lower Burma (see the Lower Burma Courts Act, VI of 1900, Sch. 1, Pt. 1)

Retrospective effect of the Act—"As observed in Munroo v. Akol, 17 C. W. N. 88=17 C. L. J. 316, every statute which takes away or impairs a vested right acquired under existing laws or creates a new obligation or imposes a new duty or attaches a new disability, in respect of transactions or considerations already passed, must be deemed retrospective in its operation. The rule that enactments in a statute are generally to be construed to be prospective and intended to regulate the future conduct of persons is deeply founded in good sense and strict justice; and it has been repeatedly laid down that in the absence of clear word to that effect, a statute will not be construed so as to take away a vested right of action acquired before it was passed. Badhu Koar v. Hafi, 18 C. L. J. 274 and 19 W. N. 452. But when a plaint is presented with deficient Court-fees, the Court-fees would be charged in accordance with the Court Fees Act in force at the date of the presentation. 28 C. W. N. 860 = 51 C. 216 = 39 C. L. J. 272. An appeal must be presented to a proper officer, and accordingly such an appeal must be charged with the Court-fees prescribed in the Court Fees Act, which is in force on the date of presentation to the proper officer. 2 Pat. 264 = (1923) A. I. R. 150 (Patna); see also 14 W. R. 167; 30 C. W. N. 90 = 1926 A. I. R. 355 (Cal.); but see 39 C. L. J. 222 = 28 C. W. N. 403 = 1924 A. I. R. Cal. 881; 46 M. 685 = 45 M. L. J. 557 = 1923 M. W. N. 883 (F. B.).

How determined.—In each case the Court-fee is to be imposed by the nature of the relief claimed. 21 C. W. N. 375; 40 C. L. J. 150; 20 C. L. J. 762; 28 Ind. Cas. 79; 30 M. 18; 21 Ind. Cas. 405 = 40 C. 615. It is to be imposed on the actual value of the property. 59 Ind. Cas. 513 = 6 P. L. J. 411. As to when no Court-fee is to be paid, vide 12 C. W. N. 917.

"Chief Controlling Revenue authority" means—

(a) in the Presidency of Fort St. George "the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal" and the territories respectively under the administration of the Lieutenant-Governors of "Behar and Otrissa" and the North Western Provinces and the Chief Commissioner of Oudh—the Board of Revenue; officer does not arise like the jurisdiction of an arbitrator upon a difference of opinion between a Court clerk and a suitor and upon some sort of formal reference to decide that dispute. 29 C. W. N. 879 = 52 C. 871 = A. I. R. 1925 Cal. 120. Where must decide it. 47 A. 756 = 89 Ind. Cas. 123 = 23 A. L. J. 725; 37 C. 914.

Scope.—The intention of this section is merely to ensure that the question should be raised before the taxing officer and that he should bring his mind to bear on the question and that he should decide it. 29 C. W. N. 879 = 52 C. 871; see also 20 M. 398. To determine the amount of Court-fee payable on a memorandum of appeal filed in the High Court the taxing officer has power to investigate for himself the proper value of the appeal. He can take evidence for that purpose and should not exercise his powers in a summary manner. His decision is final Taxing Officer can make reference only in regard to the payment of the Court fee in the High Court. A. I. R. 1935 All. 817.

Where the decision of the taxing officer is erroneous, additional Court-fee need not be paid. 15 A. 177 ; 11 A 91 ; but see 46 B 840 = 67 Ind. Cas. 364. A taxing officer can correct his error. 68 Ind. Cas. 316. Levy of additional Court-fees after decision is not allowable. 32 Ind. Cas. 534. The decision of a taxing officer is neither a decree nor an order. 12 A. 129 (F. B.).

It is competent to the Chief Justice of a High Court to refer a dispute between a suitor or his attorney and the officer of the Court as regards the Court-fee payable on an appeal from an order of a single Judge on the original side, to the decision of a particular Judge of the High Court under this section. 43 M. C. C. II. Vol. I—61
Computation of fees payable in certain suits

i. In suits for money (including suits for damages or compensation, or arrears of maintenance of annuities, or of other sums payable periodically)—according to the amount claimed:

ii. In suits for maintenance and annuities or other sums payable periodically—according to the value of the subject-matter of the suit, and such value shall be deemed to be ten times the amount claimed to be payable for one year:

iii. In suits for movable property having a market value:

iv. In suits—

(a) for movable property where the subject-matter has no market-value as, for instance, in the case of documents relating to title,

(b) to enforce the right to share in any property on the ground that it is joint family property,

(c) to obtain a declaratory decree or order, where consequential relief is prayed,

(d) to obtain an injunction,

(e) for a right to some benefit (not herein otherwise provided for) to arise out of land, and

(f) for accounts—according to the amount at which the relief sought is valued in the plaint or memorandum of appeal:

In all such suits the plaintiff shall state the amount at which he values the relief sought:

v. In suits for the possession of lands, houses and gardens—according to the value of the subject-matter; and such value shall be deemed to be—

(a) where the land forms an entire estate, or a definite share of an estate, paying annual revenue to Government, or forms part of such an estate and is recorded in the Collector's register as separately assessed with such revenue, and such revenue is permanently settled—ten times the revenue so payable:

(b) where the land forms an entire estate, or a definite share of an estate, paying annual revenue to Government, or forms part of such estate and is recorded as aforesaid; and such revenue is settled, but not permanently—five [ten] times the revenue so payable:

* As to the valuation of suits for the purpose of determining the jurisdiction of Courts, see the Suits' Valuation Act (VII of 1887)

Act 6 of 1918.
(c) Where the land pays no such revenue, or has been partially exempted from such payment, or is charged with any fixed payment in lieu of such revenue, and nett profits have arisen from the land during the year next before the date of presenting the plaint—fifteen times such nett profits;
but where no such nett profits have arisen therefrom—the amount at which the Court shall estimate the land with reference to the value of similar land in the neighbourhood:

(a) where the land forms part of an estate paying revenue to Government, but is not a definite share of such estate and is not separately assessed as above mentioned—the market value of the land:

Provided that, in the territories subject to the Governor of Bombay in Council the value of the land shall be deemed to be—

1. where the land is held on settlement for a period not exceeding thirty years, and pays the full assessment to Government—a sum equal to five times the survey-assessment;
2. where the land is held on a permanent settlement, or on a settlement for any period exceeding thirty years, and pays the full assessment to Government—a sum equal to ten times the survey assessment; and
3. where the whole or any part of the annual survey-assessment is remitted—a sum computed under paragraph 1 or paragraph 2 of this proviso, as the case may be, in addition to ten times the assessment, or the portion of assessment, so remitted:

Explanation.—The word "estate," as used in this paragraph, means any land subject to the payment of revenue, for which the proprietor or farmer or raiyat shall have executed a separate engagement to Government, or which, in the absence of such engagement, shall have been separately assessed with revenue:

for houses or gardens,

according to the market value of the house or garden:

vi. In suits to enforce a right of pre-emption—according to the value (computed in accordance with paragraph v of this section) of the land, house or garden in respect of which the right is claimed:

vii. In suits for the interest of assignee of land-revenue—fifteen times his nett profits as such for the year next before the date of presenting the plaint:

viii. In suits to set aside an attachment of land or of an interest in land or revenue—according to the amount for which the land or interest was attached:

Provided that, where such amount exceeds the value of the land or interest, the amount of fee shall be computed as if the suit were for the possession of such land or interest.

to redeem;

to foreclose;
or, where the mortgage is made by conditional sale, to have the sale declared absolute—

ix. In suits against a mortgagee for the recovery of the property mortgaged, and in suits by a mortgagee to foreclose the mortgage, according to the principal money expressed to be secured by the mortgage.

for specific performance;
(a) of a contract of sale—according to the amount of the consideration;
(b) of a contract of mortgage—according to the amount agreed to be secured;
(c) of a contract of lease—according to the aggregate amount of the fine or premium (if any) and of the rent agreed to be paid during the first year of the term:
(d) of an award—according to the amount or value of the property in dispute:

between landlord and tenant.

xi. In the following suits between landlord and tenant:

(a) for the delivery by a tenant of the counterpart of a lease,
(b) to enhance the rent of a tenant having a right of occupancy,
(c) for the delivery by a landlord of a lease,
(d) to contest a notice of ejectment,
(e) to recover the occupancy of "immovable property"* from which a tenant has been illegally ejected by the landlord, and
(f) for abatement of rent—

according to the amount of the rent of the "immovable property"* to which the suit refers, payable for the year next before the date of presenting the plaint.

Para V.

Scope of the Para.—Section 7, clause (v) does not apply to a suit for recovery of possession of land of which the plaintiff claims to be tenants, brought against the admitted landlords and persons who also claim to be tenants of the same; and the value of the relief sought, as stated in the plaint, determines the jurisdiction of the Court to try the suit. 19 C. L. J. 418; see also 32 C. 268; 15A-63; 3 Pat. L. J. 448; but see 8 C. 262. The land does not include house or garden. 24 A. 218; 4 B. 515; 18 M. L. J. 423. Garden is used in the sense of ornamental garden. 40 M. 524. Recovery of possession is an essential element of any suit filed to turn out an encroacher. In such a case the plaint cannot be deemed to fall outside the scope of section 7, merely because other reliefs are also claimed. A tank bed has no market value because it is unsaleable except as an accessory to other property. No means exist for ascertaining what, in such case, is its true value. Hence in a suit for ejectment of defendant from tank bed, it is impossible to apply the provisions of s. 7 (v) because the value of the subject-matter is indeterminate. The only course is to assess the Court-fee under Act 17 B. A. I. R. 1934 Mad. 714=67 M. L. J. 688=40 L. W. 716=1934 M. W. N. 1248. It is desirable that s 7(v) should be made more explicit by expressly providing that in case of suit for declaration of possession and right to possession is ancillary to it, it is enough to pay Court-fee on relief for possession. title as adopted son and for possession comes under s. 7 (v) (c). A. I. R. 1923 Pat. 100. In a suit for possession and part meese profits, Court-fee payable is on the aggregate value of both the reliefs. 32 L. W. 433. Plaintiff who does not claim a declaration that a decree under which defendant holds possession is not binding on him, but simply sues for possession need pay Court-fee only on it. A. I. R. 1929 Nag. 276. In a suit for specific performance of a contract to sell a property and for delivery of possession of property the value of suit for purposes of jurisdiction and Court-fee should be the market value of the suit property and not the amount of the consideration money. In case of cross-objection claiming possession of an immovable property, the Court-fee is payable ad valorem on value of property, and should not be calculated on five times the land revenue in accordance with s. 7 (v). Court-fee in pre-emption suit in respect of a sale of land paying revenue should be calculated according to s. 7 (v). 15 P. R. 1919 = 49 Ind Cas 358. In a suit by alleged tenant for possession of land against landlord and third person, Court-fee must be paid under s. 7 (v). A. I. R. 1933 Nag. 312. Clause (a).—In a suit to recover possession of a definite share in a permanently-settled revenue-paying estate the Court-fee on the plaintiff should be calculated according to this clause at ten times of the proportionate revenue annually payable. The definite share does not mean share separately assessed. 12 C. W. N. 909; 8 C. 192; see also 33 Ind Cas. 683; 58 Ind. Cas. 132; 49 C. 880. A plaintiff cannot avail himself of sub-clause (a) of clause 5 of this section, unless he brings his case strictly within its terms and for that purpose the determining factor is the land in suit and not a larger property in which it may be included. 10 C. L. J. 342. A share in an under-proprietorship tenure in a permanently-settled village is a definite share of an estate. 24. O. C. 39 = 58 Ind Cas. 132; 45 Ind. Cas. 928. Suit for the recovery of specific plot of land situated within permanently settled estate but not constituting a definite share thereof or a separately assessed to revenue falls within clause (v) (d) and not under clause (v) (a) or (b) of section 7. R. 84 of 1876. Until the appeal is admitted, it is not competent to the Appellate Court to pass an order dismissing the original suit under ss 10 and 11 for non-payment of Court-fee. 1 M. L. J. 528.

A plaintiff is at liberty to withdraw any part of his claim to bring it within the Court-fees he had paid on his plaint and a Court is not bound to dismiss a claim, if a plaintiff instead of complying with an order for payment of deficient Court-fee abandons that portion of his claim which the Court had held to have been over-valued. 27 A. 151.

Time given by Court.—It is competent to a Court, after the expiry of the time initially granted, to enlarge the time for payment of the deficit Court-fees on a plaint upon payment of deficit Court-fees the plaint must be taken to have been instituted on the day when the plaint was originally presented. 2 Ind. Cas. 1; see also 15 C. L. J. 120; 13 C. L. J. 78; 3 Ind. Cas. 830.

Suit—includes appeal. 15 Ind. Cas. 463

Dismissal of a suit under ss. 10 and 11 has the same effect as a rejection of the plaint under s. 54 of C. P. Code.—12 A 129 (F. B.) = A. W. N. 1890, 39; 4 Pat. L. J. 703.

This section allows a Court to dismiss a suit for non-payment of the additional Court-fee when it has jurisdiction to dismiss the suit 1927 Bom. 257 (b); see also 4 Pat. L. J. 703; 60 Ind. Cas. 654.

11. In suits for mesne profits or for immovable property and mesne-profits, or for an account, if the profits or amount decreed are or is in excess of the profits claimed or the amount at which the plaintiff valued the relief sought, the decree shall not be executed until the difference between the fee actually paid and the fee which would have been payable had the suit comprised the whole of the profits or amount so decreed shall have been paid to the proper officer.

* Clause iii having been repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act (XII of 1891) has been omitted.

Where the amount of mesne-profits is left to be ascertained in the course of the execution of the decree, if the profits so ascertained exceed the profits claimed, the further execution of the decree shall be stayed until the difference between the fee actually paid and the fee which would have been payable had the suit comprised the whole of the profits so ascertained is paid. If the additional fee is not paid within such time as the Court shall fix, the suit shall be dismissed.

Scope.—The word 'suit' in the last clause of para 2, s. 11, Court-Fees Act, does not mean the entire suit. It can fairly be construed as the suit or claim in respect of the profits claimed, and the intention of the first part is that no time should be fixed for payment of extra Court-fee but the extra fee is paid. A. I. R. 1937 Pat. 230=8 P. L. T. 355=103 Ind. Cas. 592. Where lower Court decides less than claim amount, and High Court on appeal allows full claim with interest, no excess Court-fee is paid. A. I. No additional Court-fee need be paid in the case of a mortgage decree for a larger amount than claim amount. 3 P. L. T. 146=70 Ind. Cas. 483. On an application for mesne profits the Court-fee payable is an ad valorem fee. 1 Pat. L. T. 235=61 Ind. Cas. 425. Where in a suit for dissolution of partnership and its accounts, the decree is for higher amount, the plaintiff must pay Court-fee on the difference of the amount decreed and the amount on which Court-fee has been paid. A. I. R. 1935 Lab. 40. Court-fee is payable on future mesne profits but it can only be exacted after the amount has been ascertained by enquiry and the Court has no jurisdiction to dismiss such an application for non-payment of Court-fee in advance. 93 Ind. Cas. 939.

Interest pendente lite.—There is no provision of law authorizing the assessment of additional Court-fee by reason of the accrual of interest pendente lite. 1917 Pat. 230.
12. (i) Every question relating to valuation for the purpose of determining the amount of any fee chargeable under this chapter on a plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be decided by the Court in which such plaint or memorandum, as the case may be, is filed; and such decision shall be final as between the parties to the suit.

(ii) But whenever any such suit comes before a Court of Appeal, reference or revision, if such Court considers that the said question has been wrongly decided to the detriment of the revenue, it shall require the party by whom such fee has been paid to pay so much additional fee as would have been payable had the question been rightly decided, and the provisions of section 10, paragraph 11, shall apply.

Scope.—The correct meaning of this section is that the decision of the Court is final only as regards the actual appraisement of the suit and the determination of such question as relates directly and immediately thereto and that the question whether such Court was right or wrong in holding the suit to be one of a particular class does not relate directly or immediately to such appraisement and it is open to challenge on appeal. 49 Ind Cas 711 (F. B.); 16 C. L. J. 371; 6 S. L. R. 72; 3 Pat. L. J. 443; 47 Ind. Cas. 7; 25 Ind. Cas. 508; see also 10 C. 599 = 12 C. L. R. 148; 23 W. R. 296; 1 A. 350; 28 C 334; 2 B. 219; A. W. The provision of this section should be strictly construed and the additional fee should be levied from a party-litigant only in exact conformity with the precise words of the statute. But the provisions in fiscal statutes should not be so construed as to furnish a chance of escape and means of evasion.

But this section has no application to the case

When once a document is admitted by the lower Court it is not for a party to say that the document should be struck off from the record. The Court is entitled to allow the other party on payment of the proper fee to rely upon the document 94 Ind. Cas. 646; 23 Bom. L. R. 525; see also 91 Ind. Cas. 729. This section only applies to a decision as to the valuation of a suit which falls within a particular class and not to a decision as to the particular class in which a suit falls. If there is no doubt as to the class in which a suit falls and the section of the Court Fees Act which applies to it, the decision of the First Court as to valuation which depends on the value of the property in suit, is final. But if there is a dispute as to the class in which a suit falls, an appeal will lie 87 Ind. Cas. 911=A. I. R. 1923 Nag. 435. A decision as to the category to which a suit or appeal belongs is not final. 87 Ind. Cas. 660=A. I. R. 1923 Mad. 713=48 M. L. J. 688; see also 6 Pat. L. T. 448=49 Ind. Cas. 321. An order by a trial Court wrongly assessing Court-fee is not subject to appeal 28 P. L. J. 654 in the section do not mean that the Court. All that they mean is that the financial officer who is charged with that duty, has to determine what the Court-fee is 19 M. L. J. 608=1916 Mad. 95. An order directing Court-fees to be paid and granting time to pay it is not revisable.

13. If an appeal or plaint, which has been rejected by the lower Court, is remanded or the grounds mentioned in the Code of Civil Procedure, is ordered to be received, or if a suit is remanded in appeal, on any of the grounds mentioned in section 351 of the same Code, for a second decision by the lower Court, the appellate Court shall grant to the appellant a certificate, authorizing him to receive back from the Collector the full amount of fee paid on the memorandum of appeal;

Provided that, if, in the case of a remand in appeal, the order of remand shall not cover the whole of the subject-matter of the suit, the certificate so granted shall not authorize the appellant to receive back more than so much fee as would have been originally payable on the part or parts of such subject-matter in respect whereof the suit has been remanded.

Object—The apparent intention of this section is to require full stamp in every case of delay after the eighty-ninth day from the date of the decree, and to permit a refund at the discretion of the Judge when the delay is not due to the appellant's laches. 9 M. 131, 9 C. 15. Where an application for a review of judgment is admitted, and where, on the rehearing, the Court reverses or modifies its former decision on ground of mistake, he is entitled to a certificate from the Court authorising him to receive back from the Collector so much of the fee paid on the application as exceeds the fee payable on any other application to such Court under the second schedule to this Act No. 1, clause (d) or clause (e).

* The word has been substituted by Act XX of 1870.
But nothing in the former part of this section shall entitle the applicant to such certificate where the reversal or modification is due, wholly or in part, to fresh evidence which might have been produced at the original hearing.

Notes.—In order to attract the operation of this section the conditions requisite are that there should be an application for review of judgment, that it should have been admitted, that on the re-hearing the Court should have reversed or modified its former decision on the ground of mistake in law or fact and that such reversal or modification was not due to fresh evidence which might have been produced at the original hearing. 28 C. 17. Where a suit embraces two or more distinct subjects, the plaintiff or memorandum of appeal shall be chargeable with the aggregate amount of the fees to which the plaintiffs or memoranda of appeal in suits embracing separately each of such subjects would be liable under this Act.

Nothing in the former part of this section shall be deemed to affect the power conferred by the Code of Civil Procedure, section 9.

Scope.—This section is applicable only to a case where cumulative relief is sought by the plaintiff 15 B. 82; but see 30 M. 61, 16 M. L. J. 462; 11 O. C. 173; 47 Ind. Cas. 886; 44 Ind. Cas. 113. PROBATES, LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION AND CERTIFICATES OF ADMINISTRATION.

19A. Where any person on applying for the probate of a Will or letters of administration has estimated the property of the deceased to be of greater value than the same has afterwards proved to be, and has consequently paid too high a Court-fee thereon, if, within six months after the true value of the property has been ascertained, such person produces the probate or letters to the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority "for the local area"* in which the probate or letters has or have been granted, and delivers to such Authority a particular inventory and valuation of the property of the deceased, verified by affidavit or affirmation, and if such Authority is satisfied that a greater fee was paid on the probate or letters than the law required, the said Authority may—

(a) cancel the stamp on the probate or letters if such stamp has not been already cancelled;
(b) substitute another stamp for denoting the Court fee which should have been paid thereon; and
(c) make an allowance for the difference between them as in the case of spoiled stamps, or repay the same in money, at his discretion.

Notes—There is no grant of probate until the Court-fee is paid and the grant is issued to the party. 38 M. 988 = 29 M. L. J 680. "The sum charged upon a grant of probate or of letters of administration, is not a tax or duty levied upon the property upon which the probate or administration operates, and it is not charged thereon as is Estate Duty in England, but it is merely a fee levied for the work done in this connection. And I do not think that this is any less the case because the fee is levied upon the value of the property." Per Greaves J. in 27 C. W. N. 812 at p. 815.

19B. Whenever it is proved to the satisfaction of such Authority that an executor or administrator has paid debts due from the deceased to such an amount as, being deducted out of the amount or value of the estate, reduces the same to a sum which, if it had been the whole gross amount or value of the estate, would have occasioned a less Court fee to be paid on the probate or letters of administration granted in respect of such estate than has been actually paid thereon under this Act, such Authority may return the difference, provided the same be claimed within three years after the date of such probate or letters.

But when, by reason of any legal proceeding, the debts due from the deceased have not been ascertained and paid, or his effects have not been recovered and made available, and in consequence thereof the executor or administrator is prevented from claiming the return of such difference within the said term of three years, the said Authority may allow such further time for making the claim as may appear to be reasonable under the circumstances.

Notes—Whenever it is proved to the satisfaction of the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority for the local area, in which the probate or letters of administration has or have been granted that an executor or administrator has paid debts due from the deceased an abatement in Court-fees should be allowed. 1 B. L. R. App. 43 = 16 W. R. 252; 6 N. W. P. 214; 1 B. 118.

19C. Whenever a grant of probate or letters of administration has been or is made in respect of the whole of the property belonging to an estate, and the full fee chargeable under this Act has been or is paid thereon, no fee shall be chargeable under the same Act when a like grant is made in respect of the whole or any part of the same property belonging to the same estate.

Whenever such a grant has been or is made in respect of any property forming part of an estate, the amount of fees then actually paid under this Act shall be deducted when a like grant is made in respect of property belonging to the same estate, identical with or including the property to which the former grant relates.

THE COURT FEES ACT.

A Hindu father and his brother and two sons lived together in a joint Mitaksara family. The father died intestate leaving certain money in a bank. The brother and the two sons applied for letters of administration with a certificate from the Registrar who as the Taxing Officer (under R. 4 of Chapter XXXV of the Rules and Orders of the Calcutta High Court) certified exemption of Court fees as "the property was held in trust not beneficially or with general power to confer a beneficial interest." On reference to Gloss J. exemption was refused. (vide 29 C. W. N. 572) but on appeal the decision was reversed on the ground that the decision of the Taxing Officer under rule 4 of Chapter XXXV is final by virtue of section 5 of the Court Fees Act. However the Court in delivering the judgment also entered into the merit of the case and observed:

"Several questions of difficulty and importance arise upon the merits of the present application. Notwithstanding the decision In the goods of Pokurnull Agarwala, 23 C. 938 upon a reference by the Taxing Officer in any future case similar to the present to consider whether in view of the difficulties and divergence of opinion disclosed by subsequent decisions of other Courts [Vide Bank of Bombay v. There has been and there is likely to be a continuous increase in the number of cases in which shares, Government Securities and Bank accounts belonging to Mitaksara joint families stand in the name of one member. It is plain that father provison by the legislature is imperfectly required to solve the difficulties which arise in making title to such property upon the death of holder. Provided that, if the application be made within six months after the ascertained value of the estate and the discovery that too low a Court-fee was at first paid on the probate or letters, and if the said Authority is satisfied that such fee was paid in consequence of a mistake or of its not being known at the time that some particular part of the estate belonged to the deceased, and without any intention of fraud or to delay the payment of the proper Court-fee, the said Authority may remit the said penalty, and cause the probate or letters to be duly stamped on payment only of the amount wanting to make up the fee which should have been at first paid thereon.

Scope—This section contemplates an application on the part of the person who has taken out probate and produces the same to be duly stamped. The section further contemplates that the estimated value of the estate is less than what the value afterwards proved to be. Where there is no determination of value by the Probate Court the section has no application. 23 C. L. J. 375; 1896 P. J. 251; 43 C. 230=20 C. W. N. 375.

19F. In case of letters of administration on which too low a Court-fee has been paid at first, the said Authority shall not cause the same to be duly stamped in manner aforesaid until the administrator has given such security to the Court by which the letters of administration have been granted as ought by law to have been given on the granting thereof in case the full value of the estate of the deceased had been then ascertained.

19G.* Where too low a Court-fee has been paid on any probate or letters of administration in consequence of any mistake, or of its not being known at the time that some particular part of the estate belonged to the deceased, if any executor or administrator acting under such probate or letters does not, within six months ... after the discovery of the mistake, or any effects not known at the time to have belonged to the deceased, apply to the said Authority and pay what is wanting to make up the Court-fee which ought to have been paid at first on such probate or letters, he shall forfeit the sum of one thousand rupees and also a further sum at the rate of ten rupees per cent. on the amount of the sum wanting to make up the proper Court fee.

(4) If the petitioner does not amend the valuation to the satisfaction of the Collector, the Collector may move the Court before which the application for probate or letters of administration was made, to hold an inquiry into the true value of the property:

PROCESS-FEES.

Rules as to cost of processes may be, make rules as to the following matters:—

(ii) the fees chargeable for serving and executing processes issued by the Criminal Courts established within such limits in the case of offences other than offences for which police-officers may arrest without a warrant; and

(iii) the remuneration of the peons and all other persons employed by leave of a Court in the service or execution of processes.

The High Court may from time to time alter and add to the rules so made.

All such rules, alterations, and additions shall, after being confirmed by the Local Government be published in the local official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

Until such rules shall be so made and published, the fees now leviable for serving and executing processes shall continue to be levied, and shall be deemed to be fees leviable under this Act.

CHAPTER V.

OF THE MODE OF LEVING FEES.

Collection of fees by stamps.

25. All fees referred to in section 3 or chargeable under this Act, shall be collected by stamps.

26. The stamps used to denote any fees chargeable under this Act, shall be impressed or adhesive, or partly impressed and partly adhesive, as the “Local Government” may, by notification in the “Local Official Gazette” from time to time direct.

Notes.—Vide 27 A 409, 19 B 145.

(c) the renewal of damaged or spoiled stamps; and
(d) the keeping of accounts of all stamps used under this Act:

Provided that, in the case of stamps used under section 3 in a High Court, such rules shall be made with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of such Court.

All such rules shall be published in the local official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

Notes—The words "for use in the High Court only" impressed on the back of Court-fee stamps do not limit their use to High Court only. The words may have some significance for administrative purposes, but they are not capable of invalidating the stamps themselves if filed in lower Courts 97 Ind Cas. 822. Where stamps worth Rs 100, Rs 95 and some new stamps were affixed to review application requiring stamps worth Rs 233, application was treated to be unstamped and invalid. A. I. R. 1931 Nag. 94 = 26 L. R. 253; see also 11 Pat. L T. 708 = A. I. R. 1931 Pat. 113; A. I. R. 1931 Pat. 39 = 11 P. L T. 711.

28. No document which ought to bear a stamp under this Act shall be of any validity, unless and until it is properly stamped.

But, if any such document is through mistake or inadverence received, filed or used in any Court or office without being properly stamped, the presiding Judge or the head of the office, as the case may be, or, in the case of a High Court, any Judge of such Court, may, if he thinks fit, order that such document be stamped as he may direct; and, on such document being stamped accordingly, the same and every proceeding relative thereto, shall be as valid as if it had been properly stamped in the first instance.

Notes—Clause (i) is not applicable to memorandum of appeal insufficiently stamped. See also in this connection 12 A. 129; 25 M. 380; 144; 96 Ind. Cas. 135; 141 Ind. Cas. 736; 67 72; A. I. R. 1933 Pat. 81; A. I. R. 1932 Pat. 228.

words 'mistake or inadverence' in the section mean mistake or inadverence on the part of the Court or its officers and not that on the part of an appellant or his advisers. 12 A. 129; 28 A. 401; 4 A. L. J. 130. But a later full Bench of the Allahabad High Court held that this section is subject to no such limitation 23 A. 749 (F. B.); 24 M. 331; 25 M. 380.

Rejection of plaint, etc.—This section does not override the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code and it is illegal on the part of a Court to reject an insufficiently or improperly stamped plaint or memorandum of appeal, without giving the appellant time to supply deficient stamp. 136 P. R. 1888; A. W. N. 1902, 183; 54 P. L. R. 1909; 27 P. L. R. 1917; 39 Ind. Cas. 756. A Court is competent even to extend the time. 12 C. L. J. 62; 2 Ind. Cas. 1. the power to direct on revision the payment of Court-fee and to order that the plaint improperly stamped be properly stamped 22 C. L. J. 57.

29. Where any such document is amended in order merely to correct a mistake and to make it conform to the original intention of the parties, it shall not be necessary to impose a fresh stamp.

Notes—Where by amending the plaint, a fresh suit is brought this section does not exempt from payment of Court-fees. P R 132 of 1892. See 13 A. W. N. 720, where opportunity was given to the plaintiff to amend the plaint.

30. No document requir ed or Cancellation of stamp.
Such officer as the Court or the head of the office may from time to time appoint shall, on receiving any such document, forthwith effect such cancellation by punching out the figure-head so as to leave the amount designated on the stamp untouched, and the part removed by punching shall be burnt or otherwise destroyed.

Notes.—Where a plaint is returned by a Court for presentation to the proper Court, the Court to which the plaint is presented thereafter is bound to credit for the fee levied by the Court that returned the plaint. 21 M. L. J. 533 (F. B) = 10 Ind. Cas. 201.

CHAPTER VI.
MISCELLANEOUS.

33. Whenever the filing or exhibition in a Criminal Court of a document in respect of which the proper fee has not been paid is, in the opinion of the presiding Judge, necessary to prevent a failure of justice, nothing contained in section 4 or section 6 shall be deemed to prohibit such filing or exhibition.

34. * (1) The Local Government may from time to time make rules for regulating the sale of stamps to be used under this Act, the persons by whom alone such sale is to be conducted, and the duties and remuneration of such persons.

(2) All such rules shall be published in the local official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

(3) Any person appointed to sell stamps who disobeys any rule made under this section, and any person, not so appointed who sells or offers for sale any stamp, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

NOTES.

Exchange.—A muktear who has purchased a Court-fee stamp of 8 annas for a client, and not having any use of it, has transferred it to another client who promised to return another stamp of equal value when the vendor arrived in Court, has not sold a stamp within the meaning of s. 34 of the Court Fees Act and cannot be convicted under that section. 39 C. 921 = 7 C. W. N 704; see also 24 M. 212. Case of a muktear who purchases Court-fee stamp for client and transfers it to another client is not covered by s. 34. A. L. R. 1931 Lah. 337 = 32 P. L. R. 432 = 32 Cr. L. J. 1051 = 133 Ind. Cas. 645.

35. The "Local Government" may, from time to time by notification in the "local official Gazette" reduce or remit, in the whole or in any part of "the territories under its administration" all or any of the fees mentioned in the first and second schedules to this Act annexed, and may in like manner cancel or vary such order.

NOTES.—Government notification regarding valuation in cases of s. 47 C. P. Code was held to apply to restitution as well. A. L. R. 1925 Pat. 577 = 4 Pat. 294 = 7 P. L. T. 415 = 92 Ind. Cas. 474.

36. Nothing in Chapters II and V of this Act applies to the commission payable to the Accountant General of the High Court at Fort William, or to the fees which any officer of a High Court is allowed to receive in addition to a fixed salary.

Interlocutory Orders.—Neither this article nor article 5 refers to interlocutory orders but they refer to judgments ending in decrees. 6 A. L. J. 151=31 A. 252.

Forma pauperis.—When an application for review is presented in suit in forma pauperis, that application like the plaint in a suit is not liable to any Court-fee. 20 A. 410. But if he has not been declared a pauper in any of the earlier stages he must file the usual stamp. 91 P. R. 895.

An application for a new trial in a Small Cause Court in the mofussil does not fall under this article. 14 W R 249. The proper fee for an application for review of judgment is the fee leviable on the plaint or memorandum of appeal in the suit in which the judgment sought to be reviewed was passed whether the review affects the whole or a part of the decree 31 A. 294, 6 A. L. J. 215, see also A. W. N. 1808 17; 3 C. W. N. 292. But see 4 B. 26. In computing the period of 90 days the applicant cannot deduct the time which may have been spent in obtaining a copy of the judgment 2 O. C. 302. The fee payable on plaint or memorandum of appeal means the proper fee payable. 1027 Mad. 350. The policy of the Legislature was to put a clog on possible "mala fide" application for review A. I. R. 1930 Cal. 631=57 C. 679. The word "plaint" in column 3 means only the original plaint which was actually filed. A. I. R. 1930 Cal. 631=57 C. 679; see also 20 O. C. 33=11 O. L. J. 339=74 Ind. Cas. 255. In review of dismissal under order 41, r. 11 after 90 days, the fee leviable is according to the 3rd column irrespective of the provision relating to the levying of the fee on the plaint A. I. R. 1926 Cal. 638=30 C. W. N. 334=93 Ind. Cas. 969. Application for restoration of appeal dismissed for default, should be stamped with Rs 2 stamp A. I. R. 1932 Cal. 641=36 C. W. N. 246, 30 C. W.
